Mr. and Mrs. Russell Kroeze (Virginia Nickerson), daughter Martha and son Keith of Hacienda Heights, Calif., are spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Nickerson. Also visiting at the Nickerson home were Mr. and Mrs. James Kot and baby son, Eric from Cass City; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shapton of Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith jr. of Okemos and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alexander of Jackson.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawyer were Mr. and Mrs. James Kelsey and son, David of Rochester, New York and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Steiner and two sons of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Mesler and family recently spent two weeks at Nowland Lake. While in Charlevoix, Mr. Mesler taught a special Industrial Education class at the Charlevoix School for summer students for the two week period.

Mrs. Alonzo Murray, former resident now living in Scottsdale, Ariz., recently spent ten days visiting friends in Charlevoix and staying with Mrs. C.Y. Marshall. She is now spending two weeks visiting her sister, Mrs. Rose Bussler in East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jadwin and sons are spending several days visiting her parents, Mr. and Mr. Charles Heise.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barkley of Detroit and Bois Blanc Island and his two nephews William and David Ensell of Houston, Texas, visited at the Bruce McDonough home recently.

The Gerald Goss family spent a week touring the State of Wisconsin with their trailer recently.

Mr. and Mrs. James Primier of Lincoln Park spent four days visiting his sister, Mrs. Stella Holtzman recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Eastway jr. of Grand Rapids visited recently with the Geneit families in Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Mathews left recently on a trailer tour of several Canadian provinces with Nova Scotia as their destination. They plan to be gone until the middle of September.

Mrs. Ira Olney and her sons and daughter in laws Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lewis and James Lewis of South Haven and her daughter Mrs. Eugene Bergmann were in Traverse City recently to attend the funeral services of Mrs. Olney's brother-in-law, Lester Boone.

Mrs. Robert Egler recently visited in Alpena with Mrs. Vera Budnick, a former roommate at Providence Hospital in Detroit.

Carol and Lynn Clark are visiting F.R. Bulow for two weeks. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark of Syracuse, N.Y.

CMU Shop Course Comes to Charlevoix

INSTRUCTOR GARRY Mesler of Central Michigan University helps Mrs. Dee Ann Rothenberger assemble jungle-gym which she made during two-week course at the Charlevoix Middle School. Classes ended last Thursday.

MRS. DONALD BERLAGE of Charlevoix sands wood blocks to be used as a teaching aid in the classroom. Mrs. Berlage was among 19 northern Michigan teachers who attended the two-week CMU shop class in Charlevoix.

IN ADDITION to learning how to make their own classroom equipment, some students studied advanced arts and crafts for future classroom application. Making artificial flowers are (from left) Edna Anderson and Ruth Berg, both of Charlevoix, Elizabeth Van Patten, Carp Lake; and Alma Korthase, Boyne City.

Teachers Build Own Aids

Nineteen northern Michigan schoolteachers wound up a two-week shop course at Charlevoix's Middle School on Thursday with plenty of ideas on how they can build their own teaching aids when the need arises.

Offered by Central Michigan University, the course was taught by Garry Mesler, a member of the CMU staff.

Most of the students were women and much of the equipment they used, including power tools, was entirely new to them.

The course actually was three-in-one: (1) Design and Construction of Teaching Aids, (2) Advanced Arts and Crafts, and (3) Industrial Arts in the Elementary Schools.

MRS. AARON BROCK and Miss Jill Stewart, both of Charlevoix, construct cabinet to be used to hold construction paper and other school supplies.

LOUISE SILET of St. Ignace uses skill-saw to cut out figure of giraffe to be used as a teaching aid.

A Sticker Candidate Against Richard Friske?

No one knows better than Richard Friske, GOP nominee for the state Legislature from the 106th District, that he still faces a stiff, up-hill battle before he ever assumes a seat in the House of Representatives.

Friske himself was the first to acknowledge that a vigorous sticker campaign undoubtedly will take place in the 106th District before the general election in November.

His most likely opponent will be John Kujawski, chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, who ran second in the August primary.

However Friske is unafraid. "I will do twice as well in November," he told the Courier.

Although Friske rang up a plurality of the votes cast in the primary, he is a long way from being the majority candidate. His impressive vote total resulted chiefly from the fact that he was the only ultra right-winger on the ballot. The moderate GOP vote was diffused among ten other candidates, none of whom could muster enough strength on his own to out-poll the Friske bloc, including his John Birch Society supporters.

The GOP leadership saw what was coming and tried unsuccessfully in June to have all but four of the moderates drop from the race. However, the party endorsement didn't sit well with most of the candidates and, as a result, the 106 District sailed into the primary with a full-rigging of ten mainsails and a jib.

It's little wonder the good ship GOP toppled and sank in the gusty primary balloting.

We agree with the GOP party chairmen that 11 is an unwieldly number of candidates to have running for a single office. But we wish the party had left the decision to withdraw up to the candidates themselves.

Needless to say, a sticker candidate stands an excellent chance of defeating Friske in November. A consolidation of the votes cast for his ten opponents behind one man would leave the Charlevoix County apple grower far behind.

But the sticker campaign will cost money -- lots of it -- and require the efforts of volunteer workers in every township, city and hamlet throughout the 106th District.

Many GOP moderates feel, however, that the job must be done. They simply refuse to be represented in Lansing by a man who whole-heartedly embraces the philosophy of the John Birch Society.

Another Perfect Art Fair

The 12th Annual Waterfront Fair for Artists and Craftsmen on Saturday was as usual, a masterpiece of planning and execution.

A total of 274 artists and craftsmen signed up to participate in this year's event and most of them showed up, armed with samples of their work, lawn chairs, umbrellas and cash boxes.

And although it is difficult to get an exact count on how many people visited the fair, the crowds in East Park were larger than ever before, which is not unusual considering the publicity the Charlevoix fair is beginning to receive around the state and nation.

It is to the credit to the organizers and promoters that each year's fair is bigger, and in many respects better, than that of the preceding year.

Of course the fair always receives a healthy assist from the weatherman, because it never rains the second Saturday in August in the city of Charlevoix. If it did, we are afraid the largest room in town, the High School gymnasium, would be too small to accommodate the artists, their work and the thousands of visitors attracted to Charlevoix by the fair.

One of the nicest aspects of the fair, to our way of thinking, is that many of the artists show up year after year and are becoming good friends.

Of course, the artists themselves are delighted with the thoughtful preparation that goes into the event by the art fair committee. The fair runs like clockwork because of the committee's careful attention to each and every detail -- from preparation of the program to driving of the display area stakes.

Special credit this year goes to Chairman Mrs. James D. Driggett and her co-chairman, Mrs. James F. Shepard. Others who put in long hours in planning the fair were Mrs. Paul J. J. Olsen, Mrs. Jack Rader, Mrs. Edward McNamara, Mrs. Julius Gilbert, Miss Fran Martin, Mrs. J. F. Webb, Mrs. Arthur Skelton, Mrs. Charles Duerr, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Max Hosmer, Mrs. Ted Lass and Mrs. Richard Martin.

Almost to a man, the artists are happy to come to Charlevoix, which offers the most picturesque setting for an art fair in the whole state of Michigan.

By the same token, Charlevoixans are fortunate to have this once-a-year opportunity to view the work of contemporary artists and craftsmen first hand. Their work, as a whole, is a penetrating report on life as it is being lived in America today.

Growth: A Mixed Blessing

Although most residents expected Charlevoix to show a sizeable growth between 1960 and 1970, few persons anticipated a 23 percent increase in only ten years.

The 1970 census pegs Charlevoix's present population at 3,391, up 640 from the 1960 figure of 2,751.

The increase locally compares with an average state growth rate of about 13 percent.

If we continue growing at the same rate, we can anticipate a population of 4,171 by 1980, 5,130 by 1990 and 6,309 by the year 2000.

Of course, the population of Charlevoix has a self-limiting factor in our present narrow city boundaries.

Although figures for the surrounding townships are not yet in, it is fairly safe to assume that the growth rate in Charlevoix and Marion Townships has far exceeded that of the City of Charlevoix in the past decade.

More population, of course, means more problems for local government officials and regional planners. More water lines will be needed, more sewers, more streets, more parking, more recreational facilities, more businesses, more industries in short more of everything that makes up a community.

The challenge confronting our government leaders and planners in the years ahead will be to meet the problems of increased population while retaining our two most precious resources -- fresh air and clean water.

Without them, Charlevoix's reputation as a tourist mecca certainly is in jeopardy.

Clockwise

Another Frankenstein

The federal government's efforts to dispose of 13,000 rockets charged with deadly nerve-gas is one of the most nauseating symptoms of our sick society.

It's another example of the Defense Department creating a Frankenstein monster and then not knowing exactly how to handle him.

The latest solution is to "drown" the rockets in 16,000 feet of water some 282 miles off Cape Kennedy and hope for the best.

The rockets presently are en route by train from Anniston, Ala., and Richmond, Ky., to the Sunny Point Arsenal on the North Carolina Coast. There they will be loaded aboard an old ship hulk, towed into the Atlantic Ocean and sunk. Hopefully that will be the end of them.

The gas is so deadly that even the rail trip to the coast is extremely hazardous.

The rockets, in bundles of 30 each, have been concealed in concrete vaults and covered with steel plates. Each vault weighs about 13,000 pounds and there are 113 of them in the Richmond shipment and 305 in the Anniston shipment. In my book, that represents an awful lot of nerve-gas.

The trains are moving at a slow creep, with a helicopter escort, a special communications system, and tank cars loaded with water to flush away the gas in the event of an accident.

Each car is accompanied by a cage of rabbits as a warning against leaks.

"If the rabbits start twitching and die, we know that leaks have developed," an Army officer said Friday at a press briefing in Richmond.

Of course we are grateful that the Army is taking such extreme precautions in protecting the welfare of the residents along the undisclosed train routes and we are happy that the rockets are being disposed of at long last.

But we are alarmed that this nation should have seen fit to add such devastating weapons to its arsenal in the first place. Do the diabolical schemers who developed the rockets still hold responsible positions in our Defense Department?

The decision to dispose of the deadly gas rockets in the ocean was made last week in Washington after the House subcommittee on oceanography reluctantly concluded that "the disposal of the nerve-gas containers in the ocean is the only alternative available due to the hazard to human life through continued storage."

The subcommittee accused the Army of "almost unbelievable negligence" in allowing the situation to develop. Rep. Paul Rogers, a Florida Democrat, charged the Army with "a heavy-handed example of blackmail" and said he hopes Florida Gov. Claude Kirk will follow through with plans to sue to stop the disposal off Cape Kennedy.

Kirk, of course, is concerned for the safety of Florida residents should the gas ever escape.

Maj. John O. Craig, commander of the Richmond train, was asked what range the nerve gas would have in the event it got loose.

"That would depend on meteorological conditions," he said, adding quickly, "That's classified information."

The horrors of gas warfare were recognized long ago and most of the civilized nations of the world have agreed never to use gas to subdue their enemies.

But the powers-that-be in the Pentagon apparently felt that conventional weaponry, including nuclear bombs, were not enough or they would never have developed the gas rockets.

Who were they intended for? How many people would they have killed? How long would the gas have lingered?

There was a time when I thought Adolph Hitler had cornered the market on barbarism in the 20th Century.

Now I'm not so sure.

5 A.M. Love Letters

By JIM FITZGERALD

Every morning at 5 o'clock, comedian Red Skelton gets out of bed and writes a letter to his wife.

They live in the same house. They probably even sleep together, just like us common folks. But Red still writes her a mushy letter every day. He probably has his own mailman and a stamp machine beside the bed.

Skelton calls the daily messages "Letters to Little Red." (He's Big Red, get it?). He says the letters are "his thoughts and ideas." They can include a short story or a musical selection.

Cynics may laugh at Big Red. Or sympathize with Little Red who is probably way behind in answering her mail.

But there is no denying that Big Red is a romantic guy. And there is no denying that women like to be romanced. Don't knock it if you haven't tried it.

So I sat up on the edge of the bed at 5 a.m. the other day and wrote:

Dear Little Fitz:

Yawn, Red Skelton must go to bed earlier than I do. And I'll bet he doesn't have the trouble finding a pencil that I did. I finally found this stub in a paste jar which will be my excuse if this letter turns out sticky (ha, ha, Honey). And I hope you don't mind my writing on this pillow case. The only paper in the house is in the bathroom but I couldn't use that because there's a funny little man in there, squeezing it (ha, ha, Honey).

Well anyway, Honey, you're probably surprised to be hearing from me like this. But I wanted to give you my thoughts and ideas. I'd even write a musical selection but I don't know how to write music. I'd hum it but that would probably wake you up and you would think I was just getting home, instead of getting up to write you a love letter, and I don't need anymore of that kind of trouble (ha, ha, Honey).

The weather outside is nice. You can hear the birds chirp at 5 a.m. which is probably because no one is mowing his lawn yet. There are 3 socks and 1 shoe on the floor on my side of the bed. I just looked in the dresser mirror to see how I look at 5 a.m. But all I saw was that I don't wear pajama bottoms. I forgot that a husband can never see his face in his bedroom mirror unless he is a midget or is married to a basketball player.

Do you know I've killed 16 mosquitoes in this bedroom this summer? I just counted the spots where I smashed them against the walls. And did you know you have 42 shoe boxes and 38 of them are on my side of the closet? I'll bet I'm the only man in town who has to hang his pants on a tie rack (ha ha, Honey).

I just went to take a peek at the children. They aren't home. Every night that man on TV says "It's 11 p.m., do you know where your children are?" I don't even know at 5 a.m.

The weather outside is. . .I guess I already said that. I'd certainly like to know what Big Red Skelton finds to write about every morning. Maybe he tells what he dreamed about that night.

Last night I dreamed I loved you. Now I'm awake, at 5 a.m., and I still do. And I can reach out and touch you. Let Big Red Skelton write letters. He is a big clown.

–Big Fitz

More Doctors for State Rural Areas

Gov. William Milliken has signed into law a public act which will help some Michigan cities and rural areas obtain needed physicians, according to the Michigan State Medical Society.

The new act amends a 32-year-old statute which required physicians wishing to practice in Michigan to pass a "basic science examination." This change has long been sought by the Michigan State Medical Society, the Michigan Health Council and many community groups as the quickest way to get more doctors into Michigan. The Michigan Health Council, which operates a doctor placement service, estimates an immediate need for 2,000 physicians in the state.

Neighboring states, like Illinois and Ohio, produce large numbers of doctors but those young medical school graduates have seldom come to Michigan because Illinois, Ohio and many other states do not require the basic science test. In Michigan, physicians must pass an examination given by the State Board of Registration in Medicine before licensure, and the two tests were duplicative.

Spokesmen for the Michigan State Medical Society, in urging the repeal of the old law, explained that most physicians after medical school and an internship serve a hitch in the service and perhaps take a residency in some specialty. Then they look for a place to establish their practice -- about six years after receiving their medical degree. Many of these men have indicated that they would like to come to Michigan, but they have been hesitant about the requirement that they had to take an extensive examination about chemistry and other scientific subjects in addition to the regular State Board examination.

Officers of the medical professional society are optimistic that the elimination of this requirement will help relieve to some degree the present estimated shortage of medical doctors in Michigan. There are more than 150 Michigan communities listed with the Michigan Health Council Doctor Placement Service as wanting family physicians and 60 are eager to obtain certain specialists.

Michigan falls far short in producing sufficient physicians. The University of Michigan and Wayne State University medical schools graduate about 300 students each year, but the state licenses more than 1,000 physicians each year, getting most of them from other states and from foreign countries. The Michigan State University College of Human Medicine soon will be adding some graduates to the total as it expands from a two-year school to a full degree-granting medical school.

The Michigan State Medical Society is on record urging the legislature, the governor, the State Board of Education and all other interests to increase the appropriations to the three medical schools so they can increase their freshmen classes. For several years now, the medical society has urged governmental officials to begin plans for a fourth and possibly a fifth medical school as the needs continue to increase for more doctors and for expanded medical care.

The bill, House Bill 4059 which was signed into law by Governor Milliken on Aug. 2, requires that only physicians trained in foreign countries must take the basic science examination.

'Castle' Disappointing, Visitor Says

Route 2
East Jordan, Mich.
August 1, 1970

The Editor
The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Clock:

For several years I have heard about the forge, gift shop, and coffee shop at Castle Van Haver. On Wednesday, July 22, our group of three adults and four children decided we should go to the castle for coffee and to see the shops.

We stopped at the gate and paid an attendant $5 for admission. When we got in, we found the whole place has been emptied (this was not mentioned at the gate, and the signs indicated all the usual attractions were available inside).

We felt that taking fees under these circumstances was inappropriate and mentioned this to the gate attendant as we left. On his advice, we drove to Charlevoix to see the owner, Mr. Reibel, at the Weathervane Inn.

He explained the place was "no longer a castle" and was being restored to its original farm purpose. When we asked why he was still taking admission fees under such circumstances, he informed us our $5 had been a "contribution."

I do not know what we are supposed to be contributing to, nor do I feel it is proper for him to charge. We fully expected a refund from him, but none was allowed.

I would at least like to warn others against making involuntary "contributions which cannot be recovered.

Sincerely,
Mary Ellen Felkins
(Mrs. D.W.)

Enemy Aliens Run Rampant Across U.S.

Enemy aliens are running rampant through parts of the United States again this summer. Just ask any farmer or rancher.

The enemies are weeds. They sneaked into the country years ago, or were brought in under the misbelief they were good plants.

Today weeds are cursed throughout the United States. In guerrilla raids on small gardens or in wide assaults on pastures, fields, and rangeland, they have killed off produce and crops worth fortunes.

They are counterattacked with countless tons of weed killers and merciless eradication that may sometimes take a toll in friendly plants as well. Many weeds have long records, and some states have "outlawed" them.

WEEDS COSTLY

Farm experts say weeds cost the nation more than all other agricultural pests, animal and plant diseases, insects, rodents, and predatory the National Geographic Society says.

Weeds compete tenaciously with crops for water, air, light, nutriments from the ground, and growing room. More often than not -- unless man takes a hand -- weeds are the winners.

The fight against Canadian thistle is as old as the nation. It got into America from Europe by way of Canada as seed in the horses' hay carried by General Burgoyne for his redcoat cavalry.

RUSSIAN PEST

Russian thistle, better known here as tumbleweed or wind-witch, arrived in the United States with a group of Russian immigrants in the 1870's. It was mixed with the flax seed they planted in South Dakota. In Texas, tumbleweeds 10 feet across may roll over the horizon.

An eight-inch parasite with a pretty red flower was found sapping the growth of South Carolina corn plants in 1951 and soon identified as witchweed. Somehow it had crossed the Atlantic from Africa.

Johnson grass purposely was introduced from Turkey in 1830 in the belief it would be good forage. Colonel William Johnson, who innocently sowed it on his Georgia plantation, was quickly sorry as it clogged irrigation ditches and drank up tons of much-needed water. It has now spread over many grazing states.

MESQUITE

More than half of the most devastating weeds in the United States originally came from Europe or Eurasia, most of them brought over by man, accidentally or intenionally. But one came from south of the border: mesquite.

Seeds arrived from Mexico, hitchhiking aboard herds coming up the old cattle trails in the last century. At first plainsmen welcomed mesquite for shade and fence posts, but then it started to take over the rangeland, killing the grass by the many thousands of acres.

Venezuelan water hyacinths were also widely welcomed when they were shown at the New Orleans Cotton Exhibition in 1884.

Many took home the handsome, lush plant with its pretty flower. But soon this deceitful southern belle escaped from garden ponds, and today its descendants clog hundreds of miles of lakes and waterways.

Corral Chatter

Friday of the fifth week was another hot day. The Jordan River canoe trip party returned and they had a great time and were very enthusiastic. Some of the boys were amazed how unspoiled this river is and how good it was to be away from civilization. It is a beautiful river and all boys love it. Cabins 12 and 13 with Gwynne Rowland and Bob Pardee as counselors took off for the campcraft area for an overnight. The boys on this trip were: Jon Gross, Rick McClaughry, Bill McKee, Jay O'Neill, Derck van Fossen, Bill Bray, Rick Cook, Chuck Hunter, Peter Perron, Robb Swain, Mark Wilson. In the evening, the Intermediate section had a mile run, the boys jogging or even walking part way, but it was very successful with the Greens winning the point. The boys making the run were: in order of finish: Steve Baker, Tony Smith, Jim Osborn, Frank Perron, Dave Timmons, Brad Mast, Mark Whitehead, Steve Horwitz, Mike Mulcahy, Bob Morris, Nick Genematis, Ross Compton, Rod Kirsch, Geoff Gluck and Jeff Towle.

Saturday, another beautiful day, temperatures 70-83 and a great day. Activities went along as scheduled and in the evening we had an all-camp event called Capture the Camper. The boys hid on camp property, and the counselors looked for them. The teams with the least number of boys caught were the winners. At the end of the chase, the Greys won three points and the Greens one.

Sunday morning, another hot day, we had chapel in our outdoor chapel, with George Musekamp taking charge of the service. Terry Mast read the scripture and Trey Henkel read the prayer. The talk was given by Curt Huber and he gave the boys much to think about. In the afternoon, the camp photographer returned for his second time around on the picture-taking. As the water was too rough for a water-front afternoon, athletic games were played in each section, and the Greys picked up two points and the Greens one. In the evening, we had a hard rain, one that was sorely needed, and we met in the Bigwam for a Camp Log at which time Bill Townsend called on counselors to read the names of the boys getting stars in activities this past week. Bill also read and explained the many special event scoming up, and gave the boys a look into the future weeks of camp. After this meeting, the movie "Treasure Island" was shown and the boys loved it.

Monday came around to start off the sixth week of camp with a sunny, cool day. In fact, it felt just like fall weather. The camp photographer took the cabin groups and a few more activity pictures. This was the evening when the Mugwump is hidden during the evening meal and the boys leave the dining room and look for it, the team finding it, then hides it und the competition is underway the next day. The Greens found it and the lucky boys making the find were Dave Timmons and Geoff Gluck. Cabins 10 and 11 took off for an overnight down to our campcraft area. Jim Goers and Jack Middleton were the counselors and the boys were: Mac Briggs, Fritz Henderson, Jack Maddox, Peter Whitman and Paul Rynak. Bill Guggenheim, Greg Mantho, Kevin McCarty, Jim Shook and David Alspach.

Tuesday morning dawned dark and dreary and cold. The boys going to Mackinac Island were up at six, breakfast at 6:30 (bacon and eggs) and left camp at 7 a.m. This trip is given to those boys who were enrolled last summer for this summer. And by the way, we have many boys already enrolled for 1971. The boys who were on this trip on Tuesday were: Todd Barrett, Tom Belbutoski, Ross Compton; Jim Cook, John Dannecker, Jimmy Eberts, Paul Francisco, Nick Genematas, Geoff Gluck, Chris Hanson, Ken and Dan Hayden, Paul Johnson, Jimmy Kasmark, Rod Kirsch, Alan and David Lockhart, Brad and Terry Mast, Kevin McCarty, Tom Miller, Mike Mulcahy, Jim Osborn, Mac Pfeiffer, Robbie Quinn, Larry Webb; Bob Wilson, Mike Wilson, Mark Whitehead, Court and Jeff Towle, Chuck Zitsman, David Townsend, Tim Washburn, Tony Smith and Scott Striglos. Staff on this trip were: Bill Townsend, director of activities; Jack Middleton, Roberto Valenzeula from Mexico, Gwynn Rowland from Wales, Spencer Winstead from the Panama Canal Zone and Dominque Attalin from France. As it was so dreary, we had a late morning, rising bell at 8:30, breakfast at 9:15. With so many boys being out of camp, the Greens tried twice to run the Mugwump, but were unsuccessful. Cabins 8 and 9 took off for the campcraft area. These counselors were: David Webber and Dominque Attalin. The boys on this trip were: Billy Harrity, Harry Heck, David Howell, Bob Mantho, Mac Pfeiffer, Larry Schuler, David Lockhart, Mike O'Conner, Arthur Nickels, and David Stringer.

Wednesday morning arrived bright, sunny and beautiful, cool, but great. The boys taking the Beaver Island Trip were busy packing and as they took the morning boat over to the Island, they had to hurry around. This was a hiking trip, and limited to eight boys. Curt Huber, our tripsman, and Doug Otto were the leaders of the trip, and the boys chosen to go were: Danny Hayden, Tony Woods, Dan McClellan Mike Harris, Dave Timmons, John Dannecker, Terry Mast, and John Rosenfield. Cabins 5 and 7 took off to the campcraft area. These were Steve Swengel and Dave Washburn, and Gard Garvie and George Musekamp. In the evening, the Capture the Counselor event was held, and the boys scoured the woods for the counselors, and as each man had a price on his head it was important whom you caught. The game lasts one hour and at the end each team had gained two points.

Thursday morning, another beautiful, hot day found the activities running at full tilt. Cabins 3 and 4, took off for an overnight down at our campcraft area. Chris Olsen and Mike Kelly took their boys, Ben Dancer, Pat Green, Scott Striglos, Court Towle, Todd van Fossen. Cabin 3, John Nesbitt and Larry Boardman took their boys, too, these boys being: Don Cook, Glenn Graber, David Grant, Jimmy Kasmark, and Glen Kirlin. The Mugwump was run twice, but both runs were unsuccessful. This necessitated many meetings, conferences, and the captains are getting much experience in arguing their points. Mugwump is always most interesting.

Mainlining

with Beth Baldwin

I just happened to be reading the John Birch Society Bulletin for the month of July. In it I found something quite alarming especially since a "Bircher" was recently nominated to run on the Republican ticket in November as state representative.

The author of the pamphlet, Robert Welch, wrote:

"One of the strange new devices on the Communist banner of 'reform' is the word ecology. The comrades are now showing extraordinary concern about pollution and desecreation of man's earthly home. Of course their 'free speech' movement is polluting the sound waves that reach our ears. Their unwashed hippies and yippies pollute our olfactory environment. Their pornographic publications pollute the literature that comes before our eyes. Their 'sensitivity training' converts even our sense of touch into the mechanics of pollution. And their garbage-can style of feeding the enormous crowds they pull together (for everything from marches to 'music' festivals) is polluting even the American taste for food. All five senses are suffering from pollution fostered by the Communists themselves."

Before I continue, notice the word "their" as it appears in "Their unwashed hippies and yippies. . ." and also in a couple of other sentences. The word "Their" refers to Communists, and according to this man, hippies and yippies belong to the Communists. Well, I beg to differ. They belong to all of us, Communists or not. I know a great many people, some of them hippies, or freaks, or free souls, or whatever you wish to call them, and they do not all, in fact very few, follow the Communist line of thought. And I believe the hippies and yippies are the product of every phase of life and the chain of events that have occurred in the past decade. Therefore it is absolutely impossible and inane to group people together and say "Here, take them, they belong to you."

He next goes on to say that it is "Their pornographic publications (that) pollute the literature that comes before our eyes." I'll bet there is at least one, and because the law of probability exists, a few more members of the John Birch Society who engage in the reading of pornographic material. If this is true, then such people are content to enjoy what they call the product of the Communists.

As the pamphlet continues, the accusations get more and more absurd. See for yourself: "We could go on for pages about the Communist promotion of the 'cult of the ugly'; in our architecture, where they deliberately get apartment houses built to look like grain elevators; in our music, where the discord of an orchestra tuning up could now readily pass for a great new symphony. . ."

Oh yes, it is the fault of the Communists, of course, that our apartment buildings are so ugly. It appears to me that everybody who isn't a member of the John Birch Society is a Communist. Or so that John Birchers insinuate. Generalizations abound in this pamphlet. Next thing you know, they'll pin the entire smog and air pollution problem of New York on the Communists too.

Heaven help us if we are Communists simply because we don't claim membership in this society.

". . . .The primary purpose of the Communists, in all this furore over ecology, is to provide one more means and excuse for our central government to increase its interference with, and its control over, the businesses, the homes, and the daily lives of the American people. And let us then come to the comparatively minor 'plus benefit' for the Communists which set us off on this wild ride in the first place.

"Somebody, evidently, has passed down to the government schools (still generally miscalled public schools) quite a bright idea – from the Communist point of view. It is to have the teachers of the middle grades marshal their pupils into snooping brigades, which will spend one or more of their afternoons each week looking into alleys behind the stores of the community to see if they can find any unsatisfactory conditions to report. If so, they are then to make heroes out of themselves by telling all about the uncovered ash cans, or other derelictions, to the teacher, who in turn will pass this information on to the local health authorities."

The final paragraph of this article states: "The John Birch Society certainly supports the goal of a clean and more beautiful environment, and believes in conserving the assets nature has given us. But our people must no be led into thinking that Marxist creeps who do not even keep themselves clean have any real interest in cleaning up America. Or that turning children into professional spies is a proper way to make our country a better place to live."

Well, there it is, I don't think there is any need to expound upon what Welch has said. You can see for yourself that the line of thinking we are being hit with is, to quote Bob Clock, "so far right that it meets the left."

A word of caution, better think over your choice of candidate before voting in the November election. Richard Friske has stated that he is a member of the John Birch Society. I have met the man and he is a very nice, cordial person but, to me, his political views are quite a bit out of wack. I, if voting, would not want this man to represent me in Lansing.

Dubin Named To Health Unit

Richard J. Dubin, Boyne City, has been appointed by Gov. William G. Milliken to serve on the comprehensive state Health Planning Advisory Council.

Appointed with Dubin were Dr. Orren A. Bolt of Grand Rapids and Lyle R. Robertson of Sterling Heights.

The former owner of a tree service, Dubin is president of the Northeaseern Michigan Community Action Agency. He succeeds Walter McMurty of Detroit.

The following cases were heard last week in Charlevoix by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Kelvin Wiser, 19, Charlevoix, was assessed a total of $200 on charges of failure to halt on command of a police officer, reckless operation of a motor vehicle and possessing alcoholic beverages as a minor. He also was sentenced to serve 45 days in jail on weekends. His driver's license was suspended for 60 days.

Donald L. Wiser, 17, Charlevoix, was assessed $50 and sentenced to 10 days in the county jail as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages. He will serve an additional 10 days if the fine and cost are not paid.

Kenneth Staley of Charlevoix pled innocent to two counts of unlawfully operating a hot water heating boiler filed by the Michigan Department of Labor. He demanded a jury trial. Staley is challenging the state's right to inspect the small boiler used in his combination home and grocery store.

Neal A. Evans, Boyne City, was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of writing no-account checks. Bond in the amount of $1,000 was not furnished.

Jose L. Torres was found guilty at trial of careless operation of a motor vehicle. He was assessed $25.

James F. Shepard, 33, Charlevoix, was bound over to the August term of Circuit Court on a charge of larceny by conversion. Bond in the amount of $5,000 was continued.

William A. Kane, 43, Charlevoix, was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly on a public highway.

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

A charge that Doris Morlan, 44, Detroit, did not have a motor vehicle registration was dismissed.

Dennis K. Drenth, 17, Charlevoix, was assessed $30 for speeding and driving a vehicle with a defective emergency brake.

Jerlanne Santek, 17, Charlevoix, was assessed $20 for speeding.

FASTPITCH RACE CLOSE

Things are just about as tight as they can get in the fastpitch league. This is the final week of play and the three games are as crucial as they can get. American Mold clings to a narrow lead thanks to its extra inning win over Novaks 10-8. Jim Austin, Jim Alger, and Stu Cunningham combined singles for the important eighth inning runs. Stewart Coleman, however, was the hitting hero of the night with five for five, including a home run for Novaks.

First round winner Morweld kept pace with a 7-2 win over Novak's. Four first inning runs turned the trick. Ron Boss was the big gun picking up four of the winner's hits and scattering three hits with a good display of pitching.

County State kept its faint hopes alive earlier in the week with a narrow 4-3 win over Mold. Two seventh inning runs on three Mold errors and John Ferguson and Sonny Wright's base hits highlighted the inning.

Barefoot (And Then Some) In the Park

Wade C. Romska, 24, of Howell, pled guilty to a charge of indecent exposure when he appeared before District Judge W. Richard Smith in Charlevoix Monday.

Romska was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail, which was suspended, and ordered to pay court costs of $150.

And if he wants to do anymore motorcycle riding in the buff, he will have to do it at the jail. His motorcycle was impounded for 90 days.

Romska was picked up by sheriff's deputies about 8 a.m. Aug. 6 seated in about one inch of water in Lake Michigan, off Boulder Park. He was naked except for his motorcycle helmet.

Deputies were called to the area by a frantic housewife who reported a man was riding naked through the park on a motorcycle. They found Romska seated in the lake, his motorcycle hidden in the woods and his clothes strewn along Lake Shore-dr.

Romska told the court he was under the influence of drugs during his escapade.

Obituary

Terry Geer

Funeral for Terry A. Geer, 25, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Aug. 11, the Rev. William Harmon of the Ironton Congregational Church officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Geer died Aug. 9 at Charlevoix Hospital where he had been a patient for four weeks.

Born in Charlevoix Jan. 31, 1945, he graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1963. He married the former Phyllis Waybrandt at Ironton in 1967 and was employed by the American Mold Engineering Corp.

He is survived by his widow; one son, John Thomas; his father, Arthur R. of Charlevoix; one brother, Robert, of Charlevoix; and two sisters, Mrs. John Galnares of Traverse City and JoAnn Geer of Unionville.

The family suggests that anyone wishing to honor his memory may make contributions in his name to the Cancer Society or the Charlevoix Community Chest.

–Accepted the resignation of Mrs. Arlette Harris as Fourth Grade teacher. In a letter, Mrs. Harris said her husband, Rev. Jack Harris had accepted a call to the Baptist Church in Holly, Mich. They will leave Charlevoix in September.

–Granted a year's leove-of-obsence to Mrs. Louise Hartnell for medical reasons.

–Hired five new teachers: Miss Linda Ann Steel, a 1970 graduate of Grand Valley State College, will teach in the elementary school; Miss Barbara Christensen, a 1966 graduate of Central Michigan University will teach in the elementary school; Miss Mary Helvig, a 1966 graduate of Augsburg College in Minneapolis will teach in the elementary school; Mrs. Barbara Cook, a 1960 graduate of Western Michigan University will teach home economics in the Middle School; and Mrs. Jeanne Seymour, a 1964 graduate of Eastern Michigan University, will teach in the elementary school. The district still needs a men's physical education teacher, a Fifth Grade teacher and the building trades teacher.

–Agreed to buy eight more non-seald shower heads for the Middle School.

-Agreed to have Peters Electric install 18 fluorescent lighting fixtures in Middle School hallways.

–Decided to ask for bids on thermostat controls and a vacuum pump to be used at the Middle School.

--Decided to ask Hess Furniture and Bartlett Tile and Carpet to resubmit bids by noon, Aug 14, on laying carpet in the band room. The original bids were confusing because stitching of carpet in the portable classrooms was included.

–Agreed to re-hire librarian Dorothy Olmstead at a salary of $8,500 a year, the same as last year.

-Agreed to borrow $170,000 in anticipation of state aid payments.

week at the air base, living with the airmen and observing and taking part in their activities. The court officers hope that the week of military exposure will encourage the youngsters to work toward their own self-development and give them new goals to shoot for.

In selecting participants, the court was not merely interested in boys with juvenile court records but also those who are potential school dropouts because of their attitudes and environment.

Boys participating in the project were between 14 and 17 years of age who, the screening officers felt, would benefit from the experience.

The court officers point out that the week-long visit to Wurtsmith AFB was in no way a reward for misbehavior. The youths selected were "deserving" in the eyes of the screening committee.

On first evaluation, the program appears to be so successful that it will be tried at other Air Force bases across the country next year.

GOLF COURSE Manager Keith Carey presents trophy to Mike Wood, 18, city golf champion. Next to Wood is Walter Franczek, the 1969 champ, whom he defeated in the final round Sunday afternoon.

Delegates Favor Sticker

Although the Charlevoix County Republican Committee must stand officially behind Richard Friske, GOP nominee for the House of Representatives from the 106th District, a number of delegates to the county convention Monday night said they would support an independent sticker candidate in November.

In a straw vote taken by William Cooper after the convention closed, delegates voted 19 to 8 to back a sticker candidate.

The most likely choice is Friske's runner-up, John Kujawski of Boyne City, who says he will run as a sticker if he has sufficient moral and financial support. Kujawski attended the convention; Friske did not.

County Chairman Oscar Stroud appeared uneasy when talk of a sticker candidate began and said the County GOP is obliged to support its elected candidate. However, he said he had no objection to the straw vote after the convention closed.

It was understood that similar votes would be taken

Mike Wood Youngest City Golf Champion

Eighteen-year-old Mike Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wood of Charlevoix, captured the city golf crown Sunday afternoon, defeating 1969 champ Walter Franczek 2-up on the city golf course.

Wood is the youngest golfer to take the title in the Championship Flight since the tournament started in 1957.

When will he enter the Michigan Amateur Golf Tournament held annually at the Belvedere Club?

"Next year," Wood says confidently.

In the quarter finals, Wood drew a bye, playing Stan Fiedorek in the semi-finals.

Franczek drew a bye in the quarter finals, defeating Pete Ance 2-up in the semi-finals.

The only other player in the Championship Flight was Jack Van Loo, who was defeated by Ance in the quarter-finals.

Other city champions over the years were Ted Ager, 1957; Bob Wallace, 1958; Bill Supernaw, 1959; Bob Wallace, 1980, '61 and '62; Bob Livingston, 1963 and '64; Bob Wallace, 1965; Bob Livingston, 1966; Ted Ager, 1967; Glenie Ikens, 1968; and Franczek, 1969.

Following are the results of other city tournament play:

14 YEARS AND UNDER: Jim Sundberg defeated Casey Culbertson, 8-6, on the 20th hole. It marked Sundberg's second year as champ.

15 AND 16 YEARS OLD: Bill Carey defeated Bob Cudd, 2-1. The victory was Carey's second in two years.

17 AND 18 YEARS OLD: Mike Wood defeated Jerry Parsel, 3-2.

FIRST FLIGHT: Keith Miles defeated Roxy VanLoo, 1 up.

SECOND FLIGHT: Dick Bergmann defeated John Swanson, 1 up.

THIRD FLIGHT: Neil Suomela defeated Howard Elzinga, 5-4.

FOURTH FLIGHT: Bill Graves defeated Tom LaBlance, 3-2.

FIFTH FLIGHT: Dave Fowler defeated Rich Putnam, 2-0.

DNR Calls Hearing On Jordan Boating

The Department of Natural Resources will hold a public hearing on watercraft problems on the Jordan River Wednesday, Sept. 9 at 3 p.m. in the courtroom at the county building, according to county clerk Clarence Rabach.

Rabach said a number of power boats have been operating on the river, to the chagrin of residents, canoeists and fishermen. Even the fish reportedly aren't too happy about the situation, according to sportsmen.

East Jordan residents report the number of powerboats using the river is not large, but it is increasing every year.

Residents point out that the stream is ideal for canoeing, but that it is extremely risky for power boats, with all the logs and other debris on the bottom.

Bulletin

Del Terrill, a teacher in the Charlevoix school system and a former coach, has been hired as superintendent of Littlefield Public Schools at Alanson, according to Lucille App, secretary of the Littlefield School Board. Terrill reportedly assumed his new duties Tuesday. He succeeds Frank Burek.

Drug Raid in City

Narcotics Found In House

Twelve young people, including two juveniles, were arrested Aug. 13 in the first major crackdown on alleged drug abuse in the Charlevoix area.

Scene of the raid was a ramshackle dwelling on the south shore of Round Lake owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sanford of Charlevoix. The building was reportedly rented to their son, Larry, and threa of his friends for the summer.

All of the most commonly used narcotic drugs in use today, except heroin, were found on the premises, according to City Attorney John Michael.

The arrests culminated weeks of investigation by city police, the sheriff's department and Michigan State Police troopers.

The charges against them range from being disorderly persons to selling marijuana.

Charges against the two minors (under 17) will be handled in Juvenile Court. The other ten will stand trial as adults.

At arraignment Monday before District Judge W. Richard Smith, William Robertson, 21, R-3 Atlanta, Mich., demanded examination on charges of being a disorderly person and selling marijuana. Examination was set for 10 a.m. Sept. 3. Robertson's attorney, Don Berlage, asked that his client's $5,105 bond be reduced, but Judge Smith declined, and Robertson was returned to the county jail.

Alan William Mack, 18, Charlevoix also has failed to post bond of $1,065. Mack is charged with possession of marijuana and with being a disorderly person. His arraignment was postponed until the court can appoint an attorney to represent him.

Miss Deborah Jean Potter, 19, Charlevoix, demanded examination on a charge of possession of LSD. Miss Potter was stopped on U.S. 31 and LSD reportedly was found in her purse. At her bond arraignment last week, Miss Potter asked whether the police had the authority to search her purse without a warrant. Sheriff Philo Sumner told her law officers could search for weapons or narcotics without a warrant.

David Charles Betz, 21, Hemlock, Mich., stood mute on a charge of using "foul and indecent language" in the presence of a woman (Miss Potter). He will appear in court at 10 a.m. Aug. 20.

Charged as disorderly persons knowingly loitering in a place where an illegal business or occupation was being conducted were Linda Lee Rousku, 19, Detroit; Terry Dupuis, 19, Lake Orion; Michael John Etienne, 19, Charlevoix; Jeff Landon, 18, Detroit; Charles Otmanowski, 17, Charlevoix; and Robert Williams, 18, Detroit. They stood mute and will stand trial at 10 a.m. Aug. 27. They are free on $105 bond each.

Otmanowski told Judge Smith he had never been advised of his Constitutional rights.

Many of the youngsters were arrested at the Sanford home at 217 Belvedere-ave. after the initial raid took place. Police officers took them into custody one by one as they stopped at the house.

The house was boarded up Thursday evening and the door padlocked, but the city attorney says it appears the house has been broken into twice since then.

Michael said he will seek to have the house, part of which

CITY EMPLOYEES board up house at 217 Belvedere-ave. believed to be used as a headquarters for pot parties. Despite the precautions, the house was broken into twice since the drug raid Aug. 13, according to City Attorney John Michael. A quantity of marijuana and other narcotics was found on the premises.

GARBAGE piled behind the ramshackle house on Belvedere-ave. where drugs found raised the ire of neighbors, but police were reluctant to order a clean-up during their narcotics investigation.

Noisy Channel Job Keeps Them Awake

By Beth Baldwin

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edwards of Pine River Lane appeared before Charlevoix City Council Monday night to complain about noise from the construction being done on Pine River Channel.

Both were emphatically against the "midnight working hours" that have been occurring. Edwards said that work goes on approximately 21 hours a day, from 7 a.m. until 3 or 4 a.m., making it difficult for them to sleep.

Tom Hanna said he would contact the contractor to see what could be done.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers is having the seawall rebuilt on the south side of the channel across from the Edwards' home.

The only bidder for seal coating the city streets was Northland Construction Co. of Petoskey. Total bid price submitted was $8,943 and $.82 will be charged for each additional square yard.

Council thought this a bit high and refered the matter to committee in order to get more estimates.

Purchase of a John Deere backhoe tractor for $7762 from Conrad Klooster, Inc. was approved.

The council decided to advertise for bids for workmen's compensation and employers' liability, fleet, and commercial comprehensive insurance. All bids are to be in by Aug. 31.

In other action, the council was informed that Carl Olson has requested to split his lot (No. 48) that runs between Eaton-ave. and Hampton-rd. Action was deferred pending further committee study.

Scheid Realty proposed putting a cul-de-sac (dead-end road) down the middle of the Barry property on Eaton-ave. in order to divide the property into eight lots. Council rejected the proposal because

Harbor Planned On S. Fox Island

The state Department of Natural Resources is working toward the establishment of a public park and harbor of refuge at the south end of South Fox Island, according to George LaBlance, commodore of the Charlevoix Yacht Club. The information was relayed to LaBlance after he asked the federal government about the possibility of establishing such a facility near the South Fox lighthouse on property presently owned by the U.S. Coast Guard. The light was deactivated in the late 1960's.

"The General Services Administration (GSA) is presently finalizing negotiations for the sale of the property to the state of Michigan, Department of Natural Resources," Lester R. Myers jr., a regional director of the GSA in Chicago, wrote to LaBlance.

He said the property will be used for a public park and public recreational purposes.

"The program of utilization for the property by the state includes development of the southern tip of the island for recreational watercraft, a protected harbor-of-refuge, and various forms of recreation," Meyers continued.

"It is suggested that you contact the Department of Natural Resources and appraise them of your interest in the property," he concluded.

LaBlance said the yacht club is interested in such a development in order to establish a way-station for boaters crossing Lake Michigan. He said there is a need not only for a harbor-of-refuge but also for a refueling station.

South Fox Island lies 26 miles due west of Charlevoix and is plainly visible from the mainland on clear days.

New Students Should Enroll Next Monday

New students in the Charlevoix School District will be signed up on Monday, Aug. 24, from 9 until 4 p.m. at the high school office according to Superintendent Robert Miller.

Representatives of all grades will be on hand to accept registrations, Miller said.

Only those students who did not attend school in Charlevoix last year need to report.

Kindergarteners who were not enrolled during the regular round-up last spring should be signed up at the same time, Miller said.

School is expected to start Sept. 8, pending the progress of teacher contract negotiations.

Brothers to Meet

The Charlevoix Big Brothers Association will meet Tuesday, Aug. 25, at 8 p.m. at the Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. auditorium in Boyne City.

MRS. CONRAD KLOOSTER and Mrs. Maurice Olarey preside at tea table during hospital tour sponsored by Charlevoix Hospital Women's Guild. Tour netted $1,030. Color TV was won by Mrs. Charles Bellinger. Also assisting in tour were Mrs. LeRoy Buchanan, Mrs. Alton Huntington, Mrs. D.A. Schaltberger, Mrs. Jack Rader, Mrs. Gordon Rower, Mrs. Eleanor Freedman and Mrs. James Gallagher.

Course Ends For Teacher Duane Bolduc

Duane H. Bolduc, Lake Terrace Mobile Court, Charlevoix, a teacher at Charlevoix Junior High School, attended the seven-week Summer Institute in Earth Science held June 18-Aug. 7 on the Indiana University Bloomington campus under sponsorship of the National Science Foundation.

The institute, for junior and senior high school science teachers, was designed to acquaint the participants with elements of earth science, including geology, meterorology, and earth physics. Four days of each week were devoted to lectures and laboratory sessions, and a fifth day to field trips for observation of geological features, collection of fossils and minerals, study of the effects of ancient glaciers, and tours of limestone quarries.

The Institute, attended by 41 participants from 17 states, was directed by Dr. Mark Rehkin, associate professor and assistant chairman of the Geology Department, Indiana University Northwest in Gary.

THE U.S. COAST GUARD maintains a lifeboat station at St. James, Beaver Island. Men at the station participate many times during the summer months in search and rescue missions on Lake Michigan.

THE BASCULE BRIDGE carrying U.S. 31 traffic over Pine River Channel remains a fascinating spectacle, whether you've seen the bridge open once or hundreds of times. The bridge is opened every half hour during the summer to permit boats to pass. It is operated by means of counterbalanced weights.

MICHIGAN HISTORIC SITE

GREENSKY HILL MISSION

Here in the 1840's the Chippewa Indian missionary, Peter Greensky, established a Protestant mission in an area where legend says Indian chiefs once held their councils. New trees have been planted in an arrangement similar to that of the trees that made up the original council circle. Mission services first were held in a rude building of boughs and bark. In the 1850's the Indians built the present church. It is a fine example of the old log style construction with hand-hewn timbers and notched corners. Windows, doors, and much of the lumber were brought by canoe from Traverse City to Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix) and then carried two miles to this site. Methodist services for the Indian congregation have been held here regularly to the present.

THE GREENSKY Hill Indian church, grounds and council trees have been declared an historic site by the state of Michigan. This plaque stands near the old log church.

The Drug Raid:

Our Fears Confirmed

Although there were rumors aplenty around town all summer relative to widespread use of narcotic drugs, most of us, including the Courier, hoped they weren't true or were greatly exaggerated.

However the raid on the home at 217 Belvedere-ave. last Thursday provided ample proof that the drug problem in Charlevoix is very real and very dangerous.

Although the young people arrested in the raid have yet to stand trial, the fact that all of the popular narcotics in use today, except heroin, were found in the home is, or should be, of the gravest concern to every Charlevoix parent.

Ways must be found to show our young people that what they do with their lives is important to us. Somehow we must get across the lesson that life can be full and rich without narcotic-induced euphoria.

It is ironic that our young, who hold the "phoniness" of their elders in such contempt, should seek such a phony means of personal fulfillment. Life itself can be, or should be, a sufficiently heady experience for anyone, without distorting the senses with chemicals and weeds.

As regrettable as the raid was, the Courier offers its congratulations to local and state police and sheriff's deputies who took part in the investigation. They dispelled with a single blow the widespread idea across the state that Charlevoix is a community which tolerates drug abuse. Officers say other raids would have been made earlier if their efforts weren't upset at the last minute by the actions of well-meaning civilian vigilanties.

We hope the arrests made Thursday mark the beginning of the end of drug traffic in Charlevoix.

Ruffles and Flourishes For the City Band

We received a telephone call the other day from a resident who wanted the Courier to list the names of the City Band Members as a tribute to the many enjoyable evenings they have afforded us this summer.

We can think of no better place to list them than in the editorial columns.

The City Band is one of Charlevoix's finest assets. Every Wednesday at 8 p.m. the group assembles on the band stand in East Park for an hour-long concert under the baton of Director Clarence Odmark.

For many residents and visitors, the band concert is the high-point of the week -- a chance to get out with the family, to sit on the grass under the slowly-darkening sky, to watch the boats on Round Lake and to listen to the latest offerings of the City Band. It's the music that pulls the scene together. It is the very essence of life in Charlevoix in the summertime.

When it is over there are friends to chat with, ice cream cones for the kids and a lazy walk home on a summer night.

Of course, for the City Band each concert is more than a one-night stand. Long hours of rehearsal and preparation go into every concert.

So here are the names of the City Band members. You can thank them in person the next time you see them.

Flute: Miss Bobbie Hiller, Miss Laura Hutchinson, Miss Linda Wilson, Miss Sharon Boss, Miss Suc Luttman, Miss Karen Buttrick, Miss Sue Pettis and Miss Susan Valentine.

Oboe: Miss Heanne Belfy and Richard Odmark.

Clarinet: Robert Levine, Miss Linda Gill, Mark Thuston, Miss Bennie Gill, John Wynn, Miss Ginny Ochs, Miss Kris Lieberman, Mrs. Sue Stockwell, Miss Sandy Cellner, Miss Gail Potter and Jim Wynn.

Bassoon: Miss Debbie Smith and Miss Sara Wilson.

Alto Sax: Miss Marcie Brown, Miss Sara Sweet, Kim Shanahan and Larry Anders.

Tenor Sax: Miss Kathy Miles.

Baritone Sax: Howard Bearss and Miss Vicki Skelton.

Cornets: Miss Evelyn Peters, Mike Westenbroek, Carl Novak, Charles Elzinga, Miss Evelyn Peters. Mike Westenbroek

Cornets: Miss Evelyn Peters, Mike Westenbroek, Carl Novak, Charles Elzinga, Miss Pam Parsel, Miss Diane Klooster, Miss Kit Lieberman and Miss Georgia Light.

More Doctors for State

The new public act signed by Gov. William Milliken Aug. 2 should prove a boon to small, rural communities throughout the state which at present do not have a physician in residence.

The law, in effect, wipes from the books a 32-year-old statute which requires that physicians desiring to practice in Michigan pass a "basic science examination."

Many out-of-state physicians who would like to relocate in Michigan have been reluctant to take the test which deals heavily with chemistry and other scientific subjects relatively unfamiliar to them.

Complicating the problem is the fact that most doctors are ready to establish practices of their own about six years after leaving medical school, what with internships, residencies and service obligations, and have become a trifle rusty in some of the courses they studied as concomitants to their medical training. They may be fine physicians, but they aren't chemists or nuclear physicists.

The Michigan Health Council says there is an immediate need for 2,000 physicians in the state, yet the University of Michigan and Wayne State University graduate only about 300 students a year.

The Legislature hopes that abolishing the examination requirement will attract more physicians to Michigan from such states as Ohio and Illinois which produce large numbers of medical school graduates every year. However few of them come to Michigan because of the basic science examination.

Although the Charlevoix has no shortage of doctors at present, many of our neighboring communities have been hard-pressed for medical services in recent years. The new law, hopefully, will make it easier for them to attract physicians.

Only persons who have lived in communities without a doctor in residence can attest to the anguish of not having medical help close at hand when and if it is needed.

Row, Row Your Boat

If you are up and about early these warm Saturday mornings, and if you happen to live on the shore of Lake Charlevoix near the Coast Guard Station, you are likely to see something you won't believe.

It is a rowboat, 26-feet long, skimming over the choppy waters like a flying fish. Along each side is a row of oars and at the end of each oar you will discern a citizen of Charlevoix who thinks he needs exercise.

Standing in the stern will be Lt. Donald Luedke, commander of Group Charlevoix, chanting: "Stroke...and stroke...and stroke."

Lt. Luedke's class of surfboat rowers is now up to six and four more are needed for a full complement.

The boat is a monomoy, the kind that used to be standard equipment at every Coast Guard station in the country. Husky Coasts Guardsmen would carry it across the beach and launch it into the surf as they rushed to the aid of foundering swimmers.

Power craft have made the surfboat obsolete, but Lt. Luedke thinks there's a lot to be said for the surfboat as a floating gymnasium. Men at the Charlevoix Coast Guard Station take it out once a week as part of their physical fitness program.

Saturdays at 8 a.m., Luedke conducts his class for landlubbers, including Clockwise.

Needless to say, there is more to rowing than meets the eye. The Coast Guardsmen, who are experienced in such things, make it look like duck soup, pulling in unison and following other commands by the coxswain with drill-team precision.

However, when you yourself are on the business end of the oar, it is another matter. Take the command "trail oars", for example. This means you are supposed to release your grip on the oar, letting it swing free. You also are supposed to duck under the handle real quick to make sure it doesn't whack you alongside the head.

When Luedke gave the command - Saturday, two of us relaxed our grip completely and spent the next ten minutes fishing our oars out of the drink.

When I was a boy, rowing was not so much a sport as a necessity. Every summer my folks rented a cottage on one of the lakes or rivers around Detroit. And regardless of the body of water, we were always two miles from the closest grocery store, which could be reached only by boat.

Since we had only one car, which my father needed in the city all week, the rowboat was our only means of transportation. Once or twice a week, my mother would make out her grocery list and we would all pile in the boat to go to the store. I usually manned the oars and got quite adept at it, because there was usually an ice cream cone waiting at the end of the line.

One summer we rented a cottages on Swan Creek near Monroe. The creek banks were sparsely populated in those days and it seems I spend the whole summer in the boat, rowing to Lake Erie to swim, rowing to Old Port for groceries, or rowing to a farm a mile downstream for milk and eggs.

By the end of the summer I looked like Charles Atlas what with all the forced exercise.

Of course, the outboard motor kicked holes in the rowboat business. It is a lot easier to rev up a gasoline engine and take off for distant parts with a rooster tail of white water spewing out behind you.

But I still remember the reedy, watery smell around the rickety old dock at Old Port in the days before gas fumes and oil slicks were a part of life on the water. And I remember the creaky sounds of oar locks and how my mother and sister used to squeal every time a too-shallow-stroke sent a spray of water over the boat.

I guess that is why I have taken up rowing again, even though there isn't an ice cream cone waiting at the end of the ride.

Lonely in the Outfield

By JIM FITZGERALD

It was written somewhere, perhaps Tom Sawyer whitewashed it on a fence, that a father should take his son to baseball games.

My dad took me to Navin Field to see Hank Greenberg knock home runs into Cherry St. And I take my son to Tiger Stadium to see Al Kaline knock home runs into the grandstand where Cherry St used to be. Cherry St was moved back and just the other day they renamed it Kaline Drive. Onward and Upward.

My only problem with my dad was that he wasn't just a fan; he could also play baseball. He once pitched a no-hitter for the University of Detroit and he was signed to hurl for the Washington Senators. Only a chronic sore arm prevented him from becoming a major league hero. At least, that's what Grandma and Grandpa used to tell me.

Naturally, Dad would like to have seen his only son shine on the diamond. He never said much about it, but I knew that Schoolboy Rowe and Tommy Bridges at Navin Field were second choices. He'd rather see me pitch for the Port Huron Skunks at Pine Grove Park.

So I tried. From the time I was old enough, I went out for every team there was. It turned out there were just 3 things wrong with my game. I couldn't hit the ball; I couldn't throw it, and I couldn't catch it. But I was a great cheerleader.

Because of my lungs, I was allowed to join several schoolboy teams. And in later years, I even belonged to an army team that starred a couple of guys who later played professionally. My position then was behind the wheel, driving the team bus.

The only time I got in a game was when only 8 other guys showed up. Then they'd stick me in right field and bat me 9th behind the pitcher. Sometimes I played 10-man softball and the 10th man was always stationed right in front of me.

I didn't give Dad much to be proud of. He never complained, but I've never forgotten the humiliation of inning after inning in right field, never touching the ball. And when a left-handed pull hitter came up, the manager switched me to left field. And when a tardy teammate finally arrived, perhaps limping and blind in 1 eye, he'd always pinch-hit for me.

I was a real Charlie Brown.

So the other day I got wondering about my son, Eddie. I raised him to be a baseball fan – I like his company at Tiger Stadium-but I never pressed him to be Babe Ruth or Sandy Koufax. He's on a midget league team and I didn't want him to think he had to make me proud.

So I told Eddie about what a bum I used to be on the ballfield. I confessed to all those lonely innings, stuck far in the corner of the outfield where the ball never came.

"That's nothing," laughed Eddie. "I play the outfield, too. And there's always a man out there cutting the grass. He never stops; he just cuts around me. He knows nothing's going to happen out there. I'm getting to know him pretty well."

Marvelous. No wonder I like to watch ballgames with Eddie sitting beside me. Fortunately, we usually take his mother, too. If a foul ball comes our way, she can catch it.

What really bugs me is to read where some scientist just told Congress that Wheaties, Jack Armstrong's Breakfast of Champions, is no good. I grew up on that stuff. And this scientist says Wheaties has so little energy value, a guy might as well have a shot of whiskey for breakfast.

Now he tells me.

More Countries Going Over to Dollar System

More dollars than ever are in circulation, and not because of inflation.

As more countries adopt the decimal system, other forms of currency are giving way to the dollar as the unit of 100 cents, the National Geographic Society says.

Today, dollars are legal tender in Australia, the Bahamas, Barbados, Bermuda, Canada, Cook Islands, Ethiopia, Guyana, Hong Kong, Liberia, Malaysia, Nauru, New Zealand, Singapore, Taiwan, and Trinidad and Tobago, in addition to the United States.

DOLLARS VS. POUNDS

Australia issued its first dollars in 1966, and New Zealand made the move a year later. Bermuda ended 360 years of pounds, shillings, and pence in favor of the dollar last February.

But Singapore's silver coin, though stamped "$1," often is referred to as a crown. And Britain has announced that when it switches to decimal coinage on February 15, 1971, 100 pence will equal a pound.

The dollar is derived from the thaler, first minted in Bohemia in the 15th century. Spelled "daler" in Scandinavia and "dollar" in England, it came to mean any large silver coin.

The most widely circulated dollar coins in history were the Spanish eight-real pieces–the fabled "pieces of eight" of pirate lore.

Though England forbade its American colonies to issue money, most of them did anyway. They usually printed banknotes redeemable in Spanish milled dollars, as the eight-real coins were known.

In 1785, Congress directed under the Articles of Confederation that the United States monetary system be based on a dollar "of the value of the Spanish milled dollar, as the same is now current." The Government did not begin minting dollars until 1795, however.

Merchants short of coins frequently chopped eight-real pieces into halves, called "four bits," and quarters, or "two bits." The expressions have remained in the language.

DOLLARS TO DONUTS

Spanish dollars were mutilated another way in Australia, when the governor of New South Wales sought to stretch his money in 1813. He imported 40,000 of the coins and had their centers punched out.

Each "holey dollar" was worth five shillings. The center piece was valued at a shilling and two pence. The coins also were punched on Canada's Prince Edward Island.

The dollar sign derived from the "P/s" used in Spanish ledgers to designate pieces of eight, pesos, and piastres, authorities believe. In time, the two letters were run together.

The direct successor to the Spanish dollar was Mexico's silver peso, known as the Mexican dollar. It was legal tender in the United States until 1857.

The peso became widely used in Far East trade, where Asians appreciated its heavier silver content. It served as a standard coin in the Orient, until in the 1870's the United States, Japan, and Britain's Asian colonies minted special Trade Dollars containing equally high amounts of silver.

'If GOP Runs Sticker, Democrats Will Win'

August 12, 1970
Route 1
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Mr. Editor:

Having read your editorial about Mr. Friske, in today's issue of the Courier, I thought that I should write you a few lines.

To begin with, I think that your scheme to get a sticker candidate to run against Mr. Friske is harebrained, and will only result in the Democrats winning the seat from the 106th district. if the GOP party chairman fall for your scheme, then the party deserves to lose the election.

Much has been said about Mr. Friske being a member of the John Birch Society.

Just what do you have against the John Birch Society? Are members of the John Birch Society bad guys because they are concerned about their country? Are they bad guys because they don't make speeches before crowds of people waving the Viet Cong flag? Are they bad guys because they deplore the lack of respect for law and order? Or, maybe they are bad guys because they believe that their government should be ran as prescribed by the U.S. Constitution.

In my book, Richard Friske is a much better American than the average natural born American citizen.

Thirdly, I would like to comment on your classifying yourself as a moderate. It is obvious from reading your comments on various items, that you are to the left of the moderates.

No, Mr. Editor, I am not a member of the John Birch Society. I am just one of tens of millions in this country that are fed up with what our Socialistic politicians have been doing to our country.

'Why Concern Over Gas Rockets Now?'

August 12, 1970

Dear Mr. Clock:

Re: Your column on biological agents. Where have you been? See "Chemical & Biological Warfare – America's Hidden Arsenal", by Seymour M. Hersh (Doubleday Anchor A673 $1.45 in pb.)

This is vintage '68 material. Now, because the arsenal has begun to come out of hiding, persons like yourself squawk. Look deeper. There's more to the iceberg of Amerika than meets the eye.

Incidentally, I find it curious to see a column titled "Mainlining" in your paper, since that term refers, in the drug underground, to the intravelnous injective of heroin. Why this indirect use of an "in" term of an "out" subculture?

Yours,
Dean Gengle

Too Many Exhibitors

Dear Mr. Clock:

The Art Fair committees did a tremendous job but I am afraid they made the familiar American mistake of equating size with quality. There was too much to see, and set too close together. I know several people who took one look at the mob scene and gave up.

Next year, why not limit the exhibitors to the first two hundred who apply?

Sincerely
E.J. Wulfman

Visits WMU

Gerald Fochtman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fochtman, 412 E. Dixon, was one of approximately 3,400 freshman who completed the orientation program for new students at Western Michigan University.

Under the guidance of 51 upperclassmen who served as counseling aides, student leaders and residence hall staff members, the freshman took preliminary tests, toured the WMU campus and had a brief taste of college life.

GARDEN CLUB PLAQUE winner for the south side was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton of 209 Antrim-st. The plaque remained there until the Aug. 17. Honorable mention went to Mrs. Ruth Withers of 1100 State-st. and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oleksy, 419 Antrim-st.

TWO NEW boat launching ramps at Ferry Beach are nearing completion. Here Mike Schmuckal of Traverse City works on seawall as Charlie Welfley of the state Waterways Division looks on. Contractor is Schworm, Inc., of Traverse City. Project is slated for completion by the end of September.

Camp Charlevoix

Corral Chatter

Friday was another warm, sunny day, and boys were busy with their activities. Cabins 1 and 2, our smallest boys, were taken down to the campcraft for their overnight. Steve Utterback and Kim Miller took their boys, Peter Barclae, Peter Gardella, Mike Green, Andy Harrity and Mike Mantho. Pat Bernard and Andy Case, Cabin 2, took their boys Tim Gardella, Pat Harrity, Paul Johnson, Jim Maddox, Scott Rose, and Tom Schultz. Late afternoon the Beaver Island boys returned from their trip to the island. They were gone three days, and from all reports really enjoyed their hiking on this historic island. The Mugwump competition ended with the Greens making two unsuccessful attempts.

Saturday was a very hot day, so hot that we cancelled riding in the afternoon and let the riders spend the afternoon on the waterfront. This was an exciting day as the Senior Section was very busy getting the Bigwam ready for the Saturday night dance with a girls' camp, Camp Chick-A-Mi. After the party was over, about ten o'clock, everyone claimed it to be "The best dance ever".

Sunday was another very hot day. Chapel was held in our outdoor Chapel with several parents in attendance. Tom Dorsek led the service, with Mark Aker reading the Scripture and Harry Heck reading the prayer. Two of our Assistant Counsellors gave the talk "God in Nature," telling the boys how they should look about and appreciate the beauty of the sky, the trees, the flowers, the water. Larry Boardman and Chuck Osborn did a great job with their talk. At Sunday dinner, John Nesbit, the counsellor of cabin 3, sang three numbers accompanying himself on his guitar. We also had a good sing of camp songs, and I must add here that this is the best "singing camp" we have had in several years. These boys really love to sing. In the afternoon, we had the Mile Swim, and as it was a very hot afternoon, nearly every boy attempted this swim. It is quite a sight to see all the camp canoes, rowboats, sailboats, lined up along the course, with our power boats following the waves of swimmers. At the end of the swim, we found that 96 boys had completed the mile, which is about 85 percent of the boys. That is a record, and everyone was surprised that twenty boys made the two mile swim. Another surprise was the number of Juniors that made the mile. We had never had as many as the twelve who finished. That, too, was a record. The following boys made the Two Mile Swim: Ross Compton, John Dannecker, Jimmy Eberts, Mike Furbush, Billy Guggenheim, Doug Halby, Wally Heck, Brad Mast, Terry Mast, Dan McClellan, Tommy Miller, Mike Mulcahy, Jim Osborn, Carl Pfeiffer, Jim Shook, Derck VanFossen, Mark Whitehead, Bob Wilson, Steve Woodward and Chuck Zitsman. In the evening we had a Council Fire, which met in our Council Ring, and the boys were amazed at the huge Thunderbird there. Ken explained the meaning of the Council Ring, going into its history, Bill Townsend called on each activity man who read the names of the boys gaining stars during the past week. Bill also told the boys of coming events, trips, etc. It was all a most interesting meeting. Ken led some camp songs and the meeting closed with the singing of taps.

On Monday morning our archers went down the lake to Camp Sea-Gull for three archery matches. As we won all three matches, each by a big score, everyone was very happy. This was another hot day. Cabins 11 and 13 went down to the campcraft area for an overnight, the counsellors being Jim Goers and Bob Pardee, the boys on the trip were: Billy Bray, Rich Cook, Chuck Hunter, Bob Swain, and Mark Wilson. Also, Billy Guggenheim, Greg Mantho, Kevin McCarty, Jim Shook, Davis Alspach, and David Townsend.

Tuesday arrived as another hot day. Our softball teams went over to Bay View for two games. The following boys were on our teams: Jim Kasmark, Rick McClaughry, Tad Mitchell, Jim Cook, Rod Kirsch, Bill McKee, Lloyd Oakes, Chris Holm, Ken Hayden, Dan Hayden, Ron Beatty, Tony Smith, Brad Mast, Nick Genematis, Steve Jorwitz, Todd Barrett, Gordon Doby, Tim Washburn, Tim Baker, Scott Benjamin, Wally Heck, Bob Wilson, Tom Harbeck, Bill Harrity, Dave Townsend, Greg Mantho, Larry Webb, Larry Hyde, Chuck Hartly, Chuck Zitsman, and Trey Henkel. The teams returned at noon, and I'm sure that Bay View and Camp Charlevoix were happy as our Seniors lost their game, and our Junior Team won. It was a very hot afternoon once again, and boys took it a little easy in the activities. The waterfront was available to those who wanted to swim. In the evening, the Intermediate Section went into town to visit the Coast Guard Station. Boys always find this most interesting.

Wednesday morning dawned, hot, humid, and grey. two of our long trips left on Wednesday, the canoe trip down the Au Sable left in the morning. The men on this trip were: Curt Huber, Doug Otto, and Jim Goers. The boys chosen for this interesting trip were: Larry Webb, Mac Pfeiffer, Tom Belbutowski, Jim Cook, Tony Woods, Terry Mast, Steve Horwitz, Nick Genematas, Mac Briggs, and Bob Swain. Work was started on painting the Totem Pole, a job that needs doing obout every five years. Both boys and men started work, and it was most interesting to wntch the boys at work with all the colors that are used. in the afternoon, the sailors got away on their trip around Lake Charlevoix. The campers were: Bill Bray, Ross Compton, Jeff Gluck, Doug Halby, Tom Harbeck, Larry Hyde, Eric Meyer, Jim Osborn, Mike Mulcahy, and Craig Hanson, with the staff on the trip being, Steve Utterback, Andy Case, Ed Kalat and Tom Dorsek. in the evening, we had an all camp scavenger hunt which the boys enjoyed very much. It was very exciting as the points each side gains at this point are most important. The Greys won 3, and Greens won 1, so the season totals at this stage were: Greens-34, Greys-32. Boys were excited as everything was pointing toward the Obstacle Relay on Sunday which closes the G-G competition. This event counts four points, one for each section, so the winning team will be decided on Sunday afternoon. This event takes in every boy in camp and every activity in camp, plus rolling an orange with the nose, eating peanutbutter and a cracker and whistling, sawing a log in two, a three legged race, etc. All most exciting, as it ends with the two captains bringing water to a boil.

Thursday, another hot day, found much activity around camp. Boys were busy on the activities trying to earn stars. Boys were busy painting the totem pole, and it really looks great. Many hands made light work. The Belvedere Gang was over in the afternoon for a softball game and our boys won 11-3. All the boys had a good time. Both the canoe trip and the sailors reported that all was well and everyone was enjoying himself.

By the time parents read this, the season will be about over. Enrollments for next summer, 1971, are coming in and boys are anxious to be on that Mackinac Island trip next year.

Mainlining

So I'm going to be liberated! No more discrimination because of sex! If the proposed equal rights amendment goes through, I'm liable for military service and may have to pay child support or even alimony if I ever decide to get a divorce. Lucky me! They told the blacks they were going to be liberated too.

I've been showered with quite a bit of propaganda at school on this women's lib movement. They demonstrated at the Miss CMU pagent and labeled it a "cattle show." Perhaps they can't get it through their heads that women are women not men and that there definitely is a difference between the two. These liberators want all the benefits of being equal to men but still demand to be treated like ladies.

It should be interesting to see if women will be expected to open doors for themselves even though accompanied by a male. Will this do anything to the age-old dating tradition of the boy taking the girl out and paying? Will it be socially acceptable for a young lady to ask a young man for a date or even offer a proposal of marriage now that it appears that women and men are supposedly on equal footing?

The military service provision I really don't mind. If young women as well as young men knew that they had an obligation to pay to their country, perhaps there would be fewer teenage marriages and possibly not so many shotgun weddings. Women serving their country is not an entirely new concept. Other countries, such as Isreal, have recruited women for years.

A reversal of roles might evolve because of this proposed amendment. No longer would it be an accepted fact that the woman's place is in the home. It is quite possible that more men will step back and take over the responsibilities of running a household. Imagine a man putting down his occupation as "househusband."

If females are going to demand to be treated like males, then I say, let them take the good with the bad. Let's forget all the laws that say a man can be punished for using obscene language in the presence of a woman. The pedestal that women have been put on for years soon will no longer exist. It has gradually sunk lower and lower but is in danger of being completely obliterated.

And so they cry, "Lady, stand up and be a man."

Several of the races have been decided in the local softball leagues, but there are two that won't be decided until the final games. The Slow Pitch second round will no doubt go down to the wire with several teams including; Andy's, Howard Oilers, and Freedmans, battling for the right to play first round winner, Medusa in the title game. The women's race is right down to the final game with Dairy Queens and Edwards IGA battling it out Thursday at 6:00 for the trophy.

Mold Takes 2nd Round

Morweld Steel's win over County State Bank allowed American Mold to back in to the title with a 4-2 record. Now Mold and Morweld will clash tonight (Tuesday) at 9:00 in the first of three games to determine the city champ. In the important Morweld-Bank contest, Hud Drenth's sharp single scored Powers Payton from second in the ninth inning to eliminate County State from the second round title picture. In a well played contest, the bank boys left runners stranded in every inning, and just couldn't come up with a hit at the right time.

American Mold looked sharp earlier in the week as they handed Morweld a 11-4 beating. Tom Webb and Ike Boss had two of the winner's hits.

Slow Pitch Undecided

Andy's continues to cling to a narrow lead as the final week of play approaches. They defeated American Mold 10-4 behind Harv Cole's two round-trippers. Ken Balch also chipped in with a homer.

Medusa got untracked to beat Townhouse 7-5. Hank Archery blasted three connective homers for the winners. Al Wojan banged two for the losers. Lee Bracken of the USAF homered in the bottom of the seventh to enable the servicemen to beat Howard's of Boyne City 11-10. The loss knocked Howards out of first place.

Mold edged Medusa 4-2 in a well-played contest. Larry Nunemaker's two-run homer averted a shutout for Medusa.

Freedmans handed Howards their second straight loss, beating them 8-2 Gayle Shelden homered and Bernie Devries collected three hits for the winners. The Weathervane kept their faint title hopes alive with a last inning thrilling win over the USAF. Walt Franzcek singled in the winning marker. Townhouse delt Freedman's title hopes a serious blow as they dumped the artcraft nine 12-10. Dick Mitchell had three of the winner's hits while Dave Bowman homered for the losers.

Library Notes

Important and interesting and informative new titles for our patrons this week include: "Prime Time, The Life of Edward R. Murrow," by Alexander Kendrick. This large volume has received marvelous reviews in all of the major magazines, and this is not surprising. It is a penetrating biography of the nation's best known and most esteemed news commentator. His story is told by an old friend and associate against the background of the swift and drastic--and often dismaying – changes in the industry in which Ed Murrow was so prominantly involved. Kendrick, a veteran newsman himself, has written an account of the life of Murrow which is at the same time a biting analysis of a critical era and the increasingly debatable use of the media of mass communications.

"Custer Died For Your Sins," An Indian Manifesto," is an outstanding new book in which the much-abused Indian finally speaks back! In a brilliant and witty manifesto, Vine Deloria, Jr., speaks for his people, the original Americans. It is a shocking story of human waste, twisted legend and broken promises that have left the Indian the most maligned and least understood citizen in America today. The author is a Standing Rock Sioux from a distinguished family of American Indians with scholar, churchman, and warrior-chief ancestors. At 35 he is former executive director of the National Congress of American Indians, and he remains continually active in the mainstream of his people's problems, programs and politics with the United States government. The book is highly recommended.

"The Red Orchestra" by Gilles Perrault, tells the dramatic history of a crucial struggle in World War II. It's subject is the notorious Soviet spy ring the Germans called Die Rote Kapelle–the Red Orchestra – that operated within the very highest circles of the German general staff from 1941 to 1944. It is very definitely one of the most exciting books to come out of the Second World War, and there are photographs to make this astonishing but true account even more interesting.

"The View From a High Bed" by Max Hampton is more than just an account of the ordeal the author went through during a series of grave operations. It is a very hopeful book, a very perceptive book. It is a guide on how to be a successful patient and it is an admonition to hospital administrators. Max Hampton, a man possessed of courage and, more important, a sense of humor, has written a unique book about his experiences in a hospital, and there's a lesson for everyone in the pages.

Low-Income Families Target of Planners

Four Charlevoix County women attended a two-day training session in Gaylord held by the Northeast Michigan Community Action, Inc.

Janet Dunnette, Helen Stainbrook, Virginia Whitley and Louise Kane of the Boyne City office were among approximately 50 staff members who assembled for instructions necessary to conduct a massive survey of the twelve counties serviced through this Agency.

The specific goal is to identify all low-income families living in this area. Special emphasis will be directed toward the Family Planning Program which has been funded through OEO.

Survey-outreach workers and their immediate supervisors will cover the twelve county area with referral service regarding information and help in family planning.

Temporary job openings numbering about 35 have been filled by women representing each of these northern counties. These women will visit homes for the purpose of survey completion work.

At the training session, guest speakers included John Garcia from the United Migrant Opportunity, Inc., Stanley Woodson from the Computer Systems and Consulting Services, Inc. of Lansing, Bob Snyder, Comprehensive Health, and Isabel Nichols, Michigan Association of Hearing and Speech from Lansing.

They spoke on a number of topics ranging from the professional approach needed in making survey visits, the problems of low-income people, to the history and development of help for those with hearing and speech problems.

Local lip-reading classes are now being conducted in Northern counties and hearing test mobile units are functioning in several counties.

Plan 'Tag Day' For Grandvue

Friday, Aug. 25, is "Tag Day" for the benefit of Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

Proceeds from the sale will be used to buy equipment for the medical facility and to furnish incidentals for patients.

Last year, proceeds from "Tag Day" went toward the purchase of a color TV set and articles for the therapy department.

The county-wide solicitation is being sponsored by the Grandvue Auxiliary.

Volunteers should contact 547-2509 or 547-6614.

Results of City Swimming Meet

More then 75 youngsters participated in the city Recreation Department's swimming finals as several long-standing records were broken.

Kevin Martin turned in a fine performance in the senior boys division, winning four first place ribbons, and set records in the 100 yard freestyle and the 25 yard freestyle in the process. Joe Left was the other big winner as he captured four first place ribbons in the junior boys division.

Tori Alger was the outstanding senior girls swimmer with her sister Jody close behind. Tori won three races. Corrine Ranger paced the junior girls section winning two firsts, and one second. The results are as follows:

Funds Needed For Survivors Of Hurricane

The Charlevoix County chapter of the American Red Cross is accepting contributions to assist the survivors of Hurricane Celia which slammed in the Texas Gulf coast Aug. 4, according to Jason H. Snyder, East Jordan, executive secretary.

The Red Cross is operating 30 emergency shelters at Corpus Christi and 11 other shelter sites scattered throughout the disaster area, from San Antonio to Laredo.

More than 30,000 persons already have received emergency assistance in the form of food, clothing, temporary housing and medical care at the Red Cross shelters, Snyder said.

Address of the local Red Cross chapter is P.O. Box 502, East Jordan, 49727.

County, City To Get Funds

Charlevoix County will receive $139,838 in second quarter receipts from the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund, according to the State Highway Commission.

During the same period in 1969, Charlevoix County was alloted $118,457.

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said the increase is due to several factors, including a one-month extension for obtaining motor vehicle license plates; an increase in the rate-of-weight tax for trucks; and the normal increase of the number of motor vehicles and miles being driven.

Highway Fund receipts are derived from motor vehicle license plate fees and a state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel, collected by the Department of State.

The City of Charlevoix will receive $11,379 compared to $9,567 for last year.

ANTS AND TERMITES

Though termites frequently are called "white ants," the ant is no relation and actually is the termites' enemy. The 2,100 species of termites are distant cousins of roaches.

An unbelievable amount off litter was found inside the dwelling where occupants apparently slept on matresses on the floor. The walls were decorated with mod posters and pictures of motorcyclists and rock musicians. A quantity of expensive recording equipment also was found in the building.

at all seven county conventions throughout the 106th District.

Major objection to Friske stems from affiliation with the ultra right-wing John Birch Society, which many Republicans feel is anathema to their own political beliefs.

Before the convention closed, delegate Robert Bergmann asked: "How can n Bircher run on the Republican ticket?"

Main item on the agenda was election of delegates to the state convention in Detroit Aug. 28 and 29. They are Eileen Rouse and George Wuerth of Boyne City and William Cooper and Robert Wise of Charlevoix. Alternates Ed Hansen of Charlevoix; Joan Burkey of East Jordan; George Dean of Hayes Township and William Taylor of East Jordan.

The convention also endorsed Robert Klevorn of Boyne City as district probate judge. Klevorn will face Probate Judge John Murphy of Petoskey in November. Delegates also endorsed Weldon Yeager for secretary of state and John Dethmers and Edward S. Piggins as supreme court justices.

Football Physicals

Physical examinations for prospective football players will be given beginning at 7 p.m. Monday, Aug. 24, at the High School, according to Coach Don Carey.

Carey's gridders will hold their first meeting of the season the same day at 7 a.m. at the school.

The coach suggests that boys going out for football should run long distances in their football shoes prior to the beginning of practice.

Maurice E. Hunt

Consumer Protection Offered

A new consumer protection service is now being offered by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce, according to manager Dick Oestrike.

In charge of the new service will be Maurice E. Hunt, 305 W. Hurlbut-st.

Anyone who has a bone to pick with Charlevoix businesses is invited to contact Hunt through the Chamber of Commerce office. The chamber will refer complaints to Hunt who will follow up on them.

The work isn't exactly new to Hunt who was a field representative for 10 years with the Consumer Protection Division of the stote Attorney General's Office, retiring this year.

He also served as mayor of Sault Ste. Marie from 1944 to 1950 and was with the Michigan Public Service Commission from 1951 until 1957. In 1958-59 he was a city councilman at San Clemente, California, and in 1959 and 1960 worked for the Attorney General's Office organizing 30 port cities in the Chicago water diversion case.

Oestrike says Hunt has volunteered his services to the Chamber of Commerce whenever he is in town.

More Students

Eighty new students were signed up to attend Charlevoix schools this year at the special enrollment Monday, Aug. 24. The total includes 45 more youngsters in grades K through four; 23 in the Middle School and 12 high schoolers.

HAS IT BEEN a good summer? It certainly has, judging from the laundry piled up Sunday evening at the Charlevoix Commercial Laundry on Hurlbut-st. Here bookkeeper Lee Wilcox adds another bundle to the pile. The laundry serves motels and hotels throughout the area.

Social Services Confab

About 500 delegates from counties throughout Michigan will attend the 31st annual convention of the Michigan County Social Services Association at Boyne Mountain Lodge Aug. 26-28, according to Richard Tillen, director of Social Services for Charlevoix County.

Tillen and Vern Whiteford of East Jordan, chairman of the county Social Services Board, are making arrangements for the convention, which will weigh proposals for welfare reforms at both the national and state levels.

Speakers include Rep. Guy VanderJagt (R-Ninth District); newspaper columnist Sydney J. Harris; Mel Spear, chief of the division of Older American Services, of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare; and Harold R. Johnson, director of the office of Youth Services, Michigan Department of Social Services.

Membership in the organization consists of directors of departments of social services throughout Michigan as well as members of local social services boards.

Mobile Unit To Help Kids Pick Careers

The mobile counseling unit has arrived and is being outfitted for use during the upcoming school year, members of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate Board of Education were told at their meeting Monday night.

The 40-foot long house trailer will be manned by James Wilderom, 40, formerly a counselor for the state Department of Education. It will travel from school district to school district throughout the area, offering specialized counseling services.

Wilderom received his B.S. from George Williams College in Chicago and his M.A. in counseling from Eastern Michigan University. He also has done graduate work in organic and inorganic chemistry at the University of Michigan.

He, his wife and three daughters have settled in Harbor Springs. They formerly lived on a farm near Chelsea, Mich.

Most of the meeting Monday was taken up by a discussion of the future of the county trainable program. Last year, county trainable programs were operated by the Charlevoix District at the

Miss Pierce Wins Award

Miss Joy Ann Pierce, 500 Newman-st., is the 1970 winner of the Custer-Kerry Scholarship at Charlevoix Hospital, Rollie Dudik, hospital administrator reports.

The selection was made by Mrs. Kathryn Boss, R.N., director of nursing; Robert Egler, chief radiological technician; and Mrs. Leotine Coatta, physical therapy aide, who were elected by the department heads as the selection committee.

Miss Pierce is the stepdaughter of Claude Pearsall, an employe of the hospital. She is majoring in biology at Western Michigan University.

New Policy

Children in grades K through 6 must be accompanied by an adult when attending all school athletic events, the Board of Education decided Monday night.

Mrs. Dorothy Dixon

Marks 27 Years With First State Bank

Mrs. Maurice G. (Dorothy) Dixon, 105 W. Lincoln-st., started her 28th year with Charlevoix's First State Bank on Monday.

Bank President Jerrald H. Redeker thinks Mrs. Dixon's long-service record is remarkable in light of the fact that most women don't stay in the banking business for more than a few years.

Mrs. Dixon joined the bank Aug. 23, 1943, after she was told by the late Don Campbell that the bank was looking for help.

At the time, Mrs. Dixon has completed a one-year course at the Lansing Business Uiversity and was working for Household Finance in Lansing.

"I was nervous, but I applied for the job and Mr. Archie Livingston (the former bank president) hired me," Mrs. Dixon recalls.

At that time, the bank had only two other employes, in addition to Livingston. They were Miss Florine Stelter (now Mrs. Horry Foster of Ironton) and Miss Wilma See. Assets totaled $686,000, compared to $5½ million today.

Mrs. Dixon worked 10 years as a teller before she bacame assistant cashier. In 1966 she was elected a director of the bank and this year she was named cashier, upon the retirement of Robert Livingston.

A native of Williston, N.D., Mrs. Dixon moved to Charlevoix in 1926 with her family. She graduated from Charlevoix High School in 1933 and in 1935 married Maurice Dixon in Charlevoix. They have two daughters. Julie graduated from high school in June and is a business administration student at North Central Michigan College. Marlene will be a senior at CHS this year.

Mrs. Dixon's mother, Mrs. Minnie Pederson, 86, makes her home with the family.

Air Code Changes Weighed

The Medusa Portland Cement Co. plant at South Point will have to live with tighter pollution controls if the Charlevoix Township board goes ahead with plans to amend its air quality code.

Changes in the code, including a reduction in the amount of dust allowable from the stack and institution of a surveillance fee, were discussed at a meeting of the township board last week.

The board appeared ready to act, but township attorney Donald Berlage asked more time to refine the language of the proposed changes.

The meeting was attended by Fred W. Cohrs, Medusa plant manager; Charles Howlett, a Medusa vice president in charge of operations; ond Williom Troutman, secretary of the corporation in charge of development.

The changes in the code were proposed by Dr. Thomas L. Sweeney, an Ohio chemist, who visited the plant earlier this summer.

Major change would be a reduction in the permissible stack discharge from .28 pounds of contaminants for every 1,000 pounds of flue gas to .15 pounds for the same amount of gas.

"Your own tests show that you were doing three times better than .15 pounds during 1969," Berlage told the Medusa officials.

Attorney Norman Ance, representing Medusa, suggested that the township stick with provisions of the state air quality code, which is a trifle more liberal than the proposed township code.

The Medusa men said they have ordered stack monitoring equipment which should give reliable information relative to stack emissions when the plant is in full operation. However they doubted the effectiveness during start-up periods.

The surveillance fee would range from $100 to $10,000 depending on the amount of contaminants emitted into the atmosphere. The fee was proposed on grounds that enforcement of the ordinance will cost more than the $4,000 in taxes the township presently receives from Medusa.

Another change is the appointment of township officers to the Air Pollution Control Board.

Howlett said he believed the board should also include an

Stewart Sandwich Plan To Replace Hot Lunch

$7,500 Deficit Blamed

Mrs. James O'Neil

91 AUG. 24

Mrs. O'Neil Wears Her Years Lightly

Mrs. James O'Neil, 504 Sherman-st. Charlevoix, celebrated her 91st birthday Sunday at an open house hosted by Mrs. Elinor O'Neil, her sister-in-law and a neighbor on Sherman-st.

The former Clara Coomber was born in Yorkshire, England, Aug. 24, 1879, and moved to the United States in 1908, settling in Barnard.

She was married twice, first to Fred Gornell and later to James O'Neil, both of whom are deceased.

Mrs. O'Neil wears her years lightly. Her eyes are still sharp and she enjoys doing embroidery and fancy needlework.

She also is a prolific letter-writer, as her friends and relatives will attest.

High point of her birthday celebration was receipt of a birthday card from President Richard Nixon.

Mrs. O'Neil has two daughters, Mrs. Martin (Effie) Doctor of Muskegon and Mrs. Harry (Ellen) Southland, of Benton Harbor. She also has three grandchildren, 14 stepgrandchildren; six greatgrandchildren and one great, great-grandchild.

Class of '16 Holds Reunion

The graduation class of 1916 held a reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Crites on Aug. 12.

Mrs. Crites, the former Irene Gregory, and her husband entertained five other members of the class: M. and Mrs. Howard Bennett (Anise Driggett) of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. George Zelker (Mary Belle Hair) of Charlevoix, Mr. and Mrs. Rowley Williams (Florence Withers); Mr. and Mrs. Ed Welby (Effie Cook) of East Jordan and Mrs. Bess Hodges of Clawson.

Petoskey photographer Luciano Duse will be at Charlevoix High School all week taking senior pictures.

Wilks Host Finnish Girl

Miss Tuire Savinainen, 16, of Helsinki, Finland, arrived in Charlevoix on Aug. 10 as an exchange student to the United States.

She will be the guest of the Douglas Wilks family of 509 Meadowlane and will ottend the Charlevoix High School this fall.

Miss Savinainen's father is a primary teacher in Helsinki schools and her mother is a housewife. She has four sisters and one brother.

Hot lunch programs at the High School and Middle School will be replaced when school starts in September with a new kind of cafeteria service featuring Stewart sandwiches.

The change was approved Monday night by the Charlevoix Board of Education which was faced with a deficit of $7,500 in the hot lunch program budget last year.

The board, which was treated to samples of the new lunch last Wednesday, voted unanimously to give the new system a try.

Stewart sandwiches are prepared in Grand Rapids and contain at least two ounces of protein. They are quick frozen and delivered to the school once a week. They are reheated in infra-red ovens just prior to serving.

Stewart representative Dean Counselman said most schools serve hot dogs and hamburgers every day, along with any one of more than a dozen specials, such as "pizzarinos", "pizza burgers", "ham & cheese", "sloppy joes", "hoboes" and a variety of others.

Along with the sandwich, the youngster will receive a bag of potato chips, milk and pastry or fruit. Recommended sale prices range from 35 cents to 45 cents for the entire lunch.

Other schools already using the Stewart sandwich plan include Mancelona, Mackinaw City, Bellaire, Our Lady of the Lake at Houghton Lake, Hale, Iron River, Iron Mountain and Watersmeet. Elk Rapids plans to service Stewart sandwiches when its new high school is completed.

Counselman told the board the participation in hot lunch programs usually increases from 20 to 30 percent of the student population to from 60 to 70 percent when the sandwich program is instituted.

"We try to give the kids what they want to eat," Counselman said.

He said Stewart investigators followed kids on their lunch hours to see just what they preferred for lunch when they ate downtown. Their meals usually consisted of a sandwich, potato chips and a soft drink.

Counselman said examination of the garbage pails where the Type A hot lunch is served indicated that vegetables don't go over so well.

The Stewart company will supply the Charlevoix schools

Last Offering At Playhouse

Next and final performance at the Cherry County Playhouse in Traverse City is "Best of Friends", booked Sept. 1 to 6. Weeknight shows are at 8:30; Saturday 6 and 9:30 p.m.; and Sunday, 7:30. The Thursday matinee starts at 2 p.m.

Written by James Elward, the play stars MacDonald Carey of TV's "Days of Our Lives" and Barbara Britton, best remembered for her role in the "Mr. and Mrs. North" series.

Slated for Broadway this winter, "Best of Friends" deals with an author (McDonald Carey) who returns to his family after a five-year absence, just at the moment when they believe him dead in a plane crash. Afraid of growing old, he wants to marry a 24-year-old girl and asks his wife (Barbara Britton) for a divorce.

Miss Britton's real-life son and daughter-in-law, Theodore Britton and Christine Foster, have been cast as her stage son and daughter-in-law in the play.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey Weidner

Hoffman-Weidner Rites Solemnized

Kathleen Faye Hoffman of E. Lansing became the bride of Jeffrey Weidner of Okemos in double ring ceremonies Aug. 15 at the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix, the Rev. Albert Mansen officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hoffman of 103 Eaton-ave., Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Weidner of 2723 Lake Shore-dr., Long Beach, Ind.

About 120 guests witnessed the ceremony, which took place before an altar decorated with bouquets of yellow and white gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza with a high neckline, puff sleeves and a chapel length train trimmed with Venise lace. She wore a white picture hat and carried a bouquet of Fuji mums and baby's breath.

Organist Mrs. John L. Boss played the theme from "Romeo and Juliet" and other traditional wedding music.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Jerome Whitley, a sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Terry (Sharon) Thomas, Leslie Lindell and Sue Burgess, all of Detroit. They wore long blue and green chiffon gowns and carried baskets of white pom-pom mums, blue carnations, baby's breath and greens.

Gary Court of Detroit was best man and groomsmen were Kevin Huntington of Louisville, Ky., Jeffrey Chalmers and Robert Edwards, both of Detroit.

After the wedding, a reception was held at the bride's home, followed by an evening reception at the Weathervane.

Following a wedding trip to Canada, the Weidners will live at 4382 Okemos-rd., Okemos, Mich.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hoffman wore a navy-blue bonded knit with pink accessories. Mrs. Weidner wore a three-piece powder blue ensemble. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A graduate of Michigan State University, the bride will teach at the MacDonald Middle School in E. Lansing this fall. Her husband is working on his master's degree in physiology at MSU.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Weidner at Grey Gables.

Mrs. Charles Lafayette Carey II

Carey-Briggs Rites Solemnized Aug. 15

Jacqueline Anne Briggs became the bride of Charles Lafayette Carey II in a double ring ceremony at the Christ Episcopal Church on Saturday, Aug. 15 at 4:30 p.m., the Rev. Hewitt Johnston officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Colonel Jack L. Briggs of San Francisco (Calif.) and Mrs. F.W. Wilson of Oklahoma City, Okla.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Carey, 406 Michigan-ave., Charlevoix.

Escorted by her father to an altar decorated with white gladioli and white sims carnations, the bride wore a white full length silk organza gown accented with imported Venise lace, empire bodice, camelot sleeves and watteau chapel train. She chose a Juliet headpiece with illusion veil.

She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses, stephanotis, carnations and gladioli petals accented with pink sweetheart roses and ivy greens.

Traditional liturgical music was played by Mrs. S.E. Coleman, aunt of the bridegroom. Suzanne Michelle Briggs was her sister's only attendant. She wore a full-length maize silk organza gown with scoop neck, empire bodice and puffed sleeves. Her headpiece was of yellow rose buds.

Peter Donald Carey, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Thomas . Davis Collins, Randolph Campbell Carey, and James Gordon Dennis.

Mrs. Wilson chose a street length pink worsted and pure silk with matching shoes for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of pink tea roses.

Mrs. Carey selected a powder blue striped worsted ensemble accented by a corsage of yellow tea roses.

A reception was given by the bride's parents at the home of the groom's parents Michigan-ave. Assisting were Chris Carey, Ann Carey, Betsy Papineau, and Jeannie Carey.

Following a northern Michigan wedding trip, the couple returned to Charlevoix. On Sept. 1, they will make their home at 2283 Knob Hill-dr., Okemos, Mich.

THE U.S. COAST GUARD maintains a lifeboat station at St. James, Beaver Island. Men at the station participate many times during the summer months in search and rescue missions on Lake Michigan.

THE BASCULE BRIDGE carrying U.S. 31 traffic over Pine River Channel remains a fascinating spectacle, whether you've seen the bridge open once or hundreds of times. The bridge is opened every half hour during the summer to permit boats to pass. It is operated by means of counterbalanced weights.

GREENSKY HILL MISSION

Here in the 1840's the Chippewa Indian missionary, Peter Greensky, established a Protestant mission in an area where legend says Indian chiefs once held their councils. New trees have been planted in an arrangement similar to that of the trees that made up the original council circle. Mission services first were held in a rude building of boughs and bark. In the 1850's the Indians built the present church. It is a fine example of the old log style construction with hand-hewn timbers and notched corners. Windows, doors, and much of the lumber were brought by canoe from Traverse City to Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix) and then carried two miles to this site. Methodist services for the Indian congregation have been held here regularly to the present.

THE GREENSKY Hill Indian church, grounds and council trees have been declared an historic site by the state of Michigan. This plaque stands near the old log church.

High Court Decision Another Blow to Schools

The state Board of Education has finally come up with guidelines on who pays for what in Michigan schools in light of the recent Supreme Court decision relative to books and supplies.

And it appears that already hard-pressed school districts have caught it in the neck again.

Charlevoix School Superintendent Robert Miller said the new ruling would cost the school district a minimum of $6,000, depending on how liberally the court's decision was interpreted by the state Board of Education.

However, it now appears that the figure will be at least double that amount, with everything from crayons to weekly readers included as part of the school's obligation.

Following is a press release prepared by the state Board of Education on the new guidelines:

Free books, pencils, paper and crayons are among items students need for class work that must be provided by the schools under a new policy guideline of the Michigan State Board of Education.

Basically, the policy says that all materials used as part of the school curriculum in required or elective classes must be free to students.

As soon as cost estimates are available, the Board will seek state appropriations from the Legislature to help ease the financial burden on school districts.

The Board said, however, that school districts may continue to charge fees for extracurricular activities when such activities carry no academic credit.

Acting Superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. John W. Porter said an example might be where members of a football team participating only in interscholastic and extracurricular sports could be required to furnish their own football shoes, but the school could not charge for band instruments if credit toward graduation is given for band.

The Board policy statement grew out of a July 17 ruling of the Michigan Supreme Court.

In a case brought by parents in Ann Arbor, the high court said that general student fees were illegal and also ruled that books and school supplies, being essential to school, must be provided without charge to the student or his parents under the Michigan Constitution.

After consulting with the State Attorney General and numerous school authorities, the State Board of Education published its guidelines to help define responsibilities of the state's more than 600 districts.

Among the items covered by the State Board of Education policy statement:

--No student should be denied even extracurricular activities because of family financial hardship.

--Schools do not have to furnish free food or clothing offered in required or elective classes.

--Charges for damage or loss of school property may be imposed if the books or other materials have been provided free, and reasonable, refundable deposits may be required from those able to pay.

--Adult education courses not leading to a high school diploma, and summer school classes not part of an extended school year, may charge fees.

As a means of providing examples of what schools may not make charges for, the Board cited: pencils, paper, crayons, regular and supplemental textbooks, band instruments, weekly readers or other periodicals if required in the classroom, towels, locks, lockers, shop materials, drafting supplies, home economics materials, workbooks, materials in science classes, book rental, educational trips required for class and vocational or special education.

The Board said school districts may charge for: class or organizational dues; admission fees to athletic contests, dances or plays; student activity cards on a voluntary basis; dues for such "external" tests as National Merit or college entrance exams; damage or loss of school-owned materials; club dues; lunch; yearbooks; football shoes; gym shoes; swimming suits; bus transportation for non-resident students; sponsored trips, unless they are a class assignment; shots or vaccinations; caps and gowns, and insurance fees for interscholastic athletics in accordance with present statutes.

Sticker Candidate Won't Have Party Support

It is becoming increasingly obvious that if a sticker candidate runs against Birchite Richard Friske in the November election, he is going to have to do it without official support from the Republican Party.

According to Charlevoix County GOP Chairman Oscar stroud, the party is obligated to support Friske, who came in first in a field of 11 candidates in the August primary.

So emphatic is Stroud on the point that he outlawed discussion of a possible sticker candidate at the county GOP convention last week until the convention had officially closed.

After the final gavel, a straw vote among the delegates conducted by William Cooper indicated that they would favor a sticker candidate by a margin of better than two-to-one.

The most likely candidate at this point is John Kujawski, chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, who ran second to Friske in the primary.

Emmet County Republicans were equally reluctant to openly endorse a sticker candidate at their county convention, although it is understood that there is a groundswell of public opinion in favor of Kujawski among our neighbors to the north.

So it appears that any candidate who bucks the Friske bandwagon is going to have to go-it-alone, insofar as party support or endorsement is concerned.

The job certainly will be an undertaking of no mean proportions. Kujawski committees will have to be established in every city, village and township throughout the sprawling 106th representative district; stickers will have to be printed and distributed; and voters will have to be instructed on how to use the sticker, which is a ticklish job particularly where voting machines are used.

Probably most important of all is the drawing up of a platform representative of moderate Republican thinking. We are convinced that the voters will not buy a campaign designed merely to "get Friske."

However, a sticker campaign could backfire, so splitting the Republican vote that Democrat Peter Johnson of Boyne City would win the House seat.

But many local Republicans are convinced that the risks are worth the gamble and that having a Democrat in Lansing would be preferable to a Republican who espouses the doctrines of the John Birch Society.

Clockwise Farmlands or Factories?

Elsewhere on this page you will find the Courier's weekly National Geographic feature dealing with the increasing industrialization of rural America. Although the author deals with facts, he is obviously delighted that factories are cropping up on Nebraska wheatfields.

I am not, because it could happen here.

There seems to be a mania in America today to spread urban blight over the entire nation. The trend started during World War II and is gaining momentum with every passing year.

There was a time when the economics of manufacturing dictated that industry locate in metropolitan areas, near rail lines and shipping lanes. Cities also were where the workers were, usually living in fairly close proximity to their places of employment.

During the war, the nation was forced to increase its manufacturing capacity and a number of so-called "war plants" sprang up in the boondocks, witness Ford's Willow Run Bomber Plant near Ypsilanti. Needless to say, Ypsilanti alone couldn't staff the plant and most of the workers commuted from Detroit.

Industrialists learned that manufacturing plants could be built and operated successfully well beyond the corporate limits of a municipality.

After the war, management took a long, hard look at their city plant sites, many of which were too small for expansion, and decided on relocating in rural areas. Better highways and bigger and better trucks reduced the necessity of locating near established rail lines or on water.

Furthermore, pasture land could be purchased for pennies, in comparison to the cost of improved city property. And there was a distinct tax advantage in relocating in areas not subject to skyrocketing city taxes.

Another major consideration was the cost of union help. Some manufacturers felt if they moved far enough from the city they wouldn't have to pay union scale and their profits would increase accordingly.

Many of them learned too late that country yokels don't make the best factory hands. Born and bred to the more leisurely pace of farm living, they bridled at the unceasing pressure of the assembly line and thought nothing of leaving their job stations for 15 or 20 minutes at a time to chat with their co-workers — much as they used to do when they were neighbors down on the farm.

The manufacturers also learned to their chagrin that skilled workers are hard to come by in Podunk Center. They had left their most valuable employes behind in the city.

For these reasons, some manufacturing firms actually abandoned their new rural plants in the mid-1950's and returned to the city.

Then came the big city riots of the 1960's and an upsurge of "crime in the streets." Big industries decided to have another crack at the hinterlands in an effort to carry on their affairs away from the maelstrom of social change in the metropolitan areas. This is where we stand today.

Of course, some small communities are excited at the prospect of new jobs and new money in their areas. They have formed local economic development corporations which offer everything from tax breaks, cut-rate utilities, free land and other inducements in an attempt to lure industry.

But I can't help wondering if rural America isn't buying a pig in a poke.

Do we really need to create industrial parks in every corner of this fair land of ours, corrupting our already impaired atmosphere with the foul breath of open-hearth furnaces and tire manufacturing plants? Must we spread our industrial pollution over every square inch of rural America?

Must towns like Charlevoix and Boyne City become the Dearborns and Hamtramcks of the future?

Five years ago when I moved to Charlevoix there were rumors around town every few weeks that such-and-such a corporation — Ford, General Motors, Chrysler — had bought so-and-so's farm and was going to build a big manufacturing plant costing umpty-ump millions of dollars and employing umpty-ump thousands of workers. Everyone went around with dollar signs in their eyes at the prospect of so many new people in town.

Today, however, with the emphasis on ecology, many Charlevoixans are becoming wary of further industrial expansion. And they are entertaining second thoughts about the advisibility of even attempting to attract new industry to town, on any terms.

Our bread and butter lies in the fact that this is still a predominantly rural, recreational area, far from the sights, sounds and smells of the big cities. Many of us are beginning to see the folly of turning Charlevoix into another Alpena, Muskegon or Bay City.

And although we are becoming industrialized to a degree, we are not convinced that growth is synonymous with progress. For years we have been told "If you're not moving ahead, you're falling behind." But the fallacy of the statement becomes more apparent with every passing year.

Our progress should be in the form of improvement and refinement of the things that are characteristically Charlevoix's to begin with — namely our woods, waters, fresh air and recreational facilities.

The day that we turn our farmlands and woodlots into factory sites and our country lanes into superhighways for factory commuters will mark the certain demise of Charlevoix-the-Beautiful.

Basement Is Cleaned

Our basement was finally cleaned, thanks to Sheila, Steve, Mary, Maureen, Danny, Bill, Jean, Mary Lou, Jack, Tom, Michael, Jim, David, John, Tommy, Billy, Tony, Linda, Gertrude, Florence and Aunt Madeline.

I told them if they would shut up I'd put their names in 40 newspapers. The power of the press is a magnificent thing.)

Credit for the shiny basement should also go to Kiwanis international.

It was Kiwanis that declared Aug. 9 as Family Reunion Day. The idea was to "dramatize the family as the keystone of the nation's strength and morality."

"That sounds like a good day to drink a lot of beer and gin," I told my wife. "Let's invite my relatives to town. They can do it better than anyone."

Thus, weeks before the reunion date, one of the most monumental tasks in history got underway. My wife began cleaning out the basement.

When a husband's relatives are coming, it is always necessary for his wife to clean the basement. It doesn't matter that the party is upstairs. You never know when our 1st floor might collapse and my mother and my aunts and my sisters will tumble into the basement, landing in a pile of dirty laundry. They'll see that the Christmas decorations haven't been put away yet. They'll see that our son has hung a tether ball from a cobweb. They'll see what the cats do when their litter box isn't cleaned in three months. They'll see that the last thing my wife threw away was a 1932 Sears catalog.

The kids had a toy sale, making themselves independently wealthy off neighborhood youngsters who eagerly paid for the right to transfer junk form our basement to theirs.

Everything else was packed into boxes, boxes, boxes, boxes. The basement was as cluttered as ever, but now the clutter was packaged. When I pointed this out, my wife had a triumphant answer.

"Goodwill is going to pick up those boxes the day before the reunion," she said. "Please put them on the back porch."

Well, I got two boxes to the porch before my back broke. After some domestic chit-chat, it was agreed that the Goodwill man could go into the basement for the rest of the boxes. Son Eddie was assigned to tell the Goodwill man this. But Eddie forgot. Only the two boxes on the porch were taken.

When my wife returned home to this tragic news, she first cried. Then she snarled. Then, so help me, she jumped into the car and went in pursuit of the Goodwill truck. She caught it as it was escaping town. She told the driver her sad story, about all the relatives coming and how her mother-in-law musn't see those boxes of junk.

But the Goodwill man wasn't so full of good will. He refused to return. The boxes were still there when my relatives invaded.

And believe it or not, everyone had a good time anyway. Even my wife, although she got a little bruised throwing herself in front of the basement door when my brother-in-law headed that way (one of the kids had told him the boxes were full of beer).

Onward and Upward and do come again, relatives. Just give us time to wash the roof.

Birch Supporter Raps Miss Baldwin's Column

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the editorial by Beth Baldwin, directed at Mr. Friske and the John Birch Society, entitled Mainlining, but which would probably have been more appropriately titled Maligning.

Miss Baldwin ridicules the John Birch Society for insinuating that the Communists perpetuate and exploit such things as the 'free speech' movement, the ecology movement, the movement of many yippies and hippies to take drugs and "cop-out" of society, etc. She is obviously insulting the intelligence of the readers if she wishes to imply that these are all spontaneous happenings due to the imperfections in American society, or her mind is hampered by rather shallow thought.

Anyone who has studied Communist theory and practice at all knows full well that the Communists make it a point to seize every opportunity to foment and utilize the grievances of the people to destroy our great nation and the heritage of freedom which God so graciously gave the American people. But just because this happens to be the case, it certainly does not mean that all the individuals participating in a certain "movement" are Communists. As a matter of fact, the John Birch Society will be the first to point out that in most cases there are less than a handful of Communists involved. It also does not mean that the participants have bought the Communist line, but rather they are fulfilling the end objects of the Communists without being aware of the fact that the Communists are hoping to use their efforts to destroy our government and our freedom one minute step at a time.

The obviously uninformed and illogical Miss Baldwin continues to state that it appears to her that the Birchers imply that "whoever isn't a member of the John Birch Society is a Communist." The absurdity of such an illogical statement should even be self-evident to Miss Baldwin, for it implies that if the Birchers wish to recruit new members, they have only Communists to choose from. I would hope that even she would not be naive enough to claim that the John Birch Society is interested in recruiting Communists!

As for the fact that Mr. Friske is a member of the John Birch Society, I would like to add that he is not just a member but a leader in the John Birch Society. The very fact that Mr. Friske does not make any effort to obscure this fact, would seem to indicate that belonging to so fine a group of patriotic citizens is something to be proud of, and not something to hide just because a few uninformed people consider anyone who stands up for the principles in our Constitution and the Bible as being an "extremist flag-waver" or "right winger." The very same people who call Birchers "extremists" and "radicals" in our day and age would have done the same to people like George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Ben Franklin, and Alexander Hamilton, if they had lived back in that day and age, for their constitutional principles are 100 percent in tune with those of the John Birch Society.

Sincerely yours,
John J. Martin

Factories Cropping Up Across Rural America

Nowadays when a son of the soil quits the farm in Nebraska, a new job in a factory may be just down the road a piece.

Across the country, more and more industries are moving to rural America. According to the United States Department of Agriculture, in the last 10 years nearly half of all new manufacturing jobs turned up in nonmetropolitan regions.

In the heartland of America, Nebraska–historically second only to Iowa as a farm state–is close to becoming an industrial state. Only during the summer and harvest months do more Nebraskans still earn their way in agriculture.

CHANGING FARMSCAPE

Tourists travelling far from congested cities are increasingly surprised by signs of new farmland industrializing, the National Geographic Society says. A medical instrument factory grows amid cornfields, an electronics plant is bracketed by silos and barns, an engine-valve maker shares the countryside with fattening beef cattle.

Eighty-four of the nation's top 500 industrial corporations have opened 144 plants in Nebraska, illustrating a back-to-the-grassroots migration and decentralization visible throughout much of the country.

Factory owners say they like rural America because land and taxes are cheaper.

Moving to the country can prove less expensive than paying for redevelopment costs needed when industrial city neighborhoods fall to keep pace with technology.

Management and factory employees alike praise small town life with country-fresh air and no traffic jams, and where the world is more informal, quieter, and more evenly paced. Transportation and communication improvements make up for remoteness from major cities.

NO NECKTIES

"I'm 'Frank' to all those guys out there in the factory," says a farm machinery plant manager, "and I try to remember their first names, too." Even in Omaha, the state's biggest city, a first-name, no-neckties way of life dominates.

"The general mechanical aptitude is good among Nebraskans from all that tinkering with farm machinery," says one factory manager.

Like most managers, he relies on a small core of veteran personnel, usually imported from other company factories, to train local housewives, farmers, and other rural residents into his new work force.

But, as one foreman puts it, "You can take the boy off the farm, but you can't take the farm out of the boy. Many of our younger hands prefer to work the day shift just so they can farm at night, running their tractors in the cool of the evening under headlights."

Contractor, Northland Construction Company; Address, Petoskey; Bid $8,943.00.

The bidder also submitted a proposal for Bituminous patching at a cost of $20.00 per ton with an approximate cost of $1,020.00.

The bid was referred to committee for study and to report to the Council at its next regular meeting.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bid of Conrad Klooster Inc. in the amount of $7,762.00 for a backhoe and loader being the only bid meeting specifications, be accepted.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Mol, Sundberg, and Westenbroek.

Nays: None.

Abstained from voting by permission of Council: Alderman Klooster.

Moved by Alderman Boss and supported by Alderman Klooster that the City ask for bids on the following Insurance coverage.

1. Workmens Compensation and Employees Liability.
2. Commercial Comprehensive.
3. Fleet.

All bids are to be received by 8:00 p.m. EST August 31, 1970.

The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids as is deemed to be in the best interest of the City.

Alderman Westenbroek offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption supported by Alderman Sundberg.

RESOLUTION

BE IT RESOLVED by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix that it is the intent of the Common Council to pay for the City's Share of Financing the proposed Sewage Treatment Plant by the sale of Bonds. Resolution adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, Sundberg, and Westenbroek.

Nays: None.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $125,243.95 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Alderman Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, Sundberg, and Westenbroek.

Nays: None.

Absent: None.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

High Mayne, City Clerk

Son Born In Italy

A son, William Edward, was born Aug. 16 in Aviano, Italy, to Mr. and Mrs. William E. Eaton III.

Mrs. Eaton is the former Jeanne Bergmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bergmann of Charlevoix. Her husband is the son of William E. Eaton jr., of Petoskey.

The baby weighed five pounds, 15 ounces.

POWERS PAYTON receives the McBride Sportsmanship Trophy from Bob Klooster. The award is presented by league officials and umpires to the fastpitch player who displays character, sportsmanship and combines it with athletic ability. He joins previous winners Nate Boss, Bob Klooster and Des Milligan.

CHS Graduate Joins Staff at Delta College

Betty J. Roberts, a 1953 graduate of Charlevoix High School, has joined the staff of Delta College at Midland as an office education specialist.

The former Betty J. McBride received her B.S. degree in secretarial science and her M.A. degree in office occupations from Central Michigan University in 1957 and 1968, respectively.

At Delta, Mrs. Roberts will supervise curriculums involving accounting, airline hostess-clerical, data-processing, medical assistants, chemical secretarial, legal secretarial and general secretarial.

Mrs. Roberts has seven years experience in various office occupations at Rockford High School, Kelloggsville High School, Baptist Bible College and Mid-Michigan Community College.

She is a member of the Michigan Business Education Association and the National Business Education Association.

Cubs Frolic At Scout Camp

Forty-four Charlevoix cub scouts traveled to Camp Greilick near Traverse City last Thursday, Aug. 20. The day started with a flag ceremony, complete with bugler.

Other activities included archery, target practice, a nature hike, an adventure trail and water sports.

At the end of the day, a fire bowl ceremony was held consisting of skits and songs.

Every year about this time, the Cub Scouts get the opportunity to visit Camp Greilick.

According to Mrs. Dorothy Russell, who drove the boys down, the Scouts were very much impressed with the Indians who welcomed them with the peace sign instead of the traditional "How!"

Charlevoix had the largest representation present, far out numbering the runner-up who brought only 16.

Attendance Cards Due, Vets Reminded

Veternas who attended classes during the spring and summer session under the G.I. Bill should make certain that their certification of attendance cards are returned to the Veterans Administration immediately, according to Robert Wasoski, Charlevoix County Veterans counselor.

Robert M. FitzGerald, Director of the VA Regional Office in Detroit, explained that unless the cards are returned, veterans cannot be paid the educational money for their last month of training. Neither can they be paid for their first month of training when they return to school this fall.

A veteran attending college should fill out and sign the card he received with his next to final check, and mail it to his VA Regional Office, FitzGerald explained.

A veteran training below college level should fill out and sign the card he receives with his monthly check, and return it each month to his VA Regional Office. In addition, the card must be signed by a school official.

The veteran who has lost his attendance certification card should request another from his nearest VA Office. He should then return the completed card to the VA Office, FitzGerald advised.

Veterans intending to go to school this fall who do not have a VA certicicate of eligibility contact Office of Veterans Affairs in the Charlevoix County building.

Friday was another hot day. We have had two weeks of very hot weather and it is indeed great for good camping. The sailors returned from their three-day trip and from all reports, all went well and the boys profited much from the sailing experience. The canoe trip down the Au Sable returned and these boys were very proud of the fact that they had paddled 135 miles. They, too, had some interesting stories to tell, and they all seemed to enjoy the trip very much. In the evening, the Intermediate Section had a Green-Grey Capture the Flag game which ended in a tie. Our tennis team had matches on Friday at Camp Hayo-Went-ha and though we lost 4 to 1, the matches were close and Trey Henkel of Grosse Pointe was the only winner. The members of the team were: Trey Henkel, Tim Washburn, Scott Benjamin, Robbie Quinn, Terry Mast, Jack Maddox.

Saturday was another hot day, and activities went along as usual. Boys were busy getting ready for the rodeo, and in the evening we had a Skit Night with certain cabin groups giving skits for the rest of the camp. Cabin 4, Chris Olsen and Mike Kelly, put on two skits, "Adventurers" and "Water, Water, Water." Cabin 7 with Gard Garvie put on "The Growing Machine." Cabin 8 with David Webber as counselor put on "Bums Rush" and "Ticket Please." Cabin 10 with Jack Middleton put on "Shocking Episode." Cabin 15, Doug Otto's boys, put on "The Ugliest Man in the World," and the evening was topped off by Lee Fernstrum's boys putting on "The Big Production." Boys enjoyed these skits and they were very well done.

Sunday was another beautiful day, not as hot, but warm and sunny and windy. Our church service was held in the outdoor chapel with Lee Fernstrum giving a fine talk. At the noon dinner we had the annual Birthday Party for boys and men who had birthdays during the season. They sat at the Birthday Table which was centered by a huge pine barrel filled with fruit. The entertainment was a mock wedding, and these are always hilarious. This year we had it on Lee Fernstrum, our Rifle Instructor, who was being married to Miss N.R.A., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Winchester Rifle. "Fern" was completely surprised, and as it took in most of the staff, it was a hard-kept secret. The boys loved it, seeing their counselors as flower-girls, a ring-bearer, the bride, the groom, the grandmother, parents of both the bride and groom, etc. It was really a fun time and lots of laughs. In the afternoon we had the final Green-Grey event, an obstacle relay that used every boy in camp. The Greens went into the event with a three point lead and as the event counted four points, the Greys could have caught up. The final part of the relay is the boiling of water. They Greys had about a four minute lead here, and it looked as if they had won it by a good margin. However, the Greys caught up, their fire blazed merrily on and for a few minutes it look as though they would win, but the Greens kept at their fire and brought their water to a boil first. You can imagine the excitement, boys screaming, jumping up and down, and it was really thrilling. In the evening, we had another council fire in our council-ring. As the woods were so dry, we did without a fire. Activity men read their lists of boys who had won stars during the week, trips men told about the long sailing trip and the 135 mile canoe trip. Jim Osborne gave a fine account of the Sailing Trip. Boys wrote notes saying how much camp has meant to them this summer, these were put in a bottle and buried in the council ring so that at the opening council ring next summer they may be dug up and read at that time.

The final week of camp has arrived and boys are excited and anxious to accomplish as much as possible. Enrollments are coming in every day, and boys are anxious to be enrolled to get on that Mackinac Island Trip.

Monday was a beautiful day, warm, sunny and activities were run as usual. In the evening, each cabin had a cabin night, as time was getting short and groups like to stay together as the season nears its end. Activities were running at full-tilt as boys were trying to finish up requirements for stars. Three of the Junior Cabins went on a Hobo Hike, sticks with red kerchiefs tied to them, and Mike Kelly's cabin took the prize as he costumed them best. The boys like its as they made "somemores" (Graham crackers with toasted marshmallow and chocolate.)

Several of the boys under the leadership of Dave Webber and Bob Stoller repainted our huge totem pole and did a great job. They enjoyed climbing around the scaffalling and the boys who volunteered and did such a fine job were:

Tuesday, the day of the Green-Gray Banquet was an exciting one as the boys on the losing Grey team were busy all morning gathering ferns to decorate the Club House. The committees worked all afternoon using ferns, balloons, streamers, and the Club House looked great. Jack Middleton was in charge of decorations. The Rodeo boys rehearsed all afternoon, and at six o'clock the boys entered a well-decorated dining room for the Green-Gray Banquet. In the morning, Cabins 21 and 20 had husked 25 dozen ears of sweet corn, and the boys sure went for this in a big way. David Stringer opened the program playing the piano and singing. Next our smallest camper, six-year-old Mike Green was hoisted onto the shoulders of our biggest camper, 6 foot 3 Scott Benjamin, and from this perch, Pat sang a song. It was quite a sight. Next Richard Cook, dressed as a girl, sang a song and he was assisted by three other "girls," Tod Van Fossen, Glen Kirlin and Andy Harrity. The speeches came next, with the following team Captains, giving a few remarks on what competition meant to him, Ben Dancer, Scott Striglos, David Alspach, Jimmy Shook, Steve Baker, Brad Mast, Chuck Zitsman, and the winning Green Captain, Trey Henhel. Trey was given the honor of unveiling the carving on the wall of the word "Green-70." It was a very fine banquet and brought the summer's competition to a close.

Wednesday was a busy day with boys trying to finish up their activities. In the afternoon after the activities were over, the Seniors met the Assistant Counselors in a touch football game. The field was all roped off, the Seniors had shirts with numbers and names painted on, the Assistant Counsellors had shirts all blue (which Mike Kelly and Ruby had dyed). It was a good game, with the Assistant Counselors winning 34-0. In the evening, each cabin had its last cabin night. The winning cabins in cabin inspection were taken into the movies. The winners were: Cabin 5, Cabin 10, Cabin 15 and 16 tie, and Cabin 21.

Thursday was Final Banquet day and the place was hopping. Dress rehearsal for the Rodeo was held in the afternoon, and at seven o'clock the boys were at their places in the Dining Room for the big affair of the year. Boys with shirts, ties, and sport jackets or suits on sure look different than boys in jeans and "T" shirts. John Deane was banquet chairman and his committee did a great job. Ed Kalat was the Toastmaster, with Steve Woodward speaking for the campers and Curt Huber for the Staff. The entertainment was given by Larry Hyde at the piano, David Stringer at the piano and singing, John Nesbitt singing with his guitar, and Curt Huber and Doug Otto singing some duets. Bill Townsend, Director of Activities, gave a talk, and Ken made the final talk of the evening speaking on "What is Camp Charlevoix?" The program was closed with the staff (twenty-one men) coming in by candlelight and singing a medly of songs. This is always the most impressive part of the Final Banquet and everyone is sad as the season is brought to a close.

DIRECTIVE A-95

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Taylor that the following resolution be adopted:

Whereas, the bureau of the Budget of the U.S. Government has recognized the need for regional review clearinghouses under Directive A-95 and,

Whereas, Directive A-95 is intended to provide guidance and review of requests for Federal or State financial assistance on the various grant-in-aid programs as sponsored by the numerous Federal and State agencies as they relate to local units of government, and,

Whereas, A-95 regional clearinghouses will eliminate much duplicative effort and inquiries to various Federal and State agencies, and,

Whereas, the Governor of each State is granted the prerogative of designating said A-95 regional review agencies, and

Whereas, the A-95 regional clearinghouses shall follow the delineated State Planning Region boundaries; and,

Whereas, the currently existing Economic Development districts and the Planning and Development Regions are organized and performing said coordinating function in their respective area, as recommended by Governor's Executive Directive 1968-1, and,

Whereas, the established Development districts and the Planning and Development Regions as created by concurrent resolution of the County Boards of Commissions of the various regions was organized to serve in this coordinating role and to assist all units of local Government to prosper economically, and,

Whereas, A-95 designation does not allow power of veto by the regional clearinghouse but rather is a mechanism to consultive assistance in developing acceptable grant applications;

Now, Therefore Be It Resolved that the Board of Commissioners of Charlevoix County does hereby petition Governor William G. Milliken to designate the Northwest Michigan Economic Development District as a Regional Review Clearinghouse as proposed by U.S. Bureau of the Budget Directive A-95, and,

Be It Further Resolved that the Charlevoix County Clerk is hereby directed to forwarded a copy of this resolution to Governor William G. Milliken, a copy to the Office of Planning Coordination and a copy to each legislative representative from this area.

BIG ROCK POINT NUCLEAR POWER PLANT

Kit-chi-ossining

Every spring, after leaving their winter camps, the Indians rendezvoused at The Place of the Big Rock on Little Traverse Bay just north of Charlevoix. They called it—"kit-chi-ossining."

Now, scientists, physicists and government leaders from all over the world visit Big Rock—to see Consumers Power Company's Nuclear Power Plant. You too are welcome at Big Rock. A Public Information Center there has displays, exhibits, films and lecturers to tell you the exciting story of the atom at work—bringing electricity to Michigan's Lower Peninsula. The Center is open seven days a week, 8-5, through October. After that, Monday through Friday.

The softball season came officially to an end with the crowning of the various league champions and awarding of individual and team awards. The final games brought out the largest crowds in the history of the program with the stands packed and a double row of cars around the outfield fence.

Morweld Captures Fastpitch

Morweld won two of the three playoff games against American Mold to win the fastpitch trophy. In the first game three fifth inning runs broke open a tight pitcher's dual and enabled Morweld to win 5-1. Two crucial errors proved to be Mold's downfall. Both pitchers, Ken Richardson and Nate Boss, allowed five hits. Larry Broek was the hitting hero as he tripled for the first run and singled, in, what proved to be the winning run, in the fourth.

In the second game Mold fought from behind to score three times in the bottom of the seventh to even the series. Hud Drenth had blasted a two run homer in Morweld's sixth to give, what appeared to be, a comfortable margin to the Ellsworth team. However two errors, a walk, and Ken Wojan's single, produced three runs to send the series to the third game.

In the final game, Ken Wojan's second inning homer gave Mold a brief lead. Chet Boss and Jim Aenis combined Morweld hits for two runs, but Stu Cunningham, Ken Boss, and Lee Cross each singled to give Mold the lead again. Larry Brock tied the score an inning later with a basehit. It stayed tied until the top of the sixth when Ron Boss singled, Powers Payton tripled and later scored on a flyball. Mold got two runners on in the bottom of the seventh to throw a brief scare at Morweld, but sharp fielding by the Champs prevented any scoring.

Slowpitch Champs

Andy's fought through a three-team playoff to meet Medusa, the first round champ, and then defeated them in a thriller for the city title. Freedman, Mold, and Andy's all finished the second round with identical 5-2 records. Mold eliminated Freedmans in dramatic fashion scoring twice in the bottom of the seventh for a 7-6 win. Verle Thompson proved to be the hitting hero, knocking, in the winning marker and also homering earlier for two runs. Merrit Clark of Freedmans came within an eyelash of being the hero as he blasted out a three-run homer in the top of the seventh only to see it disappear in Mold's last inning rally.

Andy had little trouble with Mold, winning 8-3 in a hitting display by Dean Mikulski, as he smacked three long home runs for seven runs. In the championship game between Andy's and Medusa, it was a 4-4 tie going into the fifth inning with Medusa's Hank Archey hitting a three-run homer, tying the score. Then Stan Martin, Andy Carey, and Dean Mikulski combined singles for two runs for Andy's. Lee Cross banged out a two run homer in the top of the seventh for a four-run margin. However, Medusa rallied in their half of the seventh for two runs and had the tying run on second when the side was finally retired, and Andy's racked up their second straight slowpitch title.

Dairy Queen Tops

The Dairy Queens romped by Edwards 13-1 to win another title. Kitty Dominac hurled a one hitter at Edwards and nearly everyone contributed at least one hit in the winner's batting department. Connie Doan had three hits for the winners.

Medusa Declares Dividend

Directors of Medusa Portland Cement Co. have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents per Series A Preferred share and 30 cents per common share, payable September 15, 1970, to shareowners of record Sept. 1, 1970.

After the meeting James E. Poole, a director and executive vice president of the cement division, announced the election of the following officers:

Charles L. Howlett was elected vice president of operations and will be responsible for manufacturing, purchasing, labor relations and engineering for Medusa's seven plants.

Howlett is a graduate of Antioch College with a degree in electrical engineering. He has been in the cement industry for 25 years and comes to Medusa from Huron Portland Cement Co. where he was vice president of operations.

Bartholomew F. Thompson was elected vice president of Great Lakes commercial sales. He came to Medusa in 1968 and has been assistant vice president of commercial sales.

Larks Lake Fete Aug. 30

The 13th annual St. Nicholas Festival at Larks Lake near Cross Village will be held Sunday, Aug. 30, according to Rev. Fr. Flavius Czuba, pastor of St. Nicholas Church.

The menu features two old Polish favorites, kielbasa and golombki (polish sausage and pigs-in-a-blanket).

Games and rides are scheduled for throughout the afternoon, with plenty of prizes, according to Fr. Czuba.

Jerry Whitley Starts Basic

Army Private Jerome P. Whitley is assigned to Company C, 15 Battalion, 4 Brigade, at the Training Center, Armor (USATCA) at Ft. Knox, Ky.

He will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier in today's modern action army — firing live ammunition under simulated combat situations, learning protective measures and first-aid for chemical biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern arms.

Interspaced with the constant emphasis on proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following the completion of basic training, PVT Whitley who is the husband of Mrs. Jerome Whitley of R-3, Charlevoix, will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify him in a specialized military skill.

District Court

The following cases were heard by District Judge W. Richard Smith in Charlevoix last week:

Mary Irene Darby, 53, Flint, was found guilty at trial of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. She was assessed $103 and her driver's license was suspended for 90 days. She was arrested on a citizen's complaint signed by Kenneth Diller of East Jordan.

John Burr, 22, Boyne Falls, pled guilty to a charge of reckless driving. He will be sentenced later. He was arrested on a citizen's complaint.

Ted Ryan, 66, Lansing, was assessed $25 on a charge of assault and battery. Robert D. Depew of Charlevoix charged Ryan pushed a pint of blueberries in his face.

Allen Edward Barber, 35, Petoskey, was assessed $50 for failure to stop at the scene of an accident.

David Betz, 21, Hemlock, Mich., was found guilty at trial of using foul and indecent language in the presence of a woman. Bond was continued and he will be sentenced later.

James Hansma, 17, East Jordan, was sentenced to seven days in the county jail as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Rober Griffin, 18, East Jordan, was assessed $35 as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Earl Holborn, 47, Charlevoix, was found guilty at trial of using foul and indecent language in the presence of women and children. He will be sentenced later.

Joel Fortune jr., 29, Walloon Lake, was found guilty of reckless operation of a motor vehicle, two counts. Sentence was deferred two weeks.

Charles Ernest Billings, 27, Harbor Springs, pled guilty to charges of reckless operation of a motor vehicle and attempting to flee a law officer in the discharge of his duties. He will be sentenced later. Billings demanded examination on a charge of gross indecency. Examination will be Aug. 24. Bond in the amount of $5,000 was not furnished. He was arrested by Boyne City police officers.

Gordon Peter Georgee, 17, Southfield, was assessed $25 on a charge of disturbing the peace.

John Kujawski III, 22, Boyne City, was assessed $25 as a disorderly person.

Barry M. Browe, 22, Detroit, was assessed $25 on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile. Bond in the amount of $1,000 was not furnished.

Charles A. Meier, 20, North Point, was assessed $35 as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

THE NESSETH-HOPSON Evangelist Party will appear at the Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene all this week, through Aug. 30, beginning at 7:30 p.m., according to Rev. Thomas Rash. The church is located at U.S. 31 and Waller-rd. The programs will consist of songs and sermons.

Jerry Sadowski, Charlevoix, pled innocent to a charge of assault and battery. Trial will be held later.

Douglas Raymond, 19, East Jordan, was assessed $35 as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Floyd W. Groh, 29, Traverse City, was assessed $23 for speeding.

Jack Patton, 25, East Jordan, was assessed $10 for driving after his operator's license had expired.

Charles Hawley, 21, East Jordan, was assessed $15 for violation of the basic speed law.

Mainlining

with Beth Baldwin

Imagine, if you can, coming into Charlevoix-the-Beautiful and gazing upon Round Lake, our famous harbor, now a sea of cement because there is no water left for pleasure, what little remains has to be conserved very carefully.

Water, good ol' H2O, which once covered three-fourths of mother earth, is now practically non-existant, thanks to all those who wasted and polluted it.

The shops along Bridge-st. have been replaced with high-rise apartment complexes identical to those on every other street. Cement has been painted green to give some representation of what used to be called lawns or yards.

A a result of the population explosion, the city of Charlevoix has expanded to 35,000 people. It has gulped up Eastport, Bay Shore, Boyne City, and East Jordan and all the people in between. That is the reason for the high-rise apartment buildings which, by the way, are sandwiched together, one right next to each other.

All the gas stations folded up when the government banned all motor vehicles because the automobile failed to come up with a non-polluting car way back in 1975.

The newest project underway here is the building of more apartment complexes on former Lake Michigan that has been solid cement for more than 35 years. When those nearest Charlevoix are opened up, the population will soar to almost 50,000.

As Kurt Vonnegut jr. prophesied in his short story "Tomorrow and Tomorrow and Tomorrow," written in 1953, all food supplies as known now consist of "processed seaweed" and sawdust" - the only way twelve billion people can be fed.

All the seaweed was collected and stored before the lakes, rivers, seas, and oceans were cemented over.

No longer can you go down town, walk into a store and buy something like you could before all the raw materials were used up, you have to wait until somebody dies in order to get any furniture.

Nothing exists that is even similar to Murdick's fudge, or an A & W root beer, or a dairy queen. In fact, those words don't even hold any meaning except for the real old-timers who lived in the last part of the 20th century.

Remember the draw bridge in the middle of town? It doesn't go up and down anymore. Now it is the only thing left over from the era when there was water in the lakes, birds in the air, animals in the forests, and people in houses they could call their own.

Sounds like quite a life, huh? We, the people of 2050 A.D. are thankful that the air is still fit to breathe. However, as a result of a continuous and thoughtless waste of natural resources many, many years back, we have only a vague idea of what water skiing, snow skiing, snowmobiling, nature hikes, grass, trees, or flowers are like.

Our existance on the planet earth is dull and drab. Too late we wish that people had thought before dumping their waste into the lakes and streams, before throwing that beer can onto the side of the road, before destroying the air with smoke. It's too late now, we have no bodies of water to pollute, no beaches to stroll down, no black, clean dirt to run our fingers through, no flowers to pick and almost no air to breathe.

Library Notes

There are some amusing titles in the books listed this week in Library Notes, but this does not mean the books themselves are not thought-provoking and very much worth exploring.

"The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test" by Tom Wolfe is the story of Ken Kesey and his mystic brotherhood, the Merry Pranksters. The book is an example of something that has so baffled the national imagination over the past two years; the transformation of the "promising middle-class youth with all the advantages" into what is popularly known as the "hippy." Ken Kesey was a Golden Boy of the West. He was more than promising. He was a scholar, an actor and star athlete – and one of the outstanding young novelists in America – when he burst forth as an experimenter with powerful new hallucinogenic drugs and became finally, a fugitive from the FBI, the California police, and the Mexican Federales. The book goes beyond any of Tom Wolfe's previous writings in its stylistic inventiveness. The Pranksters' romp across America in the first psychedelic bus, their alliance with the Hell's Angels, their Be-elzebubbling take-over of a Unitarian church convention, their conversion of the biggest anti-war rally of all times into a freakout, their zany games of hide-and-seek from the law in two countries – all these adventures surge through the book with an asounding energy and comedy.

"Due To Lack of Interest Tomorrow Has Been Canceled", by Irene Kampen, is another silly title, but it is a light-hearted story with a lot of human appeal. "I think it's awfully brave of somebody your age to come back to college," said Irene Kampen's roommate when she returned to college after 25 years. In this entertaining book, the author tells how some things about college have changed, but then again, some things haven't changed at all.

"The Hippies", written by the correspondents of Time magazine and edited by Joe Brown, describes the recent social phenomenon, the emergence of the hippies which fascinates and alarms, amuses, irritates and inspires a great many Americans. To find out what the hippies are really like and what, if anything, they prove about this country, Time assigned its reporting staff to survey this new sub-culture of American society. In all major American cities and several foreign ones, Time correspondents explored the hippie world, its customs, its language and (if it can be called anything so formal) its philosophy. The result of this survey is shocking and also illuminating. There is a section of colored photographs. It is a new book to read and to think about, because although the hippies are new, the problems of youth are not.

CPA's Organize Local Chapter

In response to the growing number of Certified Public Accountants in Charlevoix County and 15 other counties of the Lower Peninsula, the Michigan Association of CPAs has authorized a new chapter for this area. It will be known as the "Northern Chapter" and will be seventh such chapter in Michigan.

The group is now planning a series of technical sessions for the remainder of 1970 and for the "after-tax" season of 1971.

STEWART sandwiches will be the main luncheon course at the Middle School and High School when school resumes Sept. 8. Here Dean Counselman, a Stewart representative, discusses the sandwich service with school nurse Jeanne Miles.

School Board

with warming ovens and infrared lamps to keep the sandwiches warm on the serving line.

The entire operation will require only two employes for one and one-half hours a day. One will prepare the sandwiches and the other will collect money.

Miller said the huge deficit last year resulted primarily from labor costs. He said 10 employes were needed for several hours each day to prepare lunch and clean up.

Only opposition to the Stewart sandwich plan came from former board member Dale Boss and a number of his followers. Boss said the hot lunch is "the only good meal" many students have each day.

In other business, the board:

--Accepted the resignation of Del Terrill, who has accepted the superintendency at Littlefield.

--Hired Miss Karen Hines of Bloomfield Hills and a graduate of MSU, to teach 4th grade, completing the elementary staff.

--Hired Norman Probert of Milan to teach physical education at the Middle and High School. He has a degree from CMU.

--Hired John G. Mills, presently with Vacationland Homes at Bellaire, as building trades teacher. He has degrees from Western Michigan College and Wayne University.

--Approved an $8-per-student, $15-per-family, textbook deposit for youngsters in grades 7 through 12.

--Increased the cost of season tickets to athletic events from $10 to $12 for adults and from $5 to $6 for students.

--Voted to buy bread from Ovenfresh, milk from Maxbauers, regular gas from Gulf, No. 2 fuel oil from Leonard and No. 6 fuel oil from Osceola, based on low bids.

Obituaries

Mrs. Levinson

Funeral for Mrs. M.A. (Freda) Levinson, 82, was held Wednesday, Aug. 19, at the Winchester Funeral Home, Rabbi David Wucher officiating. The Charlevoix Order of the Eastern Star, No. 72, assisted in the rites. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery, Petoskey.

Mrs. Levinson died Monday at Charlevoix Hospital where she had been a patient for the past two weeks.

The former Freda Grudell was born Feb. 11, 1888 in Mora, Minn., and married Meyer A. Levinson in September, 1911, in St. Paul.

They came to Charlevoix 59 years ago and operated a dry goods store until retirement. Mr. Levinson died in November, 1962.

Mrs. Levinson was a member of the Charlevoix Woman's Club, B'nai Israel Temple in Petoskey, and a life member of the OES No 72.

She is survived by her daughter Sybil, of Charlevoix; one son, Charles B. Levinson, of Milwaukee; two grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Mr. Hoeksema

Funeral services for Mr. Jacob Hoeksema, 84, were held Monday, Aug. 16 in the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church, the Rev. Stanley Bultman of the Atwood Church officiating. Burial was in the family plot of the Atwood cemetery.

Mr. Hoeksema died Thursday, Aug. 13 in his Ellsworth home after an extended illness.

Born in the Netherland Feb. 10, 1886, he came to America as a young man.

He was a member of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Andrew (Jessie) Kooyer; two sons, Gerrit and Alfred, both of Ellsworth; 13 grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

Changes Weighed in Air Code

air pollution technician, "someone in industry involved in air pollution control, someone with technical competence in the area."

Township Supervisor Oscar Stroud answered that the township has never acted on air pollution control "without consulting technicians."

Another proposed change would impose a fine of up to $500 for every day the code is violated, but Berlage said he wanted more time to study the law relative to penalties for violation of township ordinances. He said the $500 fine might have to be cut back to $100.

Greg Shadko, one of the residents who attended the meeting, pressed for approval of the changes.

"We have been eating dust long enough," he said. "The time to act is now."

Miss Anne Harsha, a resident of Boulder Park, complained about Medusa's coal piles, "as big as a football field."

Another Boulder Park resident, Mrs. Mary Wagner, said she is bothered by earth tremors resulting from blasting at the plant site.

Berlage said he was annoyed by noise from the plant and inquired if insulation couldn't be installed on the city side of buildings where the noise originates.

Stroud showed aerial photographs indicating a die-off of trees between the plant and the Lake Michigan shore. He also wanted to know the origin of a reddish substance which is discoloring water near the plant.

Cohrs said the tree die-off might be caused by high water. He said the reddish fluid is being analyzed, but he believes the color results from decaying plant growth.

In other business, the township board:

--Assessed Paul-Reed, Inc., $54 as a delinquent building permit charge. The firm started construction of an addition without first securing a building permit.

--Paid the Charlevoix County Road Commission $25,038.29 as the balance due on the recent road work in the township. The payment is in addition to $13,000 paid earlier.

Sees No Threat to Co. Trees

Jack Lockwood, area forester for the Department of Natural Resources at Boyne City, said Monday that he has seen no evidence that the "saddle prominent" larva is at work in Charlevoix County.

An Associated Press story appearing in Sunday's Detroit Free Press said that the tiny worm-like creature poses the most severe threat to the state's hardwoods since the Dutch elm disease.

AP said the bug, blown across Lake Michigan to Michigan three years ago, has destroyed 3,000 acres of forest in three years and that 1971 may be critical in controlling the infestation.

The story said "saddle prominent" damage has been heaviest in Manistee County, but that the pests have spread into portions of Benzie and Charlevoix Counties along Lake Michigan.

The larva draws its name from the outline of a saddle on the back.

Lockwood said that the larva appeared on Beaver Island two years ago, defoliating many hardwoods. The same year it appeared in Mackinaw and Luce Counties in the Upper Peninsula, but the larva died for some unexplainable reason, halting the life cycle.

He said it poses no real danger to the life of a tree unless it appears two years hand-running.

Lockwood said that last year from 500 to 1,000 acres in Benzie County were affected. He said most of the damage occurs early in the year when leaves are new.

Larry Bradford, agricultural agent for Manistee County, said the pests are a "serious threat" to Michigan's hardwoods and could cut maple sugar production by nearly 30 percent.

The larva are believed to have originated in Minnesota and been blown into Michigan during a storm.

Court Report Correction

It was incorrectly stated in last week's Courier that Barry M. Browe, 22, of Detroit had been charged with unlawfully driving away an automobile. Instead Browe had been assessed $25 as a disorderly person.

Danny Austin Stanley, 18, of Detroit, demanded examination on the charge of unlawfully driving away the automobile when he appeared before District Judge W. Richard Smith.

LUTHER REPLOGLE, the U.S. ambassador to Iceland, vacationed and honeymooned last week at his home at the Belvedere Club. Replogle, renowned as a globe-maker, was married Aug. 19 in Chicago to the former Mrs. Allin K. Ingalls.

Envoy to Iceland Honeymoons in Town

A man who has spent most of his adult life making world globes has staked out a tiny pin-point of land in the North Atlantic for particular attention.

He is Luther Replogle of Chicago and the Belvedere Club who has been the U.S. ambassador to Iceland for the past 14 months, on appointment by President Richard S. Nixon.

Replogle vacationed and honeymooned at his home at 37 Belvedere Club last week prior to returning to the embassy in Reykjavik, Iceland, in mid-September.

Replogle was married Aug. 19 to the former Mrs. Allin K. Ingalls in Chicago.

The name Replogle is known in classrooms around the world thanks to the world globes he manufactured in plants in Chicago and Copenhagen, Denmark. Replogle relinquished his interest the company he founded 39 years ago when he was appointed ambassador.

Replogle's only prior contact with the diplomatic corps was in 1965 when he served as a public member of the Foreign Service Selection Board.

What does an ambassador do?

Replogle says the job is mainly one of reporting, letting Washington know what is going on in Iceland. Elections, political situations, you name it. All are fair game for the ambassador and his staff of 22.

He said his office receives from 10 to 20 telegrams a day, and dispatches about half that many relative to affairs in Iceland. Regular meetings are held to keep the staff informed as to what is going on.

The embassy also assists Americans living in Iceland. Replogle says 3,000 U.S. airmen are stationed at the Iceland Defense Base about 25 miles from Reykjavik, as well as 3,200 wives and other dependents.

He pointed out that Iceland is in a strategic location, situated about half-way between New York and Moscow.

The United States is obligated by treaty to provide for the defense of Iceland, since the island maintains no army, navy or air force. It's sole defense consists of two small Coast Guard vessels.

Replogle says Americans living in Iceland have a fine relationship with the native population, although in order to minimize the appearance of Americans in the capital only 10 percent of the air base personnel are permitted to visit Reykjavik at one time.

Iceland's economy is based principally on the fishing industry, the ambassador says. The island does an annual business of about $25 million with the U.S. alone in fish products.

However, industry is becoming diversified. A Swiss firm recently opened an

Kujawski To Run as Sticker

John Kujawski jr. of Boyne City has formally announced that he will be sticker candidate against Richard Friske of Charlevoix in the race for the 106th District seat in the Michigan House of Representatives in November.

Friske won the GOP nomination in the Aug. 4 primary in a field of 11 candidates. Kujawski came in second.

A Citizens for Kujawski committee has been formed, with Jack WaldVogel of Petoskey as chairman. Dr. John Tanton, also of Petoskey, will serve as treasurer.

C of C Asks to Take Over Operation of City Docks

Would Increase Boat Slips

The City Council learned Monday night that the Chamber of Commerce would like to take over operation of the city docks in East Park with an eye toward constructing two sets of finger piers which would triple docking space.

The request was made by Richard Oestrike, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, accompanied by George Richardson, George LaBlance and Ralph Hess.

Oestrike said the city had to turn away an average of 15 boaters a day during the summer simply because there was no room to dock their boats.

"We have no way of knowing how many other yachtsmen never stick their noses into Charlevoix because they know there is no room available," he added.

He said Charlevoix should be more competitive to attract the yachting trade, adding that virtually every community on northern Lake Michigan has more docking space than Charlevoix, which has only 32 slips.

Hank Ford, representing Meeco Marinas of McAlister, Okla., described flotation type finger piers which would increase the number of slips to 92. They would extend from the foot of Clinton and Mason-sts. and accommodate a wide variety of boat lengths.

The Chamber of Commerce proposed specifically that the city loan $75,000 to the C of C at 10 percent interest. The loan would be retired over 15 years from revenue from the expanded dock operation. The plan calls for the hiring of a harbormaster, traffic controller and two dock boys.

The chamber anticipates annual revenue would come to $27,700 which would be used to pay off the loan and operate the marina.

Mayor William Fochtman said the city acknowledges the docking problem, adding that a great deal of time and money already has been expended in developing the present docks. However, no action was taken on the C of C proposal.

In other business, Alderman Robert Gill took issue with Fochtman over a request by the mayor that the city put a $700,000 bond issue for construction of the proposed sewage disposal plant on the November ballot.

Gill charged that Fochtman has failed to consult with the council or keep members informed on negotiations for the property and other phases of the project.

"It looks a little foolish on the surface to ask us to approve a $700,000 bond issue we have just now heard about," Gill said.

REV. JACK HARRIS, pastor of Charlevoix's First Baptist Church for the past eight years, assumes new duties at the First Baptist Church in Holly this week. Here Rev. Harris poses in front of new Charlevoix Baptist Church on M-66 which he helped to build. The church was completed last year.

Rev. Jack Harris Moving to Holly

The Rev. Jack Harris, pastor at Charlevoix's First Baptist Church for the past eight years, has accepted a call as pastor of the First Baptist Church in Holly, 15 miles south of Flint.

The Harrises plan to move from the parsonage at 208 Mason-st. this week. Rev. Harris will preach his first sermon in Holly next Sunday.

Born in Aberdeen, S.D., June 12, 1936, Rev. Harris was graduated from Aberdeen High School and Northern State College in Aberdeen. He then moved to Kansas City, Kan., where he attended the Central Baptist Theological Seminary for three years.

He was pastor at the Litchfield, (Mich.) Baptist Church for one year before moving to Charlevoix.

He was married Aug. 28, 1960, to the former Arlette Tollefson of Bonilla, S.D. Mrs. Harris has taught in Charlevoix public schools.

The Harris' have three children, Sonia, 9; Paul, 7; and Eric, 5; and a foster son, Dale Everett, 16. Another former foster son, Terry Everett, 15 lives in Muskegon.

Rev. Harris will be succeeded at Charlevoix on an interim basis by Rev. Gilbert Miles of Lansing.

Rev. Harris has been instrumental in construction of the new First Baptist Church on M-66, which was completed last year at a cost of $113,000.

Johnson Quits Party Post

Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City, the Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives from the 106th district, has resigned as chairman of the Charlevoix County Democratic Party to devote more time to his campaign.

He will be succeeded by Clem Wagner of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Charles Leist also has resigned as vice chairman, for personal reasons. No successor has been named.

Hospital Loses Dudik

Rollie M. Dudik, Charlevoix Hospital administrator, has resigned to accept a position with Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp.

His resignation was announced at a joint meeting of the hospital's board of directors and medical staff Aug. 18.

Dudik, who had been administrator for 18 months, came to Charlevoix from Peabody, Mass., where he had been assistant administrator at the J.B. Thomas Hospital.

He will be succeeded after Sept. 30 by James Murray, present assistant administrator of Community Memorial Hospital at Cheboygan.

Six Draw Jail for Loitering

Six young people charged with being disorderly persons, namely loitering at a place where an illegal occupation was being conducted, were each assessed $100 and sentenced to 10 days in the Charlevoix County jail when they appeared before District Judge Wayne Richard Smith Aug. 27.

They were arrested Aug. 13 after a raid on a house at 217 Belvedere-ave by local and state police and sheriff's deputies disclosed a quantity of illegal drugs on the premises.

Found guilty as disorderly persons were Linda Rousku, 19, Detroit; Terry Dupuis, 19, Lake Orion; Michael John Etienne, 19, Charlevoix; Jeffery Lambkin, 17, Detroit; Charles John Otmanowski, 17, Charlevoix; and Robert C. Williams, 18, Detroit.

Most of the defendants appeared surprised at the imposition of the 10-day jail sentence. They had all been free on $105 bond each.

David Betz, 21, of Hemlock, Mich., was assessed $25 for using foul language in the presence of a woman. Immediately after paying his fine, Betz was served a warrant charging him with selling marijuana on or about Aug. 6. Bond of $5,000 was not furnished and he was to appear in District Court for arraignment Monday. Betz originally had been picked up at the Belvedere-ave. house.

Three other young people face charges stemming from the raid and subsequent arrests.

Deborah Jean Potter, 19, Charlevoix, is charged with possession of LSD; William Robertson, R-3, Atlanta, is charged with selling marijuana; and Alan William Mack, 18, Charlevoix, is charged with possession of marijuana. Action in their cases is pending.

Following are other cases heard by Judge Smith in Charlevoix last week:

John J. Koscieiniak, St. Clair Shores, was assessed $13 for fishing without a license.

Danny A. Stanley, 18, Detroit, waived examination on a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile and was bound over to the September term of Circuit Court. Bond in the amount of $1,000 was not furnished.

Joseph Mooney, 41, Detroit, was sentenced to three days in jail for being a disorderly person in public.

Joel Fortune jr., 29, Walloon Lake, pled guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Sentence was deferred until a later date.

John A. Fortune, 34, Clarion, was assessed $50 and sentenced to three days in jail for operating an automobile while his license was suspended.

Charles E. Billings, 27, Harbor Springs, waived examination on a charge of gross indecency and was bound over to the September term of Circuit Court. He also was sentenced to 30 days in jail on a charge of reckless driving and attempting to flee a police officer in the discharge of his duties.

Michael Schales, 17, and Horatio S. Earle III, 17, both of Bloomfield Hills, were bound over to the September term of Circuit Court on charges of possessing marijuana. Bond in the amount of $1,000 for each youth was furnished. A charge of carrying a concealed weapon was dismissed. The youths were arrested near Walloon Lake.

Earl Holborn, 47, Charlevoix, was sentenced $25 on a charge of using foul and indecent language.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Krebs

Connie Marie Funk Wed in Ann Arbor

Connie Marie Funk became the bride of Brian Scott Krebs in ceremonies Aug. 15 at the Concordia Lutheran College Chapel in Ann Arbor, the Rev. Carl Gutekunst officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malison, 406 Antrim-st., Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Stephen Krebs of Ann Arbor and the late Prof. Krebs.

The double-ring ceremony took place before an altar decorated with baskets of white roses and blue carnations with blue and white satin streamers.

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta, with a high neckline and full-length sheer lantern sleeves. Chantilly lace with a delicate floral pattern covered the bodice and extended in bands onto the sleeves and down the front of the gown. The A-line skirt descended from an Empire waistline. Her chapel train was of white silk organza over taffeta, edged with lace.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Russell Wiser of Charlevoix and bridesmaids were Miss Bonnie Aufdemkamp of Amhurst, Ohio, and Miss Cindy Marie Funk of Charlevoix, a sister of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of aqua silk organza over taffeta, featuring mandarine collars and full-length sheer bishop sleeves. White satin buttons descended to the high-rise waistlines, with bands of Venise lace around the neckline and down each side.

Dennis Downie of Ann Arbor was best man. Groomsmen were brothers of the bridegroom, Stephen Krebs and Jeffrey Krebs, both of Ann Arbor. Tony Cokens and David Robbins were ushers.

Music was played by organist Gale Kramer.

Following a camping trip to the Upper Peninsula, the newlyweds will live at 5000 Marton-rd., Ann Arbor.

Out-of-town guests attended from Charlevoix, Manitowoc, Wisc.; Maryland, Ohio, New York, New Jersey and Michigan.

Miss Toni Goss

Toni Goss Is Betrothed

Mrs. Robert Goss of Charlevoix announces the engagement of her daughter, Toni, to Vance Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wood, Charlevoix.

The wedding will be Dec. 26 at the First Congregational Church.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and will graduate in December from Central Michigan University.

Her fiance also is a graduate of Charlevoix High School. He has served in the army and presently is attending North-central Michigan College in Petoskey.

Miss Marilyn Abbett

Will Marry Charlevoixan

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Abbett of Dover, Mass., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn, to Jack Ellsworth Rader jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Rader sr. of Charlevoix.

The wedding will take place Sept. 19 at the Walloon Lake Community Church.

POPULAR FOOD

With or without seeds, the equivalent of a 14-pound slice of watermelon will be eaten, on the average, by every American this year, the Department of Agriculture predicts.

Library Notes

The library is in need of individual volumes of Shakespeare's plays in good condition. Hamlet, Macbeth, Midsummer Night's Dream – whatever titles might be discovered in the attic or unused bookshelf. The library also needs any volumes of Dickens' works which are in sound condition. Donations from patrons who may care to part with the above items will be most gratefully received.

Peg Bracken (author of the "I Hate to Cook Book") is out with a new one, "I Didn't Come Here to Argue." It needs no recommendation. It offers good reading for everyone, laced with laughter, alive with anecdotes and sparkled with surprises.

"Everybody Wins, Nobody Loses" is another book written in a light vein, and it offers "advice from a mother who survived." A sense of humor has seen Edith-Jane Bahr happily through 17 years of bringing up four children. She shares her secrets and methods in this delightful book. She says, for example regarding vacations: "Anything involving children cannot be called a vacation." As for friends, she says: "Don't try to make any while your children are young. Like that trip to Europe, there'll be time later." Her definition of sickness: "A privilege reserved for fathers, babysitters and cleaning ladies."

If you enjoyed "Please Don't Eat the Daisies" or "Life Among the Savages", you will very definitely enjoy "Everybody Wins, Nobody Loses."

As a change of pace, "The College Scene" by James A. Foley and Robert K. Foley is recommended. It is an up-to-the minute appraisal of conditions on American campuses-a searching look into student attitudes about all the social, political and moral issues that concern parents, educators, law enforcement officials and the youth of our nation. With its fearless approach and authored by two such experienced men, "The College Scene" is certain to become an enduring social document of our times.

"No Place for An Angel" by Elizabeth Spencer is a very good novel by an author who has already met with success through her five previous novels and her stories which have appeared in The New Yorker magazine. What is to happen to the heart in a world that has no place for an angel? The question stalks the five people who, in a variety of moods and constellations, move through this book. There is a gentle Texas heiress and her ruthless husband, a young artist who insists on creating an angel, and the elegant Irene and her husband Charles who bring conflict to the plot, which moves from New York to Rome, from Washington to Texas, from Florida to Siracusa in ceaseless unrest.

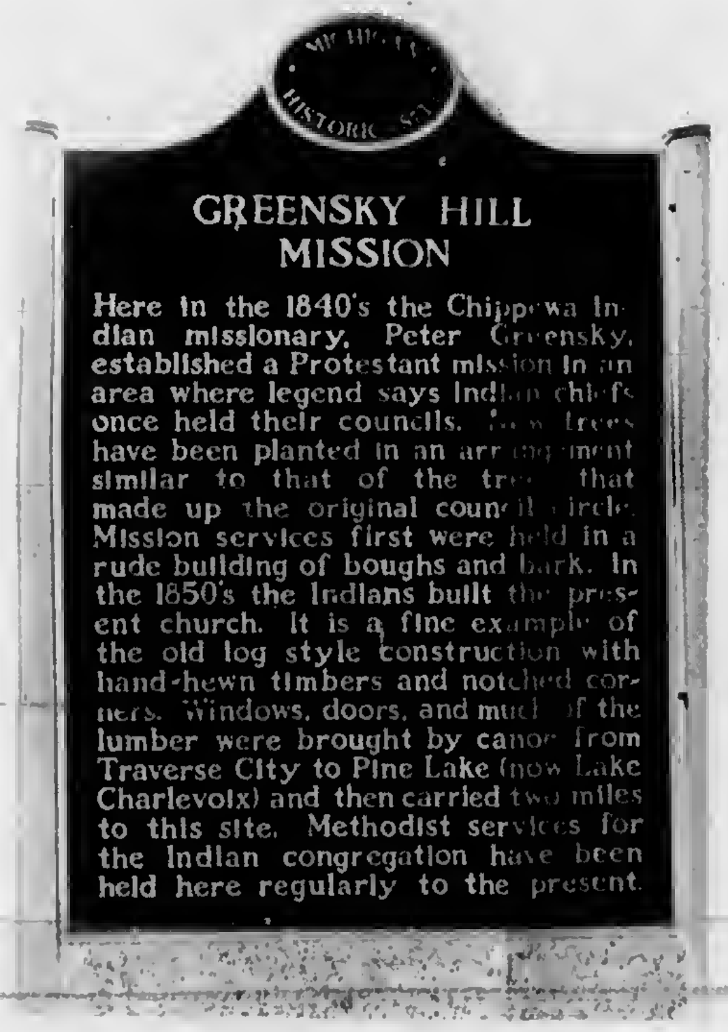
To Traverse City

DATING BACK to the mid-1800's the Greensky Hill Indian Church stands today as testimony to the remarkable craftsmanship of Charlevoix area pioneers. The church is located on a bluff above Susan Lake, just off Old U.S. 31.



GREENSKY HILL MISSION

Here in the 1840's the Chippewa Indian missionary, Peter Greensky, established a Protestant mission in an area where legend says Indian chiefs once held their councils. New trees have been planted in an arrangement similar to that of the trees that made up the original council circle. Mission services first were held in a rude building of boughs and bark. In the 1850's the Indians built the present church. It is a fine example of the old log style construction with hand-hewn timbers and notched corners. Windows, doors, and much of the lumber were brought by canoe from Traverse City to Pine Lake (now Lake Charlevoix) and then carried two miles to this site. Methodist services for the Indian congregation have been held here regularly to the present.

THE GREENSKY Hill Indian church, grounds and council trees have been declared an historic site by the state of Michigan. This plaque stands near the old log church.

Boaters Would Welcome South Fox Harbor

Establishment of a harbor of refuge on South Fox Island comes as good news to all Charlevoixans who ply the big waters of Lake Michigan in their small boats.

George LaBlance, commodore of the Charlevoix Yacht Club, learned recently that the state Department of Natural Resources is negotiating with the General Services Administration for the acquisition of the U.S. Coast Guard lighthouse property on the south end of the island for the establishment of a public park and a harbor of refuge for small boats. The lighthouse has been deactivated.

Creation of public docks on the island not only will provide a convenient destination for a day's outing out of Charlevoix but also will provide a way-station for boats traveling between Michigan and Wisconsin.

South Fox Island is located in Lake Michigan 26 miles due west of Charlevoix and about 50 miles east of Washington Island, one of the approaches to Wisconsin's Green Bay.

Although many Charlevoixans catch sight of the island on clear days, not too much is known about the island by mainlanders.

The island comprises 3,382 acres of land, of which about one-third is under public ownership in scattered parcels. The remainder of the island is owned by a Lynn Dillin of Detroit.

Following are excerpts from a report on the island prepared last year by the Department of Natural Resources:

"Along the western and northern shores, an impressive bluff and dunes rise abruptly to 350 feet or more from Lake Michigan. The island's terrain is hilly except for a level band, a few hundred yards or less in width, along the east side.

"The timber on the private land was cutover during a period of several years in the 1950's, but only the best quality trees were taken. In only a few, scattered, small areas do trees appear to have been sufficiently dense and of high enough quality to have been clear-cut. Smaller trees and rather numerous larger, poor quality trees remain. It appears that another commercial logging operation is perhaps 30 years away.

"Most of the island is composed of the northern hardwoods forest type with sugar maple predominant. White ash and basswood are locally abundant, while beech is less so. During a brief survey of the island state foresters R. A. Borak and T.M. Reuschel found little or no elm, red maple, black cherry, hemlock and pine and spruce. White cedar and balsam fir (some very large specimens of the former) occupy valley pockets along the west coast. Ground hemlock is luxuriantly abundant almost everywhere in the understory, but is showing signs of heavy browsing in parts of the island, particularly north and west."

Although deer were reported on the island early in the 1900's, they were eventually exterminated, probably by lighthouse keepers. There were no deer on the island in the fall of 1962 when the Conservation Department (now the Department of Natural Resources) released 17 white-tailed deer, six males and 11 females. There is now a sizeable deer herd. In 1969, 188 deer were taken by firearms, including 88 adult bucks, 49 adult does, 30 buck fawns and 21 doe fawns.

Despite the large kill, the pre-season deer population prsently is estimated at 100 deer per square mile and a drastic herd reduction or massive timber cutting is indicated to prevent a die-off by starvation.

Charlevoixans will be hearing more about South Fox Island in the future as plans for the harbor and park are finalized. Although it belongs to Leelanau County, South Fox may soon be as familiar to Charlevoix residents as the Beaver group to the north.

Charlevoix Bids Farewell To Rev. Jack Harris

The Courier extends best wishes to Rev. Jack Harris on his move to the First Baptist Church in Holly.

Rev. Harris delivered his last sermon in Charlevoix on Sunday and assumes his new duties in Holly this week.

For the past eight years, Charlevoix has been home to Rev. Harris and his family. Mrs. Harris taught in Charlevoix public schools while Rev. Harris attended to the spiritual needs of his congregation.

During his pastorage, the First Baptist Church moved from its 80-year-old home on State-st. to magnificent new quarters on M-66, thanks to the unstinting efforts of Rev. Harris and the spirit he instilled in his parishioners.

The church house was completed in February, 1969, at a cost of $113,000 and already has assumed its role as a landmark in the community.

Rev. Harris also has been an active Kiwanian, directing the song portion of every Kiwanis meeting. His enthusiasm as a music director is unparalled, as any Kiwanian will attest.

Rev. Harris and his wife, Arlette, have taken an active role in the affairs of the community, speaking out on public issues forcefully and dynamically.

We are confident that Harrises will find new challenges in Holly, a community of about 4,000 persons in the northwest corner of Oakland County, 15 miles south of Flint.

Although he is a slight man physically, Rev. Harris is big in the things that count, namely courage and conviction.

We join his congregation in bidding him farewell and thank-you.

A Farewell to Flies

By Bob Clock

I was stretched out on the davenport the other night, renewing acquaintance with the television set, when I was startled by a strange buzzing sound.

I sat upright and gave the room a quick once-over, thinking perhaps one of the children had plugged in my electric razor. Before I remembered that I don't have an electric razor, I discovered the source of my annoyance.

A housefly had landed on my knee and was rubbing his legs together, as houseflies like to do.

Then it suddenly dawned on me that this little fellow was the first fly I had seen all summer. Of course, the battle was on. I dispatched Katie to the basement stairway for the flyswatter (we keep one around for spiders) and after flailing like a windmill for several minutes I finally smashed him to smithereens on the cover of the Sears catalog.

Now I am a little sorry I did, because I am afraid the once common housefly is going the way of the whooping crane and the dodo bird. If I had had my wits about me, I would have caught him in a bottle and sent him to the Smithsonian institution or the Audubon Society.

Whether you have noticed or not, the housefly certainly is not the problem it used to be in the good old days. I remember when you could swat flies all day long, and still have enough buzzing around to make a raisin pie. The fly was one of life's little problems, even in homes equipped with window screens. Two or three flies would buzz inside every time a door was opened and just before a rainstorm the air was literally black with them.

The fly, of course, was a notorious germ-carrier and the bane of public health officials.

I remember one year in Detroit when flies were such a problem that the city fathers came up with an ingenious scheme to get rid of them. They captured 50 flies and painted them gold. Then they let them go. A reward of something like $5 was offered for every gold fly turned into the health department and every kid in the city developed a personal vendetta against the housefly in an effort to strike it rich.

I must have killed 5,000 flies that summer, but I never found a gold one. I can't recall if anyone did and I'm beginning to suspect that the gold paint story was just a come-on. How in the world could the little creatures get off the ground with all that armor plate?

Remember flypaper? Every hardware store and dime store in the country used to carry little cardboard tubes stuffed with rolled-up strips of paper coated with a sticky, non-drying glue. You'd fasten the canister to the ceiling with a thumb tack and then pull out the flypaper and let it dangle in the middle of the room.

Before long it would be dotted with dead and dying flies. They would land on it and bingo! They were stuck for life. They usually buzzed frantically for several minutes before they gave up the ghost. When the flypaper was filled, you'd take it down and string up another.

One problem was putting it in a place where no one would bump into it. No matter where it was hung, I managed to get my head stuck in it once a day and my mother would have to cut off a hank of hair to set me free. By the end of the summer I looked like the off-spring of Phyllis Diller and Yul Brenner.

Pesticides undoubtedly have played a role in ridding the world of flies, but there probably are other reasons for their disappearance. For one thing, the outdoor john is virtually extinct and outdoor johns were one of their favorite habitats.

We also take better care of our garbage. Disposals have eliminated the necessity of storing garbage until the pick-up men come around. And those of us who don't have disposals can always use plastic bags, which are practically fly-proof.

Furthermore, we don't have horses performing private functions up and down our streets the way we used to. Flies and horses always seemed to go together.

Before the housefly disappears altogether, I hope some naturalist with a sense of history will capture and mount a few specimens to let our progeny know some of the hardships we had to put up with in the olden days. He might even include a roll of fly paper in his display, if he can find one.

For myself, I am going to have our fly-swatter bronze coated to hang in the bathroom.

Please Cut the Gas

By Jim Fitzgerald

On the day the war ended in Japan, I was aboard an old Liberty ship, seasick on the Atlantic, in the brig, headed from Germany to Japan via a 30-day orgy at home.

Twenty-five years later, almost to the day, the U.S. Army again made splendid use of an old Liberty ship. The Pentagon brains loaded the ship with nerve gas and sank it in that same Atlantic.

Was it the same Liberty ship? Maybe. Unfortunately I can't remember the name of the ship that brought me home. But no matter.

The important thing is that it is the same U.S. Armed Forces.

While military scientists were littering fish to death, the Air Force was also involved in a magnificent operation. At Lackland Air Force Base in Texas, 15 airmen were spending the day cutting out 10,000 pictures of their commanding general.

The base newspaper had printed a photo of the general, showing only his head. You couldn't see his stars and decorations, for goodness sakes. So the officer in charge ordered that 10,000 newspapers be distributed with 10,000 holes in them. He also fired the editor, always a wise move in such cases.

You are probably wondering what happened to the 10,000 offensive clippings. Well, I'll tell you. They were stuffed into a steel foot locker. The locker was put aboard an old LST landing craft. The LST was pushed to the middle of the Mississippi by two Pfc's in GI swimming trunks. A helicopter then dropped a small atom bomb on the craft, sinking it and the clippings forever.

But getting back to my Liberty ship, you are probably wondering what a nice fellow like me was doing in the ship's brig (that's the jail, landlubbers). Well, I won't tell.

Rest assured, I was an innocent victim of circumstances. And the circumstances were much crueler than they might have been. That lousy brig was in the bow. There was a terrible storm on the North Atlantic and you can't believe how that bow went up and down, up and down. Seasick? Those were the most miserable five days of my life.

So I hope it was my Liberty ship that carried the nerve gas to the bottom. But that was only 1 percent of the U.S. supply of the deadly gas. What's going to be done with the other 99 percent?

The gas is a marvelously inhuman weapon and any self-respecting fiend would be proud of creating it. But the nerve gas is indiscriminate and leaky. It could turncoat and kill us all simply because we can't find an enemy we hate enough to spray with the stuff.

It is a military mess and an ordinary, exasperated civilian is tempted to ask: "Why don't they just cut it out?"

Ah. Obviously a job for the Air Force officer who ordered the 10,000 cut-outs.

Onward and Upward.

'Democrats Must Be Howling With Laughter', Friske Backer Says

Dear Editor:

I am an American, and proud of my country. I am a school teacher, and proud of my profession. I am a Republican of long-standing, but not so proud of it anymore.

The abuse and ill-treatment which has been given to Mr. Richard Friske by the handful of die-hard Republicans in this District has almost made me ill. I have never seen such prejudice and poor-sportsmanship shown in any political campaign before. And I do not like any part of it.

Mr. Friske won in the primary election "fair and square" - in spite of the Republican Party, not because of it. And now you are trying to elect his Democratic opponent by talking of running a sticker candidate. How absolutely dumb! The Democrats must be howling with laughter at you.

How many of you people really know Mr. Richard Friske? I have known Mr. Friske and his entire family, since they came to this country. I have taught his younger brothers, his daughter, and several of his nieces and nephews in school. They are all fine, hard-working, Christian Americans. Is there anything wrong with that anymore?

Mr. Richard Friske is an honest, well-informed, educated gentleman. We should feel proud to have him represent us in Lansing. So, Republicans, if you do not want to help him get there, why don't you at least get off his back and give him a fair chance? If you do not know this man, get out and meet him—compare him with the others who want this position, then decide for yourselves. He is going to win anyway, with or without your support. Don't you think that a few others in Michigan have already created enough problems for the Republican party? Let's not add fuel to the fire. I want to continue to be a Republican, but I can't be unless you people shape up and do the right thing by Mr. Richard Friske.

Thanking you for printing my letter, I remain

SINCERELY YOURS,
Mrs. Marguerite Makel
(A 40-YEAR REPUBLICAN)

Charges Kujawski Backers 'Immature'

Dear Editor:

Having read that Richard Friske is becoming quite a figure of contention, because he belongs to the John Birch Society, I wonder if he might be stoned verbally if he belonged to the wrong fraternity, or happened to be of another race, or different religion.

It seems that there are a number of immature Republicans up north here in these counties, who are calling off the baseball game because their bright and shining hope, John Kujawski, was struck out.

Well, goodness! Lets see what a terrible threat the John Birch Society poses to everyone:

1. The Birchers have Semetics, Negroes, and all races or members.
2. Birchers are in favor of the police and law enforcement.
3. It does not approve of using the taxpayers money for wild spending.
4. It does not boast to have armed revolt in our country, as do 7,000,000 Communists in the U.S.A.
5. It does not seek to kill President Nixon, as well as other government officials. (This can happen with 33 Communist organizations rampant in our country)
6. It respects the flag, believes in God, the Constitution, cares about the sick, the old, and the unwanted.
7. It is apposed to Lenin, cruelty and the Viet Cong flag of the masses.
8. It believes in free enterprise, and states rights.

—Now why should any good citizen want to play on another team, as well as divide the party? Mr. Friske will be tops as an honest leader, you can bet.

S.J. Crimick
Traverse City, Mich.

Suggests Pool At Big Rock

Dear Mr. Clock:

A number of people in this area have expressed a desire to have a year around heated swimming facility.

Others have expressed concern over the possibility of the heated water from nuclear plants causing thermal pollution of the lake.

Perhaps the two positions could be reconciled if the Big Rock nuclear plant would build a swimming facility adjacent to their plant using their waste heat to heat both the water and the building as an additional practical example of applied nuclear energy to supplement the fine nuclear energy educational display that they now have.

Signed, Ray Peltz

National Geographic Feature

Nicolet Expected Chinese in Wisconsin

The first white man to set foot in Wisconsin could hardly have been more surprised. He had set out in 1634 in search of China.

Paddling through the Straits of Mackinac and across the blue reaches of Lake Michigan, Jean Nicolet had brought with him a magnificent damask robe, decorated with birds and flowers, in which to greet the mandarins of Cathay. As his canoe neared the Wisconsin shore, well north of Milwaukee about due west of Charlevoix, young Nicolet donned his stately raiment and picked up a brace of pistols.

From the forest, however, emerged no Chinese officials but a welcoming committee of near-naked Indians. Putting a bold face on his discomfiture, Nicolet stepped ashore with "thunder in both hands," says the National Geographic Society.

INVITED TO LUNCH

Squaws and children fled at the sound of his firearms, but the braves stood their ground. They declared the Nicolet must be Manitouiriniou, "the wonderful man," and invited him to a beaver banquet.

Since that day Wisconsinites and especially the people of Milwaukee have made it a practice to welcome strangers ashore and to invite them to stay for dinner.

Milwaukee is just now relaxing from its Summerfest, the annual fete that draws scores of thousands from Wisconsin and all the midwest.

The festivities are held on the Lake Michigan shore within an easy walk of the main business district.

The Poles, for example, and most other Summerfesters enjoyed at lunch such things as "kapustaz wleprzowina" (sauerkraut with pork), "kartoflane Kluski" (potato dumplings), and "kolacki" (fancy pastry). A featured Czech meal included "ryba na cerno" (fish in black sauce), "kruplene knedliky" (farina dumplings), and "markony dort" (poppyseed cake)—all washed down with the famous Milwaukee beer, of course.

FESTIVAL CITY SHINES

The entire city—11th largest in the United States and one of the cleanest—is aglow at Summerfest. Henry Jordan, the Green Bay Packers football immortal who directs the show, encourages visitors to take in Milwaukee's other attractions.

Drawing the biggest crowds, is the famed German restaurants are not counted, are the zoo and the Mitchell Park Horticultural Conservatory.

The conservatory is a bit of the tropics in a city where the winters get very cold indeed. No matter what the temperature outside, bananas and orchids flourish in three huge interconnected glass domes.

From a distance, the conservatory's domes present a striking profile, something like three peaks of Wyoming's Grand Tetons, rounded off. Raffish Milwaukeeans have a name for the general effect: "Lollobrigida, plus one," they say.

Safety Seminar Sept. 16

Mrs. Tom Wieland, the Charlevoix County committee chairman for Michigan Women For Highway Safety, announced today that a one-day highway safety conference will be held Wednesday, Sept. 16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., at Northwestern Michigan College, Rm 105 Science Building, Traverse City.

All member of MWFHS and all women interested in learning more about local, county, regional and state highway safety problems and needs are invited to attend the conference.

Speakers will include an officer from the Traffic and Safety Bureau, Michigan Department of State Police; a sherriff, a judge or prosecutor, a road commissioner or traffic engineer, and a driver education instructor or supervisor from Antrim, Benzie, Charlevoix, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Leelanau, Manistee, Missaukee, and Wexford counties of Region X MWFHS.

Also speaking will be representatives of the Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning, Department of State Police; Traffic Safety for Michigan; and the Highway Traffic Safety Center, Continuing Education Service, M.S.U. These are the support agencies for Michigan Women For Highway Safety.

ALTHOUGH fall is in the air, the weather is still perfect for sailing. This small craft heads for the open waters of Lake Michigan after passing between the U.S. 31 bridge portals in full-sail.

Record-Breaking Holiday in Offing

Michigan State Police, the state Highway Commission and the Automobile Club of Michigan are bracing for what is expected to be one of the biggest Labor Day weekends in history.

Col. Fredrick E. Davids, director of the state police has ordered special patrols from noon Friday, Sept. 4, to midnight Monday, Sept. 7, to assist in traffic management.

Various "last fling" activities of this closing major holiday period of the summer attract hundreds of thousands of motorists to the roads, he noted, increasing the potential for accidents.

He said the Labor Day weekend in recent years has been the worst holiday period for traffic deaths. The average was 38 in the years 1965-69. High for the period was 51 in 1968, with a low of 25 in 1965. Last year, 27 persons were killed.

Augmenting the patrols will be the vehicle check lane officers from the various posts, district traffic officers and detectives as needed, and about three dozen members of the Michigan Special Police Reserve, also as needed.

Department aircraft, weather-permitting, will supplement the patrol activity during daylight hours.

Maximum patrol coverage will be provided from 3 p.m. to at least 9 p.m. each day of the holiday weekend. Special attention will be given to state and county roads having bad accident records.

The Highway Department has ordered a halt to all highway construction and maintenance work over the weekend in an effort to ease the safety problem.

The department estimates that Michigan motorists will drive 610 million vehicle miles over the Labor Day weekend, an increase of five million vehicle miles over last year.

"Safety of the motorists is of paramount concern to all of us in the Highway Department," Director Henrik E. Stafseth said.

He had ordered a halt to all highway construction and maintenance work from 5 p.m. Friday until Tuesday morning. Only essential emergency work will be done on state highways during this period.

Stafseth also has ordered all construction equipment to be moved a safe distance from the traveled portion of all highways during the weekend.

He has alerted district and project engineers to check all construction signs "to make sure that they reflect the conditions that lie ahead for the motorist."

The Auto Club expects "the busiest single day so far this year on state roads" during the 78-hour Labor Day weekend, if the weather stays warm. However Auto Club officials expect only 588 million vehicle miles to be driven.

"Heaviest traffic day of the year in Michigan to date should be Monday when most weekend vacationers, coho fishermen and cottage owners return families home for school between 2 and 10 p.m., says the Auto Club's touring Manager Jerry E. Fisher.

Heavy traffic will be moving slower than usual during this period due to the fact that an estimated one in every seven vehicles will be pulling a trailer, he said.

At Saugatuck, the chamber of commerce reports that three of its largest motels already are booked 100 percent for the Labor Day weekend. A similar report comes from Holland.

However, at Traverse City and Petoskey, motel owners reported that at the present time their facilities are only 30 to 50 percent booked.

Based on last year's experience, more than 80 percent of the Lower Peninsula's state parks will fill by Friday afternoon.

County Shares OEO Grant

Charlevoix County is one of 12 counties who will receive a portion of a $40,000 office of Economic Opportunity grant to the Northeast Michigan Community Action, Inc.

The money is earmarked for a Housing Development Corporation which will operate on a non-profit basis as an agent to determine the needs of the poor and be aware of the federal, state and local resources that can be utilized in meeting these needs.

The corporation will help form county and municipal housing organizations, provide technical assistance to these groups and conduct demonstration projects.

Isle Historians Meet Sept, 4

The annual meeting of the Beaver Island Historical Society will be held Sept. 4 at the museum at 8:30 p.m.

On the agenda is election of officers and other business pertaining to the expansion of the society, according to A. J. Roy, president.

Bridge Walk Starts Half Hour Earlier

The 13th Annual Mackinac Bridge Walk will get under way a half hour earlier than usual, at 7:30 A.M. on Labor Doy morning, Monday Sept. 7, according to Prentiss M. Brown, Chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"Once again Gov. Milliken will participate in the 'World's Greatest Walking Event' and weather permitting he'll lead close to 20,000 men, women and children on the annual trek over the historic Straits of Mackinoc," said Brown.

"The Labor Day Mackinac Bridge Walk has grown into a widely popular Michigan tradition since that rainy morning in 1958 when then - Governor Williams led some 65 members of the International Walkers Association over the bridge. The popularity of the bridge walk, the only time pedestrians are permitted, has grown phenomenally - attracting people of all ages, from all walks of life and from all over the Midwest.

"Pleasure walking is the main aim of the event, but for those who want to, the International Walkers Association will conduct speed-walk races for men, women, boys and girls with medals for winners, starting at 7:15 A.M. There is a nominal registration fee and contestants can sign up for the race at the Bridge fare plaza (north side) prior to the 7:15 A.M. starting time."

Walkers are urged to be in St. Ignace the night before the walk. The city by the Straits rolls out the red carpet annually for Labor Day walkers. The Pere Marquette Pageant, "The Black Gown Tree" is presented free of charge on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 4, 5, and 6. This is the dramatic production which depicts the life of Father Marquette, who founded St. Ignace 299 years ago and explored the Mississippi, opening up the Midwest for subsequent pioneers.

Bridge walkers are reminded that transportation northbound on Labor Day morning will be slow and congested. Walkers should keep this in mind. Nobody will be permitted to start walking after 10:00 A.M. and the bridge will be cleared of all walkers by noon. That is why being on the north side on the night before is so important.

North and south motor vehicle traffic is maintained during the walk on the two west lanes of the Bridge. However, congestion often develops southbound and crossings are slowed down until noon. Travelers returning to the Lower Peninsula are advised to make their plans accordingly.

It is not known whether Governor Milliken will attempt to break Governor Romney's 47-minute record set in 1967, but he came within four minutes of doing it on his first try last year when he allowed as how he was "strolling" across the bridge. Several politicans and staff members accompanying him were seen jogging and dogtrotting in their efforts to keep up with him. At any rate the Governor's Glass, a handsome trophy consisting of an engraved 16-ounce glass mounted on a polished maple block, is up for grabs again this year.

SALARY INCREASE

This year starting salaries for Michigan State University graduates with bachelor's degrees were up generally two to five percent over last year, according to MSU Placement Director John Shingleton.

State Protects Jordan Land From Further Development

Michigan natural resources managers have "zoned" the 73,000 acres of state forest land in Charlevoix and Antrim County as a "no development" area.

The Jordan River State Forest, which includes all state-owned forest lands in Charlevoix and Antrim Counties, is the first and only state forest in Michigan completely zoned against development, Ralph King, Dept. of Natural Resources district forestry chief at Gaylord said.

The zoning, King explained, means that the Jordan River State Forest has been marked "off limits" to development of new roads and highways, powerlines, pipelines, oil wells and other projects that would mar the natural beauty of the area.

To allow for expansion of public utilities (highways, powerlines, etc.) DNR foresters, game and fish biologists designated (utilities corridors through the Jordan River State Forest. These "corridors" follow existing highways and powerline routes.

The DNR field men who manage the wildlife, forest and fish in the Jordan River State Forest unanimously agreed, King said, that the Charlevoix and Antrim County portion of the state forest system is uniquely valuable and deserves this highest degree of zoning protection. There are 32,177 acres of state forest land on the mainland of Charlevoix County and about 41,000 in Antrim County.

Jordan River State Forest manager Jack Lockwood of Boyne City pointed out that the zoning takes into account the State Highway Dept.'s plans to build a freeway up the west side of the state.

Rather than have the highway builders slash a new route through the public forest – destroying about 100 acres of wildlands for every mile of road – the DNR men zoned a freeway corridor following the existing US-131 route, Lockwood said.

All public utilities, Lockwood said, can and should follow existing highway and powerline corridors. Utility companies and highway builders, he pointed out, usually want to follow the "shortest, cheapest route."

Other state forests, and portions of the Jordan River State Forest, Lockwood said, are criss-crossed with these power and pipe lines, each following the "shortest and cheapest route" and each forever destroying the aesthetics of a portion of the forest.

"Instead of finding an unbroken wilderness as he paddles down the Jordan River, for instance, a canoeist finds the stream crossed in five or more places by power lines, that leave wide, unnatural openings and fill the overhead view with wires instead of trees," Lockwood said.

He, and the other natural resources managers, feel this should be avoided, though it will cost the public utility companies and the consumers slightly more money. The zoning will prevent further helter-skelter destruction of the forests, Lockwood feels.

However, DNR regional field chief Troy Yoder of Roscommon, pointed out DNR administrators in Lansing have not approved the "zoning." The zoning plans went to Lansing last week to be approved or vetoed.

DNR field natural resources managers who recommended the "no development" zoning for the Jordan River State Forest, are Lockwood, King, district game biologist Ford Kellum, district fish biologist Steve Swan and habitat game biologist Dan Tucker. Tucker works out of Indian River. Swan, Kellum and King work out of Gaylord.

They recommended lesser degrees of zoning protection for state forests in Emmet, Cheboygan, Otsego, Presque Isle, Montmorency and Alpena counties.

New Member Of CS Board

Inman H. Douglass, C.S.B., has retired from the Christian Science board of directors at his own request, according to Walker Mites of the Charlevoix Christian Science Church.

Douglass will be succeeded by DeWitt John, C.S.B., of Boston, editor of The Christian Science Monitor since May, 1964. John will be succeeded on the Monitor staff by John Hughes, Pulitzer prize-winning Far Eastern correspondent.

THE REV. and Mrs. Dwight Barker, missionaries to Australia, will speak at the Community Church of God, 202 W. Hurlbut-st., at 7:20 p.m. Sept. 10 and 11 and at 11 a.m. Sept. 13. Slides and films will be shown at the evening meetings. The Barkers have served four and one-half years in Australia and will return the end of the year.

Hearing Set For Grocery

A hearing will be held at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, at the state Agriculture Department offices in Traverse City on a complain that Essenburg's grocery store sold alcoholic beverages to a minor.

The complaint was signed by the Charlevoix Police Department.

JORDAN RIVER WATERSHED

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Taylor that the following resolution be adopted;

Whereas, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, State of Michigan, has become aware that recreational boating and surface water use problems exist on Jordan River, and

Whereas Act 303 of the Public Acts of 1967 requires that the Department of Natural Resources conduct a public hearing and such investigations as are deemed necessary prior to recommending local watercraft controls on problem waters,

Now therefore Be It Resolved that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners does hereby request the Department of Natural Resources to hold a Public hearing to inquire into the need for special local watercraft controls on Jordan River, Charlevoix County, State of Michigan. Further, that a copy be sent to Jordan River Water Shed. Signed: Harry Tompkins, Milstein.

Motion carried.

DIRECTIVE A-95

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Taylor that the following resolution be adopted:

Whereas, the Bureau of the Budget of the US Government has recognized the need for regional review clearinghouses under Directive A-95 and,

Whereas, Directive A-95 is intended to provide guidance and review of requests for Federal or State financial assistance on the various grant-in-aid programs as sponsored by the numerous Federal and State agencies as they relate to local units of government, and,

Whereas, A-95 regional clearinghouses will eliminate such duplicative effort and inquires to various Federal and State Agencies, and

Whereas, the Governor of each state is granted the prerogative of designating said A-95 regional review agencies, and

Whereas, the A-95 regional clearinghouses shall follow the delineated State Planning Region boundaried and,

Whereas, the currently existing Economic Development Districts and the Planning and Development Regions are organized and performing said coordinating function in their respective area, as recommended by Governor's Executive Directive 1969-1, and,

Whereas, the established Development districts and the Planning and Development Regions as created by concurrent resolution of the County Boards of Commissions of the various regions was organized to serve in this coordinating role and to assist all units of local Government to prosper economically, and

Whereas, A-95 designation does not allow power of veto by the regional clearinghouse but rather is a mechanism to consultive assistance in developing acceptable grant applications;

Now therefore Be It Resolved that the Board of Commissioners of Charlevoix County does hereby petition Governor William G. Milliken to designate the Northwest Michigan Economic Development District as a Regional Review Clearinghouse as proposed by US Bureau of the Budget Directive A-95, and,

Be It Further Resolved that the Charlevoix County Clerk is hereby directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Governor William G. Milliken, a copy to the Office of Planning Coordination and a copy to each legislative representative from this area.

Signed Harry Tompkins, Barney Milstein. Motion carried.

"Please Don't Hurt My Kids"

Dear Driver:

TODAY, MY DAUGHTER, who is six years old, started to school for the first time. Her brother was with her, but he's only nine himself, and he still looks pretty little to me. Their cocker spaniel, whose name is "Scott," sat on the front porch and whined his canine belief in the folly of education as they waved "goodbye" and started off to the halls of learning.

LAST NIGHT WE TALKED ABOUT SCHOOL — my daughter and I. She wondered what the teacher would be like . . . she hoped she could sit beside Mary (the little girl next door). She said her "letters" for me — just to be sure she knew them. Oh, we talked about a lot of things — tremendously vital, unimportant things. Then she tried on her plaid pinafore to show me . . . and then to bed.

SHE LOOKED SO HELPLESS — sound asleep, with "Princess Elizabeth" (that's her doll) cuddled in her right arm. You see, I'm her daddy. When her doll is broken or her finger is cut, or her hand gets banged, I can fix it — but when she and Brother start to school, when they walk across the street, then they're in your hands.

THEY'RE NICE KIDS, both of them. They like to ride horses and swim and hike with me on Sunday afternoon. But I can't be with them all the time. I have to work to pay for their clothes and education. So please help me look out for them. Please drive slowly past the schools and intersections — and please remember that children do run from behind parked cars.

PLEASE, DON'T HURT MY KIDS!

—A Proud Daddy

"If you're unhappy with the phone company. I'll get you action."

"It happens.

"Sometimes people have a legitimate complaint against the phone company.

"But too often they go to someone else for an answer. When I should be the first to hear about it.

"I'm a service representative at Michigan Bell, and if you need an answer for a service slip up, call me first.

"We have a new way to handle complaints and unusual service requests much faster. Now if you should ever have a question for the phone company, you don't have to contact someone else.

"To take care of these hang ups, Michigan Bell has set up 'Customer Service Action Teams' in its local business offices.

"These teams are here to make sure you get what you're used to getting: the tops in service from Michigan Bell. Even on those out-of-the-ordinary requests.

" 'Customer Service Action Teams' are made up of specially trained people.

"They know the best ways to track down misplaced orders. To answer uncommon questions. To process even the most complicated service requests.

"So if you ever have a misunderstanding with the phone company, call your service representative at the local Michigan Bell business office. If she can't solve your problem through her regular channels, she'll turn it over to her 'Customer Service Action Team'.

Kids Return Sept. 8 If Staff OK's Pact

The Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night ratified the master contract between the school district and the faculty, but details won't be made public until after the pact is ratified by the teachers on Thursday.

Unless a hitch develops, school will start in Charlevoix on Tuesday, Sept. 8, according to Superintendent Robert Miller.

In other business the board:

–Bought a 66-passenger school bus from Charlevoix Oil Co., with a four-speed transmission.

–Bought two station wagons from Charlevoix Oil Co. at a total cost of $6,963.02. One of the wagons will be air conditioned, at a cost of $284.70 extra. The bid is subject to 1971 price corrections.

–Lowered the hot lunch cost in the elementary school from 55 cents to 50 cents. The elementary school will be the only building serving the Type A hot lunch. Junior and Senior High Schools will serve Stewart sandwiches.

–Learned that the state Board of Education will hold a meeting in Gaylord Sept. 9 to rule on the controversial Charlevoix-St. Ignace football game.

–Voted to pay Oliver, Reible and Dinan, attorneys, $1,203.25 for assistance in negotiating after an itemization of fees.

–Hired Mrs. Aaron Brock, former teacher at the County Trainable School at Ironton to teach 5th grade in Charlevoix. (The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate District Board of Education agreed Monday night to place county trainable programs at Ironton and Conway under the Special Education office if the member school districts agree. Mrs. Brock wants to protect her tenure as a Charlevoix teacher. In past years, the trainable programs have been operated by Charlevoix and Petoskey School Districts.)

–Hired Miss Evelyn Peters as the fifth 5th grade teacher to accommodnte an anticipated enrollment of 125 in that grade.

–Learned that the 8th grade still needs a science teacher.

–Accepted Farm Bureau's bid of $776.42 for fleet insurance.

–Purchased an air compressor and vacuum pump from Novotny's Plumbing and Heating for $2,981.85. They will be installed in the Middle School boiler room.

–Agreed to pay teachers $9 per day for food and all other actual costs when they attend professional meetings away from home.

defeated candidates, will handle publicity for the sticker campaign.

Kujawski says he has the backing of all but one of the unsuccessful candidates. Martin Brennan of Conway has withheld his endorsement, Kujawski said.

The main objection to Friske as the GOP candidate is that he is a section leader for the John Birch Society in northern Michigan. Many moderate Republicans feel that Friske, if elected, would not reflect the thinking of most members of the GOP in the sprawling 106th district.

A native of Boyne City, Kujawski, 43, attended Boyne City schools and served with the army of occupation in Germany following World War II. He presently is chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Supervisors.

He worked as a foreman at the former Howes Leather Co. at Boyne City for 18 years and more recently was employed as a salesman for the Electra-Machine Co. of Charlevoix for four years.

He is a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Kujawski and his wife, the former Pat Ecker, have five children: John III, 22; Christy, 21; Mark, 20; Kirk, 18; and Nancy, 15.

suggested that the council defer action until a site is selected. The city has been negotiating with Medusa Cement Co. to buy or trade property for the proposed plant. Engineers recommend a 10-acre tract of Medusa land on the Lake Michigan shore south of Boulder Park.

The council also:

–Received a revised plan for subdiving the Jack Berry property on Eaton-ave. providing for the best utilization of land and meeting zoning restrictions.

–Hired Northland Construction to double seal portions of Newman, Hurlbut, Prospect, Chicago, Central and Lake sts. at 52 cents a yard.

–Learned from Attorney Michael that steps have been taken to have the house at 217 Belvedere-ave. condemned as unfit for human habitation. The house was the scene of a drug raid Aug. 13.

–Learned that the city will host the Michigan Municipal Electric Association Sept. 16 to 18.

aluminum plant on the island.

It's name notwithstanding, Iceland has a relatively mild climate, thanks to the Gulf Stream, the ambassador says. Last winter, the coldest recorded temperature was 18 degrees above zero. In summer, the temperature averages 65 degrees.

Iceland has considerable snow, but it melts rapidly because of the relatively warm climate.

Located only 200 miles from the Arctic Circle, Reykjavik is the northernmost capital in the world.

Ellsworth Starts Sept. 9

The Ellsworth Community School will begin classes on a full time basis beginning on Sept. 9. Elementary students are to report to their individual classrooms at 8:45 a.m. High School and Junior High School students are to report in the gymnasium at 8:45.

Bus routes will be approximately the same as the 1969-70 school year. Expect students to be picked up and returned at nearly the same time as last year. We request that the parents of kindergarten students bring their children to school on the first day. The kindergarten is on a ½ day schedule.

Faculty Wins Pay Hike of Over $500

Gov. Milliken

Gov. Milliken Drops In on Beaver Island

Michigan Gov. William Milliken paid a call on Beaver Island Aug. 22 on an island-hopping tour of northern Michigan.

Jewell Gillespie, Dr. Joseph Christie and Phil Gregg met the governor's party at the airport and escorted them to the Beaver Lodge where they were greeted by Dr. and Mrs. Ludwick, who hosted an informal gathering of about 100 persons.

The governor reportedly showed a genuine interest in the island.

63 Kids Enrolled On Island

Classes started at the Beaver Island School Sept. 2 with 63 students enrolled in 12 grades.

Sister Rita Wenzlick, principal, and Sister Agatha Artman have returned and are teaching in the high school.

New members of the faculty are Sister Margaret Spellmen and Sister Pamela Morse.

A native of Roscommon County, Ireland, Sister Spellman formerly was with the Sacred Heart school in Mt. Pleasant and reportedly feels right at home among the Island's Irish population. She will teach the primary grades.

Sister Morse comes to the island from St. Michael School in Maple Grove. A native of Saginaw, she will teach upper elementary students.

The Beaver Island School is one of the few public schools in the country staffed entirely by members of a religious order.

Function Of Office Explained

Dick Oestrike, secretary manager of the Chamber of Commerce, reports there is some confusion about the aim of the chamber's new Consumer Protection Division, announced two weeks ago in the Courier.

Oestrike said the office will be headed by Maurice Hunt, formerly with the Consumers Protection Division of the state attorney general's office.

The purpose of the protection office is not to provide surveillance of Charlevoix businessmen but to protect citizens from fraudulent transient merchants, Oestrike said.

Before dealing with questionable transients, Oestrike suggests that residents check with the Chamber of Commerce regarding their product and methods of advertising. Questions will be reffered to Hunt for investigation.

Payne Attends Bank School

Frederick J. Payne, Charlevoix, is among 1,148 student bankers from 39 states, and several foreign nations who have just completed the annual two-week residence session of the 26th annual Graduate School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, Aug. 17-28.

Kizer Heads Lake Assn.

John W. Kizer of East Jordan was elected president of the Lake Charlevoix Property Owners Association at the group's first annual meeting Saturday, Aug. 29, at the First State Bank community room.

First vice president is Anthony Barone, Charlevoix; second vice president Curtis V. Mower, Ironton; secretary-treasurer, Mary Juday, Boyne City; and board members Erwin Schulze, Charlevoix; Sidney Johnson, East Jordan; Rollin Dawson, East Jordan; and Charles Kraus, East Jordan.

Drive Starts With Pancakes

A Community Chest kick-off breakfast for door-to-door solicitors will be held at the community room of the First State Bank at 10 a.m. Monday, Sept. 21, according to John Lachman, president.

The pancakes will be supplied by a representative of Aunt Jemima Co.

All door-to-door Community Chest workers are invited.

Supt. Tells Lunch Plans

Hot lunches will be served at the elementary school every day this week, according to Supt. Robert Miller.

Middle and High School students may purchase Stewart sandwiches, potato chips, milk and dessert at prices comparable to that of the Type A hot lunch.

The elementary school menu for the first week of school appears in the First State Bank ad on page 8 of this week's Courier.

Pat Hawley Hails Bond Rate Increase

D. (Pat) Hawley, Charlevoix County chairman for U.S. savings bonds, reports that the ½- percent bonus just approved by President Nixon means that savings bond owners can realize 5½ percent annual interest on their holdings.

"The bonus applies both to bonds purchased on and after June 1, 1970, and those bought before, and still outstanding. There'll be no need to redeem any bonds to benefit from the new rate. Now, more than ever before, it pays to buy and hold onto your bonds. The increase is a real boon", Hawley said.

He noted that bonds are "like good friends of the family to people in Charlevoix County. They're present at milestone occasions. You'll find them given at births and christenings. Through the payroll savings and bond-a-month plans they're accumulated to help pay for events important in family life – educations, new homes and autos, weddings, vacations, and eventually, retirement. Bonds are a friend in need during unexpected family emergencies."

Hawley also pointed out that Federal funds for protecting the environment, and for developing recreation areas are bolstered through the purchase of savings bonds.

"Savings bonds are the best way most of us have to help our country, our neighbors, and ourselves – all at the same time. The higher interest rate, by making bonds an even more valuable part of our personal financial security, will encourage more people to buy bonds or to increase their holdings.

Courses Offered By CMU

Central Michigan University's Off Campus Education office is cooperating with North Central Michigan College, Petoskey, in offering several off-campus courses in Gaylord this fall. In addition, CMU is scheduling an elementary education course on the undergraduate level.

The education course is listed as Elementary Education 232, Education of Children. It earns four hours credit and details the growth and development of the child from pre-natal through early adolescent stages.

In cooperation with N.C.M.-C. the following courses are scheduled and will meet in Gaylord High School: Accounting 101 (3 hours), Principles of Accounting - introductory I (NCMC Accounting 111, 4 hours); English 220 (3 hours) English Literature (NCMC English 221, 3 hours); Biology 239 (3 hours) Conservation and Forestry. (NCMC) Conservation of Natural Resources 235, 3 hours).

A NCMC course, Mathematics 101, Foundations of Mathematics, will also be offered at Gaylord. It earns three hours under-graduate credit.

Registration for all courses is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 15, at 7 p.m. at the Gaylord High School.

Sees Increase In Enrollment

Charlevoix School Superintendent Robert Miller said last week that he expects Charlevoix's school enrollment to total about 1,575 this year.

Last year, the district had an enrollment of 1,529 on the fourth Friday in September when the official count was taken.

The increase of 46 means an additional two classrooms of students.

River Hearing

The state Department of Natural Resources will conduct a public hearing on boating on the Jordan River at 3 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 9, in the Charlevoix County courthouse.

Contract Ratified By Teaching Staff

The Charlevoix Education Association Thursday morning formally ratified the 1970-71 master contract with the Board of Education providing for salary increases averaging more than $500 a year.

The one-year contract was approved by the Board of Education Aug. 31.

Ratification of the contract by both parties paves the way for the opening of school on Tuesday, Sept. 8, according to Superintendent Robert Miller. He said school bus schedules and times will be about the same as last year.

The salary increases range from $439 for a B.A. teacher after 10 years to $997 for an M.A. teacher after 11 years.

Beginning B.A. teachers will receive $7,375, compared to $6,804 last year, an increase of $571.

After 10 years, B.A. teachers receive $10,750, an increase of $439 over last year's top of $10,311.

M.A. teachers will start at $7,925, up $581 over 1969. An M.A. teacher with 11-years' experience will receive $12,400, up $997 from the $11,128 paid last year.

The contract provides extra remuneration for B.A. teachers with 20 hours' credit above their degree and for M.A. teachers with 15 hours extra credit.

B.A.-plus-20 teachers will start at $7,650 and receive $11,450 after 11 years. M.A.-plus-15 teachers will start at $8,200, reaching $12,400 after 11 years.

Additional increments also are provided for teachers with educational specialist and Ph. D. degrees. The top for a Ph.D after 11 years' experience is $13,150.

The contract also provides for full health and accident insurance, either Blue Cross or Michigan Education Association (MEA). No funds will be paid to the individual teacher. If both husband and wife teach in the Charlevoix system, benefits for both will not exceed full family coverage.

Teachers who coach athletic events will be paid on a percentage basis. Following are the coaching positions and the various percentages, based on the B.A. track and years' coaching:

Athletic director, 10 pct.; head varsity football, 10 pct.; assistant varsity football, 7.5 pct.; head J.V. football, 7 pct.; assistant J.V. football, 6.5 pct.; head varsity basketball, 10 pct.; assistant J.V. basketball, 7 pct.; freshman basketball, 5.5 pct.; Junior High basketball, 5 pct. (1 team) 8 pct. (2 teams); head track, 8 pct.; assistant track, 5.5 pct.; cross country, 6 pct.; ski, 6 pct.; and golf, 6 pct.

Football coaches will be paid $100 per week for practice prior to Labor Day.

A schedule of payments also has been set up for supervisors of extra curricular activities:

Girls Athletic Association, $100 per semester; cheerleading, $350; football, $100; basketball, $150; and tryouts, $100; home economics sponsor, $300; other club sponsors, $300; newspaper sponsor, $200; yearbook sponsor, $200; dramatics and forensics, $500; marching band, $500; concert band, $500; Senior class sponsors (2) $350 total; Junior, Sophomore and Freshman class sponsors (2) $280 each total.

The contract also requires that teachers who do not

Park Commission Begins Organizing

Ralph Richardson was elected temporary chairman and Ed Rebman temporary secretary of the newly organized Charlevoix County Parks and Recreation Commission at the group's first unofficial meeting at the Whiting Park clubhouse Tuesday, Sept. 1.

The commission was created by the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners at its Aug. 18 meeting under Act 261 of the Public Acts of 1965.

The commission will start operations officially on Jan. 1, 1971. Its main function will be the management of Whiting Park on Lake Charlevoix and other county properties.

The Parks and Recreation Commission has 10 members, three of whom serve by virtue of their office. They are the chairman of the Charlevoix County Road Commission, William Korthase jr. of Boyne City; chairman of the County Planning Commission, Walter Thorsen of East Jordan; and the county drain commissioner, Jerry Ulrich of Charlevoix.

Serving three year terms are Ed Rebman of Boyne City, Ralph Richardson of Charlevoix and Robert Burkey of East Jordan.

Two-year members are Ken Staley of Charlevoix and Wayne Saunders of East Jordan.

Serving one-year terms will be Kit Carson and Fred Willis, both of Charlevoix.

A PILE DRIVER with a boom that appears as high as the water tower has been operating in Pine River Channel all summer replacing the south revetment. The work should be completed this fall.

Planned Parenthood Wins Media Support

Word has been received by the Northern Michigan Planned Parenthood Association (NMPPA) in Petoskey, that its parent organization, Planned Parenthood - World Population, has been named by the Advertising Council as a recipient of extra media support during the coming fall season.

A spokesman for the Advertising Council said in New York that this added TV and radio exposure in the form of public service announcements by well-known personalities "demonstrates the industry's concern about population pressures."

Planned Parenthood-World Population is the nation's leading voluntary family planning association with 181 affiliates and 620 clinics serving in 40 states and the District of Columbia. These clinics provide all who want it with family planning information and services; infertility counseling and referral; abortion and sterlization information, counseling and referral; and family life education and marriage counseling.

A major goal of Planned Parenthood-World Population is to alert the American people to the nature and consequences of the population problem, emphasizing the advantages, both personal and social, of small families. The worldwide family planning organization is the International Planned Parenthood Federation, with affiliates operating in some 100 countries around the world.

Anyone interested in membership in the local Planned Parenthood Association or in need of its services should contact NMPPA President John H. Tanton, M.D., R-4, Box 272, Petoskey, Mich., 49770.

Group to Hear Water Experts

Members of the Michigan Water Resources commission are expected to take part in the next meeting of the Jordan River Watershed Commission, scheduled for 7:30 p.m., Sept. 28, at the American Legion hall in East Jordan.

The commission members will discuss rules governing dredging, ditching, and damming of inland lakes and streams.

Hearth & Home

Mrs. Richie O'Donnell and four children of Wyoming spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gallagher. Mr. O'Donnell planned to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell on Beaver Island over the weekend and take his family home with him Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen McDonough and son, Patrick, of Wyoming spent two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James W. Gallagher.

David Miles of Ann Arbor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miles of Charlevoix, leaves this week on a two-year 'round-the-world trip. He will be joined in Spain in October by his brother, Bob, of Charlevoix who will spend several days touring the country with him.

Miss Helen Goldstick of Arlington, Va., was a recent visitor with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miles and her brother's family, the Clarence Goldsticks.

Mrs. Harry Stewart and daughter Jill of Charlevoix flew to New Iberia, La., recently to visit her in-laws. They were joined in Louisiana by sons Jerry and Jim, who drove south, and son Jack who flew in from San Francisco.

Mr. Robert Pearson and family of Traverse City were Sunday guests of Mrs. Pearson's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Bud Gill.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Egler during the past week included Mr. and Mrs. Bob DeVoe and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Oulett of Ecorse, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wagner of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Mary Test of Roseville, and Mr. and Mrs. James Egler and daughter Deanna of Riverview.

Mrs. James Smith returned recently after a two week visit with relatives in Detroit. She was accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Drost who were in Detroit for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Byers spent the weekend in Central Lake visiting her sister, Mrs. Donna Narro, and her nephew, Joseph Narro, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wells and daughter returned recently to their home in Hartford, Conn., after spending a week with Mr. Wells' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reich have returned home after touring several areas of the Upper Peninsula visiting friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. John Noon and children of Rochester, N.Y., are spending a week visiting the Tom LaBlance family.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce McDonough and children visited recently with the Buster Elms family in Ludington and the Robert McDonough family in Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Harold Withers and Mrs. John Swanson and daughter Barbara spent last week visiting friends in Grand Rapids and the Howard Stephens family in Allegan.

Mr. and Mrs. James Racignol and son left Sunday for Mt. Pleasant where Mrs. Racignol will continue her studies at Central Michigan University and do practice teaching at Ithaca. Mr. Racignol will assume a position teaching in the McBain Public schools.

Visiting at the home of Mrs. James Smith during the past several days were her brother-in-law Doc Grotcher of Camarillo, Calif., and her brother, Henry C. Powers of Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack DeWildt and family of Wyoming, Mich. visited during the past weekend with her mother Mrs. C.B. Meggison.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Smith drove their daughter Leigh Ann to Grand Rapids last weekend where she will resume her studies at Aquinas College. They were accompanied to Grand Rapids by Robert Pearl who visited with his daughter, Suzanne, and family.

Mrs. D.B. Silberman returned to Chicago last Wednesday after spending the summer at her Michigan-ave. home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mol sr. were in Grand Rapids last week to attend the funeral of Mr. Mol's sister, Mrs. Anne Damstra. Later in the week they visited in Muskegon with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mol.

Brunet Gets B.S. Degree

Michael E. Brunet was among 170 seniors to receive degrees in summer commencement exercises Aug. 28 from Michigan Technological University at Houghton.

The son of CW04 and Mrs. Henry Brunet, 402 Park-ave., Brunet received a B.S. degree in mechanical engineering.

Along with his diploma, Brunet received his commission as a second lieutenant in the Army. He expects to go on active duty in January at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland.

Other area graduates include Darwin L. Brooks of Ellsworth who received an M.S. degree in mechanical engineering and Thomas K. Dressel of Boyne City who received an M.S. degree in business administration.

CG Seeks Academy Applicants

The United States Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., is accepting applications from qualified young men between 17 and 22, who will be high school graduates by June 30, 1971, for admission to the Nation's smallest Service Academy.

Deadline for applications is December 15, 1970.

On a 100 acre site in historic New England, the Coast Guard Academy offers a four-year education and a commission in the Nations oldest continuous seagoing service.

The Coast Guard is the smallest (39,000 plus) of the five Armed Forces, and boasts a long heritage of humanitarian service to persons and property of all nations.

Interested students should contact their high school guidance counsellor or nearest Coast Guard recruiting office for details.

The Coast Guard Academy's entrance examination is the College Entrance Board Tests. There are no congressional appointments or state quotas.

Michigama Wins Phone Rate Hike

The Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce has approved rate increases totaling $477,374 for two independent telephone companies.

Both utilities–Michigama Telephone Co. and Michigama Western Telephone Co.–are subsidiaries of Continental Telephone Co. of St. Louis, Mo., the nation's third largest independent telephone holding company.

The PSC approved a $405,364 rate hike for Michigama which will be spread among the telephone company's nearly 20,000 customers in 21 Lower Peninsula counties, including portions of Charlevoix County.

Michigan Western was granted a $72,010 annual increase in revenue. It serves 4,100 customers in four counties.

The PSC said both utilities have experienced substantial increases in expenses for wages, property taxes and other costs in recent years and needs additional revenue to finance improvements and expansion of their service.

The Commission directed both utilities, which have their headquarters offices in Pinconning, to file new rate schedules to accomplish the increase in revenue. The new rates must be approved by the PSC.

Fish Report

Following is the West Michigan Tourist Association's weekly fishing report for the first week in September for the Charlevoix area:

Excellent lake trout fishing is reported in 90 to 120 feet of water from Nine Mile Point to Harbor Springs. Some coho also are being taken.

Booklets List Color Tours, Fishing Hints

The Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce has published and is distributing free, two new promotional pamphlets.

"Petoskey Autumn" maps out four color tours in the area with various highlites outlined. From September 20 through the last of October, the entire Top O'Mich area is a blaze of color.

"Sport Fishing Guide to Little Traverse Bay" is the other publication. In it are described the best methods of catching lake trout, steelhead, coho and northern pike as well as when to catch them.

Camping facilities are outlined and a map of Little Traverse Bay showing depth, fishing and boat launching sites form a part of the pamphlet.

A request to the Petoskey Regional Chamber of Commerce, Box 306x, Petoskey, Mich. 49770, will bring a copy of both publications immediately.

PUBLIC ACT 150, which took effect Aug. 1, makes it possible for you to help save your favorite country lane from the inroads of civilization. All it takes is 25 signatures of residents of your township on a petition.

Your Favorite Roadway May Be Spared

Must all of our roads, in time, become paved thoroughfares 66 feet wide, the shoulders sprayed with defoliants several times a summer to kill plant growth?

Apparently not, according to the state Legislature.

Among the measures passed this year by that august body was Public Act No. 150, which took effect Aug. 1.

Under provisions of the act, the residents of any township in Michigan may petition their county road commission to have any segment of any local county road declared a "natural beauty road" and maintained "as is" for all time to come.

The act is a boon to nature lovers and others who enjoy the peace and quiet of a country lane to the zip and roar of paved highways. They are the folks who like to decelerate to a slow crawl to enjoy a glimpse of trailing arbutus, a door startled at his evening meal or a covey of partridge taking flight from a hedgerow.

The same sights can be enjoyed even more keenly afoot or from a bicycle seat.

Such roads are the rule, rather than the exception, in Charlevoix County and we are fortunate that the law was passed in time to preserve some of them for posterity.

A case in point is See-rd. from Boyne City-rd. to Lake Charlevoix. To the chagrin of some year-'round residents, the County Road Commission moved in this summer to widen and improve the road. Dozens of trees that had stood for a quarter century were uprooted and what was once a quiet, scenic drive is fast becoming a jet age thoroughfare.

Undoubtedly See-rd. will be easier to drive, and easier to maintain, when the work is done, but the people who use it daily feel that they have lost an intangible something that can never be replaced.

The machinery for having your favorite woodland trail declared a "natural beauty road" is relatively simple. Following are provisions of the act:

Any group of 25 or more freeholders of the township by petition may apply to the road commission for designation of a county local road or portion thereof as a natural beauty road.

Within six months after the petition is received, the commission shall hold a public hearing to consider designating the described road as a natural beauty road. At this hearing all parties or persons interested shall be given an opportunity to present their support for or objections to the proposed designation. Notice of the meeting shall be duly publicized.

Within 30 days after the hearing, if the commission decides the road should be declared a natural beauty road, it passes a resolution so stating and the resolution is filed with the county clerk.

If 51 percent of the property owners (based on lineal footage) object, they may ask to have the designation withdrawn. If the petition is valid, the designation will be dropped. The designation also may be dropped by the road commission after a public hearing.

The Department of Natural Resources is expected to draw up uniform guidelines to preserve native vegetation along the right-of-way of natural beauty roads relative to destruction or damage by cutting, spraying, dusting, salting, mowing or other forms of interference.

The Michigan Nature Association is behind the act 100 percent and is willing to work in any way with groups desiring to have their favorite road designated a natural beauty road. The association points out that petition signers need not live on the road to be so designated, but must own land in the township where the road is located.

The association further points out that 62,000 miles of the state's 88,000 miles or roadway are county local roads, eligible for the natural beauty designation.

For assistance in preparing your petition, write to Bob Kilgore, 2721 Military, Port Huron, Mich. 48060 or phone him at Area Code 313 YU 2-2301.

Clockwise

Snow and Colder

By BOB CLOCK

"What in the world is there to do the Charlevoix in the wintertime?" the sun-baked resorter asks as he packs his bags for his home in the city. "I mean, with all that snow and cold weather, what do you do to keep busy?

A good question, asked by dozens of visitors every summer when they strike up acquaintance with a year-'round Charlevoix residents.

I'm always tempted to say that Charlevoixans do the same that city people do, but that's not entirely correct. I suspect that all northern Michiganders do a lot more in winter than their brothers in Detroit and Chicago.

For one thing, there's high school sports. I don't imagine many city dwellers pay much attention to their high school gridders and cagers, unless they have a boy on the team.

In these parts it's a different story. Come football season, a good percentage of the populace will be up at Kipke field for every home game. And half of them will follow their team far and wide across the northern part of the state for the weekly Friday night frolic.

It's the same with basketball. The stands are jammed and you wouldn't believe the Friday night traffic between towns generated by basketball fans. I lived in Detroit 30 years and never saw such enthusiasm.

Of course we have other things besides sports to keep us busy, just like our kinfolk down below. The first norwester will be a signal for us to start thinking about getting the storm windows washed and installed.

Then, of course, the porch furniture has to be taken in and stored and Charlevoix has leaves aplenty in October just begging to be raked into piles and burned or bagged.

You can be sure there will be lots of loud and lusty coffee-table talk this fall about the Nov. 3 election which will see Michigan's one and only John Birch Society candidate, Richard Friske, attempting to gain a seat in the state Legislature. He'll find some stiff opposition in Democrat Peter Johnson and sticker candidate John Kujawaki, both of Boyne City.

Next January and February we'll have another political go-around prior to the city election. Charlevoixans are quite politically oriented, as are most small town residents, probably because they know most of the candidates personally. As a rule of thumb, the better they know them, the less likely they are to vote for them, which makes for some pretty heated politicking.

But there is more to Charlevoix in the off-season than high school sports, storm windows, dead leaves and politics.

Fall and winter are when we renew acquaintance with the friends and neighbors who have been too busy to do anything more than wave to all summer. In fact, Charlevoix has been accused of being a party town, and perhaps in a sense it is.

Christmas, of course, is the high-point of the off-season. Street decorations go up right after Thanksgiving and the shops are decorated to the hilt to attract Christmas shoppers.

School and church activities also reach fever pitch just before the holidays, what with parties, concerts, pageants and caroling.

Most of our winter activities, needless to say, center around the very things our summer visitors want to avoid—snow and cold weather.

We have our first snow about mid-November, but it usually melts. Along about Dec. 1, the snow stays, and stays and stays, turning Charlevoix into the kind of town you see on Christmas cards.

By mid-December, the skiing and snowmobiling are excellent. They are the two main participation sports in town until the end of March, or sometimes into April.

The ice rink at the Middle School is usually frozen in time for the Christmas holidays and the skaters turn out in force every evening.

The main body of Lake Charlevoix usually freezes over the first week in January and after a few nights of deep frost the ice is safe for skating, iceboating and fishing. The South Arm usually freezes over a few weeks earlier, to the delight of perch fishermen at Ironton.

Non-sportsmen get plenty of winter exercise keeping their sidewalks and driveways shoveled clean.

If Charlevoix gets any below zero weather, it comes after the first week in February when Lake Michigan freezes as far as the eye can see. In years past, sleighs traveled regularly between Beaver Island and the mainland and in more recent times adventuresome snowmobilers have made the trip across the ice. It is not recommended for the faint of heart.

"What do you do in Charlevoix in the wintertime?"

A better question would be what don't we do.

Big Rock Plays Role in Nuclear Tests

An odd-looking amphibious device to measure radioactive pollution from atomic power plants has been developed by two University of Michigan researchers.

A giant rubber tire–three-and-a-half feet tall and nearly four feet wide–dominates the unique monitoring system.

It offers huge improvements in speed and accuracy over conventional methods of monitoring radiation in soil and lake bottom sediment, according to the U-M researchers.

The tire, a modified version of an all-terrain type designed for heavy construction vehicles, contains a gamma radiation detector and is towed behind a truck or boat. An electrical cable connects the detector to analyzing equipment aboard the towing vehicle.

The system includes a self-contained power generator, and can provide both instantaneous readings and paper punch tape that can be fed directly into the U-M's computer for detailed analysis.

The monitoring system was designed and built by Phillip A. Plato and Dale Gelskey. Plato is an assistant professor of radiological health in the U-M School of Public Health. Gelskey is a doctoral student in radiological health and has graduate training in nuclear engineering.

Normally, their device works like a Geiger counter to measure the level of radioactivity present. But if researchers find a radioactive "hot spot," they can switch on other equipment that tells them exactly which isotope is causing the radiation.

Plato and Gelskey recently tested their device in Upper Lake Michigan near the Big Rock Point nuclear power plant at Charlevoix, Mich. The plant is owned and operated by Consumers Power Co.

Analysis of the data collected there will not be complete until the two U-M researchers finish calibrating their device. In a preliminary report, however, they say the survey found very little radioactivity that could have come from the atomic power plant.

The researchers did find small amounts of radioactive cesium–a man-made radioisotope–but suggest that it came from nuclear fallout and not the power plant. They said the cesium appeared in fairly even but small amounts throughout the area surveyed.

The heart of the new monitoring device is a gamma radiation probe developed by Dr. Gordon Riel of the naval Ordinance Laboratory in Silver Springs, Md.

The U-M researchers adapted Riel's probe for soil and sediment work by suspending it from an axle running between two steel "hub-caps" fitted on the all-terrain tire. The tire keeps the probe at a fixed distance above ground to insure even readings.

Compared to more conventional sampling methods of testing the environment for radiation, the U-M device is considerably more accurate and several times faster.

Typical sampling methods involve collecting small scoops of soil or lake bottom sediment for laboratory testing. Analyzing each sample can take several hours.

Over large areas, such sampling methods can become hopelessly slow unless the samples are widely separated, Prof. Plato said. He noted that a typical radiation survey of the Lake Michigan bottom, for example, involves samples taken eight miles apart. This approach results in a low-accuracy survey that takes several days to analyze.

In contrast, he said, the U-M device does its analyzing instantly. And because it can monitor a continuous path up to 10 feet wide, the system is more accurate than spot sampling methods.

Plato and Gelskey built their monitoring system with a $25,000 grant from the American Electrical Power Service Corp. (AEP) of New York. AEP is building the Donald C. Cook nuclear power plant on lower Lake Michigan near Benton Harbor, Mich.

The U-M researchers plan a complete radiation survey of soil and sediment near the Cook plant in September.

Loan Plan To Benefit Farm Kids

Senator Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) today announced that the Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corporation has received federal approval to establish an educational loan program.

"The program will provide loans of up to $1,000 a year at six percent interest to children of families which receive some income from farming," Hart said.

"The amount of an individual loan will depend on the degree of need of the applicant," he explained.

Loans can be used for any type of continuing education program, Hart said.

Applications should be sent to: Mr. Nyle Katz / Executive Director / Michigan Rural Rehabilitation Corporation / 150½ West Michigan Avenue / Marshall, Mich. 49068.

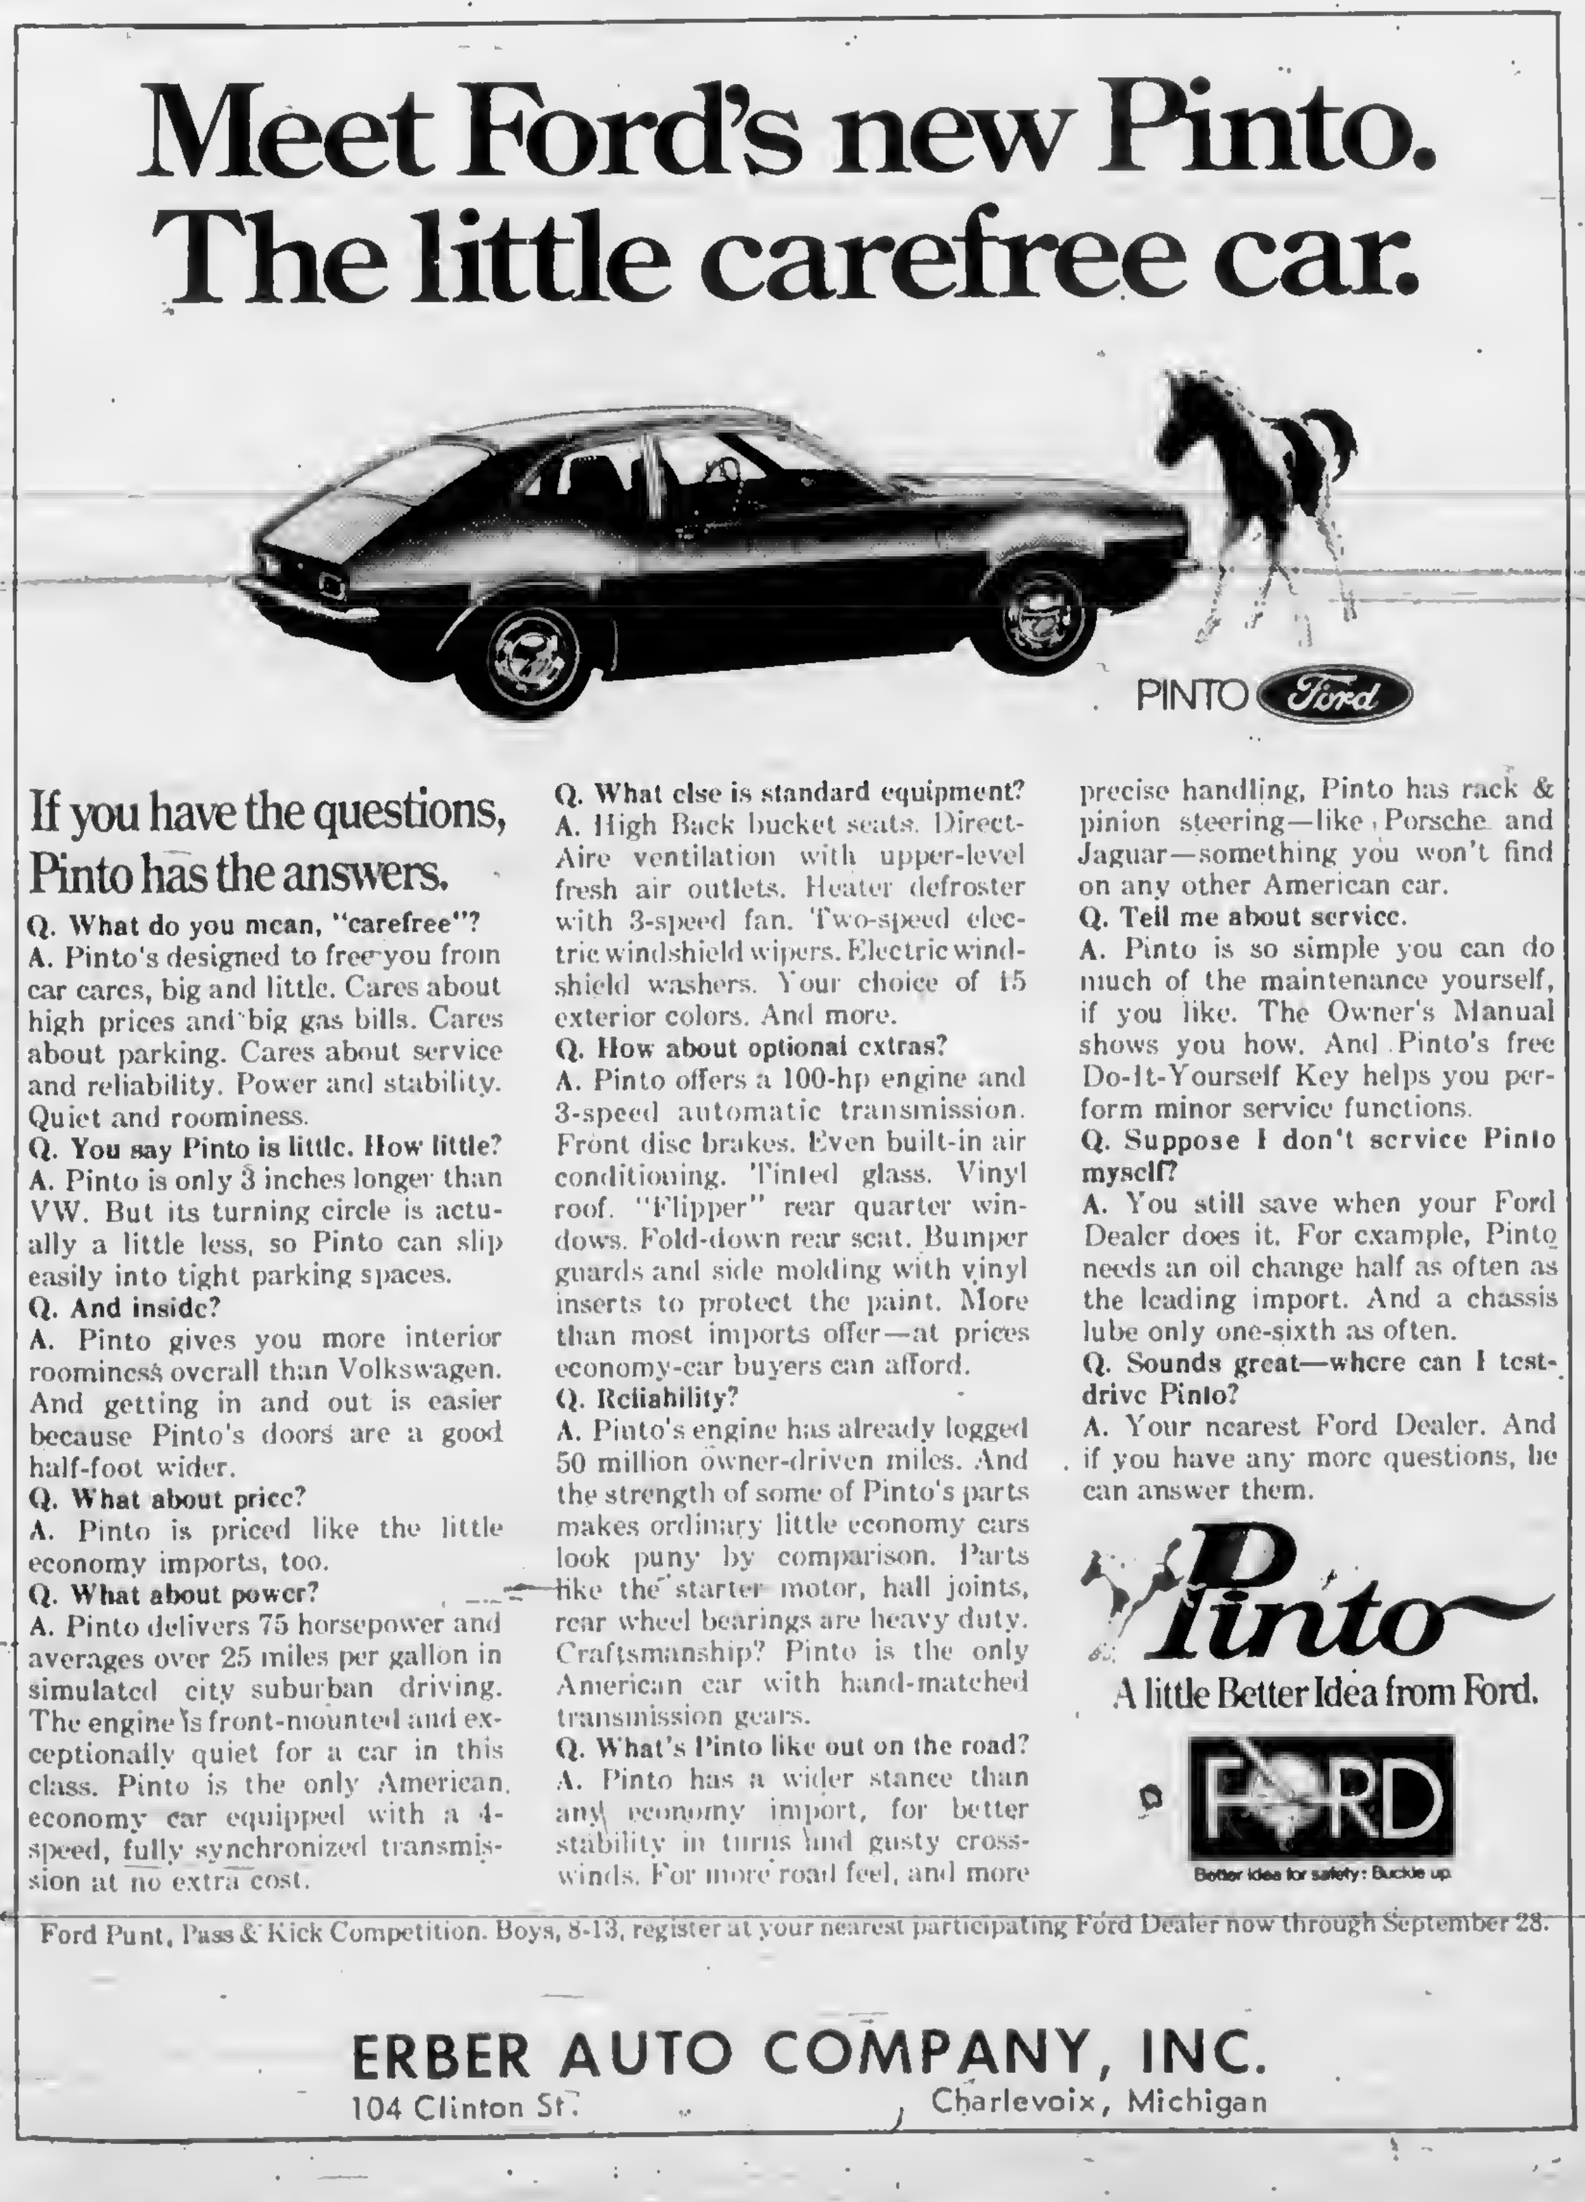
Hart praised the initiative of the corporation's board of directors "in finding a creative way to help the children of farm families."

The corporation was founded in 1933 to help rehabilitate poor farm families. These activities were assumed by the Farmers Home Administration in 1947.

However, the corporation, by keeping administrative expenses to a minimum and by reinvesting its unused funds, built savings of about $900,000.

Last December, the board of directors, headed by Floyd Mattheessen, of Benton Harbor, president, voted to investigate ways "to put the money to good use."

The board came up with the idea of the educational loan program, and last week the Farmers Home Administration, which must approve any major expenditure, gave the plan its approval.



Meet Ford's new Pinto. The little carefree car.

PINTO Ford

If you have the questions, Pinto has the answers.

Q. What do you mean, "carefree"?
A. Pinto's designed to free you from car cares, big and little. Cares about high prices and big gas bills. Cares about parking. Cares about service and reliability. Power and stability. Quiet and roominess.
Q. You say Pinto is little. How little?
A. Pinto is only 3 inches longer than VW. But its turning circle is actually a little less, so Pinto can slip easily into tight parking spaces.
Q. And inside?
A. Pinto gives you more interior roominess overall than Volkswagen. And getting in and out is easier because Pinto's doors are a good half-foot wider.
Q. What about price?
A. Pinto is priced like the little economy imports, too.
Q. What about power?
A. Pinto delivers 75 horsepower and averages over 25 miles per gallon in simulated city suburban driving. The engine is front-mounted and exceptionally quiet for a car in this class. Pinto is the only American economy car equipped with a 4-speed, fully synchronized transmission at no extra cost.
Q. What else is standard equipment?
A. High Back bucket seats. Direct-Aire ventilation with upper-level fresh air outlets. Heater defroster with 3-speed fan. Two-speed electric windshield wipers. Electric windshield washers. Your choice of 15 exterior colors. And more.
Q. How about optional extras?
A. Pinto offers a 100-hp engine and 3-speed automatic transmission. Front disc brakes. Even built-in air conditioning. Tinted glass. Vinyl roof. "Flipper" rear quarter windows. Fold-down rear seat. Bumper guards and side molding with vinyl inserts to protect the paint. More than most imports offer—at prices economy-car buyers can afford.
Q. Reliability?
A. Pinto's engine has already logged 50 million owner-driven miles. And the strength of some of Pinto's parts makes ordinary little economy cars look puny by comparison. Parts like the starter motor, ball joints, rear wheel bearings are heavy duty. Craftsmanship? Pinto is the only American car with hand-matched transmission gears.
Q. What's Pinto like out on the road?
A. Pinto has a wider stance than any economy import, for better stability in turns and gusty cross-winds. For more road feel, and more precise handling, Pinto has rack & pinion steering—like Porsche and Jaguar—something you won't find on any other American car.
Q. Tell me about service.
A. Pinto is so simple you can do much of the maintenance yourself, if you like. The Owner's Manual shows you how. And Pinto's free Do-It-Yourself Key helps you perform minor service functions.
Q. Suppose I don't service Pinto myself?
A. You still save when your Ford Dealer does it. For example, Pinto needs an oil change half as often as the leading import. And a chassis lube only one-sixth as often.
Q. Sounds great—where can I test-drive Pinto?
A. Your nearest Ford Dealer. And if you have any more questions, he can answer them.

Library Notes

Important new titles in the library have varied interests, but the first two books mentioned will appeal to almost everyone. "The Generous Years," by Chet Huntley has been long awaited by the millions of TV listeners to whom he became a household word. The years of which he writes began just before World War I and reached into the mid-1920's. The book is a warm, lyrical account of the popular commentator's early years of growing up on one of America's last frontiers—the prairies and towns of Montana at the time when traffic accidents were caused by runaway horses and education meant the one-room schoolhouse.

"Prime Time," by Alexander Kendrick, is the brilliant new biography of William R. Murrow, is a serious and informative book, well photographed and documented. "Prime Time" is an indictment of the commercial broadcast system and the laws that govern it. It is also a fitting tribute and memorial to broadcast news' foremost practitioner. What made Murrow so special? Certainly he couldn't ad lib a special event the way Cronkite can, or write news analysis any better than Eric Sevareid. He couldn't create the droll humor of a David Brinkley or a Harry Reasoner. Although he did all of these things well, what set him apart was his sense of involvement. He was able to engage at once not only his viewers but their consciences as well. The book captures that conscience and that involvement, and it's a fulfilling reminder for those who lived through that Prime Time.

"Once Around Lightly" by Robert St. John is included here because he was another of the important commentators of the days past. During the war years, the handsome, debonair St. John, with his rich voice broadcasting over NBC was as familiar to listeners as that of Keltenborn. Since the war years, he and his wife have circled the globe, equipped with typewriter, tape recorder and a keen sense of humor. This account of their adventures is a delightfully entertaining narrative, full of personal anecdotes and useful information. Mr. St. John tells which cities are worth visiting and which should be avoided; he gives specific information about food and transportation, and lists places of special interest for those with a zest for off-beat experiences.

"Pat and Roald," by Barry Farrell, is the story of Patricia Neal's extraordinary recovery from a series of massive strokes, and of her triumphant return to the acting career she feared she had lost forever. The book is an adventure of the mind and spirit, a portrait of a family's bravery in the face of a tragic illness. If Patricia Neal is the heroine, then Roald Dahl, her husband, is the hero, for he played as great a part in the miracle of her return to health as the doctors, nurses, therapists and friends who devoted themselves to her recovery.

OLD AND NEW faculty members in the Charlevoix School District gathered at the High School Thursday noon for a get-acquainted luncheon hosted by the Board of Education. After a meal of oven-fried chicken, mashed potatoes, giblet gravy, peas, tossed salad and cherry pie, each staff member was asked to give a brief biographical run-down on himself.

Homebuilding in Area Hits Record, FHA Aide Claims

Charlevoix, Antrim and Otsego counties have just enjoyed a record year of homebuilding and home improvement through credit service of the Farmers Home Administration, the agency's county supervisor, Ernest Schuette, reports.

Schuette reported that $921,000 was channeled into his three county district through 67 loans for better town and country housing during the fiscal year ended June 30. Loans the previous year totaled 27 for $345,000.

Farmers Home, a Department of Agriculture agency, supplements all other housing credit available in towns of up to 5,500 population and the rural countryside. Its service in the past year included 62 loans totaling $821,000 for purchase or improvement of individual family homes, and $100,000 in loans for five rental housing units. The loans provided better housing for an estimated 300 people in the three county area.

"The record for fiscal 1970 means that our housing service was 230 percent greater the past year," Schuette said. "This uptrend was directly opposite to the general national downtrend in housing activity."

Schuette added that the year begun July 1 appears certain to topple the record set in fiscal 1970. The agency is geared to virtually double its housing services again this year, with $1.4 billion in authority nationally to insure home loans for families of low and moderate income.

"Rural Areas have half of the nation's bad housing, and they now have half of the nation's housing goal for the 1970's," Schuette said.

"We expect the sharp uptrend in rural housing to continue. In the Farmers Home Administration, we fully expect to do our part in bringing rural housing up to modern standards for every family," he added.

Schuette said progress in rural housing has been speeded up through new authorizations put into effect by Farmers Home earlier this year. "We now make loans to rural homesite development organizations, and we work with rural builders to assure that homes they build on a multiple basis will meet quality standards for Farmers Home loan insurance."

The county supervisor asserted that the rural housing program is "one of the main channels pouring private capital into rural community progress." Farmers Home Administration insured loans serve families or organizations unable to secure home financing through other sources.

Eligibility covers people of low and moderate income, including senior citizens, in rural towns of not more than 5,500 people, plus farm and nonfarm residents of the countryside. If a loan cannot be covered by a local lending institution, Farmers Home advances the loan from a revolving fund, then finds a investor elsewhere to take over the government-insured loan note.

Loans are made in Antrim, Charlevoix and Otsego counties through the Farmers Home Administration office at Bellaire Office Plaza Building, Bellaire, Mich.

indoor convenience for outdoor people the all new destroilet.

Outdoor living is fun . . . especially when you can have those "at home" conveniences you're used to. The Destroilet dry sanitary toilet provides one of those conveniences in a small self-contained package that's perfect for installation in any remote location. Because it is self-contained it does not require costly septic systems, plumbing or holding tanks . . . it is this feature that makes it so popular with outdoor people.

Enjoy outdoor living . . . but not the inconveniences . . . install a Destroilet, the dry sanitary toilet that provides "at home" comfort and convenience anywhere

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega.
We also call it "the little car that does everything well."
Because it does.

Everything? Everything.

Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.

The wheelbase is 97 inches.

Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.

Width: a nice stable 5½ feet.

Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan.

Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110. (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)

Seating capacity: 4 adults.

What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.

Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kammback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.

All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handling Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

Mrs. Martin Is Honored

Mrs. Sue Martin of Charlevoix was named the "outstanding nursing student of the class of 1970" at commencement exercises recently at North Central Michigan College.

Mrs. Martin, the mother of seven children, received an engraved silver bowl along with the designation. She was selected to receive the honor by her classmates.

August Babies

Eight babies were born in Charlevoix County during August, the county clerk's office reports.

The infants bring the count for the year to 83, compared to 91 born in the first eight months of 1969.

The August, 1970 babies are:

Earl Place Miller III, born Aug. 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Miller jr. of Ellsworth.

Renee Lynn Allen, born Aug. 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larri Gilbert Allen of Morley.

Kerry Ann Hall, born Aug. 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill M. Hall of Boyne City.

Tobi Lynn Holtzman, born Aug. 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Holtzman of Charlevoix.

Lana Kay Halladay, born Aug. 21, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Earl Halladay of Central Lake.

Darwin Andrew Kile, born Aug. 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kile of East Jordan.

Paula Jayne Forton, born Aug. 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Joseph Forton of Williamsburg.

Leslie John Gates, born Aug. 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie John Gates sr. of Ellsworth.

A New Home for Special Ed.

Nurses Meet Sept. 10 at LT

The Northern Tri-County District Nurses will hold their regular meeting at Little Traverse Hospital cafeteria in Petoskey Sept. 10, 1970 at 8 p.m.

Speakers will be Dr. John Lipski, M.D., of the Area Mental Health Clinic, and Dave Fowler of the Medicine Chest in Petoskey.

All nurses in the Charlevoix Emmet and Otsego counties are welcome to attend.

THE LUV MACHINE
A GAS DRYER

GENTLY CARESSES
PERMANENT PRESSES

It's love; pure and simple, the first time you use The Luv Machine, a Gas dryer. And why not? A Gas dryer is so good to clothes. Leaves them soft, fresh-smelling. In fact, a special-setting gently caresses permanent press things so they don't need any ironing. And there's the way a Gas dryer saves money. Dries five loads of clothes for the price of one load in an electric dryer. Does a load up to 10 minutes faster, besides. Buy a Gas dryer at your appliance dealer's or Michigan Consolidated showrooms. You'll luv everything about it.

Obituary

Sister Rene

Word has been received of the death of Sister Rene Langlois, a former teacher at the Beaver Island School, on Aug. 8 at Blodgett Hospital in Grand Rapids.

The former Jeanne Langlois was born in 1916 in a French settlement in South Bay City and took her religious training at Marywood.

She taught elementary students in Saginaw, Chesaning, Beaver Island, East Tawas, Taylor and Merrill before she became a high school teacher in 1961. For the past four years she has taught French and religion at Catholic Central in Grand Rapids.

Sister Rene underwent surgery for an aneurysm Aug. 7 and died the following day.

Branch OK'd

Robert P. Briggs, state financial institutions commissioner, has approved an application by the Northwestern State Bank of East Jordan to establish a branch at 2489 Railroad-st., in the village of Boyne Falls.

Teacher Contracts

belong to the Charlevoix Education Association must pay an amount equal to membership dues to the association, the National Education Association and the Michigan Education Association.

"In the event that a teacher shall not pay such fee directly to the association, or authorize payment through payroll deductions...the board shall immediately cause the termination of employment of such teacher," the contract reads. "The parties expressly recognize that the failure of any teacher to comply with the provisions of this article is just and reasonable cause for discharge from employment."

The pact establishes the teachers' workday from 8:15 a.m. until 4 p.m., with a duty-free, uninterrupted lunch period of at least 45 minutes.

Teachers also are guaranteed "insofar as possible" a desk with a lockable drawer, closet, adequate chalkboard, copies of all texts he is to use, storage space for instructional materials and adequate attendance books, paper, pencils, pens, chalk, erasers and other materials required in the classroom.

They also are guaranteed adequate adult restrooms, lavatories and lounges where smoking is permitted.

Teacher-pupil ratios are set at 25 to one in the Middle and Elementary schools and 24 to one in the High School.

The contract provides teachers with 12 days of sick leave a year, cumulative to 100 days. They also will receive one personal business day a year, cumulative to three. Provision is made for four days leave for a death in the immediate family and one day per year to attend the funeral of someone outside the family. The contract also makes provision for leaves of absence for various reasons.

Teachers required in the course of their work to drive personal automobiles from one school building to another shall receive a car allowance of 10 cents per mile. The same allowance shall be given for use of personal cars for field trips or other business of the district. The board shall provide liability insurance protection in the amount of $10,000 when their personal automobiles are used.

A "Professional Study Committee" also is set up in the contract, composed of five members appointed by the Education Association and five appointed by the school board. The committee will work in the areas of discipline policy, teacher evaluation, curriculum and in-service training.

Low-Level Flights

Low-level training missions will cross Charlevoix County until Sept. 12, Lt. Col. Louis F. Wang reports.

Col. Wang, deputy commander–operations, for the 129th Special Operations Group training at the Phelps-Collins ANG Base at Alpena, said the flights are being conducted between 8 a.m. and 12 midnight. The flights started Aug. 29.

"Although our missions will be flown at low level, we will abide by the provisions of Federal Aviation Regulations," Col. Wang said. "Additionally, we will avoid overflying all populated or sensitive areas such as farms, hospitals, playgrounds and schools.".

The colonel said his unit uses propeller driven C-119 and U-10 aircraft with conventional reciprocating engines. Their airspeed ranges between 100 and 160 knots, eliminating the possibility of sonic booms.

The unit is part of the Hayward Air National Guard Base stationed at 1525 W. Winton-ave., Hayward, Calif.

Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen

Rev. L. Tenhopen Will Retire Feb. 1

The Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen, pastor of Charlevoix's First Congregational Church for the past six years, has notified the congregation by letter that he intends to retire from the ministry Feb. 1, 1971.

He called a special meeting of the congregation following the Sept. 13 service to accept his resignation and appoint a pulpit committee to seek a successor.

Rev. Tenhopen says his retirement plans are indefinite.

A native of Grand Rapids, Rev. Tenhopen attended grade school, high school and junior high school in Grand Rapids. He received his B.A. degree from the University of Chicago in 1927 and was graduated by the Chicago Theological Seminary in 1930.

While in seminary he was student pastor at Collbran, Colo., and Lyndon, Ill. At Lyndon, one of his parishioners was Mildred Shaw, whom he married in Grand Rapids in 1930.

Rev. Tenhopen was pastor of the Three Oaks Congregational Church for five years and of the South Haven Congregational Church for 30 years. The family moved to Charlevoix in 1965.

The Tenhopens have four daughters: Mrs. Marion (Carol) Esterly of South Haven, Mrs. John (Helen) Hanes of Silver Spring, Md., Mrs. Jack (Alice) Warfield of South Haven and Mrs. Ronald (Laura) Bussey of Rehoboth Beach, Dela., and six grandchildren.

While Rev. Tenhopen has been pastor, the Charlevoix Congregational Church has undergone an extensive expansion program.

Pollution Controls Delayed

The Charlevoix Township Board Monday night agreed to delay enacting amendments to its air quality code for the time being to allow Attorney Donald Berlage time to work out wording with William Troutman, secretary of the Medusa Portland Cement Co.

The decision to wait came after an exchange of letters between the township and Medusa officials during the past week.

Medusa was sharply critical of the proposed changes, which would have imposed a surveillance fee and reduced allowable stack emissions from .27 pounds of cement dust for every 1,000 pounds of stack gas to .15 pounds.

"If the proposed amendments are adopted without further consideration," Troutman had written the township "Medusa will have no alternative but to request a judicial review of such action. We strongly desire to avoid such course and to continue a cooperative effort to provide the best possible controls which take into account the legitimate interests of the public and industry."

Bernard Bloomfield of the state's air quality control office attended the township meeting. He said the state intends to start routine checks of the Medusa plant. Although he couldn't be pinned down to an exact date, he said monitoring would probably start within a month.

The township's amendments to the air quality code are more stringent than those of the state code, but township officials point out that Medusa's own tests indicate that Medusa's dust precipitators are operating "Three to six times lower than the proposed reduced emission level."

"Serious questions arise as to your motive in now attempting to repudiate your own tests," the board wrote in answer to Medusa's letter.

In his original letter, Troutman said that the proposed amendments "would result in extreme economic hardship if applied to Medusa Portland Cement Company without accomplishing any significant benefit to the public."

in reply, the board said that the surveillance fee would amount to about $3,000 a year for Medusa.

"Does this sum constitute a 'severe economic burden'? " the board asked.

City Buys Medusa Site For Waste Water Plant

$700,000 Bond Vote Set Nov. 3

Charlevoix's proposed waste water treatment plant is closer to becoming a reality this week because of several steps taken by the City Council Monday night. The council:

--Accepted the deed to a 10-acre parcel of land on the Lake Michigan shore for the proposed facility, the engineers' No. 1 site selection. The property was sold to the city by Crescent Stone Co. (Medusa Portland Cement Co.) for $10,000 to be paid over three years at eight percent interest.

–Agreed to put a request for $700,000 in general obligation bonds on the Nov. 3 ballot. The money will represent the city's 50 percent share of the project.

–Accepted a state grant of $642,500 and a federal grant of $64,250 toward the estimated cost of the treatment plant.

–Agreed to retain Miller Canfield Paddock and Stone of Detroit as bonding attorneys and Kenower, McArthur & Co. of Detroit as financial consultants.

The federal and state grants are based on an estimated cost of the project of $1,285,000, although engineers now estimate the plant may cost as much as $1,565,000. It is anticipated that the two grants will be increased accordingly, depending on the actual cost of the facility.

Land acquisition was the big bottleneck in development plans to date. Medusa originally said it would relinquish the property only if it could be traded for property of equal value. When additional property could not be obtained, the company agreed to sell, although Medusa is still amenable to a trade if one can be worked out.

The proposed waste water treatment plant will replace the present facility near the city dock on Round Lake, which will be converted into a pumping station and mechanical grit chamber.

It is part of a state-wide plan to clean up Michigan's waterways by eliminating the introduction of sewage or waste water heavy in nutrients, as is the case with the present Charlevoix plant.

The new plant will consist of two primary settling tanks, two aeration tanks, two final settling tanks, micro strainer, primary digestor, secondary digestor, sludge drying beds and phosphate removal equipment.

Water discharged from the plant into Lake Michigan should be pure enough to drink, according to engineers.

Mayor William Fochtman has recommended that the city is $700,000 general obligation loan be repaid over a period of 15 years, rather than 20, if at all possible.

He said at 6.5 percent interest, financing charges would come to $409,000 over 15 years, compared to $559,000 over 20 years, a savings of $150,000.

At 6.5 percent interest, he said, residents could expect a tax hike ranging from 5.32 mills to 6.88 mills, varying according to the repayment schedule.

At six mills, the resident whose property carries an evaluation of $6,000 would be assessed an additional $36 a year, or $3 a month, he said.

Fochtman said he is hopeful that with Charlevoix's present credit rating and the condition of the bond market, the city should be able to sell the bonds for less than six percent.

In other business the council:

–Agreed to a division of Jack Goldman's Michigan-ave. property into two lots.

–Gave Nathan Boss and Robert Hoffman permission to erect storage sheds on their property, five feet in from the back line. Shed construction is not covered in the zoning ordinance.

–Notified the Chamber of Commerce that as much as the city appreciates the chamber's efforts to improve and expand city docks, the city is unwilling to relinquish control of the docking area. The chamber had asked to take over the dock area and build finger piers to accommodate more boats. The project would be financed by the city.

–Prohibited parking on the east side of Michigan-ave., effective Oct 5.

Buy Lot For Bldg. Trades

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, approved the purchase of a lot in Hampton Court for $3,500 as the site for a house to be constructed by the new Building Trades Class.

The lot, which will allow sewer and water from May-st., was one of two offered for the same price. The second was the Erber lot on Carson-ave., which would have meant installing a septic tank.

The board also gave its approval to Richard Donaldson's suggestion that the board take an option on a second lot if it can be purchased at the same price.

A brief review of the audit report (to be published later) showed a cash balance of $2,726.24 at the end of the fiscal year.

Monday, Oct. 12, was set as the date of the preliminary budget hearing. The budget committee will meet later this month to work on it.

In other action, the board approved the food service employe's salary as presented; gave its approval to a group to use two buses to transport 83 Little League players to Detroit to see a ball game with the stipulation that they pay the drivers, the insurance and other expenses; voted to continue the contract

Police Chief Smith Dies Unexpectedly

Joseph L. Smith, 56, Charlevoix's chief of police for the past 13 years, died unexpectedly Sunday, Sept. 13, while visiting at the home of his son in Okemos.

The funeral was scheduled for 2 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 15, at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Joseph L. Smith

All city offices and most businesses were closed during the hours of the funeral to allow city employes to pay their last respects.

Chief Smith was born June 20, 1914, in Charlevoix and lived here all of his life, with the exception of a tour of duty with the U.S. Army during World War II.

He was married to the former Wilma Bellinger in Charlevoix Oct. 1, 1932.

He joined the Charlevoix Police Department in the late 1930's and became chief in 1957 upon the death of Clarence Heise.

Chief Smith was a member of Charlevoix Lodge 282, F&AM; the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club; the Michigan Police Chief's Association; and the Northern Michigan Law Enforcement Association.

He joined the Charlevoix Police Department in the late 1930's and became chief in 1957 upon the death of Clarence Heise.

He is survived by his widow; two sons, Dwight W. of East Jordan and Joseph D. of Okemos; a daughter, Mrs. Jerry (Barbara) Shupert of Charlevoix; one brother, Dwight L. of Charlevoix and six grandchildren.

Graveside services were under the auspices of Charlevoix Lodge 282, F&AM.

Rental Data

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is preparing a booklet on rental property in the Charlevoix area which will be mailed to persons requesting such information.

If you have rental property and would like to be included in the booklet, fill out the handy form which appears on Page 9 of this week's Courier and mail it to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

Democrats Plan Meeting

The Charlevoix County Democratic Committee will meet at the community room of the city hall here at 8 p.m. Thursday.

It will be the first meeting for the recently named chairman, Clement C. Wagner.

Bell Asks to Raise Telephone Rates

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has filed new statewide rate schedules designed to produce $14.8 million in additional revenue authorized by the State Public Service Commission. This is the first general rate increase for the company in over ten years.

The proposed rates will not become effective until approved by the commission.

"Every effort has been made to simplify the new rate structure so that rates may be more easily understood by customers," said Kenneth T. Harrold, of the Petoskey Michigan Bell office which serves the Charlevoix area. "The new rates also are designed so that customers pay on the basis of the amount of service and facilities they actually use," he said.

Harrold said the new rates obviously will result in higher phone bills for most customers. However, by streamlining rates and making them more flexible, he added, the company is seeking to have charges relate more closely to customer usage.

Major features of the new rates include a discount to customers for dialing their own long distance calls, the dropping of the three-minute initial period for long distance calls with Michigan with all such calls being charged by the minute - and a uniform $9 charge for installing, moving or changing service, including customer initiated number changes. This is the first statewide use of the one-minute charge for all intrastate long distance calls.

The new long distance rates in Michigan range from five cents a minute for calls below 20 miles up to 35 cents a minute for calls over 200 miles. Customers dialing their own calls will receive a discount of 20 percent on weekdays from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sundays from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. A 40 percent discount will be given at all other times and on certain holidays, Christmas, New Year's, July 4, Labor day and Thanksgiving.

There is no discount where operator work is required to handle station calls, except in a few areas where customers cannot dial their own long distance calls.

For person-to-person calls there is a 50 cent additional charge for each call to help cover the extra costs involved. Fewer than five percent of long distance calls within Michigan are now person-to-person.

The new proposed one-party residence rates will be $4.25 a month as compared to the old rate of $3.85. Other rate changes include $3.25 for two-party residence, from the present $3.10, $2.75 for four-party residence, against the present $2.50, and $3.00 for residence budget service in place of the current $2.25.

The proposed one-party business rate is $8.50 instead of $7.55. The new charge for each trunk line will be $12.75. The present rate is $11.25. Two-party business service is being increased the same amount as one-party business service. Where they now apply, rural residence and business rates remain unchanged.

The various current installation, connection and move charges will be replaced by one uniform charge of $9. For residences, this generally covers all the work done at one time. For business firms, the charge applies to each PBX trunk, each line for key telephones and each phone at the time it is installed, moved or changed. Restoring service discontinued for non-payment of bills will be $5 instead of the present $1.

The company is reducing the monthly instrument charges on some equipment. The present monthly charge of 75 cents for princess telephones becomes 60 cents. Special telephones for impaired hearing and impaired speech are reduced to 75 cents a month from the current $1 and $1.25. The uniform service charge replaces the present one-time extra charges for color sets, long cords, princess and trimline sets and touch-tone service.

Mrs. Terry L. Cummings

Williams-Cummings Nuptials Solemnized

Garlands of white carnations and greens decorated the altar of the Ironton Congregational Church Saturday evening for the wedding of Rebecca L. Williams and Terry L. Cummings.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. H. Lloyd Cummings.

The Rev. William Harmon officiated at double ring service in the presence of more than 200 guests. Mrs. Wayne Saunders, at the organ, played a program of traditional music and accompanied the soloist, Mrs. Doyle Warner.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor-length gown of white slipper satin fashioned by her mother for her wedding. Designed with an empire waist, the bodice had a stand-up collar and bell sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a detachable train. Lace medallions embroidered with rhinestones and seedpearls secured her fingertip veil. She carried a bridal bouquet of white daisy mums.

Mrs. Ronald L. Cox, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor and Debra J. Williams was her sister's bridesmaid. They wore identical empire gowns of royal blue and light blue satin, respectively. Their hair ribbons matched their gowns and they carried bouquets of blue and white daisy mums.

Mr. Cox assisted his brother-in-law as best man and Daniel Louiselle served as groomsman. Herbert L. Cummings, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald Finley seated the guests.

Mrs. Williams selected a navy and white ensemble and navy accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her custume was complemented with a corsage of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. Cummings, mother of the bridegroom, wore a sheath of yellow crepe and chiffon and matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses and white carnations.

The VFW Post Home was the site of an evening reception that included music for dancing by the Warner orchestra. Parents of the couple hosted the event.

After a wedding trip around Lake Superior, the couple is residing at RR 2, Charlevoix.

Four generations of the bride's family were present at the wedding including the bride, her mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Richard E. Russell and great-grandmother, Mrs. V.A. Orvis.

Both are graduates of the Charlevoix High School. The bride is employed at Freedman Artcraft Corp. and the bridegroom, at Tri-City Concrete, Inc.

Wedding guests were present from Chicago, Phoenix, Ariz., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Flint, Detroit, Royal Oak, Alto, Traverse City, Dorr, Petoskey and Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Cummings hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home Thursday evening.

Chevy Tells Prices On 4 Vega Models

Chevrolet Motor Division has announced the list price for its Vega 2300, the new small car which went on sale Sept. 10.

The list prices for the three passenger car models are $1,950 for the two-door sedan; $2,050 for the hatchback styled sports coupe; and $2,175 for the sporty two-door station wagon. In addition, a Vega panel express truck will be offered at a list price of $1,950.

The announced prices do not include federal, state and local taxes, destination charges and dealer preparation charge.

The Vega does include as standard equipment many features which are exclusive in its field. Among these are power-flow ventilation for passenger comfort, steel side-guard beams in the doors, advanced double-panel roof construction and new full foam molded seats in both the front and rear which provides added passenger comfort.

Front disc brakes are standard on the Vega, as is a new lightweight overhead cam 4-cylinder engine specially designed and built in America to meet the performance needs of this nation's drivers while at the same time offering excellent fuel economy for cars of its class.

The Vega is longer and wider and offers greater shoulder and leg room than some of the popular selling imports. It provides greater passenger comfort and offers more trunk space. A specially designed front suspension and steering system offers high cornering ability.

Warmwater Fish Regulations
(State-wide)

The Natural Resources Commission, under Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, rescinds the order of September 5, 1968, and orders that for a period of five years beginning October fifteen, 1969, it shall be unlawful to catch or attempt to take in any manner the following named species except during the open seasons prescribed and within the maximum daily limits designated:

State-wide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from May thirtieth through December thirty-first on largemouth and smallmouth bass; May fifteenth through all of February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The size limit on sauger will be thirteen inches. The daily possession limit shall be five singly or in combination for largemouth and smallmouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; one for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge), and ten for white bass.

The above regulations apply except that walleyea, muskellunge, and northern pike may be taken in that upper portion of Lake Huron known as Whitney Bay, Pike Bay, Island Harbor, Les Cheneaux Channels, Potagannissing Bay, and certain waters on the south side of Drummond Island from May first through March thirty-first of each year; that bass may not be taken on Lake St. Clark, St. Clair and Detroit rivers before the last Saturday in June of each year; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December fifteenth of each year.

Approved September nineteenth, 1969.

Hospital Chief Has Pharmacy Degree

James Murray will take over his new duties as administrator of Charlevoix Hospital beginning Oct. 1.

James Murray

He will succeed Rollie Dudik who is leaving to accept employment with Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp.

Murray has more than 10 years hospital experience. For the past five years he has been administrative assistant at Community Memorial Hospital in Cheboygan. Before that he worked for Midland Hospital in Midland, Mich.

Murray, 34, is a graduate of Lake City High School in Lake City, Mich., and received his B.S. degree in pharmacy from Ferris State College.

In Cheboygan, he was active in the Lions Club, Youth United Fund programs and Little League. He also was a neighborhood Boy Scout commissioner.

Dudik, who has been hospital administrator for 16 months, announced his resignation at a joint meeting of the hospital's board of directors and medical staff Aug. 18.

During his administration at Charlevoix Hospital, Dudik saw many changes in the hospital system which included such things as Doctors of Osteopathy admitted to the staff, a more functional and effective outpatient and emergency department established, recertification by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, development of on-line systems with other hospitals in the handling of very expensive and critical procedures, the development of a bank financing system for accounts receivable and the computerization of many facits of accounting.

Dudik says that the most outstanding development that had transpired during his tenure is that of strong middle management. The department heads and their personnel have created a precision health care team. This was able to be accomplished only through the efforts of all of the employes working together, with the patients' needs their goal.

Dudik says he is very much interested in working to assure that the Charlevoix Hospital shall become an integral part of an area health delivery system.

MSU Confers Degrees on 3

Three Charlevoix students were among 2,669 who received degrees at the conclusion of Michigan State University's summer term.

Condit Drury, 501 Meadow Lane, received his M.A. in elementary education; Clio B. Fisher, 208 Alice-st., received his B.A. in English; and William J. McCann, 706 Bridge-st., received his B.A. in advertising.

The MSU total included 1,476 B.A. degrees, 942 M.A. degrees, 252 doctorates and 28 educational specialist degrees.

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug The Billion Dollar Beer Mug plays an important role in helping keep the American economy on the move, strong and dynamic! Before beer reaches the consuming public it employs 60,000 workers in the brewing industry alone and 1 million in collateral and support businesses and industries, paying $1.5 billion in state and federal excise taxes, over $2.7 billion in wages to employees, and distributors, and $1 billion for agricultural products and packaging. In Michigan and throughout the nation beer is good business.

Grandview News

New patients at Grandvue are Mr. Frank Behling of Boyne City and Mrs. Anna Czerkis of Boyne Falls.

We were saddened by the death of Marie Droz, formerly of Boyne City, who had been a resident here since Sept. 11, 1967. Mrs. Droz died Aug. 22.

The Charlevoix County Department of Social Services was host chairman of the State Convention of the Michigan Department of Social Services Association, which was held from Tuesday, Aug. 25 through Friday, Aug. 28 at Boyne Mountain. Assisting from Grandvue were Mrs. Hilda Watkins and Mrs. Irene Behling. This convention is held yearly at different locations throughout the state, and Charlevoix County was pleased to host the convention this year. Approximately 600 members and guests attended the four-day meeting.

The Charlevoix County Ministerial Association held a "get acquainted" meeting at the facility Aug. 27. New pastors welcomed to this meeting were Rev. R. Bruce Pierce, Boyne City United Methodist Church; Rev. Durwood Mayle, Free Methodist Church, Boyne City, and Rev. Lester Priest, United Methodist Church of East Jordan. Other area pastors attending the meeting were: Rev. Seward Walton, president; Rev. Albert Mansen, Rev. John Morken, Elder Walton Fritz, Rev. James Larsen, and Rev. Marcus Krake.

Miss Mary Ellen Buckley, consultant nurse of the Division of Health Facilities, Standards and Licensing, Department of Public Health, spent Sept. 1 at Grandvue, consulting with Mrs. Watkins and Mrs. Robertson, director of nurses.

We are very pleased to welcome Mrs. Wanda Huckle to Grandvue. Mrs. Huckle has taken the position of physical therapy aide and is doing a fine job in helping patients with their physical therapy program. Mrs. Renate Smith, physical therapy consultant, has been visiting twice a week to help Wanda learn the proper tehcniques and offer her assistance with the patients.

Patients celebrating September birthdays are: Ida Rose, Sept. 1; Ben Palmer, Sept. 9; Marie Tuhy, Sept. 10; Esther Neff, Sept. 13; Charles McGeorge, Sept. 18 and Moses Watson, Sept. 29.

Mrs. Mabel Stanton's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Beckwith of Toledo, Ohio, visited her over Labor Day. Mr. Ben Palmer was also visited by his two daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Stasik of Holt, Mich., and Mrs. Irene Bowen of Lansing.

It is Fair Time all over Michigan, and Grandvue is not to be outdone. On Sept. 8, Rose Nemec and Glennie Green held a big fair here for the residents, complete with fruits and vegetables, balloons, games, and lots of other things that go along with fairs. One of the main attractions was a ball throwing contest, and prizes were given for the ones who hit a balloon with the ball. Needless to say, everyone ended up with a prize! It was lots of fun for all.

September 9 was Ben Palmer's birthday, and Rose Nemec and Betty Boswell assisted at a birthday party for him. Ben's wife and friend, Mrs. Ted Hamilton, were honored guests at the "all men" party. Ben was crowned King of the Day by Rose, wearing a beautiful black velvet crown throughout the festivities. The table was set in a birthday motif, complete with ice cream and cake, and songs were sung and games played, much to the delight of all present. Ben received many nice gifts and cards, and was very pleased with his party.

Judy Miller, nurse's aide here, was married Sept. 8 to William Foster of Boyne City. Judy and Bill will make their home in Boyne City.

Ida Bouchard, a resident at Grandvue, served as Matron of Honor at the marriage of her sister, Mrs. Gladys Wheaton, to Mr. John Titsworth of Boyne City, on Sept. 8.

Although figures are not yet complete, a recent tabulation shows that Grandvue Auxiliary's Tag Day netted in the vicinity of $1800.

Ironton

Twenty lady friends were luncheon guests last Wednesday of Mrs. Ada Alderson at the home of her sister, Mrs. Pauline Canfield, honoring the latter's birthday anniversary.

Cindy Ouderkirk has returned to her school duties in Springfield, Mo., after spending three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ouderkirk.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll and family enjoyed a camping trip the past holiday weekend at the Antrim County Park at Eastport. Their son Steven of Lansing joined them for the holiday.

Mike Bennett has returned home after spending several days in Little Traverse Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Walker have returned home after several weeks visit with relatives in Germany. They also visited many other interesting places.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell have returned to their home in Bay City after spending the holiday weekend with Mrs. Pauline Canfield.

A beautiful wedding took place in our community church Saturday evening when Rev. Harmon united Rebecca Williams daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Williams and Terry Cummings son of Mr. and Mrs. H.L. Cummings of Charlevoix. The reception was held at the VFW Hall in Charlevoix following the ceremony. Becky is one of our local church girls. The newlyweds have the congratulations and very best wishes of our community.

We had a severe storm Wednesday night with wind, rain, thunder and lightning. Lightning struck a large elm tree back of the Enos Bacon home and tore it apart.

Mrs. Robert Wilson has not been with us this season. She is vacationing with her son John and family of Palo Alto, Calif., in Vancouver in the Province of British Columbia near Swartz Bay. We have missed the Wilson family as they have spent many summers in our community.

COMMON COUNCIL

August 31, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding. Aldermen present: Boss, Gill, Mol, and Sundberg.

Absent: Aldermen Westenbroek and Klooster.

The Minutes of the August 17, 1970 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book.

Enter Alderman Klooster.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce appeared before the Council suggesting the Chamber take over the operation and maintenance of the Charlevoix Harbor facilities; at the same time they presented the Council with a proposal for construction and financing of new dock facilities.

Moved by Alderman Boss and supported by Alderman Sundberg that the Clerk be authorized to execute on behalf of the City of Charlevoix the Platt of Richard Way for Westwood Sub-division.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Moved by Alderman Klooster and supported by Alderman Boss that the City ask for bids on water and sewer lines on Grant St., Robinson, Westwood, and Carpenter. Plans and specifications may be obtained at the office of the City Superintendent. Bids will be received until 8:00 p.m. EST, September 28, 1970.

The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids as is deemed to be in the best interest of the City.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Moved by Alderman Sundberg and supported by Alderman Klooster that the City accept the bid of Northland Construction for double sealing certain streets in the City of Charlevoix at a cost of .52 cents per square foot.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

RESOLUTION

Alderman Sundberg offered the following resolution, supported by Alderman Klooster.

WHEREAS Carl O. Olson, owner of Lot No. 48 of Eaton's Addition to the City of Charlevoix, has indicated that he wishes to divide said lot and convey that portion fronting on Eaton Street and,

WHEREAS the proper division of said lot would be of benefit both to the City of Charlevoix and to the lot owner in creating a new building lot where none had existed previously, and

WHEREAS the purpose of the Hampton Village Special Assessment District and the improvement of Leonard Street, was to create new and improved streets and roadways for the use and benefit of the abutting property owners and the public, and the creation of new building lots, by division of existing lots in the special assessment district, and,

WHEREAS it is important for the public health and welfare that lot division be supervised and controlled so as to facilitate the proper providing of utilities, and to maintain the requirements of Ordinance Number 203 being the Zoning Ordinance of the City of Charlevoix, the owners of lots within the special assessment district and outside the plat of Hampton Village are hereby encouraged to make application for division of lots.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that approval is granted by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix for the division of Lot No. 48 of Eaton's Addition to the City of Charlevoix into two lots, each being 132 feet in width and 149.9 feet in depth, being an equal north and south division of said lot.

Adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Gill, Klooster, Boss, Sundberg, and Mol.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

Moved by Alderman Sundberg and supported by Alderman Boss that motion of August 17, 1970 asking for bids on Insurance be recinded.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

The Finance Committee having examined bills totaling $48,579.22 find them correct and recommend they be allowed.

Moved by Alderman Gill and supported by Alderman Mol that the bills be allowed and orders drawn for their amounts.

Motion adopted by the following yea and nay vote.

Yeas: Aldermen Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Nays: None.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

On Motion the Council adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cull and family of Bay City have been visiting his aunt, Mrs. Grace Cole, his grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Cull, and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Left and family of Charlevoix visited here last week with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Barbara Adams (Pischner) from Utah visited her aunt, Mrs. Rita Gillispie, overnight Aug. 31. Rita went back to Charlevoix with her to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elston Pischner, who were on their way back to their home in Phoenix, Ariz.

Billy Gillispie from Chicago visited his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Gillispie, for the past ten days.

Mrs. Myrtle Ditlefson from Charlevoix came to attend the birthday party of Nonie Gallagher who celebrated her 90th on Sept. 1. The group also went to Rose Bonner's in the evening, as she celebrated her birthday on Sept. 1.

Joanne Gatliff from Chicago visited her grandmother Mrs. Mary Gatliff over holiday week.

Mrs. Sybil Larsen had as guests recently her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Souter from Holland. Other guests at her home this summer were Mrs. Nellie Smith of Charlevoix, Mrs. Gladys Pelletier of Charlevoix, her grandson and granddaughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Souter and family and some friends from Holland, and her nephew, Ron Sanborne, from Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Cull of Chicago and their small daughter Janet Lynn (who was born July 13) visited his mother, Mrs. Mabel Cull, for a couple of weeks.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell over the holiday weekend were their sons and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronny ODonnell from Detroit and Richie O'Donnell from Grand Rapids.

CHARLEVOIX oarsmen prepare to shove off aboard the U.S. Coast Guard's surfboat, a 26-foot Monomoy. From left are Dr. James Cunningham, Lt. Donald Luedke, commander of Group Charlevoix; Richard Tillen, director of the county's department of Social Services, and Tom Kohler. The men man the Monomoy's oars every Saturday morning at 8 p.m. The boat carries a crew of 10 and more volunteers are needed.

Norwood

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and son of Charlevoix called on Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lord Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ryder of Lansing called on Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cutler and daughters spent the weekend visiting their parents in Pentwater.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Holecheck of Elk Rapids called on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hull over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Parish and family visited friends in Kalamazoo over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner of Grand Rapids and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Wagner and son of Detroit spent a few days over the weekend with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wagner.

Mr. and Mrs. Rod Richardson and family spent the weekend with his sister Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skully and family in Cadillac.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Richardson called on Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCall in honor on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Richardson of Mount Pleasant spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Richardson.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Francis of Pontiac are spending a few days at their home here in Norwood.

ANY RESEMBLANCE between Lt. Donald Luedke and a gondolier in Venice is strictly coincidental. Luedke handles the tiller on the 26-foot Monomoy surfboat during a class for civilian oarsmen every Saturday morning. Coast Guardsmen use the boat during the week as part of their physical fitness program.

Most women who have changed to gas clothes dryers say, "For what one load used to cost, we now can dry five loads." And everyone says that the savings are substantial.

A gas dryer costs less to install, almost never needs repair, saves you money every time you use it.

Delicate fabrics get special treatment. Permanent press? You get no-iron results. And gas dries faster, more evenly. It doesn't bake the life out of your clothes. Or put new wrinkles in them. Your wash comes out soft and fluffy. Sunshine fresh. And white things stay white.

Gas makes the big difference and costs less too.

District Court

The following cases were heard last week in Charlevoix by District Court Judge W. Richard Smith:

John Durr, 22, Boyne Falls, was assessed $75 for reckless operation of a motor vehicle.

Joel Fortune jr., 27, Walloon Lake, was assessed $75 for reckless operation of a motor vehicle.

Michael Etienne, 20, and Richard Sikorski, 22, both of Charlevoix, and David Betz, 21, Hemlock, Mich., demanded examination on a charge of conspiring to sell a narcotic drug. Examination was set for Sept. 16. Bond in the amount of $5,000 was not posted.

Disorderly person charges against William Alan Mack, 18, Charlevoix, and William David Robertson, 21, Atlanta, were dismissed.

Everett S. Hadix, 18, Boyne City, was found guilty of careless driving and assessed $25.

Wayne Belding, Charlevoix, stood mute on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Bond of $100 was furnished and the trial was continued until a later date.

State Police Shifts Men

Trooper Grant W. Alm, 26, of the Petoskey State Police Post, has been transferred to Jackson, according to Col. Fredrick E. Davids, director.

He will be succeeded by Trooper James R. Alton sr., 32, formerly of the Jackson Post.

FROST WILL soon be on the pumpkin -- at the Charlevoix Post Office. An unknown benefactor stuck some pumpkin seeds into the planter outside the office this spring, right in there with the petunias and other flowering plants. The pumpkin vines have thrived, as this photo indicates. Anyone for pie, a la U.S. Post Office?

Public Wants Power Boats Off Jordan R.

The public would like to have the Jordan River closed to power boats, judging from sentiments expressed at a Department of Natural Resources' hearing on the problem Sept. 9 at the Charlevoix County Courthouse.

However, final action must come from the boards of commissioners of both Charlevoix and Antrim counties, according to James R. Walker, director of the DNR's Marine Safety Section.

Mrs. Thora Kotowich, Dr. David Pray and C.C. Walker, representing the Jordan River Watershed Commission, said power boats not only disturb a natural bird and game sanctuary on the banks of the river but also tear up weed beds and disturb trout cover.

Other objections to power boats on the river came from Ed Rebman, county extension agent, and representatives of the Sierra Club at Mackinaw City.

Barnard

Once again it is time for school busses to be coming down Barnard-rd. For the first time in 29 yeara there will be no one getting on the bus at our house. For years one bus took all children in our area and now there are three busses, all well loaded.

Deepest sympathy goes to Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Matchett and family on the loss of her mother, Mrs. Nellie Ranney, of East Jordan.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolliffee and girls of Grand Rapids visited the past two weeks with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Roberts.

Wedding congratulations go out to Terry Cummings and Becky Williams of Ironton who were married Sept. 5.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Harding of Alto spent the weekend with the Lloyd Cummings.

Rev. Rubenstein

Convert Tells His Story at Local Church

Rev. Hymie Rubenstein, a South African Jew who discovered who the Messiah was on his way to commit suicide, will speak at 7:30 p.m. every evening this week except Saturday at the Charlevoix Assembly of God.

These special meetings are open to all the public and will feature special music nightly with a gospel presentation, and the testimony by Rev. Rubenstein of how God changed his belief of who Christ is.

Rev. Rubenstein is now a resident of the United States of America, living in Lansing.

He says: "This was my first introduction to Christ. 'You dirty Christ killer, you Jews killed Christ.' The children in the school constantly reminded me that I killed and crucified a man by the name of Jesus Christ who was God's Son. I was hated for killing someone I had never met or known. I so much wanted to have school pals, but because of this man who called himself Jesus Christ I was being rejected and despised by his followers who called themselves Christians."

Rev. Rubenstein will be ministering in the services of Sunday, Sept. 20 at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Rev. Bob Rutledge says the public is welcome.

Larva Attacks Birches

A number of birch trees in the area have been affected by "birch skeletonizer" larva this summer, according to Jack Lockwood, area forester with the Department of Natural Resources at Boyne City.

Lockwood said the infestation does not affect the growth of the birches, but causes their leaves to dry up and change color earlier than normal.

The larva appears in late July and August, sucking the juices out of birch leaves, Lockwood said.

"By this time, the tree has achieved its growth for the year and no harm is actually done to the tree," he pointed out.

He added that birches used for landscaping may be sprayed to kill the larva, enabling the tree to keep its leaves longer.

An infestation of birch skeletonizer larva usually lasts two or three summers, before it is destroyed by a natural parasite, Lockwood reports.

He says the larva was reported in some areas of Charlevoix County last summer.

Birch skeletonizer damage has been reported at North Point, in the vicinity of Carp Lake and in the Boyne Falls area.

Seaman King Aboard Ship

Navy Seaman Thomas P. King, 1031 May-st., Charlevoix, departed Norfolk, Va., on Aug. 27 for the Mediterranean aboard the fast combat support ship USS Seattle.

By means of the latest ship-to-ship transfer systems, the Seattle will transfer over nine million gallons of liquid fuels and five thousand tons of cargo, ammunition and missiles to ships operating with the Sixth Fleet.

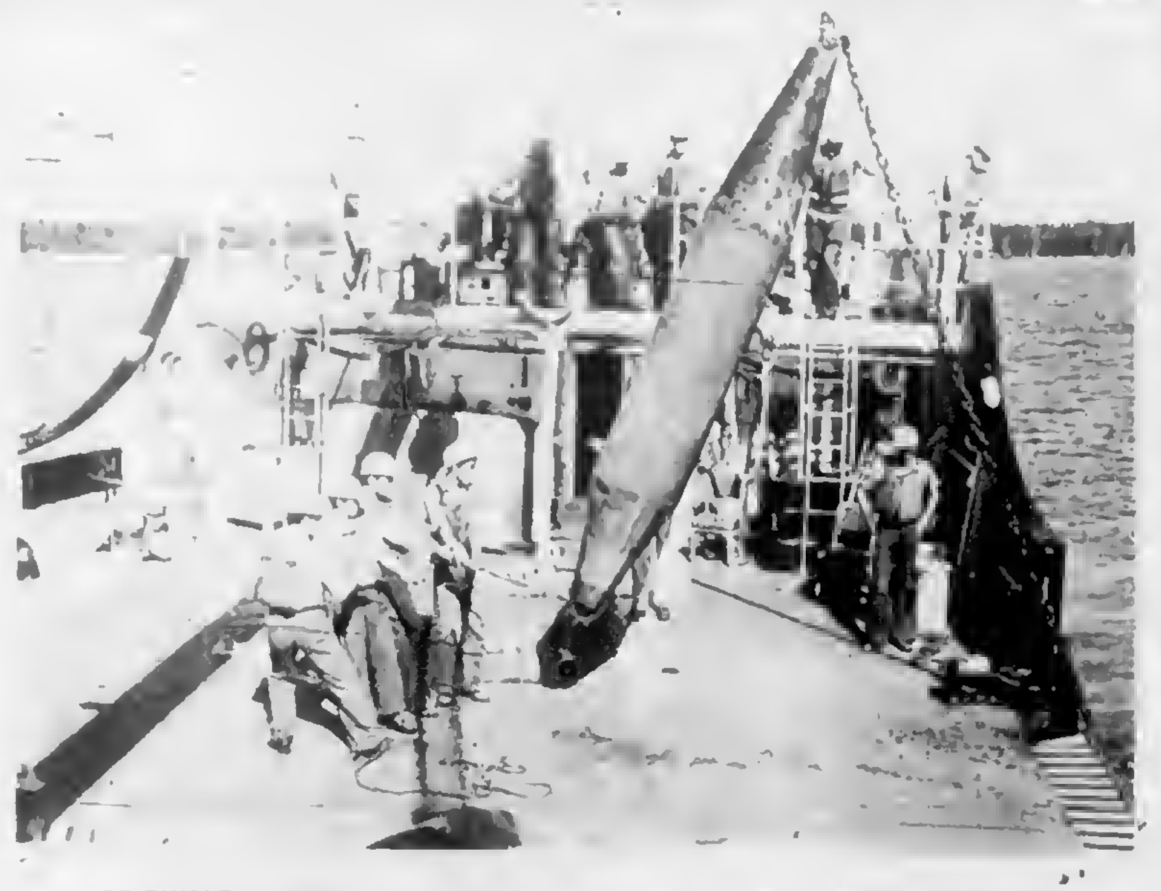
Sundew Services Beaver Buoys



CREWMEN aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Sundew made their annual inspection of buoys in the St. James harbor on Beaver Island last Wednesday. Here, the ship's crane lifts buoy onto deck.

BUOYS WERE scrubbed, repainted and outfitted with reflectorized tape during their brief stay aboard the Sundew. Then they were lowered back into the lake and towed to their moorings by the Sundew's cargo boat, Sun II.

Police Chief Joe Smith

Charlevoixans were saddened to learn of the unexpected death of Police Chief Joe Smith over the weekend.

A native of Charlevoix, Smith had devoted his life to police work. He joined the Charlevoix force in the late 1930's and remained on the force until his death, except for a tour of duty with the U.S. Army during World War II. He became chief in 1957, following the death of Clarence Heise.

Soft-spoken and gentlemanly, Chief Smith carried out his duties quietly and unobtrusively during a period of time which saw law enforcement problems multiply manyfold.

A champion of the young, Chief Smith was a staunch supporter of the schools and education generally, talking up the benefits of higher education whenever he had an opportunity.

During a hotly-contested school millage election several years ago, Chief Smith remarked: "If we don't spend it on our kids, just what are we going to spend it on?"—a statement which pretty much summed up his life philosophy.

Needless to say, he was chagrined at the rising number of young people in Charlevoix involved in drug abuse, a situation which puzzled him as much as it annoyed him.

Chief Smith served Charlevoix well and he will be missed throughout the community.

What's For Lunch?

What's for lunch?

If you attend Charlevoix's Middle School or High School this year, the answer is relatively simple: Stewart sandwiches.

Faced with a $7,500 deficit in its Type A Hot Lunch Program last year, the School Board has decided to go over to the quick-service sandwich plan at the two schools, drastically cutting down on kitchen personnel.

Two women can handle the entire program at one school, from heating the sandwiches and setting up the lunch line to collecting money. There is no lengthy preparation of food prior to the lunch hour and there is virtually no clean-up, since no dishes are involved.

Along with the sandwiches, students receive a small bag of potato chips, milk and a prepackaged dessert, such as brownies, cookies or apple turnovers. Celery and carrot sticks and fresh fruit, when available, round out the luncheon menu.

Superintendent Robert Miller has blamed the demise of the Hot Lunch Program on high labor costs, rather than high food costs. Much of the food used in the Hot Lunch Program came from federal surplus stores.

If the Stewart sandwich plan does not work out, it is always possible to revert to the old system on a moment's notice. No contracts have been signed and the kitchen equipment is still intact.

At the elementary school, the Type A Hot Lunch Program is still in effect. The board felt the little people might have some trouble wrestling with the hot sandwich bags.

As much as we regret the passing of the Hot Lunch Program at the Middle School and the High School, we respect the Board of Education for coming up with an alternate plan which will provide Charlevoix young people with tasty, nutritious meals at only a fraction of the cost to the school district.

Has Safety Message Finally Hit Home?

Although it is still too early to tell, Michigan's long years of traffic safety promotion may be beginning to have some effect on state drivers.

State Police report that traffic deaths in August numbered only 191 a reduction of 63 or about 25 percent compared with the record high of 254 set for that month last year.

The August toll marked the seventh month in a row this year to show a decrease compared with corresponding months in 1969.

The average for August was 220 in the five years, 1965-69. The month's low was 67, set in wartime 1943 when very few cars were on the road.

The August deaths brought Michigan's accumulated road toll for the first eight months to 1,413, which was 170, or about 10 percent, fewer than the 1,583 recorded in the same period last year.

The reduction is baffling in light of the fact that more cars than ever are traveling Michigan roads. The traffic in Charlevoix county throughout the summer was the heaviest ever, according to veteran observers.

Although the decrease in fatalities undoubtedly resulted from a number of factors, such as better roads, more dependable automobiles, and stricter law enforcement, we would like to believe that Michiganders generally are becoming more conscious of the hazards of highway travel and are driving accordingly.

Sticker Needs Press Support

Mr. Robert Clock,
Editor - Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Clock,

Your editorial concerning the recent Republican Primary, with the implication to elect a Representative of wider scope by sticker votes, won considerable comment and support.

Except where the press has been the leading media to arouse the interest of the citizens to vote on a particular issue, it has seldom been possible to elect by sticker votes.

To follow your editorial to successful conclusion the support of the press in this district would appear to be critically necessary to encourage effective programmed effort to carry out your suggestion.

Sincerely,

All Roads Should Run Downhill

Dear Mr. Clock,

Legislatures throughout the country are passing laws that require engines to be pollution free.

If such problems could be solved by passing laws the legislatures could solve both the pollution and fuel problems in transportation by requiring all roads to go downhill and eliminating the engines entirely.

You say, "What about the cars going in the opposite direction? They would all have to go up hill."

Simple, make all of the roads one way streets.

Daddy Wins a Round

By BOB CLOCK

I believe if we could all retain into our later years the same zest for the new and different enjoyed by our youngsters, half of life's problems would disappear.

Take our Katie, for example.

She is a spanking new First Grader this year and school is the most marvelous thing that ever happened to her.

The first morning, she was up at 5 o'clock, wondering what was keeping the school bus.

"But the bus won't be here for three hours," I told her drowsily. "Besides, you're not taking the bus today. Remember? I'm taking you over to the school to make sure you get in the right room. Why don't you go back to bed and try to get a little more sleep?"

Sleep, however, was out of the question and I should have known better. She had gone to bed, voluntarily, at 7 o'clock the night before to make sure she would be up in time for school.

So by 6 a.m. the entire family was up eating hot cereal. Judy read somewhere once that mothers should fix hot cereal for their children before they go to school. So there we were at 6 a.m. eating hot cereal, with the whole day yawning ahead like the jaws of eternity.

But not for Katie. She spent an inordinate length of time brushing her hair and selecting the right clothes. She checked with each of us to make sure the eagle on her beaded Indian headband was right-side-up. She didn't want anyone in First Grade to catch her with her eagle up-side-down.

Then, too, she had to supervise the packing of her first lunch bucket. She wanted a braunschweiger sandwich, but the braunschweiger was all gone and she had to settle for peanut butter. Her cold cup was packed with fruit salad, heavy on the cherries.

At 8 o'clock we left for the school. I was sure there was no one there but things were getting a little tense around the house. To my surprise, the parking lot was filled with automobiles and I felt a little better knowing that other families are blessed with early-risers on the first day of school.

The faculty was already on the job, with a contingent stationed near the front door to direct kids and parents to their respective rooms.

We found Katie's room at the back of the building, presided over by Mrs. Glenn Snider. After introductions, Mrs. Snider showed Katie where she was to keep her lunch bucket and suggested she work on jig-saw puzzles with Billy Horton until the rest of the class arrived. As early as we were, Billy Horton was there earlier and I felt a wave of empathy for his parents, the Howard Hortons.

I kissed Katie goodbye but I don't think she noticed. She was too busy picking out a puzzle with Billy.

That night, Katie couldn't wait until I got home from work.

"Guess what, Daddy?" she asked.

"They put you back in kindergarten," I said.

Katie made a wry face.

"Do you know what?" she tried again.

"What?"

"There is a teacher in our school named Miss Cinnamon!"

"I've been telling you all summer that the school board had hired a First Grade teacher named Miss Cinnamon," I reminded her.

"But I didn't believe you," she said. "I thought you were kidding. But I was sitting in the lunchroom and I heard someone call for a Miss Cinnamon. I was so happy I stood up and clapped."

So it wasn't such a bad first day, after all. At least old Dad was vindicated.

The Fashion Expert

By Jim Fitzgerald

Victor Costa, the fashion designer for Suzy Perette, has invited me to "a special press showing of his daytime, casual and cocktail clothes."

The invitation adds that a continental breakfast will be served in Hudson's Horseless Carriage Room.

What do you bet you can't get oatmeal with brown sugar at a continental breakfast?

It beats me how I got asked to such an affair. I don't know Suzy Perette and Victor Costa from Lum 'n Abner. I am bewildered by the idea of daytime, casual and cocktail clothes. What are the differences? It seems one outfit should cover all occasions. If you can't be casual in the daytime, when else? And it's just good sense to wear casual clothes while getting swacked on cocktails. You don't want to dribble all over your Sunday suit, do you?

What's probably happened is that Suzy and Victor somehow heard I am the world's foremost glri-watcher. They want to know what I like most to watch – micro, mini, midi or maxi? They want to observe my reactions as their lovely models parade past my bulging eyeballs. Sailva tests will be administered at regular intervals.

I'll be happy to lend my expertise to such a humanitarian project. Generally speaking, women are lovely, liberated or enslaved. But many of them appear in public looking as if they snuck out on the porch to get the morning paper and the door locked behind them. Or as if all their "sanforized" labels were phony. Or as if they lost an election bet and were forced to wear their infant daughters' clothes for a year.

My advice to Victor and Suzy will be simple:

Young gals with smashing legs should wear minis, the micro the better. The same thing goes for old gals who look young. But the majority of women over 30 should face facts, as flabby or scrawny or wrinkled or blue as those facts may be. Their skirts should reach their knees and should be flared enough so as to cover all situations adequately when they sit down. When Mary Margaret Mead sits down to talk to Johnny Carson, I wonder how she can be so smart about some things, and so dumb about others.

The midi and maxi are atrocious. Any woman who has that much to hide might better just stay home.

Those knee-high boots make me think the women's lib has won, a matriarchal government has been installed, and those boots are made for stomping men.

The decolletage should be mentioned, seeing as it borders on the part of the female anatomy with which America is most fascinated. The key word is "border". The border should always be north, and not too far east and west, of the main points of interest. Never south. Topless waitresses turn me off and prompt me to shield my soup with my hands.

And I'm told that real swinging gals are now going braless. They're the ones who shouldn't. Think about it.

That's it, except to Xerox my usual request that the Almighty topple stacks of canned food down upon all women who wear curlers to the supermarket.

Onward and Upward, Suzy and Victor.

Dear Editor,

In light of the smear campaign being waged against me because of my membership in the John Birch Society, I feel it is time that I write this letter in challenge to all those who are totally uninformed or grossly misinformed about the philosophy and activities of the John Birch Society.

Anyone who bothers to analyze what the critics and maligners of the John Birch Society have to say, will find that never do any of them ever prove the John Birch Society to be wrong. Their favorite tactic is to scoff at things stated by the Birch Society, or to ridicule individuals and the Birch Society by means of calling names or utilizing adjectives which are designed to evoke a negative response. A few, for example, that were used just lately in the newspaper are: right-wing, fanatical, radical, extreme, far right, etc.

Before continuing any further, I believe an analysis of the far right and the far left is in order. Viewing this matter objectively, it should immediately become obvious that people have the least freedom under a situation with 100 percent government control, or totalitarianism, and the most freedom under a situation with 0 percent government control, or anarchy.

Having established these two extremes, logic tells us that one must be the far right and the other the far left. In light of the fact that Communism is 100 percent government control, and the communists are thought of as the ones on the far left, they must occupy the niche of totalitarianism.

That leaves us with those who want no government, or the real right-wingers. Since there is no country with a total absence of government, or a state of pure anarchy, it must mean that those who advocate anarchy are a few foolhearted individuals who deceive themselves into believing that a country can exist without some form of government. Where does all this leave the Nazis and Fascists; the alleged personifiers of the far right extremism? We know they make loud noises about hating the Communists, but they also advocate 100 percent government control over the people, so if we are to remain logical we must place them in the same category as the Communists; on the far left!

Having establsihed that the far left advocates total government, and that the far right advocates no government, we come to the question of what does the John Birch Society advocate? The answer is rather simple. The John Birch Society believes that our Founding Fathers were divinely inspired of God when they drew up the U.S. Constitution, that this document specified that the only legitimate function of government is to do for us what we can't do for ourselves individually, and that the United States Constitution is the best document ever divised by man. I believe that at least 90 percent of the American people still believe in these same principles, but are often not made aware of the gross deviations from these principles by many of our socialistic politicians and other influential members of our Society.

Next, I shall attempt to explain the activities and objectives of the John Birch Society in order to clarify any misunderstandings. Simply stated, the objectives of the Birch Society are to promote more individual responsibility, less government, and with God's help a better world. Since these goals are diametrically opposite of those of the collectivists and communists, it is only natural that the most effort is exerted to eliminate the danger of these evil forces gaining total control of our government, and casting us into slavery.

The Birch Society does not, however, feel that any goals, regardless of how noble, justify doing anything illegal in order to have them reached. Education is the only strategy and truth is the only weapon utilized against the Communist conspiracy. It is certainly also the most effective weapon, for the Achilles heel of any conspiracy is that it must maintain secrecy. Once it is exposed, it can no longer exist.

One last question that remains to be answered is why the John Birch Society is labelled to be a right-wing or extremist organization, and by whom. To anyone who has studied the history of Marxism and Communism extensively, the answer is very obvious, for the followers of this ideology have a long record of labelling anyone who opposes them as being rightwing radicals. This is not to insinuate that everyone doing so is a follower of communism, but it demonstrates that those who do so have fallen victim to using slogans invented by the Communists. This is certainly borne out by the fact that they also call a Nazi a right-winger, when in actuality he is of the same ilk as a Communist.

In conclusion, I challenge my critic of the John Birch Society to prove anything stated by the John Birch Society to be false. I furthermore challenge anyone to prove that the John Birch Society advocates anything illegal or subversive. Lastly, I would like to extend an invitation to anyone interested in finding out for themselves what the John Birch Society is, to call Gary Gray at 549-2736 in Boyne Falls or write to Malcolm Dale, Box 66, Eastport, Michigan.

Sincerely yours,
Richard Friske

Permafrost Problem In Piping Alaskan Oil

Permafrost, the frozen ground that preserves fossils of mammoths for 20,000 years and wrecks houses in a year, presents difficulties in bringing out oil from Alaska.

Plans call for laying 800 miles of 48-inch pipe from the North Slope oil field to the Gulf of Alaska.

The National Science Foundation, along with the oil companies involved, is studying the ecological effects of the proposed pipeline, and of developing the North Slope, says the National Geographic Society.

REFRIGERATION

The old joke about selling refrigerators to Eskimos may not be so funny after all. Scientists speculate that it may be necessary to refrigerate the pipeline where it crosses the frozen tundra.

The oil will gush from the wells at temperatures reaching 180 degrees F. Up to two million gallons of hot oil coursing through the buried pipe each day would melt the permafrost and cause uneven sinking. The pipe might break, causing massive oil spills.

Laying the pipeline above ground could expose it to rupture and vandalism. Such a lengthy barrier undoubtedly would hamper the annual migrations of Alaska's caribou herds and other animals.

Burying an insulated, refrigerated pipe is a possible answer. But frequent inspection or electronic monitoring to detect movement or strain will be needed, for permafrost can shift erratically on its own.

Permafrost, meaning "perenially frozen ground," covers some 24 percent of the world's land area, or about 12.5 million square miles. Wherever it is found, in Alaska, Canada, Greenland, Scandinavia, the Soviet Union, Mongolia, China, the Arctic and Antarctic, it poses challenges for builders.

The problem is that permafrost doesn't stay solid. Its upper portion, known as the active layer, melts in the summer and slides around precariously on the frozen, bottom layer.

Lots of Stones On Our Beaches

To the Editor:

We will start our expedition along Lake Michigan. While you are there you will see many people hunting for one thing. Whether tourists or not, they are hunting for our state stone, the Petoskey stone.

A Petoskey stone is a Petoskey coral of which there are several species, but the Petoskey stone is found only in Michigan.

Also on the beach are branching corals, horn corals, jaspers, quartz, and once in awhile, if you look hard, Lake Superior agates. Some people will go up to Lake Superior and not find any, where I have found five on our beach.

If you go out to Medusa Portland Cement plant (permission must be obtained), you can find bump corals, crinoid stems, trilobites, brachiopods and some others.

Go along our railroads and you can find white marble and quartz pebbles.

Around our watertower you can find pretty good Indian artifacts, mostly arrowheads and pottery.

All this is found in Charlevoix.

for educational television; instructed its delegates to the Michigan Association of School Boards to support 12 resolutions relating to all phases of school operation; voted to pay the Voc. Tech. instructor on a ten months basis rather than on a 9½ months basis as was done under the austerity program.

The board also discussed the tuition to be charged 11 students from the Ellsworth District that are participating in this program. It was decided to table the issue until a study could be made of the cost of the program; hears a report on the need of repairs at the Ironton school now being operated by the Intermediate School District for the Type B program; hears reports by all three principals on first-day enrollments; heard a letter from the Charlevoix Senior Citizens thanking the board for the passes issued to them for school events;

Vane Smith told the board that the school was opened at 8:15 a.m. for the day but that a student would be permitted to enter the building at an earlier hour if he had a conference.

Harold Kauffman gave a report on the Stewart sandwich program that has been introduced into the cafeterias of the middle and high schools. Several people complained that the youngsters had to buy as many as three sandwiches and that it was costly. Mrs. Don Brown asked if a bowl of soup couldn't be served with the meal. Someone else asked about a variation in the menu.

They were advised that a several large sandwiches would be offered and though they would cost more, chances are they would satisfy the youngsters. Miller said that it was the cost of labor and the large amounts of food that had been placed on the trays in the past that had put the program more than $7,500 in the hole last year.

THIS 80-year-old Ironton landmark will soon be moved to Kemps Corner to begin a new life.

Fr. Partridge New Supt. At Cheboygan

Fr. Frances C. Partridge, son of Mrs. Frank Partridge, 212 Park-ave., has been named the new superintendent of Cheboygan Catholic Schools.

Fr. Partridge also will serve as assistant pastor at St. Marys Church in Cheboygan.

A native of Charlevoix, Fr. Partridge was transferred to Cheboygan from Grand Rapids.

He taught school on Beaver Island for two years before entering the priesthood.

Since taking his vows he has taught at Muskegon Catholic Central, St. Francis School in Muskegon, St. Marys School in Grand Rapids, Blessed Sacrament School in Grand Rapids and St. James School in Grand Rapids.

He has a bachelor's degree from Aquinas College in Grand Rapids and an M.A. from the University of Michigan; a diploma in philosophy from St. Jerome's College in Kitchener, Ont., and a B.A. in sacred theology from Gregorian University in, Rome.

The superintendency at Cheboygan is Fr. Partridge's first administrative position.

Ironton Landmark To Pull Up Stakes

By MRS. ROSS ALEXANDER

Karl Knorr of Mt. Dora, Fla., the Ironton apiarist, is preparing to move his storage building from downtown Ironton to the Mack McClanathan farm (formerly the Valtamor Peterson farm) at Kemps Corner.

The structure is one of the old community landmarks, having been built by Pete Peterson more than 80 years ago as a general store.

It was later owned by the late Joe Mosher, who built the addition on the west side for his niece, Mrs. Ella Tumath, who took in roomers and operated a pastry shop downstairs.

The building was sold to Charlie Snyder, father of Mrs. James White, who remodeled the business portion and installed plate glass windows in 1935.

During the 1940's it was operated as a grocery store by the Deuel and Kerr families and during World War II was used for canvas fabricating by the Foster Boat Co. of Charlevoix.

Knorr plans to use the building in his honey processing business.

Insurance Forms Due

Parents are reminded that forms and premiums for accident insurance policies covering their school age youngsters should be returned to the respective schools no later than Friday, Sept. 25.

Vane Smith, High School principal, said insurance packets were sent home with each child in grades K through 12 last week.

The insurance, which costs $2.50 per child, provides benefits of up to $7,500 for accidents suffered in school or in school-connected activities.

It does not cover students who play tackle football. They are covered by another insurance plan.

Band Boosters Meet Sept. 23

The Charlevoix Band Boosters Club will meet Wednesday, Sept. 23, at 7:30 p.m. in the High School cafeteria.

All band parents and others interested in the school music program are urged to attend.

Miss Smith Semifinalist In Competition

Deborah Smith

High School Principal Vane Smith has announced that Deborah Smith has been named a semifinalist in the 1970-71 National Merit Scholarship Program. Miss Smith, a senior at Charlevoix High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith of U.S. 31 south.

The 14,750 Semifinalists appointed today are among the nation's most intellectually talented high school seniors. They will compete for some 3,000 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1971.

The Semifinalists were the highest scorers in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT), which was given last February to some 710,000 students in 17,000 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

The Semifinalists show high promise for leadership in their adult careers, according to Edward C. Smith, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation (NMSC). "They have already demonstrated both high intellectual capacity and a readiness to develop their abilities," he said.

Glenn Law Candidate Against Friske, Johnson

To Seek House Seat as Sticker

Glenn Law jr., a St. Ignace pharmacist who ran third on the GOP ticket for the House of Representatives from the 106th District, in the August primary, has announced that he will be sticker candidate for the house seat in the Nov. 3 general election.

Law, 27, will run against the GOP nominee, Richard Friske, of Antrim County, and Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City.

Last week, the district's first sticker candidate, John Kujawski jr. of Boyne City, dropped from the race upon the urging of GOP leaders. Kujawski ran second in the primary election.

Law met with Rep. Robert W. Davis and other Republican leaders in Gaylord Sunday but failed to win their endorsement.

The party feels that a sticker candidate will only split the GOP and turn the coveted house seat over to the Democrats.

However Law believes that most Republicans in the district will be without representation in Lansing if Friske, a member and leader of the ultra right-wing John Birch Society, is elected.

"The majority of the Republican candidates in the August primary (there were 11 of them) feel that a write-in is needed due to several factors," Law said. "The main reason is the feeling that, with the district being 75 percent Republican, the majority of the people will not be represented in the general election. There are Democratic voters; there are Friske supporters; and there are Republicans who are left with no one to vote for."

Law said that Friske is not a Republican because:

–He runs an independent campaign without party recognition.

–Two years ago he was an American Independent (Wallace) Party worker.

–He has had no contact with party leaders and chairmen.

–He did not mention the Republican party in his "thank you" notes after winning the primary, and –He calls Republicans "collectivists."

"Yet the party in Lansing which supposedly has received a promise from Friske to 'be a Republican' for the all-important reapportionment of the districts, has tried to discourage a write-in candidate," Law said.

"Their assumption is that a write-in would split the Republican ticket. But we do not want to split the Republican vote. We want you to vote Republican by writing in 'Glenn Law jr.,' " he added.

Law was born in Lansing Oct. 7, 1942, moving to St. Ignace in 1952 with his parents. He attended elementary school in St. Ignace and spent three years at the Salvatorian Seminary in St. Nazianz, Wisc., returning to St. Ignace for his senior year. He graduated from La Salle High School in 1960 as president of his class.

He spent one year at Ferris State College, joined the Marine Corps for three years, then returned to Ferris for three years to complete work on his degree in pharmacy, graduating in 1968.

After a year's internship at the Cunningham Drug Store in Alpena, he joined the staff of Law's Pharmacy in St. Ignace, owned by his father.

He was married in 1965 to the former Joan Marie Lasley of St. Ignace. They have four children, Regina Marie, 4; Glenn III, 3; Christopher, 2; and Brett, six months.

Among the reasons listed by Law for running against Friske as a sticker candidate is Friske's stated intention to use the house seat as a stepping-stone to Washington.

"I just want to do this job the best I can," Law says.

He adds: "Friske says that through his experience as a German soldier in World War II he know all about communism and as a member of the John Birch Society his reasoning seems to be that communistic influence is the cause of all that is not going according to his way of thinking and all that is not right with the world."

GLENN LAW JR. of St. Ignace has announced his candidacy as a sticker candidate for the House of Representatives in the Nov. 3 general election.

Law also questions Friske's "honesty campaign."

"If he were so honest, why didn't he run on the American Independent Party ticket?" he asks.

"The feeling of my advisors is that the people don't really care who wins and the people will not work for a sticker candidate. I will run. But I will lose unless the people will work and will contribute and if

Hampton Suit Goes To Court

After more than three years of preliminary legal wrangling, the controversial Hampton Village special assessment went into Charlevoix County Circuit Court Monday.

Ten residents of Eaton-st. are charging that their share of the special assessment is illegal because:

–It may be contrary to state laws;

–That residents of Eaton-st. will derive no benefits from the assessment, and;

–That the assessment has been levied in a discriminatory manner rather than upon all property owners whose property is adjacent to the proposed improvements.

Plaintiffs in the case are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Juilleret, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wojan, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McElhose and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook. The city of Charlevoix is defendant.

The residents are objecting specifically to their share of the assessment, which comes to $3,261.84. The remaining $8,953.80 of the assessment has been levied against Hampton Village.

The case is being heard by Judge Stuart Hofflus of Grand Rapids, who is filling in for the two Charlevoix County circuit judges who have disqualified themselves.

First witness Monday is Mrs. Edward (Jean) Vogler who is no longer a resident of Charlevoix. The Voglers sold their home on Hampton-rd. this summer and have moved to Beulah, Mich.

Mrs. Vogler told the court how she and her husband built their home on the rear portion of a lot on Eaton-st. owned by her parents, the Ted Weidmans. The Voglers bought the land from the Weidmans, along with an easement into their property from Eaton-st.

Hampton-rd. now passes directly in front of the Vogler's former home and they are being assessed for the road and other improvements.

Hampton-rd. also abuts the

Ted Browe Injured as Cycle Flips

Ted Browe, 61, of Charlevoix suffered a possible fractured collarbone and other internal injuries when he lost control of his motorcycle on M-66 near the Swan Valley Marina Sunday afternoon and flipped over.

He was taken to Charlevoix Hospital by East Jordan police ambulance.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said Browe might have lost control of the vehicle when a tire blew out.

Browe reportedly was en route from Charlevoix to East Jordan when the accident happened.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p.m.

Dale Will Explain Birch Society Aims

Malcolm Dale of Eastport, a coordinator for the John Birch Society, has called a series of meetings throughout the area this week to explain the "beliefs and principles" of society.

The Charlevoix meeting has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 24, at the community room in the basement of the First State Bank, Clinton and State-sts.

Tonight (Wednesday) Dale will appear at the Top O' Michigan Building in Boyne City at 7:30 p.m. and on Friday he will deliver the same message at the Bellaire American Legion Hall at the same time.

On Monday, Dale spoke in Petoskey, and on Tuesday he appeared at the American Legion Hall in East Jordan.

"The honest lack of knowledge about the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society by yourself and others in the 106th Legislative District has concerned me deeply," Dale wrote in the letter to the Charlevoix Courier, which appears on the editorial page this week.

Dale said his program will consist of a three-reel filmed lecture by C. Edward Griffin explaining the political, economic, social and religious beliefs of the society. He said Griffin is a "Major coordinator" of the society, living in southern California.

At the close of the film, Dale said he will attempt to answer questions about the society.

Richard Friske, an avowed member and leader of the right-wing John Birch Society, will appear on the Nov. 3 ballot as the GOP candidate to succeed Rep. Robert W. Davis of Gaylord as representative from the 106th District.

Friske is an Antrim County orchardman who immigrated to the United States from Germany following World War II.

CHARLEVOIX COMMUNITY Chest workers sat down to a pancake breakfast at the First State Bank Monday morning before a pep meeting kicking off the 1970 campaign. The workers will attempt to raise $21,014 for local, state and national health and welfare organizations.

Brothers Claim Brides

By Anne Osterbaan

Brothers Carl H. Goeman and Wayne J. Goeman of Ellsworth claimed brides in late August.

They are the sons of Mrs. Walter Shooks of Ellsworth and the late William Goeman.

Carl was married Aug. 22 at St. Dominic Catholic Church in Metz to Margaret Mary Blasky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Blasky.

The bridegroom works for Michigan State Police and his bride is a teacher in Harper Creek Schools.

Wayne Goeman was married Aug. 29 to Sharon June Cramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. David Cramer, in the Union United Church of Christ in Bascom.

Wayne teaches at the Warner Elementary School and his bride in the Angus Elementary School, both in Warren. They live in Troy.

Library Notes

How About Reading Six Books a Week?

With the children back in school, there is no excuse for any of our patrons not to read at least six books a week–well, perhaps two or three? To get everyone going ond to stimulate interest, the following list of titles is offered.

"Mr. Tweedy" by Anne Marie Schilling is anybody's book. In this venturesome tale, Mr. Tweedy, a robin, turns groups of people who belong to the mind-your-own-business school into laughing, friendly neighbors. At the end of this very entertaining and pleasant book, one is left with the thought that maybe the nearly human Mr. Tweedy will choose to return again to the family who loves him, because he proved to them that nothing is impossible. It's a lovely story."The Many Worlds of Leo Rosten" is not for everybody, but readers who have enjoyed Human Kaplan in the past know that the best of all possible worlds is to be found among the many worlds of Leo Rosten. This special collection brings together Rosten's own selection of his best work from 30 years of writing, and it contains almost as many surprises as it does favorites, ranging from humor to psychology, from sociology to politics, the arts, travel and satire.

"The Seashore" is a first novel by the brilliant 24-year-old young writer whose volume of short stories "A Pocketful of Rye" was runner-up for the John Llewellyn Rhys memorial prize in England. The plot is beautiful and engrossing, but there are tragic and pathetic scenes in this story of Casey, a young boy abandoned by uncaring parents and placed in a seaside school for problem boys.

"Donbas" is the incredibly real account of escape from a Russian labor camp, an adventure story of unusual warmth, spirit and optimism, written by Jacques Sandulescu who, after his own escape from Russia, emigrated to Canada and then to the United States. During World War II, the author was a 15-year-old boy in his native Rumania. When the Russians advances across the country, Jacques was picked up by the Soviets on his way to school. Along with hundreds of others, he was herded into a crowded freight car and transported to Russia to work in the dreaded slave labor camps. He was injured in a mine cave-in and escaped in the dead of winter, finally reaching an American hospital in Allied-occupied Germany. It is a marvelous story of intense courage and one that the reader is not likely to put down until the very last page has been turned.

"Clutch Constables" is a new title by Dame Nagaio Marsh who needs no introduction to lovers of good mystery stories. This expert writer is at her best in this suspense yarn about a pleasure cruise which ends in terror as the creeper fog sweeps over the river and murder hovers in the night air.

GI Studies Water Supply

Army Private Douglas K. Raymond, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Raymond, 312 Cedar St., East Jordan, recently completed with honors a water supply course at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the eight-week course Pvt. Raymond was trained in the chemical checking of water, removal of impurities and in converting sea water into drinking water.

He entered the Army last March and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.

Mrs. Jack E. Rader jr.

Abbett-Rader Rites Held at Walloon L.

Marilyn Abbett became the bride of Jack Ellsworth Rader jr. in ceremonies at 2 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 19, at the Walloon Lake Community Church, the Rev. Ralph Stearns officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Abbett of Dover, Mass. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack E. Rader sr. of Charlevoix.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta appliqued with lace roses. Style accents included a scoop neckline, semi-princess style skirt with bouffant sides draped into a chapel train and a bow in the back at the waistline.

Her triple-tiered veil of silk illusion was secured by a pearl crown and she carried two white roses, a white Bible and a handkerchief of Belgian lace given to her by an aunt of the bridegroom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William C. Boyd, a sister of the bride from West Medway, Mass. She wore a floor-length dress of yellow linen with an avocado sash, shoes and pill box hat. She carried two yellow roses.

Best man was David E. Rader of Lansing, a brother of the groom. Serving as usher was Frank E. Abbett III, a brother of the bride.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the Silver Birch Lodge on Walloon Lake.

After a wedding trip to northern Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Rader plan to live in Charlevoix.

The new Mrs. Rader is a graduate of Southern Seminary Junior College in Virginia. Mr. Rader is a graduate of Olivet College.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Ohio, Massachusetts, Florida, Indiana and Illinois.

Maxine Kirby, P. J. Doughtery Repeat Vows

By Anne Osterbaan

Maxine Gail Kirby became the bride of Patrick James Doughtery Sept. 1 at the Ellsworth Wesleyan Church, the Rev. H. C. Diller officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kirby of Ellsworth. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Doughtery of Ellsworth.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Sandra Vincent, the bride's sister. Charles Vincent was best man.

Following a reception-dinner at the Kirby home, the couple honeymooned in southern Michigan.

The new Mrs. Doughtery is employed by Texas Instruments. Doughtery is on the staff of the Central Lake Torch.

NEWS FROM BARNARD

College Students Return to School

By MRS. JASPER WARNER
547-2025

Many of our college students have returned to school.

Joyce Matchett is now doing her practice teaching in Flint. Joyce is a senior at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant.

Jeanne Smith is a freshman at C.M.U.

Laura Hutchinson has returned to Northern Michigan University at Marquette.

John Dhaseleer and Susan and Daniel Babcock have all enrolled at C.M.U.

Elaine Dhaseleer has returned to Flint to school.

Mary Dhaseleer and Gail Potter will be going to Northwestern Michigan College at Petoskey and James Warner has gone to Michigan State University at East Lansing.

Carl Swanson is attending school in Morrilton, Ark.

Kathy Klooster is returning to M.S.U. and Miss Betty Klooster will teach art and German in Coleman, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrittt Elzinga attended a family reunion in Williamston over the past weekend.

Mrs. John Wieland and Mrs. Joe Bottema spent the weekend visiting in Grand Rapids.

On Saturday, Sept. 26 at 7 p.m. the Barnard grangers are having a harvest supper. This will be a potluck and visitors are welcome. Bring your own table service and a couple dishes to pass. There will be a free will offering. Dinner will be followed by music for listening and dancing.

We welcome to our community Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nonemaker and family. He is with Medusa Cement Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stutzman have moved here from Lansing and are living in their new home on Beattie-rd.

Gary teaches in Charlevoix and his wife teaches in Petoskey.

Mrs. Kenneth McAskill and son Steven are spending several months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Klooster.

Mr. and Mrs. Booms and family visited recently in Hutchinson, Minn., with her parents and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Randolf from Florida spent several days visiting his cousin, Mrs. Mabel Stutzman and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stutzman spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Don Vratinina in Detroit.

Demonstrate Bird Control

A bird control demonstration has been planned for this week Thursday afternoon, Sept. 24 from 1:30 - 3:30 p.m., according to Ed Rebman, county extension director. The demonstration will be held at the Sherman orchards, located on the peninsula between East Jordan and Ironton.

Every year more and more fruit growers are complaining about bird damage to their fruit crops. Some have tried various methods to control or scare away these birds but not with much success.

William F. Shake, Assistant State Supervisor of the Fish and Wildlife Service from Lansing will talk on "Bird Control in Fruit and Methods of Control". Larry Miller of AvAlarm Co. of South Haven will demonstrate equipment and a method of repelling birds. Everyone is invited.

Largest Food Retailer in U.S.

Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp., which opened a branch on Bridge-st. in Charlevoix this summer, has been rated by Institutions magazine as the largest commercial food retailer in the United States.

The magazine reported the corporation had retail sales of $581 million during the past fiscal year, up from $430 million in 1969.

David Wexler, publisher of the magazine, said only the U.S. Army, the U.S. Navy and the Department of Agriculture's school lunch program served up more food that Kentucky Fried Chicken last year.

The corporation received the magazine's "400" award, which is based on volume of food sold, quality, cleanliness and service.

Kentucky Fried Chicken now has 2,766 stores in the United States and by the end of 1970 will have almost 350 outlets abroad, according to president John Y. Brown jr.

Tom Maxwell Is Promoted

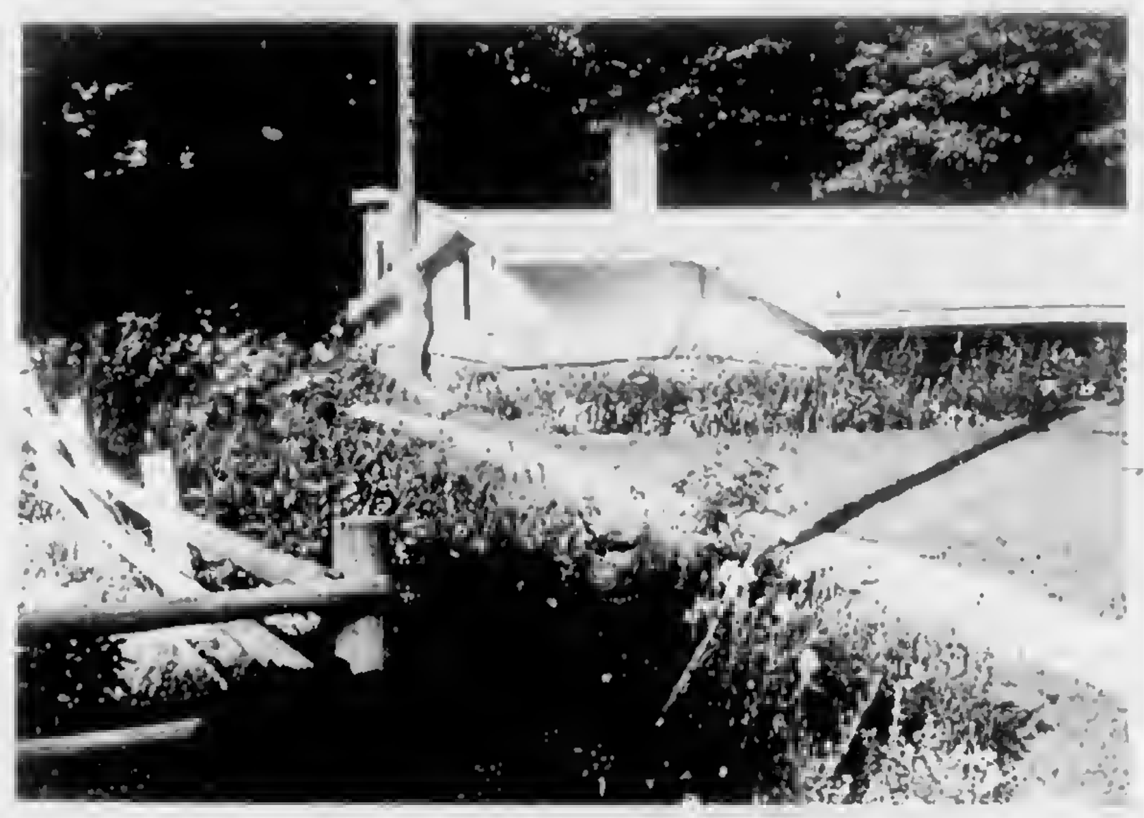
AIC Thomas G. Maxwell has been promoted to sergeant, his parents, the Thomas L. Maxwells of See-rd., have learned.

Sgt. Maxwell is a U.S. Air Force security policeman at the Minot (N.D.) AFB. He returned in June from a year's tour of duty in Turkey.

Sgt. Maxwell is a 1965 graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Davenport Business College.

LOTS OF DOCTORS

More than 70 percent of the faculty at Michigan State University hold doctoral degrees, one of the highest percentages at any major university.



THE YARD of the Carl Korth home on Stockman-st. is ablaze with fall colors. Korth won the Garden Club plaque for the South Side for the month of September. Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hull of Grant-st. Judges were Mrs. Nancy Wood and Mrs. Edith Stenman.

Ellsworth

MRS. ANNE OSTERBAAN
PHONE 588-- 2433

Mr. and Mrs. Miner Koster returned to their home in Wyoming after vacationing at Rest Haven cottage last week.

Mattie VanderArk, Maggie Heeres and Kathryn Timmer were supper guests of Anne Osterbaan Friday.

Beverly Klooster was a recent visitor with her folks Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Klooster. "Bev" is again teaching Biology at Calvin College, Grand Rapids again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Peebles with some help of neighbors and Mr. and Mrs. Emery Wilson are building a fine two stall garage on their property.

Aren't you surprised when you read in the paper you have been somewhere and you haven't? My apologies to the Henry Heeres family. They didn't go to Grand Haven and their son Vernon wasn't home on leave!

MR. AND MRS. H.E. Paddock of 307 Meech-st. won the Garden Club plaque for the month of September for the North Side. Focal point of the Paddock's yard is a ring of flowers around the flagpole. Honorable mention went to Mr. and Mrs. Roger Westenbrook of 601 E. Dixon-ave. Judges were Mrs. Gordon Rower and Mrs. E.J. Edwards.

Shower Fetes Miss Holtzman

Mrs. Melvin Plum and Mrs. Perry Smith were hostesses at a surprise personal shower honoring Stella Holtzman who will wed Robert O. Pearl on Sept. 26 at the Church of God.

Fifteen friends attended the shower which was held at the Smith home.

OCEAN DRIVE

The world's longest ocean-going highway stretches for 100 miles, linking the Florida Keys.

Locals

Mrs. Martin Rubingh and children went to Grand Rapids Friday afternoon to visit her father, Jay Kuiper who is still a patient at Butterworth Hospital. Her mother returned to Ellsworth with her Saturday and spent the weekend here.

Mary E. Luttinen

Will Serve Co. As Home Economist

Miss Mary E. Luttinen will assume duties as home economist with the Cooperative Extension Service Sept. 21. Miss Luttinen's appointment was approved by the Michigan State University Board of Trustees Sept. 17.

She will work in Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties. Her office will be in the Federal Building in Boyne City.

Miss Luttinen will be in charge of the Cooperative Extension Service family living education program in the three-county area. However, in Cheboygan County she will share responsibilities with Miss Bonnie Hamlin, who is extension home economist for the single county.

The home economist will prepare programs for adults and young people in clothing, textiles, food and nutrition, family life, housing and home management. Extension home economists provide information through presentations at meetings, and special classes, printed materials and radio, television and newspapers.

Miss Luttinen is a 1970 graduate of MSU. She's worked summers as a teacher's aide, and recreation leader in the Head Start Program.

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Harvey D. Cannell jr., Petoskey, was sentenced to 10 days in jail as a disorderly person.

Manthei Brothers, Inc., Walloon Lake, were assessed $65 for operating an overloaded truck.

Richard Sikorski, 22, Charlevoix, waived examination on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy to sell narcotic drug and was bound over to the September term of Circuit Court. Bond in the amount of $3,500 was continued.

Michael Etienne, 20, Charlevoix, waived examination on a charge of conspiring to sell a narcotic drug and was bound over to the September term of Circuit Court. Bond in the amount of $2,000 was not furnished.

David Betz, 21, Hemlock, waived examination on charges of selling marijuana and conspiring to sell a narcotic drug. He was bound over to the September term of Circuit Court. Bond in the amount of $7,000 was furnished.

A charge of careless use of firearms against Michael Bergmann, 17, Charlevoix, was dismissed.

Clarence Day, 59, Boyne City, plead not guilty to a charge of assault and battery. Bond in the amount of $50 was continued.

Paul Fredrick, 21; Edwin Gilmore, 17; William Lane, 22; and Everett Hadix, 18, all of Boyne City, plead not guilty to charges that they were disorderly persons. They each furnished $50 bond and their cases were continued.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard by District Court Magistrate John Connolly in Charlevoix last week:

William Kirk Schaller, 31, Petoskey, was assessed $22 for speeding.

Donald Erhart, 31, Flint, was assessed $15 for speeding.

NEWS FROM IRONTON

12 Students Enroll At Ironton School

By Mrs. Ross Alexander
547-9878

Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Wilson of Central Lake were guests this Sunday at the home of the former's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bennett.

Mrs. Duane Taylor of Charlevoix is the teacher at our local school and Mrs. Betty Inman of Charlevoix will resume her duties as the assistant teacher. There are 12 pupils enrolled coming from Charlevoix, East Jordan and near Ellsworth.

Mrs. Edna Howe of Tarpon Springs is visiting local relatives and also her mother, Mrs. Lottie Williams, who is a patient at Grandvue Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. William Riggs of Cincinnati, Ohio, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Kroll Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Jack Uren and son John of Ferndale, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. J.S. Ratiee of Sarnia, Ontario, were guests last weekend at the home of Mrs. Effie Arthur.

Mrs. Ada Alderson left Friday to spend several weeks with her daughter and family in Johnstown, New York.

Mrs. Selma Eggersdorf of near East Jordan is living with Chevy Sevcik as her companion and housekeeper.

The Ladies Fellowship met at the church Monday evening and made plans for their annual rummage sale to be held in the church basement Friday Sept. 25 and until noon on Saturday, Sept. 26.

Hearings Set On Insurance Rate Increases

Public hearings will be held in Detroit Sept. 28 and Lansing Sept. 29 on the base rate applications of Michigan Blue Cross and Michigan Blue Shield for the first quarter of 1971.

Blue Cross has requested approval to increase its regular subscriber base rate schedules by an average of 5.3 percent while Blue Shield seeks approval to increase base rates an average of 4.9 percent. Neither of the proposed increases, however, would affect the base rate for senior citizen contracts.

The hearing on Sept. 28 will begin at 10 A.M. in the WWJ-TV auditorium at 622 W. Lafayette in Detroit. The hearing on Sept. 29 will begin at 10 A.M. in the auditorium of the Seven Story Office Building in Lansing.

Apply Now For Service Academies

Congressman Philip E. Ruppe has announced the closing date for accepting applications for nomination to the United States Service Academies for the classes which will begin in 1971.

All young men who are interested in applying for nomination should write Congressman Ruppe at 509 Cannon House Office Building in Washington, D.C. 20515 by Sept. 30, 1970.

The 11th District of Michigan will have vacancies at all of the United States Service Academies--Air Force, Merchant Marine, Military, and Naval.

Appointment to the Coast Guard Academy is made solely on the basis of examination and prospective adaptability to military life.

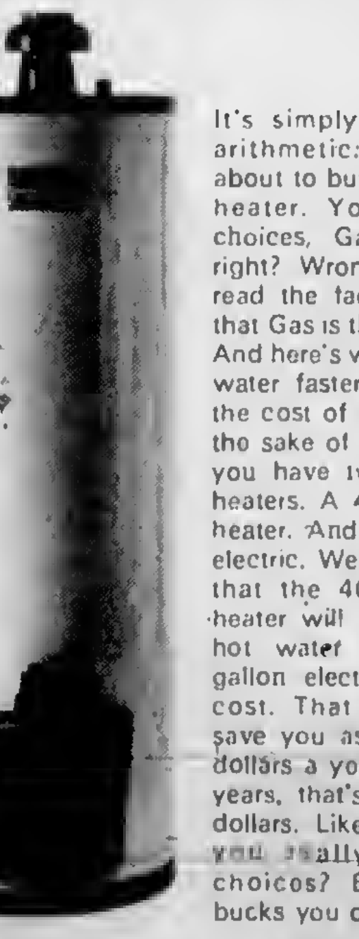
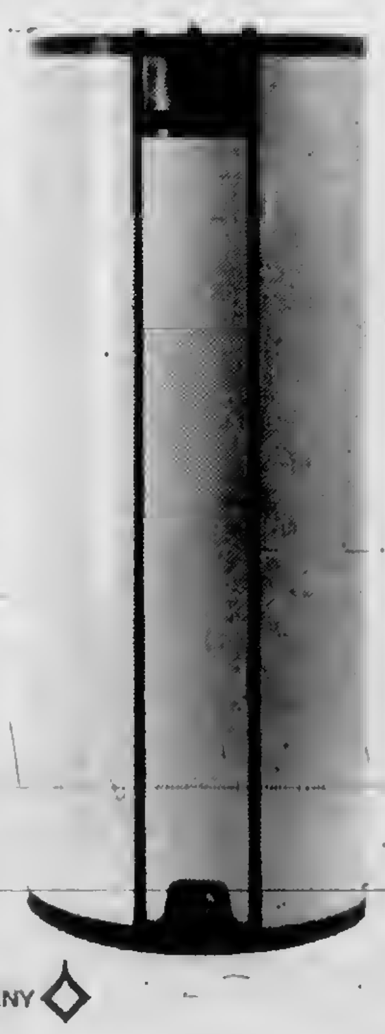
This ad might save you about 500 bucks.





It's simply a matter of arithmetic: Say you're about to buy a new water heater. You have two choices, Gas or electric, right? Wrong. Once you read the facts you'll find that Gas is the only choice And here's why: Gas heats water faster for about ½ the cost of electricity. For the sake of argument, say you have two hot water heaters. A 40-gallon Gas heater. And an 80-gallon electric. Well, the truth is, that the 40-gallon Gas heater will produce more hot water than the 80-gallon electric for ⅓ the cost. That alone could save you as much as 50 dollars a year. And in ten years, that's roughly 500 dollars. Like we said: do you really have two choices? Bet you 500 bucks you don't.

MICHIGAN CONSOLIDATED GAS COMPANY ◇

Will Hike Forest Revenue

Gov. William G. Milliken said Thursday that Northern Michigan communities would benefit from a bill which the Legislature passed Sept. 16 to amend the Commercial Forest Reserve Act.

"Losses in revenue resulting from increased acreage being listed under the present act is creating a growing problem in northern rural townships and counties," the governor said. "I placed this bill, sponsored by Rep. John D. Payant of Kingsford, on my priority list for this week's session. I am pleased that the bill was passed. Previously there was too much fluctuation in tax yield, making local income unpredictable."

The measure will increase tax revenues from listed forest lands to local units of government by:

--Increasing the annual specific tax paid by the landowner from a sliding scale of 5 cents to 10 cents per acre to a uniform payment of 15 cents per acre.

--Increasing annual payment made by the state to local units from 10 cents per acre to 25 cents per acre.

It also will provide for distribution of revenue among local units of government on the basis of distribution of total ad. valorem revenue, rather than the 15 mill limitation portion thereof.

Cherry Output Drops

A cold, wet blossom period which affect pollination and a strong wind storm at harvest-time in northern Michigan combined to lower the United State production of red tart cherries for 1970.

Early estimates of 156,850 tons failed to materialize, and the final pack came closer to 113,877 tons.

The figure is down 37,753 tons from 1969, when 151,630 tons were produced. However, the supply should be sufficient to meet demands, with 1969 stocks carried into the 1970-71 marketing year.

Great Lakes states continued to dominate the production of tart cherries, producing 93 percent of the total crop.

Michigan retained its position as industry leader with 68 percent of the 1970 harvest. Of the remaining cherry-growing states, only New York showed a significant increase.

Some changes in the Great Lakes pack was evident this year. Sixty-eight percent of the crop was frozen; eight percent went into juice concentrate; 12 percent into No. 10 (institutional size) cans and 12 percent into consumer-size water-pack.

Last year, 61 percent was frozen, nine percent went into juice; 16 percent into institutional sized cans and 13 percent into consumer-size water-pack.

Quality of the harvest was excellent, with only a small portion of the total pack showing wind damage.

NEWS FROM ELLSWORTH

Seven Inches of Rain Since First of Sept.

By Anne Osterbaan
588-2433

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nickels of Grand Rapids are proud parents of a girl, born Saturday, September 12, 1970 weighing 4 lbs. 7 oz. (a premie) and will be called Denice Lynn. Mrs. Nickels is the former Betty Mae De Groot, daughter of the Harry De Groots.

According to reports, there has been 7⅛ inches of rain since Sept. 1, resulting in many basements damaged by water and mud.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kooyer went to Fort Arthur, Canada, last Wednesday to spend a few days. Mr. and Mrs. John Kooyer accompanied them to Fort Arthur and then left by train for Lynden, Washington where they visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bratt for a couple weeks.

The home of Mrs. Ruth Jarvis on Main-st. is receiving a new look by a coat of white paint.

Mattie VanderArk was in Mancelona Saturday afternoon making the acquaintance of her nieces, Mrs. Jerome Shuboy twin daughters, Karen and Sharon Shuboy.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Sutton of Muskegon called on their aunts, Mrs. James Ruis and Mrs. Gerrit Rubingh Friday.

Seventeen young people of the McBain area were supper guests Wed. of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeGroot. They were accompanied by leaders Mr. Owinga and Mr. Houtman and enjoyed a bon fire and weiner roast at Tyrells Beach with the young folks of our community churches.

Wit and wisdom. There is nothing that concerns man so much as work, expressed in the following words: "Work is something that when we have it we wish we didn't; when we don't have it we wish we did; and the object of it, most of it, is to be able to afford not to do any some day!"

Mrs. Vernon Heeres of Grand Haven and David Heeres and a school mate from Chicago were weekends visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heeres and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Stedum and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Van Stedum left Friday and spent the night with their son and brother Henry in Grand Haven and on Saturday went to Chicago where they attended the funeral of the former's brother, George, in the afternoon.

A group of friends from Bellaire and from Ellsworth shivaried the newlyweds Bud and Bonny Groesser Finch Tuesday night. The young people are living in the former Sophia DeVries trailer back of Maynard Alward.

The Bob Drenth family has moved to the farm of her mother, Mrs. Flody Block, at Marion Center. Mrs. Black has moved into the Drenth home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Kooyer visited Mrs. Grace Wiltjer at her summer cottage near Snowflake Sunday afternoon.

Cornie Klooster was a Sunday guest of Jake and Kathryn Timmer. Cornies' father, Jake Klooster, is still at Brookcrest Nursing Home in Grandville, Mich. His address is 3400 Nelson Ave., Letters from home would be welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Berens of Hudsonville, who were vacationing at Star Lake, Baldwin, were Tuesday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burns.

Mrs. Fanny Klooster and her sister Lena and brother, Jake Slotema of Grand Rapids called on their cousins Kate Bronkema and Kate Cooper Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milford Tyrell of Charlevoix were dinner guests Wednesday of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Burns.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kelderhouse and Harry Tracey of Chicago were Wednesday visitors with Kate Cooper. They also called on the other Cooper families.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Farrell and children and his mother Dessie Farrell were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Strange of Norwood. His mother also visited the Donald Farrells in the p.m.

Mrs. Mary Baumbach of Charlevoix, former resident of Ellsworth, is a patient at Charlevoix Hospital.

Recent visitors with Fanny Koster were Mr. and Mrs. John Kramer and three children of Bauer and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Noord of Hudsonville.

Mrs. Henry Zwaanstra and two friends of Cutlerville were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Drenth.

Charlevoix Hospital

A son was born Sept. 14, to Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Soblesky of Lyon, Mich.

A daughter, Terri Ann, was born Sept. 15, to Mr. and Mrs. Dewaine Mosher of Mesik, Mich.

CORPS OF ENGINEERS contractors had to work with extreme care to locate and protect the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. cable under Pine River Channel during work on the south wall of Pine River Channel. The cable, in the center of the excavation, looks like a dead tree.

Michigama Rate Hike Approved

Monthly increases ranging from $1.50 to $2.40 for residential customers served by Michigama Telephone Co. have been approved, it was announced today. The company served portions of Charlevoix County.

The Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce, which authorized the utility to establish new rates, said they will provide the company with additional revenues totaling $405,364 annually.

The PSC approved the rate increase July 10 and directed Michigama Telephone to file new rates to accomplish the increase in revenue. Michigama is a subsidiary of the Continental Telephone Co. of St. Louis, Mo.

Under the new rates, rural residential multi-party customers will experience monthly rate increases ranging from $1.50 to $1.95, depending on the exchange they are served by.

Increases for residential one-party customers will range from $2.10 to $2.40 a month while business customers with one-party service will experience rate increases ranging from $3.30 to $4.05 a month.

Michigama serves nearly 20,000 customers in Alcona, Antrim, Bay, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Emmet, Gladwin, Gratiot, Huron, Iosco, Lapeer, Manistee, Midland, Missaukee, Montmorency, Monroe, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

Michigan Bell Telephone Co., which serves the city of Charlevoix and surrounding communities has asked the Public Service Commission to approve a rate increase sufficient to generate an additional $14 million a year in revenue.

First Home Game Is Friday Night

Charlevoix Red Rayders chalked up their first win of the 1970 football season Friday night, defeating Alpena Catholic Central at Alpena, 20 to 6.

In other Michigan Huron Shores Conference play, Boyne City whipped St. Ignace, 30 to 22; Traverse City St. Francis defeated Petoskey, 12 to 0; and in a non-conference game Cheboygan downed Cadillac, 13 to 6.

After a scoreless first period, Alpena recovered a Charlevoix fumble and Pat Dumsch passed to Dave Ruth who traveled 25 yards to score. The point was missed.

With less than a minute in the second period, Bruce Meggison connected on a pass from Tim Carey, sprinting 20 yards to score.

At the half the score was tied 6-6.

In the third period, Charlevoix scored again on a pass from Tim Carey to Bill Carey, who ran 30 yards for paydirt, boosting the score to 12-6. The same combination, Carey-to-Carey gave Charlevoix the extra point.

Charlevoix then clinched the victory when Jerry Pease latched onto the ball and carried it 40 yards for the Rayders' third TD of the game.

Alpena attempted a come-back, but lost the ball on the five-yard line on a fumble.

Charlevoix's first home game of the season will be this Friday night against Petoskey.

CHARLEVOIX QUARTERBACK Bill Carey (No.21) and unidentified Red Rayder scramble for ball during Charlevoix's first game of the season Friday with Alpena Catholic Central.

IT IS a long way to Alpena and back on a school bus! as this sleepy rider who attended Charlevoix's first game of the season will attest.

RAYDER FULLBACK Joe Jones tramples Alpena Catholic Central gridders underfoot as he heads for paydirt. But more trouble lies just ahead.

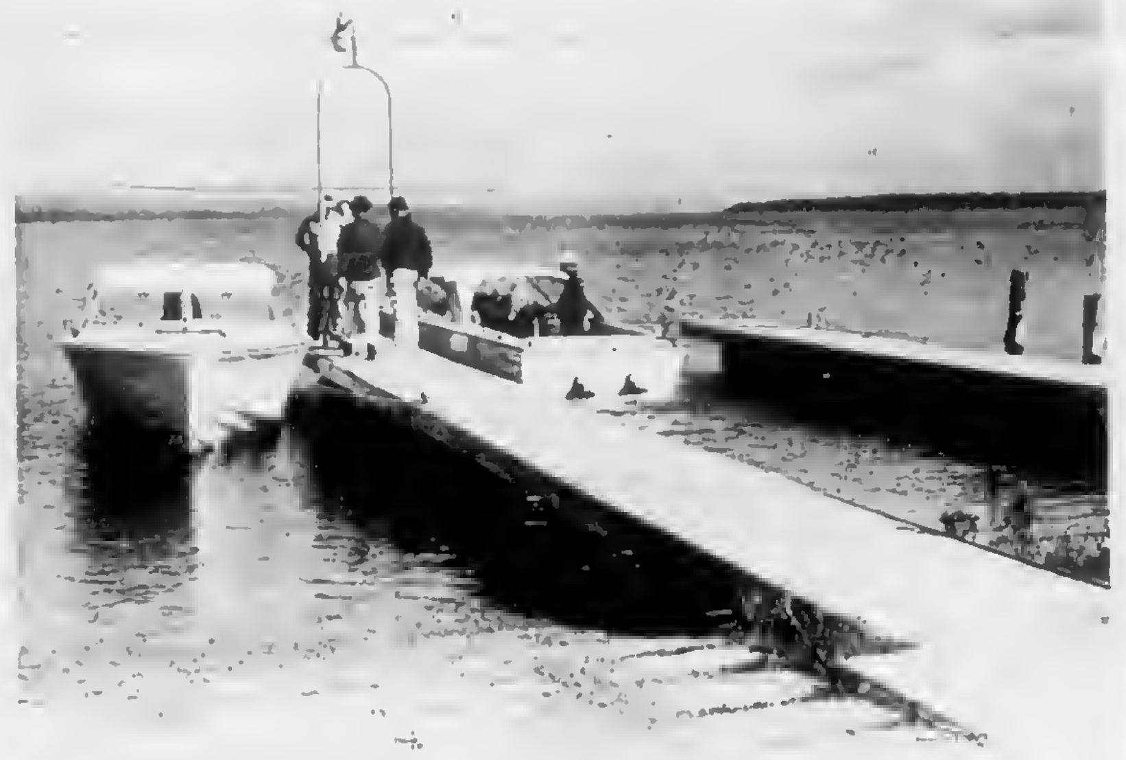
THE RESTROOM building at Charlevoix's new boat launching ramp and parking area at Ferry Beach is nearing completion. Last week, workmen spread fill in preparation for blacktopping of the parking area.



GOOD WEATHER over the weekend attracted hundreds of boaters and fishermen to the Charlevoix area. The old boats ramps at Ferry Beach are still in use while the new ramps are under construction.

32 Aircraft Call Charlevoix Home

The Aeronautics Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce reports that there are 32 aircraft registered in Charlevoix County this year, more than twice as many as in neighboring Emmet County.

The commission said a total of 5,504 aircraft — ranging from huge cargo planes to single-engine pleasure craft — are presently registered in Michigan, a gain of 3.2 percent over last year. The gain is the smallest since 1962.

However the number of aircraft registered in the state increased by 75.5 percent between 1960 and 1970.

Since the end of World War II, the Commission noted, aircraft registrations have increased by more than 200 percent, double the national growth rate for the same period. Fewer than 1,800 aircraft were registered in Michigan in 1946.

Although its total registrations dropped slightly, Wayne County (Detroit) leads the list with 823, followed by Oakland County with 734.

Eleven other counties have more than 100. They are Genesee (Flint) 315; Kent (Grand Rapids), 241; Clinton, 239; Washtenaw, 232; Kalamazoo, 208; Macomb, 192; Monroe, 128; Jackson, 126; Berrien, 113; Saginaw, 107; and Calhoun, 100.

In northern Michigan, Antrim County has 12; Emmet County, 15; Otsego County, 13; Cheboygan County, 7; and Grand Traverse County, 33.

Charlevoix County's 32 aircraft are based at four airports: Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Boyne Falls (Boyne Mountain).

A SURE SIGN that summer is on the wane is the disappearance of parking meters from city streets. Fall arrives officially today (Wednesday).

Starts College

Larry Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton, started his first term at Northern Michigan University this fall along with Mark Erickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Erickson. Larry's address at school will be 308 Hunt Hall, Northern Michigan University, Marquette, Mich.

Liquor Store Clerk Retiring

Henry V. Dombrowski, 59, of Charlevoix, a clerk in the state liquor store, is retiring on a disability pension after 25 years of service, the Michigan Department of Commerce has announced.

Dombrowski, who lives at 303½ Bridge-st., worked in Adrian and Mt. Pleasant before his transfer to Charlevoix in 1955.

His retirement is effective Sept. 26.

Retiring at the same time will be Howard D. Reed, 61, of Belding, manager of the state liquor store in Greenville, according to the Commerce Department.

New Hours

Effective Monday, Sept. 28, new hours for the secretary of state's office and drivers license bureau in East Jordan will be 8:30 a.m. until noon and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The office will be closed Tuesdays and Thursdays.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.
Chevrolet
Worth seeing. Worth owning. Worth waiting for.

Vega. Not just another little car. But one little car that does everything well. You get more room, more weight and more power than most little cars give you, yet the gas mileage is right in the same neighborhood with the best of them. Vegas come dressed up, too, not stripped to the bone so you have to add a lot to make them liveable. Drive one. You'll see.

Caprice. There's a double layer of steel in the roof, a steel guard beam in each door, power disc brakes up front, a new power ventilation system inside, a wheelbase two and one-half inches longer. You get the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, but at Chevrolet prices. And that's the kind of change during these tight-money times that all of us can appreciate.

A vanishing tailgate. A big change in our big wagon. The window goes up into the roof, the Glide-Away tailgate vanishes beneath the floor. Out of sight. Out of your way for easy loading even in a closed garage or when you have a trailer hooked on.

See what we mean by putting you first? September 29 at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Now's the Time to Take a Michigan Color Tour

Michigan's big color show is about to get underway, and Dame Nature has already begun testing fringes in the Upper Peninsula, where it all begins.

The annual spectacular changes late summer dusty greens of Michigan's forestlands into a wild rampage of colors, ranging the color spectrum from pale yellows, orange, red and deep, rich browns, and all intermediate shades.

Exploding along the shores of Lake Superior first in late September, the show gradually moves southward until the entire state is ablaze around mid-October. This is Michigan in her finest raiment, unabashed in her rampant flambuoyancy and splendor.

Boat Cruise Set For Sunday, Oct. 11

Charlevoix's own color cruise, sponsored by the chamber of Commerce, is scheduled for Oct. 11 aboard the motor ship Beaver Islander. The boat will leave the city dock at 1 p.m., cruise past thousands of acres of acres of colorful hardwoods along the banks of Lake Charlevoix and return about 4 p.m.

Visitors who come to Michigan to view the fall colors find unexpected bonuses. Gone is the summer crowd and public lodging is easier to come by. Michigan's always-safe freeways are less congested, but autumn visitors find the best way to travel is through the lesser traveled routes where the forests in their changing colors hug the roads and where stopping is permitted for those "must" camera shots.

Campers find a special kind of excitement in Michigan's autumn when crisp nights and balmy days combine for the invigorating rewards campers seek. Michigan's nearly 80 state parks and 30 state forests offer thousands of camping sites and, unlike the summer season, there is no waiting. Most state parks offer electricity, modern plumbing and hot water.

Autumn color viewers combine color tours with the sightseeing. The Michigan Tourist Council offers a free, Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide, brochure containing 24 suggest color tours throughout the state along with sightseeing suggestions. Although the guide is a handy reference, visitors will have no problem in view the colors as the entire state is one vast color amphitheatre.

One of the suggested tours takes viewers through the famed Copper Country of the Keweenaw Peninsula. The tour encompases the northern section of US-41, circling back on secondary routes edging the eastern side of the peninsula. Along the route are copper mines to see, ghost towns, waterfalls and perhaps a stop along the way for photography and to look for agates on the Lake Superior shores.

At the eastern edge of the Upper Peninsula, take US-2 northward from the Mackinac Bridge, heading up to Sault Ste. Marie where ships of all nations will still be locking through. Returning, take Michigan highways 129 and 48 southward, or make your own way, to DeTour Village. A visit to nearby Drummond Island, where you can drive your own car, is a delightful side trip.

Just below Saginaw Bay another suggested tour begins at Birch Run. At the intersection of I-75, take Michigan highway 83 north to 81 and head east over 53 and 142 to Harbor Beach. From here, follow US-25 along the scenic Lake Huron shoreline around Saginaw Bay to as far as you want to go.

This tour is augmented by a suggested stop at Frankenmuth for a world-famous chicken dinner and a retail store where it's Christmas year around. The trip goes by beer and cheese factories, historic lighthouses, shipyards and fishing villages.

MANY COLOR tourists consider a trip on a Ironton Ferry a "must." The ferry will continue running until ice closes the mouth of the South Arm.

Color viewers who like the big city atmosphere and wilderness, too, can combine both in a tour beginning in Dearborn. Here is historic Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum where it takes more than a day to see everything. Westward bound on Michigan highway 153 the tour goes through Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor, where it continues on highway 52.

Through Dexter and Gregory it's a short trip to Hell where the local community plays the game with its name. Over M-36, and through the woods the viewer can explore his way back to Dearborn through suggested routes taking in Whitmore Lake and Plymouth. Getting lost is a possibility, so be sure the gas tank is full.

Battle Creek is the focal point of a tour suggested in western Michigan. Westward over Michigan highway 89 to Richland, then secondary roads through Doster and Plainwell takes the color viewer over winding roads and gentle hills through a panorama of color to Hastings. It's a circultous route, so a highway map will come in handy. Here the route changes to M-79 going to Charlotte, then south on M-78 back to Battle Creek.

The tour offers a visit to the world's largest cereal plant, a stop at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary where wild birds of many feathers flock, art galleries, museums and, of course, an extended view of the magnificent fall colors.

For a free copy of the Michigan Autumn Color Tour Guide listing these and other tours write the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926.

UPS AND DOWNS

The average person refers to north on a map as "up," but residents of Maine still call their rocky coastline Down East. The term is a carry-over from sailing days, when ships from Maine sailed upwind to Boston, then coasted home before southwesterly winds on a "downhill run."

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends on your sense of humor. If interrupting your washing or ironing to rush upstairs to answer the telephone leaves you breathless, then an extension telephone makes good sense.

An extension telephone saves steps and lets you do your telephoning from where you are. You can select from many smart styles and decorative colors.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can have an extension telephone in any funny old place you'd like.

Medusa Comes Across When Chips Are Down

Thanks to the cooperation of the Medusa Portland Cement Co., the city of Charlevoix now has a site for its proposed waste water treatment plant.

Although the company was understandably reluctant to give up any of its valuable limestone holdings on South Point, it agreed to sell 10 acres of land to the city as the site of the proposed facility.

Although some residents of Boulder Park objected to having the plant "in their backyards", so to speak, the site was the No. 1 choice of engineers who have made a thorough study of the area.

The building itself should be an attractive addition to the lakeshore, with a fieldstone front blending in with architecture of other buildings in the area, according to City Superintendent Thomas Hanna.

Other portions of the facility, including settling tanks, will either be flush with the ground or so low that they will scarcely be able to be seen from Lakeshore-dr.

Although Medusa agreed to the sale of the land, it is still interested in a trade if the city can come up with ten acres of comparable land in the area. As it is, the company has retained mineral rights to the lakeshore property, with an understanding that it will in no way encroach upon or damage the new sewage facility.

Actually, the waste water treatment plant will occupy only a small portion of the 10-acre tract.

Although the site acquisition hurdle has been cleared, there is still plenty of work to do before the proposed plant becomes a reality.

A major issue is the passage of $700,000 in general obligation bonds, which the city council has agreed to put on the Nov. 3 ballot. If the bond issue fails, the entire sewage project will be thrown into a tailspin.

The city has been guaranteed $642,500 by the state and $64,250 by the federal government to assist with the project, but both grants would probably have to be renegotiated with uncertain results if the municipal bonds fail to win approval.

The total cost of the project has been estimated at $1,565,000, of which the city is obligated to pay 50 percent.

The project will necessitate an increase in city taxes from eight mills (one of the lowest in northern Michigan) to about 14 mills.

To the resident whose property carries an evaluation of $6,000, this will mean an increase in city taxes of $36 a year, or $3 a month.

But the results — in terms of clean water — will be well worth the extra money.

Charlevoix's waste water for the past 40 years has been discharged directly into Pine River Channel, after primary treatment at the present plant to remove solids and destroy bacteria.

But the water is still so heavily laden with nutrients, principally phosphorous compounds, that it has spurred the growth of algae and other plant life in all of our surrounding waterways, contaminating the crystal clear water that once made Charlevoix famous.

However, it is not too late to reverse the process.

And the new sewage plant, which will discharge water "clean enough to drink" into Lake Michigan, is a major part of the solution.

You might want to look upon your share of the bond issue as a perpetual Christmas gift to your grandchildren and your great-grandchildren.

Lake County Declares War on Throw-Aways

Sometimes the answers to our ecological problems are deceptively simple.

Plagued by unsightly throw-away containers in parks, along roadways and in waterways, the Lake County Board of Commissioners last week passed an ordinance banning the sale of beer and soft drinks in such containers after April 1, 1971.

"Basically we're a tourist area in which clean rivers and streams are very important," commented the board's attorney Edward Kaplan in explaining the action.

"We don't feel this will end littering, but it might get other communities to do the same and put pressure on producers of soft drinks and beer so that they'll switch to returnable bottles," he said.

The ordinance has some teeth in it, providing a 90-day jail term and $100 fine for violators.

Of course, throw-away cans won't disappear from the Lake County landscape overnight since the board has no control over persons who buy their beverages outside the county.

But if every one of Michigan's 83 counties enacted a similar ordinance at least one segment of the litter problem would be taken care of in short order.

Of course there will be some static from the bottlers who object to the extra cost of handling returnable containers. And the added cost undoubtedly will be passed on to the consumer.

But it's the consumer-taxpayer who must pay to have the discarded throw-aways picked up anyway, so it probably won't cost him any more in the long run.

The Lake County Board of Commissioners is to be congratulated for its pioneering ordinance. The Courier would like to see Charlevoix County follow suit.

Governor Enters Oil Controversy

Gov. William G. Milliken has asked the Natural Resources Commission to set aside issuance of oil and gas drilling permits on leased lands in the Pigeon River State Forest area. The lands in question are in Otsego County just east of the Charlevoix County line.

"We just can't afford to take chances with our environment," the Governor said in releasing the text of a letter he sent to Commission Chairman E.M. Laitala. "This is another instance of having to give as much consideration to ecology as to technology."

Following is the text of Milliken's letter:

"It is my understanding that requests for permits for oil and gas drilling on leased lands in the Pigeon River State Forest area are anticipated very soon.

"I have great concern about potential environmental intrusion and encroachment from oil and gas drilling in this important scenic state forest area. It is a particularly unique area because it is in the heart of the limited elk range in Michigan. There appear to be unanswered questions regarding the impact of oil and gas drilling upon the esthetic and environmental assets of this area."

He Wants To Explain Birch Aims

Dear Editor:

I have sent the enclosed letter to the Republican Country Chairman of the 106th Legislative District. Also to the defeated candidates in the recent primary election for the office of State Representative and the Democratic nominee.

These meetings are open to the public, as all Birch presentation meetings are. I would hope that you would also be able to attend one or more of these presentations.

Thank you for your interest.

Sincerely,
Malcolm W. Dale
Coordinator
The John Birch Society

Dear Editor:

The honest lack of knowledge about the beliefs and principles of the John Birch Society by yourself and others in the 106th Legislative District has concerned me deeply. I am sure you are aware of this problem. All kinds of ideas have been forth-coming from the local radio and newspaper media about what the John Birch Society is all about.

Therefore I am taking this opportunity to invite you and any other interested person to attend one ~~(or more if you desire) of~~ the public meetings listed below. At each of these meetings I will show a three reel filmed lecture by C. Edward Griffin that explains in detail the political, economic, social and religious beliefs of the Society. Mr. Griffin will also explain our position on morality and individualism and why we oppose amorality and collectivism. Mr. Griffin will conclude his lecture with a concise outline of our organization's structure and the tactics we use in promoting our ideas. Mr. Griffin is a Major Coordinator in the John Birch Society and is a noted author and lecturer. He was raised in the Detroit area and is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He now resides in Southern California.

At the conclusion of the Griffin lecture, I will be available, as long as necessary, to answer questions that you might have. I suggest that you bring note paper and pencil so that you will not forget ideas or questions that might come to you during the course of the lecture.

I do not pretend to be able to answer all questions that might arise, but I will do my best.

I know that you and other good Americans are as anxious as I am to preserve this wonderful country of ours. You also know that nothing makes our enemies happier than to have the people of this country fighting against one another. Therefore, I urge you to come to one of the meetings of the Society so you can judge us yourself and decide for yourself whether the principles we espouse are really directed toward the upward reach of mankind.

Kindest Regards,
Malcolm W. Dale
Coordinator
The John Birch Society

Editor's Note: The Charlevoix meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 24, at the First State Bank.

Clockwise

With Bob Clock

As a taxpayer in the Charlevoix School District, I resent having been made a part of a conspiracy by the board of Education and the Charlevoix Education Association to pick the pockets of our school teachers and turn the money over to state and national labor organizations.

In case you missed it, the new contract between the teachers and the board requires that all faculty members belong not only to the Charlevoix Education Association (CEA) but also to the Michigan Education Association (MEA) and the National Education Association (NEA).

Don't ask me how those last two outfits got their fingers into the pie because I don't know. The contract specifically states that the CEA is the "exclusive bargaining representative" for Charlevoix teachers.

The contract doesn't even mention the MEA or the NEA until it gets into the business about dues and fees. But when it does, they are right in line with the CEA, hats in hand, waiting for a share of the closed-shop bonanza.

It would make just as much sense if the contract required all teachers to belong to the Audubon Society and the Sierra Club.

Closed-shop in the Charlevoix School System?

You bet!

If a teacher doesn't actually belong to the CEA, the MEA or the NEA, he is obligated by the contract to kick in an amount to the CEA equal to what his dues would be if he belonged to all three organizations.

And what if he doesn't kick in? Simple. He is fired.

Dues for the three ogranizations come to $135 a year, which is quite a bit to expect anyone to pay in one lump sum, even a school teacher. So our obliging Board of Education has agreed to let him pay his dues (or fees) to the three labor unions in ten convenient monthly installments of $13.50 each, via payroll deductions.

In any event, most teachers don't even see the money and for all practical purposes the people of the Charlevoix School District are being taxed to support the unions to the tune of $135 a year for every teacher on the payroll.

In case you can't believe what you just read, here is the official language of the contract under Article IV — Professional Dues or Fees and Payroll Deductions:

"A. Any teacher who is a member of the Association (CEA) or who has applied for membership, may sign, and deliver to the Board an assignment authorizing deductions of membership dues in the Associatiopn, including the NEA and the MEA. Such authorization shall continue in effect from year to year unless revoked in writing between June 1 and September 15 of any year. Pursuant to such authorization, the Board shall deduct 1/10th of such dues from the second regular salary check of the teacher each month for 10 months, beginning in September and ending in June of each year. Deductions for teachers employed after the commencement of the school year shall be prorated to complete payment by the following June.

"B. Any teacher who is not a member of the Association in good standing or who does not make application of membership within 30 days after the commencement of teaching duties, shall as a condition of employment pay as a fee to the Association an amount equal to membership dues payable to the Association, the NEA and the MEA, provided, however, that the teacher may authorize payroll deductions for such fee in the same manner as provided in Paragraph A of this Article. In the event that a teacher shall not pay such fee directly to the Association or authorize payment through payroll deductions as provided in Paragraph A, the Board shall immediately cause the termination of employment of such teacher. The parties expressly recognize that the failure of any teacher to comply with the provisions of this Article is just and reasonable cause for discharge from employment."

There you have it. A teacher, no matter how good he is, has no place in the Charlevoix School System unless he agrees to play ball with organized labor.

Although the closed-shop has won approval in the courts and is one of the facts of life in big industry, I do not believe it has any place in such publicly supported institutions as the Charlevoix School System.

It is one thing to tell a worker in private industry that he must belong or support a labor union. It is quite another to require public servants, paid from public coffers, to do the same thing.

Their support comes from a variety of sources — some pro-union, some anti-union. It is patently unfair for anyone, including the School Board or any professional organization, to tell teachers how they should spend their money, or that they must make an involuntary contribution to this group or that group in order to work.

Unfair, hooey! It's downright criminal. In the big cities it's run by the Mafia and called a "protection racket." In northern Michigan it is run by the school board and the teachers' association and it's called "dues and fees."

If a teacher wants to pay union dues, well and good. If he doesn't want to pay union dues that is, or should be, nobody's business but his own. Certainly payment of such dues is a moral obligation if he subscribes to the tenents of the union; but it should never be made a condition of employment.

Furthermore, under Article II of the contract, the board agrees that every employe has the "right freely to organize, join and support the Association (CEA) for the purpose of engaging in collective bargaining or negotiation and other concerted activities for mutual aid and protection."

It seems to us that Article 11 also implies the right not to organize, join and support such an association.

What bothers me most about the contract is the apparent enthusiasm on the part of both the teachers and the school board for the closed-shop philosophy, finding failure to comply with it as "just and reasonable" cause for the ouster of a teacher.

The words "just and reasonable" have never, to my knowledge, been used more inappropriately.

As Americans steeped in the tradition of individual freedom, members of the School Board and the CEA who drew up the contract ought to be ashamed of themselves.

The Language Gap

By Jim Fitzgerald

There wouldn't be so much campus unrest if there were more interdiction at the generation gap.

You maybe don't understand that sentence. But I like to keep this column typically topical. Everybody talks about campus unrest here, interdiction there, and the generation gap everywhere. What am I supposed to write about, the League of Nations and Knute Rockne?

When, I lived on a campus there was always a bunch of guys getting drunk and putting NO Parking signs in the shower. Or they hollered around the girls' dormitory, asking for silk panties when they really wanted something else. Or they snake-danced through town, blocking traffic and bugging merchants.

Mostly, I used to flop in bed and listen to all that noise outside. Or I would retreat to a lovely tavern that sold 10 cent beer. It was frequented by war-weary veterans who had no energy for yanking up parking signs. We often discussed the young nuts who were throwing rolls of toilet paper at each other so as to help Michigan State beat Notre Dame at football the next morning.

But I can't remember anyone saying: "My, there is a lot of unrest on the campus tonight."

These were the recuperation years following World War II but already there was trouble starting in Korea. Another thing I never heard said in that lovely tavern was: "Boy, somebody better interdict those Koreans or the first thing you know, somebody is going to interdict us."

Another thing often discussed over that cheap beer was how come our fathers didn't send us haircut money so we could buy more beer with it. Or how come our mothers kept sending cookies when what we wanted was money for beer. Or how come our fathers couldn't understand why we were studying to become writers and bullfighters, like Ernest Hemingway, rather than merchants and carpet salesmen, like our fathers.

But I can't remember even one guy saying, "The trouble is that we have a generation gap."

I think it is ironic that, in 1947, we never said any of these words that everyone is saying now.

Panty raids and snake dances were pretty harmless things, especially when you look at today's Kent State and bombed libraries. The "police action" in Korea was a family brawl compared to the bloodshed in Vietnam. And the 1947 teen-ager might have thought his dad was a square, but Junior didn't flip out on pills, and go live in a doorway in San Francisco.

Things are a lot uglier today, but the words are prettier. You don't kill the enemy; You interdict him. There's not a bunch of violent jerks destroying and disrupting on the campus. That's just unrest. And that's not bitter hate and disrespect between long-haired, turned-on Junior and his racist, Wasp father. It's only a gap.

Years ago I had a boss who, my first day at work, said an uncommonly wise thing. "Let's always have plain talk between us," he said.

What this world needs is more plain talk. Then maybe somebody will listen to somebody. And understand.

Early Yanks Quenched Thirst With Apple Cider

When the frost is on the pumpkin and the cider is in the cellar, all's right with the world.

Autumn has been cider time in the United States since colonial days, the National Geographic Society says. Cider–sweet and hard–was the chief beverage of the colonists, who drank it by the barrel.

These days, cider is more likely to be bottled than barreled and sweet instead of hard, but it remains a popular drink. In apple country, as summer ends, every roadside stand displays jugs of the golden brown beverage; cider and doughnuts are autumn staples.

NATURAL JUICE

All cider is made from apple juice, but all apple juice is not cider. The freshly squeezed liquid treated to prevent spoilage, and sold in sealed bottles and cans, generally is regarded as plain apple juice.

Sweet cider is fresh apple juice with no preservatives added. Hard cider is apple juice that has been allowed to ferment naturally. Applejack is something else again. It is apple brandy, distilled from hard cider. Unlike many other fruit distillates, applejack retains the distinctive aroma of the original fruit.

At one time, farmers made applejack by merely freezing hard cider. The unfrozen residue was a crude and powerful drink, whose effect, one rueful imbiber recalled, was like a crack on the head with a hammer. Modern applejack is distilled twice and aged in barrels like a fine brandy.

CIDER MAKER

Laird & Co., distillers in Scobeyville, New Jersey, have been making applejack since 1780. The firm claims that its consumer product is the oldest in the United States still made by the original family. George Washington, who made cider at Mount Vernon, asked for the Laird applejack recipe from the firm's founder, Samuel E. Laird.

Washington, however, had his doubts about drinking fresh cider. During the Revolutionary War, he issued a general order that said: "As nothing is more pernicious to the health of Soldiers, nor more certainly productive of the bloody-flux than drinking New Cyder: The General in the most positive manner commands the entire disuse of the same."

"CHEERING LIQUOR"

Robert B. Thomas, the original publisher of the Farmer's Almanack, endorsed cider. In his 1793 almanac, Thomas advised: "See that your cellars are well stored with good cider, that wholesome and cheering liquor...which suits both your constitution and your pocket much better than West-India spirit."

Many farmers had their own small presses to squeeze the foaming juices from Northern Spies, Fameuses, Golden Russets, Hampshire Sweets, Gravensteins, and other old-time apple varieties.

"Old ci-dah" still is cherished in New England. Fred Copeland, a Vermonter, vividly recalled the magic of going to the cellar for cider:

"It was always so deep-twilight in the cellar you had to take a barn lantern. Its pale light would cast a spectral glow along the brown bellies of the row of barrels. And when you knelt with a hammer and old white crockery pitcher beside an untapped barrel it was an event. You slid the pitcher under the spigot, then tapped gently on the wooden spigot screw. Reluctantly it turned. With a velvety hiss a pure white stream plunged into the pitcher. Then it went silent as foam built up like cotton. A mellow, fruity aroma floated out into the darkness."

Obituary

Mrs. Pashenee

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Elmer Pashenee, 67, in Lansing on Sept. 13.

The former Elsie Greensky was born in Bay Shore in 1903 and was a great-granddaughter of Peter Greensky, founder of the Greensky Hill Indian Methodist Church.

Funeral was Sept. 19 at the Palmer-Bush Funeral Home in Lansing, with burial in Charlotte. A number of relatives and friends from the Charlevoix area attended.

Mrs. Pashenee lived in the Charlevoix area most of her life, attending the Mt. Pleasant Indian School. She moved to Lansing about 25 years ago where she was a member of the Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband and one step-son, Jim Pashenee; three brothers, Jacob and George Greensky of Detroit and Issac Greensky of Sawyer, Minn.; and two sisters, Mrs. Willard Shomin of West Branch (formerly of Petoskey) and Mrs. Marjorie Meshekey of Detroit.

Infant Son

Graveside services were held at Brookside Cemetery Sept. 19 for Lonnie M. Sobleskey, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sobleskey of Lyons. The Rev. E. Francis Denay officiated.

Lonnie was born Sept. 14 at Charlevoix Hospital and died Sept. 16 at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey.

Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Lisa and Sonya; a brother, Gerald jr.; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kaskey of Charlevoix; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sobleskey of Ellsworth; and great grandparents Edward Kaskey sr. of Chicago and Mrs. Robert Howe of Charlevoix.

Arrangements were handled by the Winchester Funeral Home.

Mrs. Swartz

Graveside services were held at Brookside Cemetery Sept. 21 for Mrs. R.L. (Lavina Seeley) Swartz, 85, who died in Chicago Sept. 16.

Mrs. Swartz survived two husbands, John S. Ackert of Charlevoix who died in 1929 and R. L. Swartz.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Vern (Rita Swartz) Moystner; one step-son, R.J. Swartz and three grandchildren.

GOP to Meet On Thursday

The Charlevoix County Republican party will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 24, at the Charlevoix County Courthouse, according to Oscar Stroud, chairman.

Stroud said that Rep. Robert W. Davis is expected to attend the meeting to discuss the upcoming Nov. 3 general election.

All local Republicans are urged to attend.

The general session will be followed by an executive meeting of GOP officers.

Democracy Leads To 'Mob Rule' JBS Contends

More than 50 Charlevoixans turned out last Thursday evening at the First State Bank designed to acquaint them with the goals and philosophy of the John Birch Society.

The Society has skyrocketed into prominence in northwestern Michigan during the past year. One of its leaders, Richard Friske, has won the nomination for the 106th district seat in the House of Representatives.

The meeting was conducted by Malcolm Dale of Eastport, one of two coordinators for the JBS in Michigan.

Dale showed a two-hour film narrated by G. Edward Griffin, a graduate of the University of Michigan now living in California. After the meeting, Dale attempted to answer questions about the society.

Griffin said members of the JBS are "individualists" as opposed to "collectivists." Individualists believe in freedom while collectivists believe in compulsion, he said.

He said the society is in the "middle of the road", with anarchy at one side and totalarianism at the other.

Griffin said the society is against the graduated income tax because "the poor pay, not the rich." He added that a graduated income tax destroys the incentive to produce, so there is less taxable income and less "surplus" to distribute to the poor.

He said it is the function of government to protect the needy, but not to provide for the needy.

The lecturer talked at length on the evils of democracy as opposed to a "constitutional republic." He said a democracy leads to "mob rule."

Griffin said the immediate goal of the John Birch Society is the defeat of communism, "the first order of business."

He said there are two types of social organization, democratic and monolithic. The JBS, he said, is monolithic out of necessity, just like an army, a football team, a business or industry.

"It has to be (monolithic) in order to preserve its ideology. In a democracy the basic ideology or philosophy is soon lost because it can be changed at anytime that the majority votes to do so.

"Our major political parties were founded on a set of beliefs, but because they use a democratic form of government, no one today even knows what the principles were," Griffin said.

He said the JBS has been the target of attacks by Communists who imply that the organization is racist, anti-semitic, or Negro, Nazi oriented.

"The frequency of these attacks are proof that the Communist organization is afraid of the John Birch Society," he said.

"For the first time someone has both the facts and the organization to expose the Communist conspiracy, so of course the John Birch Society is constantly the victim of false and vicious propaganda," he said.

Griffin said the Robert Welch, the founder of the JBS, is regarded with something nkin to "reverence" by members.

He added that the aim of the JBS is to have 1,000 members in every congressional district in the country.

Color Cruise May Skirt Harbor Area

Plans are being finalized for the annual Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce color cruise, scheduled for Oct. 11.

Manager Dick Oestrike said the motor ship Beaver Islander will leave the city dock at 1 p.m., returning about 4 p.m.

The cruise route will depend on the weather, Oestrike said. If it's a calm day, the Beaver Islander will head for Lake Michigan, follow the shore to Nine Mile Point, cross Little Traverse Bay to Harbor Springs and skirt the headlands west of Harbor before returning to Charlevoix.

If the weather is gusty, the ship will remain in Lake Charlevoix, cruising to Boyne City and back.

Dance music will be supplied by Wayne Belding. Food and refreshments will be served on board.

Tickets are available at the Chamber of Commerce office or from Charlevoix merchants displaying color cruise posters.

1st PTO Meeting Is Oct.7

The first meeting of the Parent Teacher's Organization will be held Wednesday, Oct. 7, at the Elementary School Gym.

This year informal coffees have been planned before the meetings, at 7:30. The first of these will be hosted by the PTO Executive Board. At 8 the regular meeting will begin with the introduction of the new superintendent, Robert Miller. New teachers also will be introduced.

Speaker for the evening will be Dr. William Stapp from the Department of Planning and Conservation at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Dr. Stapp is a graduate of U. of M. and won his varsity letter for wrestling in 1951. He was one of the featured lecturers at the Higgins Lake Conservation School this summer and will present slides which concern such problems as pollution.

He also will spend part of the next day in the schools, with teacher representatives, discussing ways to incorporate conservation information in classes.

A cordial invitation is extended to everyone in the community who might be interested in this program.

Membership dues may be paid at the meeting. Copies of the year's program, and copies of the school calendar will be available.

Hampton Trial Is Recessed

The Hampton Village special assessment trial has been recessed until Oct. 12.

Several residents of Eaton-st. are protesting thir assessment for improvements to Hampton Village on grounds that they won't benefit from them.

The case is being heard by Circuit Judge Stuart Hoffius of Grand Rapids.

College Night Set Oct. 7

The 17th annual Northern Michigan College Night will be held Wednesday, Oct. 7, beginning at 7:30 p.m. at Petoskey High School.

Three 30-minute periods will enable each student to visit three different college representatives. All high school students, particularly juniors and seniors, are urged to attend, according to Dr. William Ratigan, Charlevoix High School counselor.

Band Boosters

A special meeting of the Charlevoix Band Boosters will be held Wednesday, Sept. 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the band room at the High School.

ALTHOUGH he was suffering a sore throat, Richard Friske, GOP House of Representatives candidate from the 106th district, answered questions at Charlevoix County Republican meeting in the courthouse Sept. 24.

Friske Fails to Win Davis' Endorsement

Although he failed to receive an out-and-out endorsement from state Rep. Robert W. Davis at the Charlevoix County GOP meeting Sept. 24, Richard Friske apparently enjoys a modicum of support from local Republicans in the race for Davis' house seat.

Davis, who is running for the Senate, had been expected to make a public statement at the meeting endoraing Friske, the John Birch Society candidate, who also attended the meeting.

However, Davis said: "I am not a member of the John Birch Society and I never intend to be one. I am endorsing no one."

Friske, an Antrim County orchardman, will face Democrat Peter Johnson of Boyne City and write-in candidate Glenn Law jr. of St. Ignace, one of the 10 losers in the August primary.

Law contends he is the only Republican on the ballot because he says Friske supported George Wallace's American Independent Party in the 1968 presidential election.

Law, who also attended the meeting, was not given official recognition by the county GOP leaders. Throughout the lengthy meeting he stood at the rear of the crowded courtroom.

However, after the meeting, several GOP members approached him and offered their support.

Friske's chief critic at the meeting was Gregory Shadko, who says he is neither a Republican nor a Democrat.

Shadko charged that local Republicans are supporting Friske "because you'd rather have him than lose the seat."

Shadko also made several references to Friske's services with the German army during Wold War II until he was asked to be seated by County GOP Chairman Oscar Stroud.

Davis admitted that the 106th District seat is critical to the Republican Party leadership. It is one of the three seats the GOP hopes to regain this year, giving the party control of the house. For the past two years, there have been 53 Republican representatives and 57 Democratic representatives.

Davis said that Democrats take an unfair advantage of the situation when they are in the driver's seat, appointing Democrats as both chairmen and vice chairmen of all committees. He charged that the Democrats also stack committee membership heavily in their favor.

He pointed out that it is Republican policy to appoint GOP chairmen and Democratic vice chairmen and that Republican leaders strive for a close balance in committee membership.

With Democrats in power, Davis said it is extremely difficult for a Republican to get a bill out of committee.

The representative gave a brief run-down of what he considers important legislation in the offing, including stricter control of oil drilling on private land and preservation of wild, scenic rivers.

Although he had fought parochiaid, Davis said he favors the "shared time" concept which permits parochial students to take certain classes in public schools.

One interpretation of the parochiaid proposal on the November ballot would mean an end to the "shared time" concept if the proposal fails.

Davis said he expects the state Supreme Court to come up with its interpretation of the proposal sometime before the election.

Davis said he also favors lowering the voting age to 18, and establishing 18 as the age of financial responsibility.

Although he was having trouble speaking because of a throat ailment, Friske agreed to answer a few questions.

He said he is against parochiaid, "because what I finance today I will control tomorrow. Parochiaid would destroy private education."

Friske also said he opposed abortion reform on a moral basis. "It is illegal to take any life."

He said that in Russia old people who have outlived their usefulness are given a pill" and in two weeks they are dead." He said the state of Florida also considering a plan to "put away" old people.

(Contacted by telephone Friday, Florida's Deputy Attorney General Robert Kelly said some members of the legislature had considered a euthanasia "mercy killing" bill, but that it has not been introduced and probably will not be. The bill purportedly would leave the decision to live or die up to an hopelessly ill individuals.)

Friske termed such legislation, along with abortion reform, as a "broad license to kill."

Victor Kishigo of Petoskey, one of the candidates Friske defeated in the primary, asked the candidate if he could see any correlation between pollution and the over-population.

Friske said the answer to over-population lies with voluntary sterilization of either the man or the woman.

Turning to welfare, Friske said he would like to see every able bodied man and woman dropped from the welfare rolls if they are able to work.

Mich.-ave. Bucks Ban on Parking

Council Will Weigh 'Major Street' Tag

Michigan-ave. residents turned out in force Monday night at the city council meeting to protest a ban on parking on the east side of their street. The city claims the move is a prerequisite to having Michigan-ave. designated a major street by the state Highway Department.

The residents claim:

–That there will not be sufficient parking space for themselves and their guests.

–That there is no need for two lanes of traffic on a one-way street,

–That speeders and hot-rodders will be encouraged to use the street, and –That parking on the west side only poses a safety hazard, particularly at the curve where Michigan-ave. meets Division-st.

Mayor William Fochtman said the city asked the Highway Department for the reclassification from a local street to a major street in view of the fact that Michigan-ave. is the route followed by buses leaving the new elementary school.

He said the city will receive about $1 a foot (or $1,800 a year) from the Highway Department for the maintenance Michigan-ave. as a major street. He added if Michigan-ave. loses its designation, Division-st. also will become a local street, meaning an additional revenue loss to the city.

George Baldwin, a Michigan-ave. resident, suggested that school buses turn from Division onto Auld-st. where they would pass only four houses instead of 26.

Other objectors were Julius Gilbert, Mrs. Jack Begrow, Mrs. Gordon Freedman and Dr. Gilbert Saltonstall.

"We're paying the taxes on Michigan-ave.," Dr. Saltonstall reminded the council. "I think we're deserving of some consideration."

At the close of the meeting, the council said the ban will go into effect Oct. 5, as planned. But it is doubtful anyone will

Area Kids Did Well On Tests

A variety of issues ranging from the approval of coaching assignments to a report on the results of the Michigan Assessment program came before the Charlevoix Board of Education meeting in special session Monday night.

Gary Stutzman was named head track coach to succeed Del Terrill who has left the school system. Stutzman is a former track star at the local high school.

Other assignments that were formally approved were Don Carey as head football coach, Bruce Morgan as assistant Varsity coach and Dale Burge, Al Shindorf and Norman Probert as J-V and Freshman coaches.

Approval was also given two clubs and their faculty advisors, the High school Pep Club whose sponsor will be Mrs. Sandra Fassett and the Spanish Club whose advisor will be Mrs. Mary Seaman. There was some discussion regarding the reinstatement of clubs after an absence of one year. Supt. Robert L. Miller said he felt they were an important part of education.

Nursery Plans Open House

The newly formed Charlevoix Co-Operative Nursery will have an open house on Oct. 1 at 7:30 p.m. in the basement of the library. The public is invited.

Children enrolled in the nursery are requested to attend with their families. This will be the first opportunity for the children to view their room.

Class sessions will begin Oct. 5. Three-year-olds will attend on Monday and Wednesday mornings and four-year-olds on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

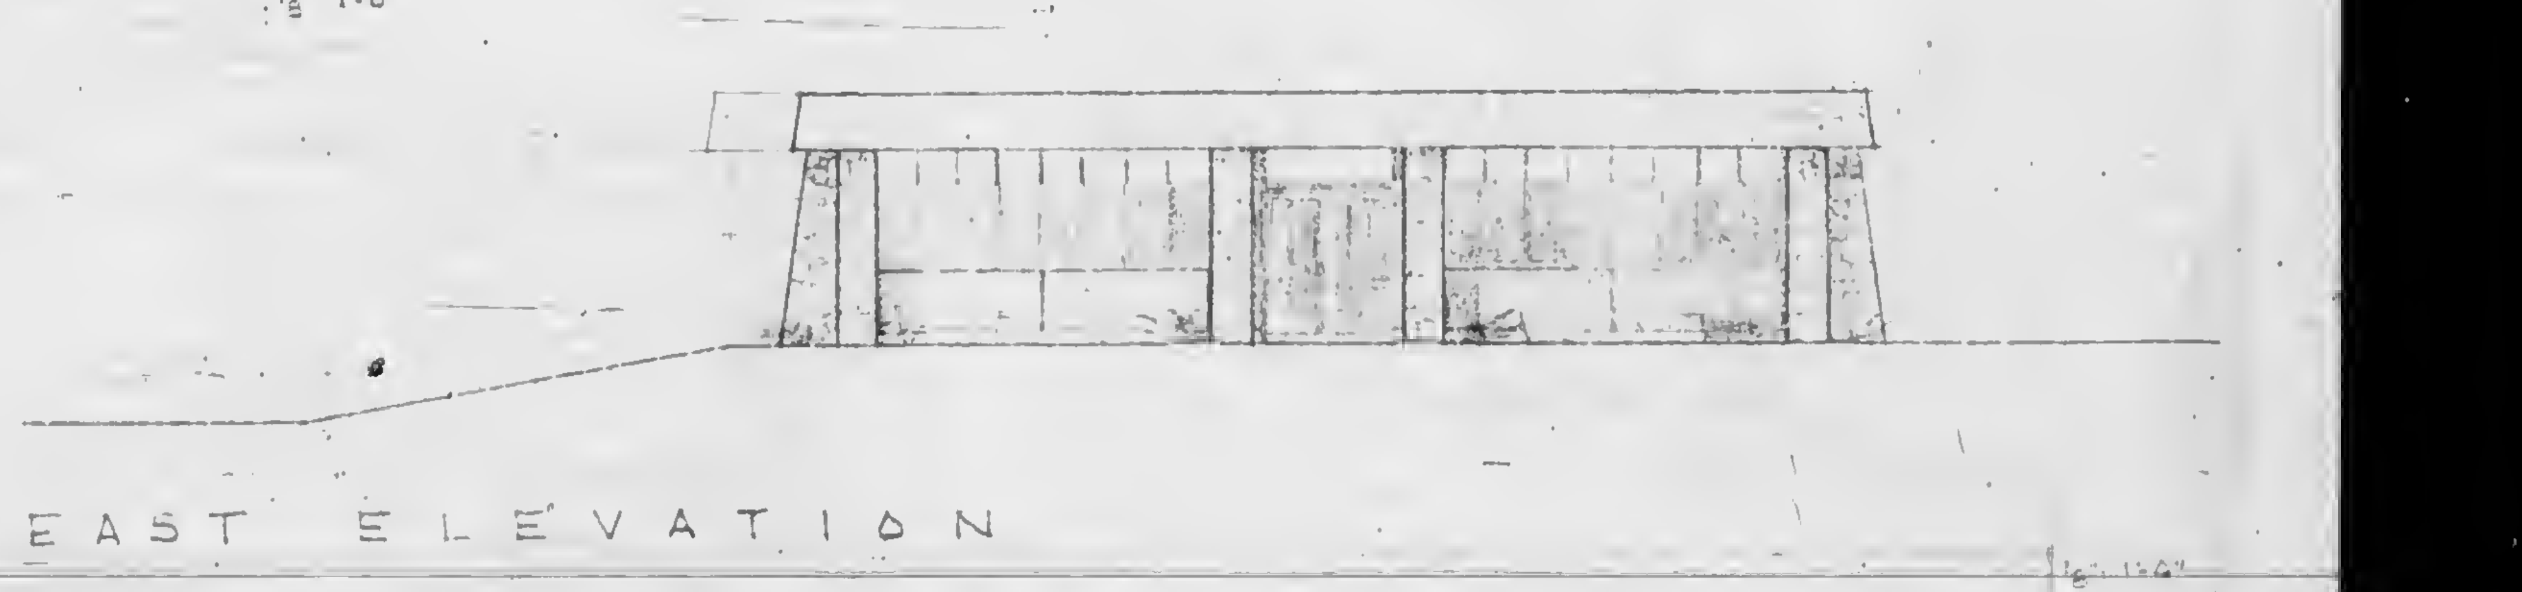
More Rental Units Needed For Booklet

Charlevoixans with rental property available any time during the year are reminded that the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is preparing a booklet of rental units to be mailed to prospective visitors.

Dick Oestrike, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said that four inquiries for the booklet have been received from the Grand Rapids area after notice of the booklet was published in the Grand Rapids Press.

However, no new rental units have been listed with the Chamber since the booklet was announced.

If you have rental property, simply fill out the form which appears on Page 10 of this week's Courier and mail it to the Chamber office.



ARCHITECT'S drawing shows east elevation of the proposed waste water treatment plant, to be erected on Lake Shore-dr. on 10 acres of land sold by Medusa Portland Cement Co. to the city. The building will have a fieldstone facade, blending with many of the homes in nearby Bounder Park. Residents of Charlevoix will be asked to vote $700,000 in general obligation bonds at the Nov. 3 election to finance their share of the project. The balance will come from state and federal monies.

RESOLUTION

Alderman WESTENBROEK offered the following resolution, supported by Alderman SUNDBERG.

WHEREAS, the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix does believe that the creation of a new and improved sewage treatment plant is necessary for the protection of the public health and welfare of its inhabitants, and

WHEREAS, the city's consulting engineers have recommended the following described parcel as the most appropriate approved site for the construction of a sewage treatment plant i.e.,

Situated in the Township of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, to-wit:

Commencing at the intersection of the South eighth line with the East line of Section 28, Town 34 North, Range 8 West, thence North along said section line 1261 feet to the center line of the County Road; thence South 70 degrees 34' West along the center line of said road to the West line of the East 275 feet of Government Lot I of said Section 28, being the point of beginning of this description; thence South, parallel with the East line of said section 806.28 feet; thence West, perpendicular to the last described course, 600 feet; thence North, parallel with the East line of said section, to the shore of Lake Michigan; thence Northeasterly along said shore to the West line of the East 275 feet of said government lot; thence South to the point of beginning; being a part of Government Lot 2, Section 28, Town 34 North, Range 8 West.

which parcel is presently owned by Crescent Stone Company, an Ohio Corporation.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, that the City of Charlevoix purchased from Crescent Stone Company the above described parcel and accept from Crescent Stone Company a warranty deed reserving unto Crescent Stone Company mineral rights to said parcel for a period of 10 years from the date of said deed so long as the taking and removing of said minerals do not affect or interfere with the city's maintenance and operation of a sewage treatment plant thereon. That the city of Charlevoix give to Crescent Stone Company a mortgage and mortgage note providing that the price for said parcel is in the amount of $10,000.00 with interest at the rate of 8 percent per annum compounded annually, said principal and interest to be paid by the City of Charlevoix to Crescent Stone Company within three years from the date of said mortgage, unless, within said three year period, Crescent Stone Company shall accept from the City of Charlevoix, a parcel of like acreage, whereupon the said mortgage will be fully satisfied by Crescent Stone Company.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Mayor and City Clerk of the City of Charlevoix are hereby authorized to execute a mortgage and mortgage note, and thereby bind the City of Charlevoix, in accordance with the terms and conditions as recited upon.

Adopted by the following yea and nay votes.

Yea: Sundberg, Westenbroek, Boss, Gill, Klooster and Mol.

Nay: None.

Absent: None.

Ellsworth PTA's Launch New Year

The first meeting of the Ebenezer Christian School P.T.A. was held Monday evening in the Christian Reformed Church.

Tom Wynsma, jr., outgoing president, led in devotions.

Speaker for the evening was Ivan Zylstra, Grand Rapids of the National Union of Christian Schools, who is also in the administrative government relations committee. He spoke on parochiad and the amendment which will by voted on Nov 3

Mrs. John Best, accompanied by Mrs Hans DeYoung sang, "How big is God" and "Follow close to Me." Officers for the coming year were elected: President, Carl Potts, vice president, Robert Hill, secretary, Mrs. Alan Vanniman, treasurer, Mrs. Jake Veenstra jr., and vicar, John Kooyer. Lunch was served to a good sized crowd by Mrs. Mike Postmus, Mrs. Henry DeVries, Mrs. Henry Heeres and Anne Osterbaan.

A good sized crowd also attended the first meeting of the Community School PTA Tuesday evening in the school cafeteria. The new president, Doug Way, presided and requested Rev. VanderWerff to ask the blessing. Way read the minutes of a P.T.A. meeting held in September 1940!

It was decided the P.T.A. again provide lunch for distant football and basketball teams. Mrs. Doug Way was appointed to be in charge of the volunteers to serve the lunch.

Superintendent Richard Strong introduced the 15 teachers. New teachers are Margery Spence and Hugh Campbell.

Mr. Bob Cook, of the vocational training teacher in Charlevoix, where 11 of our students attend, was the main speaker. He reported there many opportunities nearby for high school graduates in vocational training. Lunch was served by Mrs. Doug Way, Mrs. A. Anderson, Mr. George Drenth, Mrs. Marv Wynsmn, Mrs. Max Bolser and Mrs. Vern Ikens.

Art Fair Committee Picks '71 Chairman

Mrs James Shepard assumed her duties as chairman of the 1971 Waterfront Fair for Artists and Craftsman following a recent luncheon meeting of the committee and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce. The Dutch Treat event was held at the Weathervane Inn.

She succeeds Mrs. James Driggett who will now become a member of the committee.

Purpose of the meeting was the exchange of ideas between the Waterfront Fair committee and the Chamber of Commerce which sponsors the event

The group decided against increasing the fair to a two-day event but did decide to extend it through the evening hours on the day of the fair which is held on the second Saturday in August.

It was also decided to screen the entries more closely and to allow exhibitors more space. A small increase in the entry fee is being considered.

Mrs. Driggett reported that the fair had grossed $1,400 and that after paying expenses totaling $463.68 (for posters, supplies, programs, etc.) she had given a check of $936.32 to the Chamber of Commerce

Dick Oestrike, secretary-manager of the Chamber, was among those present.

Great Pines Meets Oct. 8

The Great Pines Chapter of the Michigan Retired Teachers' Association will meet Thursday, Oct. 8, at 2 p.m. in the III room of the First State Bank in Charlevoix, corner Clinton and State-sts.

Mrs. Rubye Stueck, president, and Mrs. Helen Richards will report on the workshop which they attended Sept 10 and 11 in Traverse City

Members also will be asked to fill out questionnaires for the White House Conference on Aging relative to what older Americans consider to be their needs. The answers will be used in drawing up a list of recommendations for President Nixon.

If it Fitz

Lawyers and Doctors

Right now, in my favorite town, there is being heard considerable criticism of the legal profession.

"This makes the doctors happy," a wise man explained to me. "If people spend enough time knocking lawyers, they may forget to rap the doctors."

You can hear a lot of phony reasons why doctors and lawyers are often targets of lockerroom gossip and bridge-table barbs. You can hear the real reason from most any young woman who is seeking a husband and has not yet fallen in love with a truck driver.

"I would like to marry a doctor or a lawyer," she will say.

This is because doctors and lawyers generally make a lot more money than truck drivers or newspaper writers. Mrs. Doctor can drive a Volkswagen because it's chic, not because it's all she can afford. When Mrs. Lawyer works on the church rummage sale, she doesn't come on duty early to search for shirts that will fit Junior.

There are, of course, exceptions. Some of my best friends are lawyers and doctors. Some of my best enemies, too. And many of them protest that all is not gold that glitters inside their crowded clinics and offices.

But they needn't protest to me. Rich or poor or in between it makes me no difference. Jealousy sours a man's stomach and makes everything he swallows taste bitter. I don't have time for envy. I'm too busy trying to pay my doctor bills.

Seriously, I don't begrudge the doctors and lawyers their incomes. I'm sure most of them work hard and honestly, and earn every cent. A survey would doubtless show that more people trust lawyers and doctors than trust newspaper editors. Me too.

Which brings me to my only real beefs against doctors and lawyers. They are too clannish and self-protective.

If I think newsmen have it coming, I don't hesitate to knock them – publicly and soundly.

But the other day, over a private Scotch and soda, a doctor told me too many doctors exercise their vanity by keeping terminal patients alive long after they should be allowed to die. But he forbade me to quote him. He didn't want to make his colleagues angry.

And I had 4 lawyers agree with me that a judge was doing something unlawful. But they all whispered and said they didn't dare speak out loud, they didn't want to offend the judge.

And the worst sin can be pinned on the lawyers alone. Too many of them take more cases than they have time for. This results in lousy service for the least important clients – usually the clients most in need of help and least likely to demand their money's worth. A couple of lawyers have admitted this to me – "but if you quote me I'll deny I said it."

Too many doctors and lawyers refuse to speak out against one another. Maybe it has something to do with protecting their standing in the various medical and bar associations. Or maybe it's the same understanding as in the U.S. Senate: "I won't pick on you if you don't pick on me."

Whatever the reasons, the result can be the continuation of undesirable practices and a thumb in the public eye.

Which is a heck of a lot worse than making more money than a truck driver.

Thomas Radle Met Bride on Ski Trip

Pamela Holtz of Watertown, Wisc., and Thomas Radle of Ludington were married Sept. 12 in St. Pauls University Chapel at Madison, Wisc., Fr. Thomas Coyle and Pastor A. Christensen officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Roger Holtz of Watertown and the late Mr. Holtz. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Radle. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller and Mrs. Esther Radle, all of Charlevoix.

The couple met in the French Alps during a ski trip sponsored by the University of Wisconsin Ski Club.

The bride wore a floor length empire gown of organza with a mandarin neckline, camelot sleeves and detachable chapel train, venise lace threaded with white satin ribbon trimmed the neckline, bodice and train. Her floor length veil fell from a Juliet crown and her bouquet included white spider mums and yellow tea roses.

Carol Bartusch of Milwaukee was maid of honor. Sisters of the bride and groom, Mrs. Thomas Frizzel of Ashland, Wisc., and Margaret Radle were the other attendants.

Lt. (JG) Dennis Burton, stationed with the Navy at Kingville, Texas, was best man. Groomsmen were the groom's brother, William and Gregory Meyer, of Madison. Another brother, James Radle, and William Bomber, Oshkosh, Wisc., were ushers.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the Ceba Club in Madison. The bridegroom's parents were hosts at a rehearsal dinner before the ceremony.

The new Mrs. Radle received a B.S. degree in nursing from the University of Wisconsin this year. The bridegroom has a BS in engineering from the U of W.

The couple is living in Ludington.

SCHROEDER DRUGS, INC.

401 Bridge St. Charlevoix

Group Needs More Clothing For Children

In May 1970, the TIN Committee began providing good used clothing to needy persons in the Charlevoix area.

The clothing is available to persons who have been referred to TIN by appropriate Charlevoix area organizations or individuals (the school nurse, Department of Social Welfare, teachers, pastors, and etc.).

The distribution center is located in the basement of the Charlevoix City Hall and is open Wednesday evening from 6 to 8 p.m.

During the past four months clothing was provided to 54 children and 10 adults.

In preparation for the winter months, good, clean used clothing is needed for children up to age 12. No adult clothing is needed at the present time.

Organizations or individuals who have children's clothing or who could provide help in sorting and distributing clothing or provide financial support are urged to contact one of the following committee members.

Mrs. Warren Wheat (clothing advisor) 547-2632 (call after 5 p.m.)

Mrs. Freida Novotny (treasurer) 547-6564.

Mr. David Bixel (president) 547-2501

Clothing may be delivered to the center between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. on Wednesday evenings.

Style Show To Highlight Club Meeting

A style show entitled "Mini, Midi, Maxi" will be the highlight of the opening dinner meeting of the Charlevoix Woman's Club Oct. 5 at the Weathervane Inn restaurant.

Mrs. Robert Barnum and Mrs. Richard Wood are planning a program of fashions from the Carriage Wheel, the Polly-Kay Shop, Shop of the Gulls and Liebermans.

Dinner will be at 6:30 p.m., followed by the style show.

Mrs. William Brady is in charge of reservations.

Garden Club Hears Anti-Pollution Tips

By Mrs. Ross Alexander

Members of the Garden Club met Sept. 8 at the home of Mrs. Lucille Rower, with Mrs. Wanda Hill as co-hostess.

A most interesting report was given by Mrs. Joyce Hosmer on the week she spent at the Conservation School at Higgins Lake this past summer, having been sponsored by the Garden Club.

She said the crisis now facing our environment demands immediate effective action by everyone. It is not enough simply to be aware and concerned. Everyone must act, even if the action is only in our own back yards.

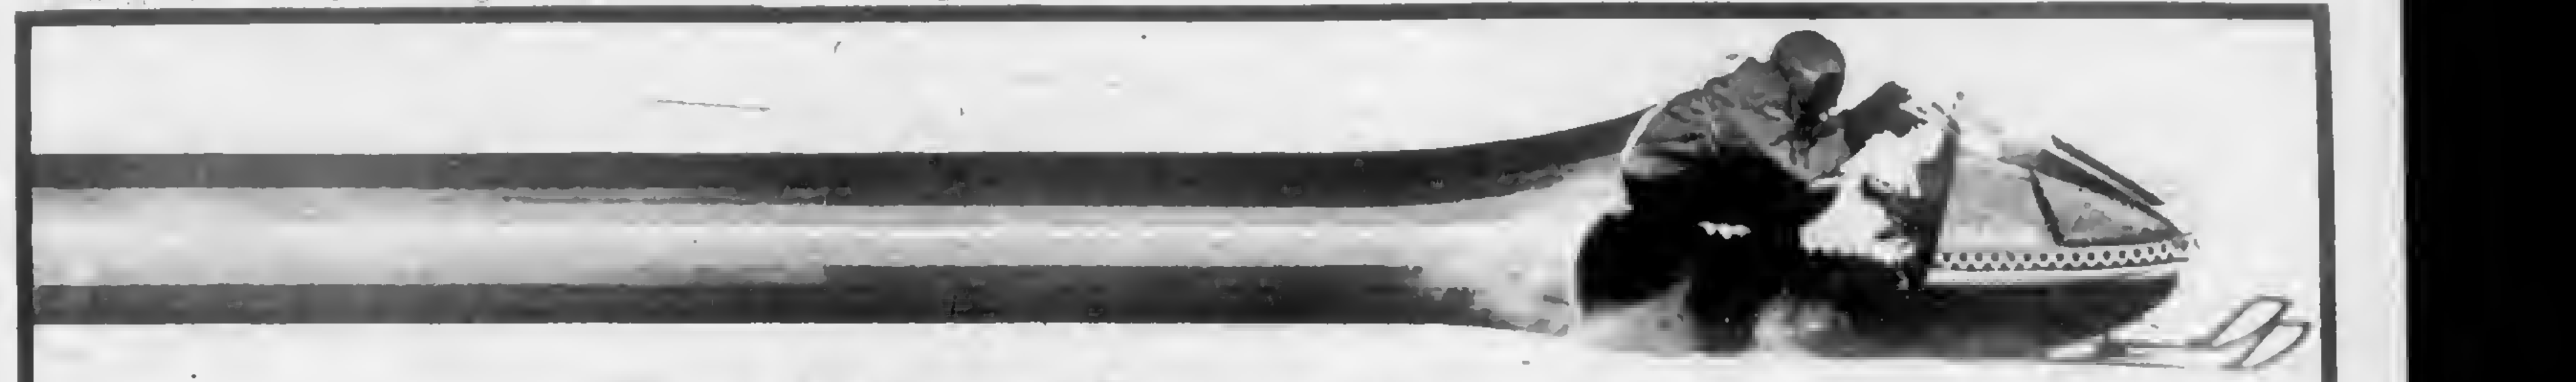
Following is a list of suggestions on ways to reduce environmental degradation.

Do not burn leaves or trash. Make a compost pile.

greatest source of air pollution.

If you must use chemical poisons, follow directions carefully.

There are many ways to protect water supplies. A great deal of pollution comes from the phosphate chemicals in the detergents you use. Consumers can hasten the production of non-polluting detergents by refusing to buy products with a high phosphorous content.



The Magnificent Seven

Seven different Ski-Doo series, each with a personality as distinctive as you.

ELAN OLYMPIQUE

Ski-Doo does it again. The company that invented the snowmobile now brings you a totally new concept . . . Élan*, the easy snowmobile. Easy to handle, easy to own. It's the perfect machine for the first time snowmobiler or the family that wants more than one. Not a toy, but a compact-sized full-performance machine. It has all the best features of the bigger ones including the same full-length 15" new profile track for exceptionally lightfooted maneuverability. It even has an engine-hiding console. And it's the lowest priced Ski-Doo ever, with both an electric start and manual model to choose from. Size one up soon.

Here's the one that made Ski-Doo famous . . . the performance minded Olympique. Chances are you won't recognize it at first glance, though. We've given it aerodynamic styling, structural improvements, and a host of new features including an engine console and new deeper seats. We've even improved its performance. Olympique takes bumps, jumps, steep hills, deep drifts and trickiest turns better than ever. Take a good look at the new look of our nineteen-seventy-one for performance. In four new models from 15 to 24 hp this year. Four ways of putting you number one in performance.

Our nineteen-seventy-one for luxury has everything . . . everything you expect from the ultimate snowmobile. Nordic* has wide track stability, better flotation to ride you luxuriously over fresh snow. It's quick and responsive, sure and smooth on tough terrain. Nordic does everything with style. And that means a cigarette lighter, brushed aluminum console, deeper more comfortable seats. Luxury? Nordic sets the pace. Everything you could possibly want in a snowmobile is yours in Nordic. Three models this year. Three sophisticated statements of Ski-Doo leadership. Don't just follow the leader. Go Nordic and ride it.

TNT
MONT

The hot one is all new this year. T'NT*, the nineteen-seventy-one for power has bold new lean lines. Tachometer and speedometer are tucked neatly under the profile-hugging windshield. The fixed headlight flows with the contour of the cowl to give the machine a sleek racy appearance. But it's not just racy styling that makes this one a sizzler. That comes from optional double-action slide suspension and up to 771 cc's of pure power. Speed and power enough to break any country trail wide open. This gutsy speedster makes you the leader of the safari. Take your pick from either 15" or 18" tracks, from a fast family of five track and trail blazers. Nothing comes close to T'NT, the hot one from Ski-Doo. Catch one if you can.

Versatile is the word that describes the tough, serviceable Alpine*. A really reliable twin-track utility machine built for hard work. Alpine can take it, wherever you take it . . . in deep powder or steep sidehill. New long length, with a full set of extra bogeys means 20% more track for greater flotation. Alpine . . . the workhorse with a lot of pull. It's the big one from Ski-Doo. In three models for seventy-one, all with reverse. Why not put one to work for you?

The all new Valmont* is our nineteen-seventy-one for everywhere. We took a twin-track and gave it single-track mobility and sleekness. The result? A handsomely appointed, stable-yet streamlined sport machine built to take you into real snow country, over almost anything. Hill climbs like a mountain goat. Zips across the open flats. Reverses out of places where turning's tough. And it's so lightfooted, you have little worry about digging in or bogging down — even in deep powder. In three models, to take you everywhere. Beautifully

BLIZZARD Our nineteen-seventy-one for pros. Strictly a limited production racer recommended for racing circuit drivers, Blizzard* is a new concept in racing machines built to keep us on the winning track. Packed with power . . . styled for speed . . . it's the record-setting machine of the year, with a world championship to its credit. In five models, with standard features including aluminum frames, free air engines, exclusive double-action slide suspension. Look out for Blizzard, the winning one from Ski-Doo.

VA Pamphlet Lists Training Opportunities

Robert Wasoski, director of the Charlevoix County Office of Veterans Affairs, says veterans desiring information on how to secure apprenticeship training for a skilled trade may secure a new pamphlet at U.S. Veterans Assistance Centers or from the Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training.

Robert M. FitzGerald, director of the VA regional office in Detroit, says the VA is helping the Labor Department's Manpower Administration in the distribution of the pamphlet.

The pamphlet points out that the VA training allowances for veterans without dependants starts at $108 per month, with apprentices receiving at least an additional $2 an hour starting pay in most areas.

The pamphlet entitled "Veterans", lists 79 of some 350 jobs with training periods of from two to six years.

Copies of the pamphlet may be obtained from Wasoski at the County Building.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron McGuire and Family

Church Will Host Ecuador Missionary

Byron McGuire, missionary to Ecuador, will share his work with the Charlevoix United Methodist church this Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 3 - 4.

Byron and his wife Yvonne serve under the undenominational World Radio Missionary Fellowship. There work is centered at the radio and TV station HCJB, "The Voice of the Andes". Both of the McGuires are accredited school teachers but in addition to their teaching they share in the programming and broadcasting responsibilities of the station.

Station HCJB is a 100,000 watt facility located high in the Andes mountains near Quito, Ecuador. It is dedicated to a ministry of heralding Christ Jesus' blessings. From this unique location the Gospel of Christ is beamed in more than a dozen languages to every corner of the world.

McGuire will be the guest at a Family Fellowship supper (pot-luck) on Saturday at 6 p.m. His ministry will continue through the Sunday services at both 11 a.m. and at 7 p.m. These gatherings are open to all of the community.

Hebrew Class To Be Offered At Bay Shore

An introductory lesson in elementary Hebrew will be offered on Thursday, Oct. 1, at 8 p.m. in the basement of the Bay Shore Catholic Church.

Dr. Manuel Kaner, who has studied Hebrew extensively, is the instructor.

He believes a fundamental knowledge of Hebrew is particularly beneficial to Bible students.

If sufficient interest is shown, a series of lessons will be scheduled.

The class will be sponsored by the Interfaith Discussion Group. Refreshments will be served.

Mrs. Nancy Harris from Kalkaska visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kenwobakis, this past week.

Recent guests at the home of Mrs. Mary Minor and Mrs. Elizabeth LaFreniere were their sister and daughter Margaret Ann Plemona and some friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burns and some friends of Trenton, Mich., visited the Island the weekend of Sept. 19.

Pick Wasoski To Head Dem Fund Drive

Robert Wasoski was named chairman of the Pete Johnson campaign fund at the meeting of the Charlevoix county Democratic committee held recently at the city hall.

Johnson, former county chairman, is a candidate for the state representative from the 196th district on the Democratic ballot. He is opposed by Richard Friskie, a Republican, and Glen Law jr., who is a sticker candidate.

Clement J. Wagner, the newly-elected county chairman, presided at the meeting at which current issues were discussed but no major decisions made.

Twenty-three members were present.

The next meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 8 at the Charlevoix City Hall.

Altar Society

St. Marys Rosary Altar Society will meet Monday, Oct. 5, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. James W. Gallagher, 301 May-st.

Story Hour Starts Oct. 10

The pre-school story hour will begin at the Charlevoix Library on Friday, Oct. 9 at 10 a.m. and will be offered every other week during the winter.

Mrs. Allena Diegert and Mr. and Mrs. William Engle and two children of Homer, Mich., were guests this past weekend at the home of the former's sister, and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beene.

Pete Bennett is a surgical patient in the Charlevoix Hospital. He has the best wishes of all his local friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Woodbury of Swartz Creek are busy making extensive repairs and improvements on their local property, formerly owned by the late J.W. Mosher.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kilpatrick of Detroit, former local residents on Old M-66, called on Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beene last week and also other old friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Pearl are covering their home with white vinyl siding.

The flu, or whatever it is, has arrived in our community. Mrs. Jean Pearl and Diane Alexander have been shut-ins this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Meyers have returned home after spending the past week with Mrs. Al Schuette in Rose City and attending a family reunion in Buckley, Ill., and visiting relatives in Champayne, Ill. They report a much heavier rainfall there than we have been having, so much that the corn crop has been destroyed and there is not much hope for the soybean crop. With the corn blight and heavy rainfall, the farming industry is really suffering.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Williams have completed their new garage.

In the past two weeks there have been two boat loads of crushed stone unloaded at the company dock for Hodgkiss and Douma, Inc., of Petoskey. It is being taken out by big commercial trucks every day.

C of C Plans Dinner Dance

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is planning a semi-formal dinner at the Belvedere Casino Oct. 24, according to Manager Richard Oestrike.

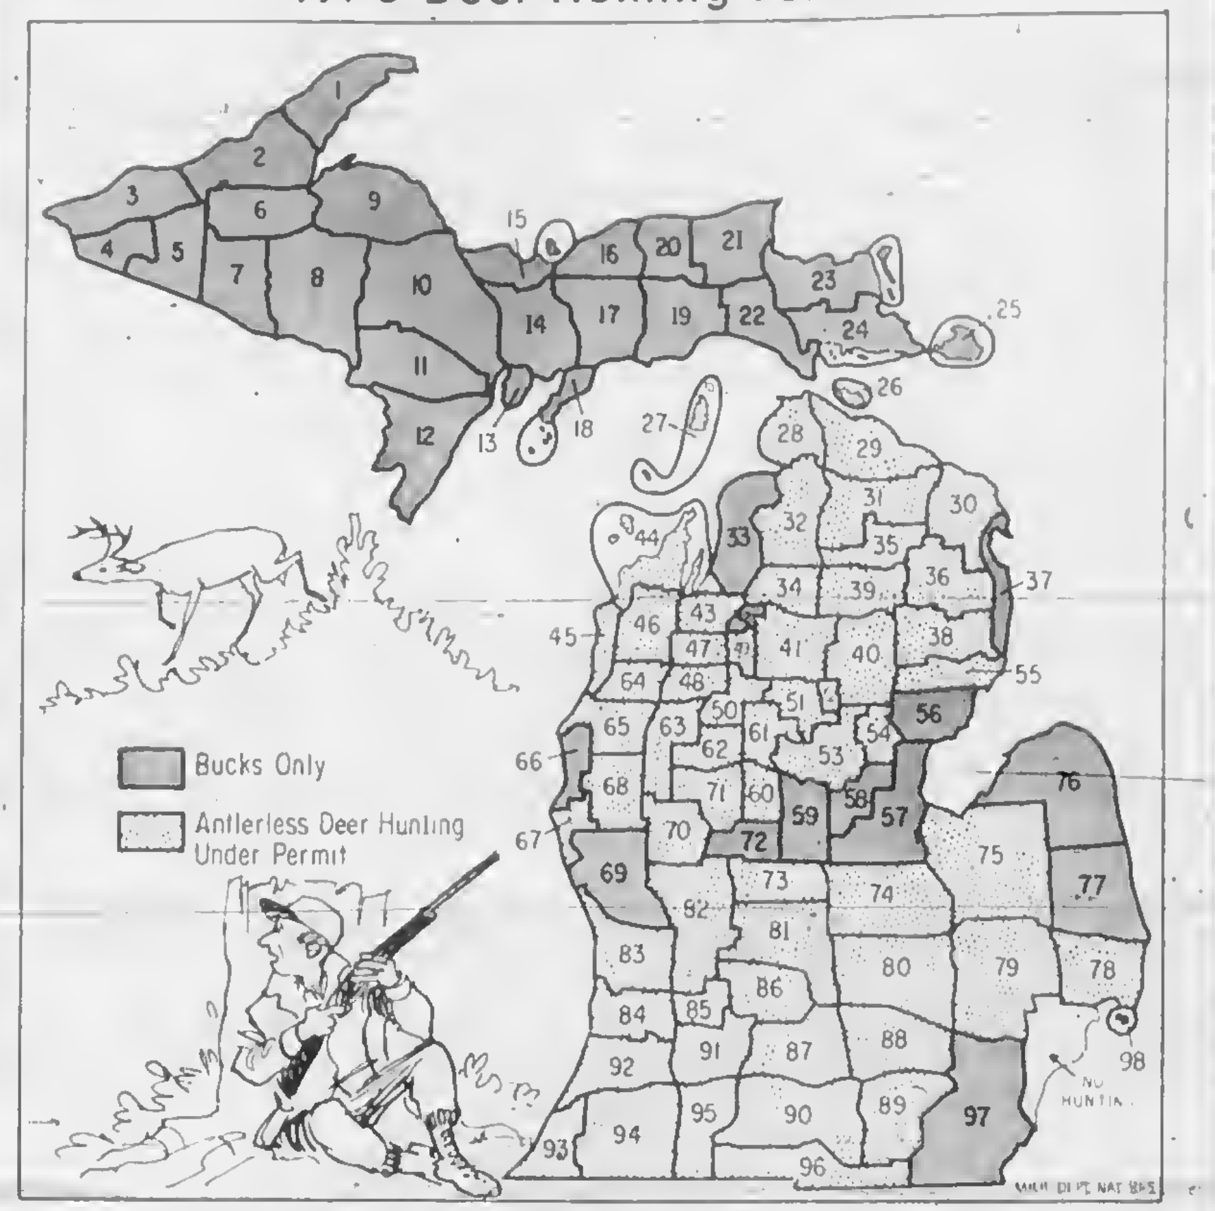
Oestrike said Sen. Robert Griffin will be the speaker, followed by dancing.

Arrangements are being made with a caterer to supply the dinner.

END BRUCE Meggison receives pass as Petoskey's Terry Evashevski falls short of the mark.

ALTHOUGH HE hit the turf on the sidelines, this Charlevoix Red Rayder still had command of the ball.

1970 Deer Hunting Format



As this map shows, action will be limited to bucks-only hunting in the Upper Peninsula during Michigan's 1970 firearm deer season set for November 15–30. That major change honors a legislative resolution which called for a moratorium on shooting antlerless deer with firearms above the Straits this fall. Licensed archers may still take antlerless deer in that part of the state during the 1970 bow and arrow season. In other notable changes from last year, antlerless deer-hunting permit quotas have been cut 44 percent for the northern Lower Peninsula and increased slightly for southern Michigan. The sharp permit reduction for northern Lower Michigan is designed to promote a buildup of whitetails in those areas where there are good signs that the animals have been balanced with their range as the result of past antlerless harvests and commercial timber cuttings. That region's total permit quota for 1970 is about 69,000 as against 119,000 last season. For southern Michigan, this year's permit level has been raised to 19,795, about 1,000 more than in 1969, in a continued effort to ease problems of rising crop damage and car-deer collisions. Hunters planning to seek this season's antlerless deer permits may do so as soon as application forms and 1970 firearm deer licenses reach local dealers in late August. Instructions for filling out applications appear in copies of Michigan's 1970 deer and bear hunting rules which hunters may pick up when they buy their licenses. September 30 is again the deadline for postmarking permit applications. Sportsmen are not required to apply through the mail for permits covering Area 27, the Beaver Islands Wildlife Research Area. They may hunt antlerless deer without permits in that area this season. —Mich. Dept. of Natural Resources.

Clean 'Em Quickly, Treat 'Em Gently

Great Lakes sports fishermen hadn't had much experience with salmon...until this summer, that is.

Now, with coho and chinook hitting in record numbers along the coast of Lake Michigan, anglers are seeking instructions on how to handle the salmon once they are safely on board.

Dr. Eugene F. Dice, Michigan State University extension specialist in recreation resource development, offers these tips to help fishermen get the most enjoyment out of every salmon they catch:

–Clean salmon thoroughly as quickly after catching as possible.

–Protect them from strong odors, such as motor fuel.

–Place the salmon in ice or in a cooler but not in standing water.

–Shield them from air and direct sunlight and refrigerate as soon as possible.

–Don't manhandle the fish. Salmon are soft-fleshed fish and can be badly bruised in handling.

A few simple rules can be used to determine the quality of salmon, Dice points out. One is based on the outside or scale color of the fish. Best quality occurs when skin or scales are a bright silver color. Dark tan or brown coloring indicates poorer flesh quality.

A second clue of quality is the time of year when the salmon are taken. Generally, the specialist says, fish caught in the spring and early summer are superior in quality to those caught after they have been in the spawning stream for some time. The younger fish, Dice notes, contain lower levels of pesticide residues.

Members of the salmon family store up fat in certain parts of the body, which causes some problems in preparing the fish for a meal. These fats contain off-flavors and pesticide residues, says Dice.

Locating and removing all of these areas is a way to eliminate the disagreeable section of the salmon.

Rare Book Tells How Indians Lived

The library recently received an unusual and important addition to its shelves from Laura Brown Courier. The book is called "The Catholic Church in the Grand River Valley - 1833 - 1950." It was written by John W. McGee. Mrs. Courier says of it: "I have found this book to be an authentic and valuable source of Michigan Indian lore."

This interesting volume of Michigan history deals with Western Michigan in the 1830's when the area was traversed and evangelized by the saintly Father Frederic Baraga who later became Bishop of Marquette. He describes his long treks through the wildernesses of Western Michigan and tells how fleet-footed Indians raced across the Muskegon river at a break-neck pace across a single log that lay athwart the stream; how Grand River squaws would bite off each other's noses on a casual Saturday night "binge".

This is a rich and full-blooded account of the early days in western Michigan, but perhaps the most intriguing part of the book is the carefully compiled list of pioneers from church records. In addition, there is a list of couples married, and the names of the witnesses, from 1850. There are good photographs throughout the book, and a detailed account of the Catholic Indians from the records of the mission of Grand River.

There is, in fact, such a wealth of information in the book that anyone who is familiar with Western Michigan or whose family pioneered in the area will find it fascinating. Those interested simply in Michigan history as a whole will consider it a very special discovery.

"Michigan Indians - A way of Life Changes" by Donald Chaput is a beautiful slender book almost entirely devoted to photographs and drawings of the 18th and 19th century.

The book tells, in one or two simple paragraphs under each picture how the Indians lived before the Europeans arrived 300 years ago and how the Europeans changed the Indian way of life. Some of the sources used in compiling the book were Jesuit reports, county histories, Bureau of American Ethnology reports, books by Champlain, Charlevoix and other explorers and missionaries, and Indian agents like Henry R. Schoolcraft. It is a very special book to be enjoyed by both adults and children.

Ellsworth School In Black

By Mrs. Anne Osterbaan

Ellsworth's financial records are in good condition and the district has an excess of revenue over expenditure for the present school year, CPA Harold Smith told the Board of Education at the September meeting.

A copy of Smith's audit is available for public perusual at the office of Superintendent Richard Strong.

In other business, the board:

–Adopted a deposit plan for textbooks which will be returned at the end of the school year if the books are returned in good condition. A recent Supreme Court ruling requires schools to furnish textbooks. The fee is $3 for grades K through three; $5 for grades four through six; and $8 for grades seven through 12.

–Agreed to turn over to the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District full responsibility for the operation and coordination of the district's two county trainable schools. One is located at Ironton, the other at Conway.

–Learned initial enrollment on the first day of school was 316, down three from last year.

–Learned that an instrumental music teacher had been hired to teach for two hours a day. He will organize a high school band and beginning band in the grades.

–Approved payment of bills totaling $5,808.66.

Next meeting is Oct. 12 at 8 p.m.

Club to Meet

The next meeting of the Charlevoix Garden Club will be Oct. 13 at the home of Mrs. Fritz Puffpaff, 109 E. Upright-st.

Cakes 'n Candles

JAMES HAYES, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hayes of Charlevoix, celebrated his third birthday Sept. 19. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Hayes of Charlevoix and Andrew Diermier of Petoskey.

Friends Fete Mrs. Prevost

Mrs. Mollie Prevost, mother of Mrs. Bernie Ward sr., celebrated her 83rd birthday with friends and neighbors on Sept. 22.

Present at the birthday celebration in Mrs. Ward's home were Mrs. Lillian Hull, Mrs. Bob Miller, Mrs. Bernie Ward jr., Mrs. Doug Swanson and Mrs. Richard Hull.

Cake, coffee and ice cream were served.

Beat PHS 14-13; Rogers City Next

Charlevoix's Red Rayders made it two-in-a-row Friday, defeating Petoskey's Northmen 14-13 at Kipke Field.

This Friday the high-flying Rayders will travel to Rogers City in an attempt to add another win to their record.

The victory moved Charlevoix into a three-way tie for first in the Michigan Huron Shores Conference.

It was a come-from-behind win for the Rayders, with the Northmen leading the scoring in the first quarter. The first time they got possession of the ball, the Petoskey gridders headed for paydirt in a 10-play drive up center-field. Tom Evashevski carried the ball the final nine yards for the TD. Dan Otto kicked for the conversion, making the score 7-0 in favor of Petoskey.

However, the Rayders caught fire in the second quarter following a 15-yard penalty against Petoskey on a fourth down. Larry Potter recovered a PHS fumble on the Petoskey 31 yard-line. The TD was scored on a pass from Quarterback Tim Carey to Bill Carey, alone in the end zone.

Although the conversion point was lost, the Rayders came back strong. Potter recovered another fumble on the Petoskey 46. Charlevoix punted to the 11 and then pushed to the three. On the fourth down, the ball shot over the punter's hands and out of the end zone, putting Charlevoix ahead 8-7.

Shortly after, Charlevoix was on the move again, moving the ball 42 yards in six plays. The last 25 was covered on a TD pass from Carey to Bruce Meggison.

Petoskey picked up steam in the third period, with Otto and Conway setting up the ball for Tim Harbaugh to carry the last three yards of a 50-yard drive. The two-point conversion attempt failed, leaving the score 14-13.

In other Huron-Shores Conference games Friday, Cheboygan tied with Gaylord, 6-up; and Boyne City defeated Alpena Catholic Central 26 to 6. Saturday, Rogers City defeated Traverse City St. Francis, 13 to 7; and in a non-conference game, Escanaba Holy Name defeated St. Ignace 14 to 0.

Fish Report

Following is the West Michigan Tourist Association report for the Charlevoix area:

Coho and lake trout fishing continues to be excellent in Little Traverse Bay from Nine Mile Point to Harbor Springs. Fish are being taken in 90 to 100 feet of water.

Panfish are being caught in the inland lakes with several good catches of walleye being reported from Burt Lake and Walloon Lake.

Kiwanis Club Assists Kids In Hospital

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club has made a contribution to the Forney W. Clement Memorial Foundation, according to Charles W. Schull, foundation treasurer.

Since 1922 groups of Michigan Kiwanians have furnished recreational equipment to hospitalized children at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor.

For the past 17 years, the work has been carried on under the name of Forney W Clement, the first full-time Kiwanis secretary-treasurer of the Michigan District.

Today the project is part of the C.S. Mott Hospital School program at the University of Michigan Hospital, providing educational and recreational activities designed to assist patients to cope with the stresses of hospitalized illnesses and to continue their education.

Hospital Guild Meets New Chief

Rollie Dudik, who steps down today (Wednesday) as Charlevoix Hospital administrator, introduced his successor, James Murray, to members of the hospital Women's Guild at the group's 16th annual meeting on Sept. 21.

Annual reports submitted by committee chairmen indicated that:

–Seventeen holidays were marked with tray favors for patients.

–One hundred and forty-four hand puppets were made for child patients, along with layettes for infants.

–Three rental TV sets supplied by the guild have been in use for 15 months.

The guild now has 108 active members and 215 inactive members in Charlevoix and Boyne City.

Pins were awarded the following members who have taken part in the regular volunteer service program at the hospital:

Mrs. John Uhrick, Mrs. Gordon Rower, Mrs. Floyd Chamberlain, Mrs. Byron Wright, Mrs. James Gallagher, Mrs. Reed McVay, Mrs. Robert Barnum, Mrs. Ted Lass, Mrs. Gordon Freedman, Mrs. Harold Geiken, Mrs. Maurice Orlarcy, Mrs. Robert Neff, Miss Frances Milner, Mrs. Donald Couse, Mrs. Darrell Dinwiddie, Mrs. Albert Mansen, Mrs. Leroy Buchanan, Mrs. D. A. Scheitberger and Mrs. Alton Huntington.

The guild is planning a rummage and thrift sale on Oct. 10.

The meeting closed with refreshments.

GARY STUTZMAN (In striped shirt), director of the Charlevoix High School marching band, puts his bandsmen through their paces in preparation for the homecoming game with Cheboygan Oct. 9.

A Time to Reaffirm Your Right-to-Know

In years past, National Newspaper Week has come and gone almost without recognition in most newspapers across the country.

Somehow it appeared a little unseemly and unnecessary for newspapers to blow their own trumpets, so to speak. Newspapermen generally are not very high on hoopla and hulabaloo, particularly when it comes to arguing the merits of their own trade.

And they come by their reticence quite naturally. They are in the business of reporting news, not making it.

Furthermore, newspaper people had become quite complacent about their role in American society. Newspapers not only are a fact of life but also an integral part of life in most American communities.

Probably more important, we assumed that one of the basic tenets of our trade -- freedom of the press, or better, the public's right to know -- was an inviolable cornerstone of the American tradition.

However, this past year has proven how wrong we were.

Last fall Vice President Spiro T. Agnew let it be known he favors government control of the news media, a concept so alien to the American way of life that newspapers and radio and television networks were shocked out of their complacency.

Even more alarming than the vice president's espousing of such a doctrine was the fact that a broad segment of the populace apparently agrees with him -- a frightening situation at best.

That is why National Newspaper Week to be observed this year from Oct. 4 to Oct. 10 -- has taken on a new importance in 1970.

The public's right-to-know has been challenged by the holder of the second highest office in the land and newsmen suddenly realize that freedom of any kind is a fragile commodity in need of constant support and reaffirmation.

Unless the American populace understands and values its right-to-know, the newspaper as we know it today could be replaced overnight by the government handout.

That is why the Courier -- and other newspapers across the country -- are taking a fresh look at freedom of the press and the public's right-to-know in connection with National Newspaper Week.

On this week's editorial page readers will find the first in a series of four articles dealing with the struggle to secure a free press in America. Subsequent installments will deal with freedom of expression during the Revolution, the threat of news suppression and what we can expect in the future.

Finds Fault With Legal Machinery

To the Editor:

The usual lawmaking procedure in our government is for the executive department to propose recommendations to the legislature about the laws that the administration considers necessary to govern properly. The legislature then acts on these recommendations and when the executive and legislative branches agree on the specifications of a law, according to the formulas provided in the Constitution, the law is enacted. Sometimes the legislature initiates the process, but the procedure is the same.

The executive branch then enforces these laws until they are challenged in the courts and then the courts decide if the laws are constitutional, and if they are constitutional, they define the application of these laws.

A recent example of executive initiated procedure was the so-called Model Crime Bill for Washington, D.C. which the President, a lawyer, insisted was necessary for proper law enforcement in Washington. The leading congressional opponent, also a lawyer, insisted that the bill was full of unconstitutional provisions.

An example of a recent congressional initiated law was the 18-year-old right to vote law, which the President signed into law with reservations about its constitutionality and an indication that it would then be tested in the courts.

I believe that this system is inefficient, wasteful of time and money, and unjust.

No one should be prosecuted under unconstitutional laws, and no one should have to pay the cost, or spend the time going through the extensive court processes to overturn unconstitutional laws. The courts should confirm that laws are constitutional before they are passed.

Clockwise A Dog's Life

By BOB CLOCK

In case you missed it, dog lovers across the country celebrated National Dog Week Sept. 20 to 27.

As usual, I didn't hear about it until it was over, and it's just as well. If our rat terrier, Ginny, had any inkling that dogs have a whole week set aside to do them homage, there'd be no living with her, particularly since fathers and mothers have only one day out of the year and kids don't even get 10 minutes to call their own.

I am convinced that Ginny feels that our menage on Dixon-ave. is run strictly for her pleasure and convenience. Every week is National Dog Week so far as she is concerned. And I am sure her sentiments are shared by most of the 26 million dogs in American homes.

It's not that we go out of our way to please her. But she likes to meet life head-on, just as though she's calling the shots.

During electrical storms, she thinks it is her unalienable right to spend the night in one of the upstairs bedrooms, with a living, breathing human being close at hand in case of emergency.

And to date I haven't summoned up the courage to tell that small, quivering bundle of dog flesh to stay in her own bed downstairs. She doesn't actually get into bed with anyone; she just wants to be close to someone. Even the baby will do.

Like most dogs, Ginny is a fairly accurate barometer when it comes to electrical storms. Long before the first flash of lightning or the first crash of thunder, she lets us know there is a storm on the way by sidling up close, shivering and casting pitiful looks at anyone who will pay any attention.

Of course, she does the same thing whenever she hears a sonic boom or a firecracker, so I really don't think the U.S. Weather Bureau would be interested in putting her on the payroll.

Back when I was a kid, it was common knowledge in our house that "dogs attract lightning." So did cats. Whenever a storm threatened, the first thing my mother did–even before closing the windows–was to shoo the dog and cat down the basement, where, theoretically, the lightning wouldn't be able to find them.

And there they stayed until the storm passed over–cold, alone and presumably yearning for human companionship.

But perhaps Ma wasn't so far off base after all. Of all the dogs and cats she cared for during her lifetime, she never lost one to a bolt of lightning.

I am sure that Ginny feels we keep an automobile just to run her up to the Dairy Queen every other day or so. In fact, she can spot a Dairy Queen two blocks away, even in a strange town, and starts jumping up and down like a schoolboy. She'd probably bite me if I didn't stop and buy her an ice cream cone. I know the kids would.

The worst part of keeping a dog (or having one keep you) is that its life span is so short. Those that don't meet their maker under the wheels of an automobile usually begin slowing up about age eight. By 10 or 12 the eyes grow dim, the hearing fails and the kidneys aren't what they used to be.

The only merciful way out is a trip to the vet's, a final scratch behind the ears and a hollow promise that "everything's going to be all right."

Come to think of it, maybe dogs do deserve a week all of their own.

'Social Programs Don't Lead to Communism'

Dear Mr. Clock,

Mr. Friske and the other members of the John Birch Society don't seem to realize that they are pushing this country towards communism.

If they will examine history they will find that no country has adopted communism by gradually instituting more social programs. They say they are against social security, head start, job training, etc. because they are social programs that lead to communism. This is just not true historically.

Communism has come to countries when the people become so down-trodden and without hope that they rebel. Every case has been this way. The countries where we have helped stave off communism have been in countries where we have helped by improving the standard of living so that it wasn't necessary for the people to turn to communism. Where we have tried to stop communism by guns we have failed with the possible exception of Korea.

Therefore, it should be apparent that the way to stop communism is to improve the standard of living, provide social programs, make people's lives better so that they won't turn to communism in despair.

If the Birchers really want to keep this country from going communist, let them help everyone have a chance at decent housing, decent medical care, decent education, and security when they are sick or old.

Name withheld by request.

Your 'Right To Know' Didn't Come Easily In This Country

By George Speers, New England Press Association
Chairman, Department of Journalism, Northeastern University
(First of a series)

BOSTON, Mass. (NNW) - Newspaper journalism began in this country just 280 years ago.

But there were no celebrations, speeches, proclamations, or any special occasions to mark the auspicious event.

As a matter of fact when PUBLICK OCCURRENCES BOTH FOREIGN AND DOMESTICK, the nation's first newspaper, "hit the streets" in the town of Boston on the morning of September 25, 1690, there was considerable apprehension and a feeling of foreboding.

To be sure, the little four-page newspaper was eagerly accepted by the local residents. As a matter of fact, every copy was snatched up. The demand far exceeded the supply.

And the little paper carried a wide variety of news stories never before produced in the Colonies. There were stories about a smallpox epidemic in Boston, a kidnapping of two children by Indians, a suicide by a depressed old man, who recently lost his wife, a big fire that destroyed 20 homes, a report of the labor shortage and the difficulty of harvesting the crops, an account of skirmishes among the French, Indians, and English troops, and even a story that shocked some concerning the amours of King XIV of France.

There was no doubt about it, editor Benjamin Harris had published an exciting little paper.

But the trouble was he had committed a crime by publishing his newspaper. And it was a serious crime at that. It could mean a jail sentence.

The law of that time, as Ben Harris knew very well, was that a license must be obtained before any printing was done, and most certainly if the printing contained public information or information about governmental activities.

But Harris took a long chance and waited. He didn't have to wait very long.

He was summoned before the Colonial Governor and Council to explain why he had violated the Regulation of Printing and Licensing Act of 1662. Why, he was asked, didn't he first obtain a license before putting out the newspaper as required under the Act?

Harris, of course, really couldn't answer the question. He knew very well, however, that a license meant prior approval by the governmment of the contents and that meant a dull, uninteresting, not-too-informative publication. That is not what Harris had in mind.

The fact that Harris put out an interesting newspaper that was extremely popular, probably saved him from a jail sentence. The law was violated, of course, but even the stern Colonial authorities were loath to press too far against the new popularity of editor Haris.

Harris was not jailed. He was prevented from ever publishing again in the American Colonies. His one issue of PUBLICK OCCURRENCES was all that the Governor and Council would tolerate.

In the proclamation issued by the Governor and Council, the official position about publishing newspapers without a license was made very clear in the following words:

"The Governor and Council having had the perusal of the said pamphlet, and finding that therein is contained reflections of a very high nature: As also sundry doubtful and uncertain reports, do hereby manifest and declare their high resentment and disallowance of said pamphlet, and order that the same be suppressed and called in; strictly forbidding any person or persons for the future to set forth anything in print without License first obtained from those that are or shall be appointed by the Government to grant the same."

The point was made and the lesson was learned about publishing newspapers without permission.

It took 14 years before someone else was able to muster enough courage to try again: In 1704, Boston Postmaster John Campbell did try again, but he first made sure he had a license to publish. He published his safe but dull newspaper "by Authority" for the next 20 years.

Another Bostonian In August of 1721 decided to publish a newspaper without a license. He tried it and he got away with it despite the Regulation of Printing and Licensing Act still very much "on the books".

His name was James Franklin, older brother of Benjamin Franklin.

Brother James Franklin was most unlike younger brother Ben in temperament and personality. Ben had all the qualities necessary to get along very well with people. Throughout his life he was considered diplomatic and personable. James was an opposite.

One thing James Franklin did possess, however, was a talent to publish a very interesting and readable newspaper. Right from the beginning his unlicensed newspaper, The New England Courant, "caught on". Everyone in Boston seemed to read it. The reputation of the newspaper spread throughout the colonies.

Why was he allowed to print without a license?

For one thing, the authorities were quick to recognize that the New England Courant was extremely popular. And who enjoys opposing popularity?

For another thing the Courant eschewed government news. Instead, the Courant concentrated, in the beginning at least, on items about people, witty and entertaining essays, poems, letters, and criticisms of the established church.

Since the church was the one power block that the Governor and Council feared, the governmental authorities were happy to have Franklin oppose the church as much as possible. The longer this went on, the more popular and powerful the New England Courant became.

It wasn't until James Franklin decided to criticize governmental authorities (for laxity of law enforcement) did the Governor begin to object to Franklin's unlicensed newspaper. By now it was too late to invoke the Licensing Act. The authorities had to object on other grounds. The charge: sedition.

Franklin was jailed for a month for the crime of sedition (criticizing the law enforcement policies of the Governor) but the Courant survived.

The New England Courant survived for 5½ years and James was again tried for sedition. The punishment the second time prevented Franklin from owning or publishing the newspaper unless it first be censored by the authorities. Since he refused to do this he was not allowed to keep the newspaper.

His way out of the dilemma was to put the newspaper in brother Ben's name, which of course, was perfectly legal.

As a fighting force The New England Courant was now finished. Benjamin Franklin soon left for Philadelphia to start a new career and James went to Rhode Island.

But James Franklin and the Courant had won the "war".

Licensing of the press in the Colonies as a viable, workable concept was done. No longer could authorities insist on a license or permit to publish or print under the Regulation of Printing and Licensing Act.

The shackle that had controlled the press since Gutenberg's time in the mid 1400's was finally broken, thanks to James Franklin.

Cadillac 1971...the new look of leadership!

In every respect all nine of Cadillac's magnificent models are totally new in looks. Body contours are crisp and classic. There is greater glass area. A new lower door-sill design permits easier entry and exit.

They are also new in luxury. A new instrument panel is so designed that all gauges are positioned or canted for easy reading. There are new lower profile seats, contoured to make a full day's drive a relaxing reality.

There is new Cadillac performance, too. The smoothness and quiet must be experienced. And all Cadillac V-8 engines will perform on the new no-lead, low-lead fuels.

Friske Wins Sen. Schweigert's Endorsement

State Sen. Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey has thrown his support behind Richard Friske, GOP candidate for the House of Representatives from the 106th District.

Schweigert's endorsement came Oct. 1 at a fund-raising dinner for Friske at Stafford's Bay View Inn, decorated with red, white and blue streamers for the occasion.

Charlevoix County's huge GOP elephant, owned by party chairman Oscar Stroud, greeted the 175 guests at the front door, sealing the party's endorsement of the controversial John Birch Society candidate.

At the same time Friske won the support of Rep. Joseph Swallow of the 105th Representative District (Alpena) and Branch County District Judge James Carr, a non-partisan candidate for the Michigan Court of Appeals.

Although all three men endorsed Friske personally, the major emphasis of their remarks had to do with party unity.

Friske will be opposed at the polls Nov. 3 not only by Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City but also by a Republican write-in candidate, Glenn Law jr. of St. Ignace.

One of ten candidates who lost to Friske in the August primary, Law has re-entered the race as a write-in candidate because he feels Friske, as a member of the John Birch Society, does not accurately reflect the thinking of most Republicans in the 106th District.

Schweigert said the election of a Republican in the 106th District is doubly important this year because the next legislature will be responsible for redistricting of the state on the basis of 1970 census figures.

"The Legislature will make decisions which will stand until the 1980 census," Schweigert said.

He pointed out that the 106th District traditionally has been a "safe" Republican seat and that loss of the seat through a division of the party would be staggering blow to GOP leadership in the Legislature.

He said major efforts are being exerted to bring three "marginal" seats back into the Republican fold.

Although he said he has not known Friske either long or well, he said he believes him to be "forthright, honest and hardworking."

"He deserves the support of every Republican in the 106th District," he asserted.

Sen. Schweigert cautioned Republicans to "try to avoid the trap of a write-in candidate."

"The end result," he claimed, "will be the election of a Democrat."

"I intend personally to vote for Dick Friske," he concluded.

Swallow said he has heard many things about Friske, "but I have never heard him accused of hypocrisy or that he is dishonest."

He recited the old Benjamin Franklin axiom: "United we stand; divided we fall.

"We can elect Friske, or we can follow the Democrats down the road of no return," he said.

"The Republican party needs Dick Friske. Michigan needs Dick Friske. America needs Dick Friske," Swallow said in conclusion.

Judge Carr said he has known Friske only since the last "candidates night," but "Richard Friske tells you what he means," he asserted. "He seems to be an honest man."

Carr is a candidate for the 12-man court of Appeals representing 66 counties in western Michigan, including Charlevoix and Emmet.

Friske said he was so humbled by the occasion that "I can hardly find suitable words."

After thanking Schweigert for the "hearty endorsement," Friske introduced members of his family, including his wife, Olga, his 17-year-old daughter, Judy, and his parents.

"I am very privileged to have my mother and father in our midst. Without them, I don't know what I would have been," Friske said.

He also thanked Richard Johnson and Ronald Erkfitz of Petoskey who have worked on his campaign.

Friske hailed Charlevoix County GOP Chairman Oscar Stroud as "one of the first (Republicans) to openly support me."

Emmet County GOP Chairman Katherine C. Hafstad of Harbor Springs was not in the audience.

Friske promised to work hard right up to election day.

"The surer I am of this election, the harder I will work," Friske said. "I want such a majority that everyone will know that the people have spoken."

The candidate acknowledged that if a man tries to work without the Lord he is a failure and asked for the prayers of his campaign workers.

"Every problem would be solved if we looked for the answer in the Bible," he said.

"My platform is quite simple," he continued. "Christian morality."

He said the first settlers in America practiced communism but soon learned they fared better if every man worked for himself.

Friske also said:

–"I believe in lawful dissent; but dissent must not end in my imposing my feelings on you."

–"We need less government. Things can be done easier without interference of government. Government should only do what we cannot do for ourselves. This works the same tonight as it did when the Pilgrims landed and made the Constitution."

–"The United States is feeding 95 percent of the rest of the world."

He said his major concerns are education, welfare, the breakdown in law-and-order and gun legislation.

Education: "Citizens should let it be known that they disapprove of having their precious tax dollars burned and bombed."

Welfare: "I am not against welfare per se, but it should be used for people in desperate need. It should not be given to people who are able to work but who are unwilling to work."

Law and Order: "We do not need more police. We should unshackle the men we already have and let them do the job we are paying them for."

Gun Controls: "Guns in American hands are the only way to meet internal and external enemies. I believe in the Constitutional right to bear arms."

Friske concluded by saying the 97 percent of the American people do believe in Constitutional government. He didn't say where he got his figure.

Boosters Will Sell Birthday Calendar

Charlevoix Band Boosters are sponsoring a "Community Calendar" to raise funds for band activities.

The calendar, already a popular fund-raising activity in many communities, lists the birthdays of every member of every family which signs up.

Order forms will be sent home with every youngster in the Charlevoix School District on Monday, Oct. 12.

On Tuesday, Oct. 13, band members will canvass the entire area to pick up the forms and contact persons who have been missed.

Anyone who is not contacted is asked to notify Bob Wasoski at 547-4140.

In addition to birthdays, the calendar will list anniversaries and the meeting days of all organizations in the area. It also will have a complete church directory on the back.

Money raised by the project will be used to purchase band instruments and uniforms, and to finance scholarships and band trips.

Lee to Speak At Dem Meet

The Charlevoix County Democratic Committee will meet at the city hall here at 8 p.m. Thursday according to Clement J. Wagner, county chairman.

Russell Lee of Onaway, Democratic candidate for state senator, is scheduled to address the meeting.

Color Cruise

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce color cruise aboard the Beaver Islander will leave the city dock at 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 11.

Tickets are available at the Chamber office or from Charlevoix merchants.

ONE OF these Charlevoix High School lovelies will be named homecoming queen at the pep rally Thursday night. From left are Beth Inman, Sherry Austin, Marcia Brown, Kris Osterberg and Nancy Fochtman.

Engineers Race Clock To Keep Weathervane Inn From Channel

By Tom Dammann

It has taken the threat of a law suit and an act of Congress but at long last Uncle Sam has decided to save the Weathervane Inn from slipping into the Pine River, the vital link between Lake Michigan, Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers now has some $300,000 appropriated by Congress and expects construction of a revetment in front of the Inn to begin by next summer.

But almost six feet of the bank beneath the 75 year old landmark has fallen into Pine River in the past few months and new gaping cracks are appearing in the outer walls of the venerable building.

Natives worry whether the Corps of Engineers rescue operation will begin soon enough. If the Weathervane Inn does fall into Pine River it would not only destroy the dreams and plans of its young owners, it would block passage of yachts, commercial freighters and U.S. Coast Guard vessels between Lake Michigan, Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix.

The Inn was originally a four story grist mill, built in 1885. It was purchased in 1954 by Earl Young, a local real estate developer. He cut off the top two stories and converted it into a restaurant with spacious views of the Pine River and with furnishings made from the wood of ship wrecks. It is lighted with street lamps imported from Copenhagen, Denmark.

In 1967 Young sold the Inn to George Richardson, 32, formerly of Ann Arbor and Richard Aull, 30, formerly of Skoki, Ill. They, with their wives, Cecy, 31, and Marilyn, 27, now operate the restaurant in connection with a motel across the street. Young, who still maintains an office on the lower level, keeps a fatherly eye on the proceedings.

At about the time the old grist mill was built, the Corps of Engineers took over the responsibility of maintaining the Pine River Channel for navigation. The main channel ran along the south side of the river. It was 40 to 50 feet wide, 11 to 13 feet deep. The north bank, on which the mill stood, sloped gently to the water, the bottom in turn sloping off to the channel.

There was a highway swing bridge at the entrance into Round Lake, the harbor between Lakes Michigan and Charlevoix.

The Corps of Engineers erected timber revetments on both banks. Eventually the mill began to use the 345 foot portion of revetment in front of it, and extending from the bridge west, as a dock. Damage occurred and was not repaired, despite warnings from the Corps. In 1938 when major reconstruction of the revetments was begun, Congress relieved the Corps of any responsibility for that section in front of the mill.

The Corps has continually improved the channel, widening it and deepening it to allow for the passage of longer, larger vessels. The channel is now 100 feet wide and 18 to 20 feet deep.

In 1948 the old swing bridge was replaced by a million dollar draw bridge.

Each dredging has caused the bottom to slip away from the slope in front of the Weathervane Inn. As lateral support was withdrawn, old pilings toppled and hugh chunks of the bank crumbled into the river.

The erosion has been aided and abetted by the turbulence created by passing boats, including some 600 foot freighters carrying coal, grovel and pig iron to various spots on Lake Charlevoix, often moving ot 10 miles an hour, twice the posted speed limit.

Young warned Richardson and Aull of the potential danger. They consulted the Corps of Engineers, retained their own engineers and attorneys. They sought and got help from Sens. Philip A. Hart and Robert P. Griffin and Congressman Philip E. Ruppe.

Sen. Hart was able to get an appropriation of $10,000 for a study of bank conditions.

Richardson and Aull's attorneys prepared a suit against the United States claiming damages due to both negligence and the operations of the Corps of Engineers.

The suit is no longer

THE WATERS of Pine River Channel are dangerously close to the 80-year-old foundation of the Weathervane Inn. Engineers hope to save the building by erecting a seawall next year.

Homecoming Plans Told

Homecoming festivities will start Thursday, Oct. 8, with a snake dance, bon fire and pep rally, according to Vane Smith, high school principal.

The snake dance will begin at 7 p.m. at the Middle School, travel up State-st. to Green-st., then to the school.

The bon fire will be just northwest of the track area.

Speaker at the pep rally will be Dick Oestrike, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

During the rally, the 1970 homecoming queen will be announced and co-captains of the football team will be dubbed.

The float parade will start Friday at 7 p.m. at the Middle School, traveling down Clinton-st. to State-st. then south to Garfield.

Float judges will be Mrs. James Williams, George Lusk and Ralph Doan.

During halftime, the floats will circle the playing field and winners will be announced.

Jackie Warner, the 1969 homecoming queen, will crown the new queen who will be introduced along with her court.

Special halftime music will be played by the Charlevoix High School Band, directed by Gary Stutzman.

Post Relics On Display

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Johnson of East Jordan have looned to the Charlevoix Library the post office boxes and stamp window used in the early days of the East Jordan Post Office.

The relic of years past will be displayed in the lobby of the library, according to Miss Dorothy Olmstead, librarian.

Trio Escapes Injury As Plane Crashes

Three persons escaped serious injury Friday night when their single-engine Cessna Skylane crash-landed on the Vern Matthew sr. property just across M-66 from the First Baptist Church.

The pilot, Arthur R. Zawada of Royal Oak, and two passengers, Omer Racine of Detroit and Carol Foote of Troy were treated for cuts and bruises at Charlevoix Hospital and released.

Sheriff's deputies said they picked up a radio may-day that the plane was in trouble at 8:49 p.m. Seconds later, Raymond Williams and Harold N. Woodbury, both of Ironton, who were driving on M-66, saw the plane crash-land in the open pasture.

The craft reportedly hit, then bounced, losing a wheel assembly about 25 yards from the place it finally came to a stop. The craft was damaged extensively.

Deputies said Zawada told them he thought he had run out of gas, although there reportedly was plenty of fuel left in the tanks.

CESSNA SKYLANE lost a wheel assembly before coming to a stop in pasture across M-66 from the First Baptist Church.

Elect Dudik To Academy

Rollie M. Dudik, retiring administrator of Charlevoix Hospital, was elected a member of the American Academy of Medical Administrators at the group's annual convocation held recently at Houston, Texas.

The academy is an international, professional society designed to promote better medical administration.

Election to membership is recognized as a mark of excellence and achievement in medical administration.

Dudik has resigned as hospital administrator in Charlevoix effective Oct. 1. He will be succeeded by James Murray, former administrative assistant at Cheboygan's Community Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Way

Clarence Ways Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence S. Way of Barnard will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Oct. 10 at an open house hosted by their children from 3 until 8 p.m. at the Charlevoix Assembly of God fellowship hall, 203 E. Upright-st.

They were married in Cadillac Oct. 11, 1920, and lived in Detroit for 27 years while Way was employed by the U.S. Rubber Co.

In 1947 they moved to Norwood Township where they farmed for 15 years.

Since their retirement they have bought and remodeled another farmhouse and have designed and built the A-frame chalet on Barnard-rd. where they now live.

Mrs. Way, the former Ruth Olson, was born in Cadillac Aug. 26, 1902. Way was born in Rapid City, Mich., Sept. 28, 1899.

The Ways have five children, Rev. Robert R. of Houston, Texas, pastor of the Park Place Assembly of God Church; Mrs. Arthur (Geraldine) Hittengerger of Detroit; Douglas of Atwood, a Standard Oil Distributor; Dawson of Charlevoix, agency manager for Farm Bureau Insurance Co.; and Dick, also of Charlevoix, a building contractor. Another son, Elmer, died when he was five years old.

The Ways also have 19 grandchildren and one great-grandson.

They have been life-long members of the Assembly of God Church and are charter members of the Charlevoix Assembly. Way was a member of the first Deacon's Board of the church and both he and his wife are Sunday school teachers.

Canoe Trip

The members of the Kappa Sigma Sorority and their husbands went on a canoe trip on the Jordan River Sunday, Sept. 26.

The trip was followed by a picnic supper at the home of Leonard Staley.

1971. Buick introduces a new set of values.

Value, not gimmicks or ornamentation, sells cars.

More people have been coming to Buick each year for just that reason. Buick concentrates on value.

And this year, Buick introduces a new set of values. Features that will help make your new Buick perform better, last longer and get you more of a return on your investment at trade-in time.

Only a Buick dealer can offer you our new set of values. So, test your values against our new ones. Then ask yourself this simple question. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Something to believe in.

1971 Buick Riviera. A totally new design concept. And that's not all. Riviera offers MaxTrac, an exclusive power control system you can order with its own on-board computer. It helps you get securely over slick surfaces by reducing rear-wheel slipping. The new body features side-guard beams for protection, a bigger trunk, and a driver cockpit with a control center designed around the driver for new ease and convenience.

1971 Buick Electra 225. A new interpretation of quiet elegance. We've improved our Electra everywhere you look. There's more room in every direction, interiors that can be appreciated as much for their durability as for their beauty and comfort, even a new balanced braking system. A unique valve proportions braking force front to rear to help give you quick, smooth straight-line stops.

1971 Buick Centurion. This is our newest Buick, a city car with sleekness and grace as well as muscle. It features more nimble variable-ratio power steering, power front disc brakes, Full-Flo ventilation, and a vinyl roof on the Centurion Formal Coupe as standard equipment.

1971 Buick LeSebre. An incredible new offering of Buick value. The LeSabre, like the Riviera, Electra and Centurion, features AccuDrive, a new version of the directional stability system we pioneered. It will help give you smooth handling.

1971 Buick Skylark Custom. This is the car that has set the pace for value in its price class. Rocker panels that wash and dry themselves, big-Buick room and comfort inside, a cooling system that should never overheat, inner fenders that protect the outer fenders, and a modest price have put our Buick Skylark traditionally among the resale leaders in its class.

An Important Improvement. Every new Buick engine is now designed to run smoothly and efficiently, and with lower exhaust emissions, on no-lead and low-lead gasolines. And every Buick V-8 engine will have exclusive nickel-plated exhaust valves for smoother operation and longer valve life, and a new time modulated choke to help give quicker warm up and a more consistent fuel mixture.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Chuyne of Plainwell were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Mathews.

A pleasant surprise wos experienced one day last week on a visit which showed an unheralded contribution which is being made to make a family's 'hearth and home' more enjoyable. A visit from the representative of Charlevoixs' 'Welcome Wagon' had just been made at the home of a newly arrived family to our city. It was amazing to view the wonderful items and gifts which had been furnished by a very small percentage of our local merchants—and the amount of work which had been done to gather the brochures and other pertinent information which a newcomer to the city may put to valuable use.

Fred Trimble is accompanying the Clarence Arnolds on a camping trip to the Upper Peninsula.

Superintendent's Progress Report

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

Charlevoix Public School is approved by the State of Michigan for the collection of tuition, accredited by the University of Michigan and is a member of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The General Fund balance sheet and the statement of revenue and expenditures indicates that the general fund of the Charlevoix Public Schools is financially sound. The general fund balance is $79,039.86, which is the differential between the assets and liabilities. Please note that the actual cash on hand on June 30, 1970, available to the general fund is $92,395.47. On the same date salaries earned and payable were $89,660.93. This results in a balance of cash available for general fund unemcumbered by salaries of $2,734.54. It will be necessary to borrow $250,000.00 during the 1970-71 school year to operate the school district until all taxes are received.

At the close of the 1969-70 school year, the elementary school facilities were totally adequate for K-4. A slight shortage of space existed at the middle school for grades 5-8 which was alleviated by moving 2 portable buildings to that site. The high school building was generally adequate in space to house the number of students in grades 9-12.

With the passage of the millage election in June, 1970, the school district was in a position to provide additional instruction in areas of art, music, industrial arts, home economics and building trades. The district must continue to explore means of providing additional space in the areas of vocational education. As the district grows, we must study our future building needs and make plans to provide specialized facilities where necessary to carry out our present and projected programs.

The community support of education is greatly appreciated by the board of education, the administration, the teachers and the students. Hopefully, we can all continue to work together to provide greater educational opportunities for the whole community.

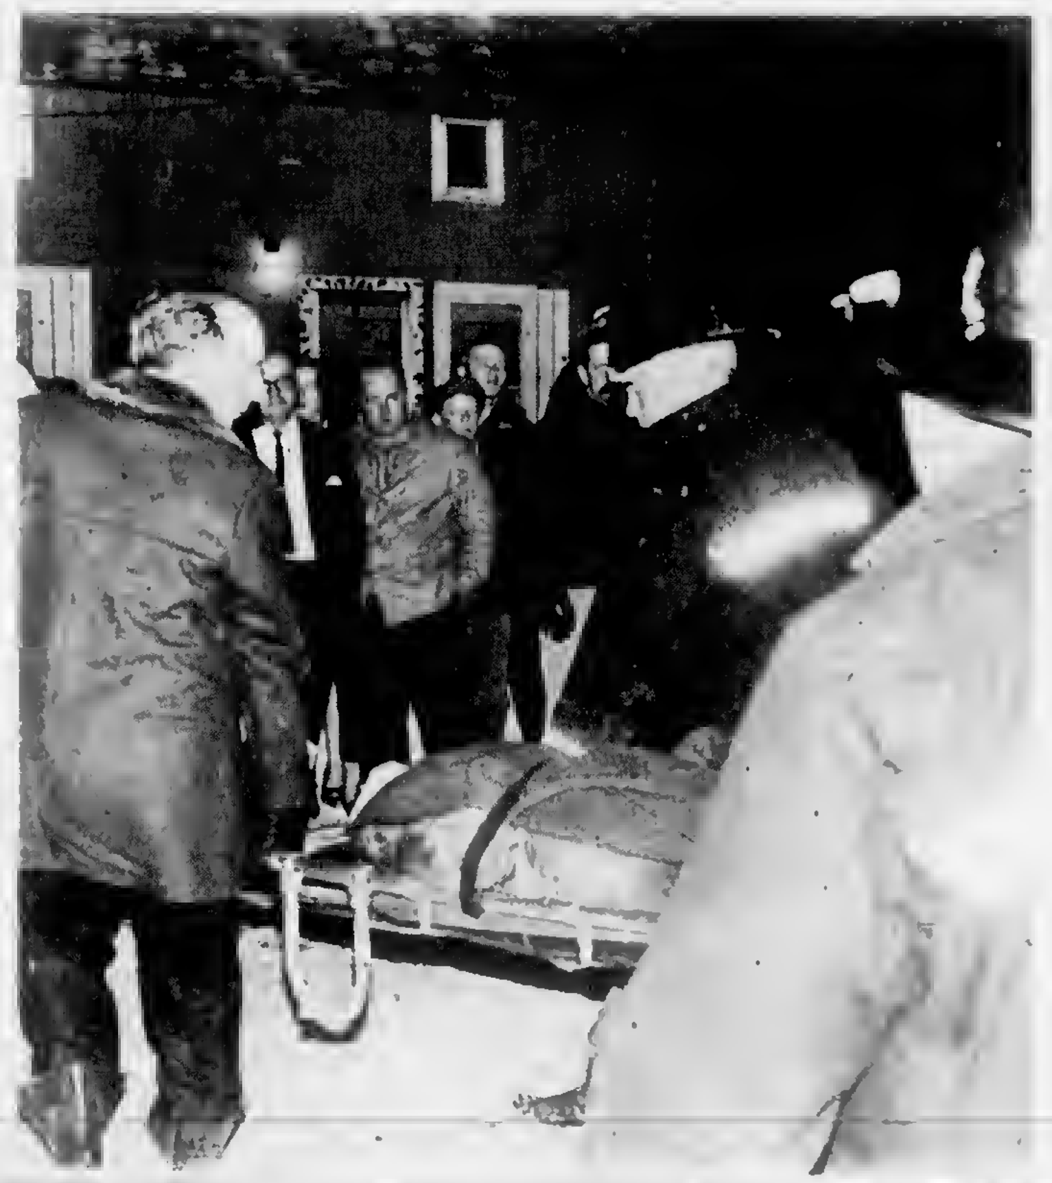
AARON BROCK lost 12 calves, three tractors, feed and equipment in this barn fire. Here Charlevoix's volunteer firemen pour water on the blazing timbers and hay to keep the fire from spreading.



FIRE, too often, takes a grim toll of human life. This victim was asphyxiated when his house caught fire while he was asleep.

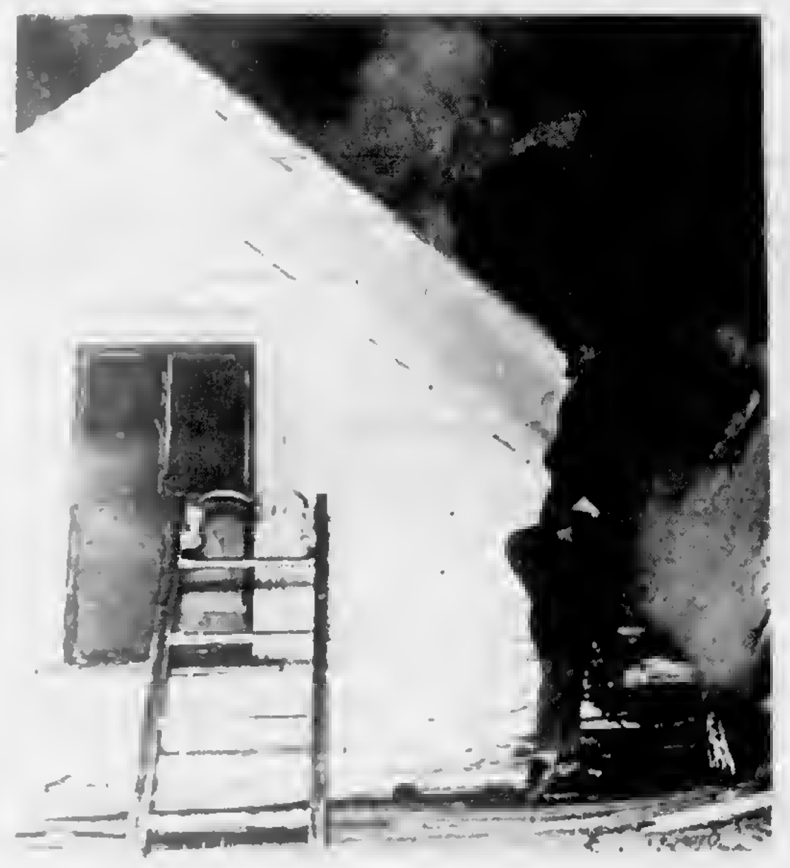
MARSHAL SHEETS, formerly of Charlevoix, lost his tent and belongings in this Beaver Island fire in 1966. Spilled fuel from his gasoline heater caught fire.



FAULTY wiring in the basement was blamed for this fire at 406 Antrim-st. in 1966.

GRASS FIRES have a way of spreading, particularly on a gusty spring day.

THIS MAJESTIC Chicago Club cottage (left) caught fire in the pre-dawn hours and by daylight there was nothing remaining except charred timbers. Cause of the fire was never determined, but it was believed to have started in the wiring system.

A TWISTED BEDFRAME was one of the few recognizable pieces of furniture remaining after fire destroyed a farm home south of Charlevoix.

CHARLEVOIX's volunteer firemen (above) use portable spray equipment to douse grass fire. Below, fireman on roof is partially obscured by smoke and steam as he attempts to extinguish fire in eaves.

Spare Yourself Heartbreak, Loss

There is no better time than National Fire Prevention Week to check your home for fire hazards.

Most preventive steps only take a few moments, but they can spare you and your family the heartbreak and financial loss of a fire.

A good place to start is your electrical wiring system. Faulty outlets, lighting fixtures and electrical appliances should be repaired promptly. Thousands of fires are caused by electrical "shorts" every year.

Owners of older homes also should have a competent electrician check the entire wiring system. Chances are pretty good that if the wiring was installed "when power came to town", the entire house should be rewired and new circuits added to handle your family's growing electrical needs.

Special attention also should be given to where you place your appliances. It is the height of folly, for example, to use your toaster on a kitchen counter directly under a roll of paper towels.

A basement clean-up bee also is a legitimate National Fire Prevention Week activity. Special effort should be made to keep a broad area around the heating plant free of all kinds of debris. A stack of newspapers next to the furnace is asking for trouble. Likewise, clotheslines should give the furnace a wide berth.

Chimneys, particularly those of homes where a quantity of wood is burned, should be cleaned periodically to prevent chimney fires. Many homes have burned to the ground after sparks from a chimney fire ignite the roof.

Oily rags cause many fires through spontaneous combustion and should not be stored inside the home. If they must be kept for any reason, keep them in a metal container outside.

It is also a good idea to store all combustible fluids outside the home, in a garage or tool shed.

Some fire prevention measures are, or should be, routine.

--If anyone at your house smokes, make sure there are no cigarettes teetering on the edge of ash trays before you go to bed at night.

--Use ash trays for ashes only, no gum wrappers and Kleenex.

--Empty ash trays into a metal container, making sure all the ashes are dead.

--Report gas leaks promptly to the gas company.

--Don't burn trash outside on a gusty day.

--Make sure campfires are extinguished before you break camp.

--Don't throw cigarette and cigar butts out of the car window. Use the ash tray, and empty it often.

--Don't leave matches within reach of children.

--Make every week National Fire Prevention Week in your home.

Emil Lockwood

Candidate Lockwood Pays Call

Sen. Emil Lockwood, Republican candidate for Secretary of State, paid a hand-shaking visit to Charlevoix Monday, Sept. 28.

Lockwood, who lives at Elm Hall, is touring the state in a 25-foot motor home that serves as an office on wheels.

He was welcomed to Charlevoix by Oscar Stroud, Charlevoix County GOP chairman, and breakfasted at the Bay Chalet with party workers.

He also visited the GOP campaign headquarters in the Hogan Building on Bridge-st.

A certified public accountant, Lockwood has been a member of the state Senate for the past eight years, including four years as majority leader.

Lockwood, 50, served in the Navy during World War II and has B.A. and M.A. degrees in accounting from the University of Michigan. He owned his own accounting firms in Adrian and later in Alma.

Before going into business for himself, the candidate was a teacher and wrestling coach, teaching at the Missouri School for the Deaf in Fulton, Mo.

He was a member of his local board of education and the Gratiot County Board of Supervisors before entering state politics in 1962.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Browe

Cheryl L. Potter H.L. Browe Wed

Cheryl L. Potter, 810 Bridge-st., became the bride of Raymond L. Browe, 401 Alice-st., in ceremonies Sept. 26 at the Community Reformed Church, the Rev. Albert Mansen officiating.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Eldon J. Potter of Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Browe, 1018 May-st., Charlevoix.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated by baskets of red and white carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length empire style gown of taffeta and nylon lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisy mums and baby's breath.

Soloist Betty Martinchek sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Frances Boss.

Maid of honor was Kathleen Miles wore an aqua crepe floor-length gown and carried a bouquet of white and aqua mums. A similar costume was worn by bridesmaid Rae Marie Szudzik.

Best man was Thomas Browe, brother of the groom. Martin Hamlin was groomsman and Larry Potter and James Potter, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted in the church fellowship hall by the bride's parents. The bridegroom's parents hosted an evening reception at the VFW hall.

Following a wedding trip through Michigan, the couple will live at 108½ Clinton-st.

The bride is an employe of the Charlevoix County State Bank. The bridegroom works at the Clark gas station.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from East Jordan, Chicago, Muskegon, Detroit, Flint, Central Lake and Ellsworth.

Face Cheboygan At Homecoming

The Charlevoix Red Rayders traveled to Rogers City for nothing Friday night.

That was the score at the end of four quarters — nothing-nothing — with most of the action taking place in front of the grandstands.

The tie dropped Charlevoix into second place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, with Boyne City in the lead with three wins.

Rogers City stands with Charlevoix with two wins and one tie.

This Friday night, the Rayers will meet Cheboygan at Kipke Field, with plenty of homecoming activity at the halftime. (See story on Pg. 1.)

Cheboygan goes into the game with no wins, one loss and one tie.

In last Friday's game with Rogers City, the Hurons' Jack Fairbanks actually reached paydirt once, but the score was called back by a penalty.

Once Charlevoix reached the Rogers City five-yard-line, but the Hurons held fast, ending the threat.

Only other highlight of the game was an intercepted RC pass by Rayder Jerry Pease.

Chest Gifts Are Lagging

Contributions to the Charlevoix Community Chest are lagging behind other years, according to Mrs. Don Anders, executive-secretary.

As of Sept. 30, only $9,541.87 had been reported in the seven divisions, Mrs. Anders said. Goal in the drive is $21,014.

Following are donations by division:

Special gifts, $3,212; summer businesses, $269; commercial, $1,174; professional, $35; Industrial $3,123; residential, $665.92; and outlying areas, $862.95.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Bradley

Connie Kaye Drost Wed by Candlelight

Connie Kaye Drost became the bride of John Paul Bradley in ceremonies Oct. 3 at the Assembly of God Church in Charlevoix.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert L. Bradley of Saginaw, a brother of the bridegroom, assisted by Rev. Bob Rutledge, church pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Drost, 213 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bradley, 1208 Pleasant-st., Boyne City.

The ceremony was performed by candlelight before an altar decorated with green ferns and white mums. Green bows and candles decorated the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Spanish-style gown of candlelight beige velvet with long sleeves and a floor-length veil trimmed with lace and velvet. She carried a bouquet of burnt orange and yellow carnations and mums.

Bonnie Drost, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Sandra Way was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length Victorian-style gowns of olive green, with long sleeves trimmed with velvet ribbon and veils to match. They carried baskets of green and white mums.

Best man was James Bradley of Grand Rapids, a brother of the bridegroom. Tom Munson of Boyne City was groomsman and ushers were Jerry Drost and Cecil Drost jr., brothers of the bride; Dick Wright of Boyne City, a nephew of the bridegroom; and Tom Fitzgerald of Boyne City.

Mrs. Eugene Kurchinski, a sister of the bridegroom, sang "Each for the Other," accompanied on the organ by Richard Bradley of Grand Rapids, a brother of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Drost wore a navy blue double-breasted knit suit with matching accessories and a corsage of baby blue carnations. Mrs. Bradley wore a beige two-piece dress with matching accessories and a corsage of mint-green carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the church fellowship hall. Assisting were Mrs. Jerry Drost and Mrs. Cecil Drost jr., sisters-in-law of the bride. Cake was served by Mrs. Richard Bradley and punch was served by Miss Pat Wright. Mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Bob Rutledge.

After a wedding trip to southern Michigan and northern Indiana the couple will live at 213 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix.

The bridegroom is employed by the Charlevoix Post Office. Mrs. Bradley works for Charlevoix Hospital.

Out-of-town guests attended from Grand Rapids, Saginaw, Petoskey, Boyne City and Alpena. (Photo by Art Hilton)

Letters to the editor

Wants More Data on Parochiaid

Dear Editor:

The State Supreme Court, a part of our democratic system for establishing that which is more just when a dispute is made, recently declared that present financial aid to private schools by the legislature was legal. They also ordered a proposed constitutional amendment be placed on the ballot for November. This latter item, I understand, would not only outlaw additional state aid but would automatically eliminate present aid as it became renewable at the end of authorized periods such as fiscal years, etc.

For all of the hardships suffered under our courts due to the overload of cases and the cumbersome and expensive legal machinery, it is a wonderful system and a bright light in the darkness of dictatorships and isms present in certain other countries of the world. It is also heartening to have this question of parochiaid placed before the voters so that they can voice their real feelings by their vote.

Since it is a very personal matter for every individual who must decide where the realities of his beliefs lie, it frightens me to have groups of fanatics such as the Council Against Parochiaid (CAP) map out and promote an expensive campaign to defeat a question concerning the education of all of our children. I always resent individuals or groups who try to hardsell me: be they magazine salesmen or politicians.

I do know that this proposed amendment is a very important one to our school system and a very complicated one for the lay person to decipher. As in most cases of a vote on an amendment, legal bond, etc., I will have to make up my mind how I'll mark my ballot before I ever enter the booth. For this decision I will depend upon the explanations of the question that I read in the newspapers. I am sure many others share my confused state in trying to separate the double negative phrases in the legal jargon printed in small letters on the ballot.

I hope your paper will provide a clear and accurate explanation of this proposed amendment and its potential result, should it be or not be, made a part of the state constitution. As a citizen of this area I could not be more pleased with the normally unslanted reporting of the news by the local media.

Very Truly Yours,
Don Luedke, RT 3

Marine Station Sought

The following letter was sent by George A. LaBlance, commodore of the Charlevoix Yacht Club, to Lee Agustus of Michigan Bell Telephone Co. relative to the establishment of a VHF (very high frequency) marine shore station in Charlevoix:

Mr. Lee Agustus,
Michigan Bell Telephone Co.
1365 Cass Ave.,
Detroit, Michigan 48226

Dear Mr. Agustus:

We, of the Charlevoix Yacht Club, have been informed by Mr. Harry Weinbaum that you are the man who can help and advise us in reference to Charlevoix being an VHF Marine Shore Station.

For your informatin, the new FCC regulation requires that only VHF radios can be sold for boats after 1971. Due to the limited range VHF provides, all boat owners are concerned because of the lack of Marine Shore Stations.

We feel that Charlevoix would serve the greatest number of boats because of its center location in the Traverse Bay area. We are within 30 miles of Leland, North Port, Fox Island, Beaver Island, Harbor Springs and Petoskey. Also, we have the shipping channel in this range.

Will you please advise us as to what we should do to accomplish the establishment of a Marine Shore Station at Charlevoix. We have asked Mr. Harry Weinbaum, who is a member of our Charlevoix Yacht Club, to represent us in our efforts to locate a VHF Marine Shore Station at Charlevoix.

Sincerely,
George A. LaBlance, Commodore

Miss Schuch Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Schuch of Charlevoix, formerly of Unionville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Ann, to Nicholas G. Vancoevering of Mt. Pleasant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Vancoevering of Lansing.

Both Miss Schuch and Vancoevering are students at Central Michigan University.

A Jan. 9 wedding is planned.

Barnard News

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Sietzma and family of Garden City called on his aunt, Mrs. Hirman Potter, and other relatives in this area the past week.

Recent guests of Mrs. Bertha Roberts were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jolliffe and girls and Mr. Jack Roberts, all of Grand Rapids.

Deepest sympathy goes out to the family of Mr. Harry Elzinga who died Sept. 26 at Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

Mrs. Julia Potter has been visiting relatives in Flint. While there she attended the wedding of her granddaughter, Miss Joan Troupe.

Wayne Boss of Clawson was a overnight guest of the Lawrence Boss family Sept. 26 enroute to school in Houghton, Mich.

Sunday supper guests at the Boss home were Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Klooster of Ellsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boss visited Sept. 25 in Grand Rapids with Rev. and Mrs. Charles Stoppels.

Mr. Clarence Way was honored on Sept. 28 his 71st birthday. Those helping him celebrate were The Dawsons, Douglas and Richard Ways and families and Mr. Kelly Wilson of the Charlevoix Coast Guard.

Mrs. Arthur Goodwin of Waltham, Mass., is visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elijah O'Brien. It has been 19 years since she has been here for a visit.

Mr. Jlles Warner and grandson Jeff Warner of Grand Rapids visited Sunday with relatives in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Swanson and family visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Williams in Mancelona during the past weekend. On Sunday dinner guests with the Swansons were her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fushs and family of Utica.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Way and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Way and family were in Detroit the past weekend. They attended the wedding of a grandson, Dan Hittenburger.

Mrs. Homer Warner and Mrs. Hiram Potter were in Bellaire Sept. 29 where they visited Mrs. Potter's brother, Mr. Jake Sietzma of Meadow Brook Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunt of Allegan spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stutzman. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Davis and family of Grand Rapids spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Swanson. On Saturday evening they all enjoyed dinner together honoring the Stutzmans' 30th wedding anniversary and the Swansons' 36th anniversary.

Recently I talked with an elderly gentleman from out of town and he said he was happy to read the Barnard news again in the Charlevoix Courier. He has some very, good friends in Barnard and that's one way he has of keeping up on the news of that family. So you people, please call me your news.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boss and family visited recently in Grand Rapids with Rev. and Mrs. Charles Stoppels.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cunningham of Saginaw have a new son born Sept. 21. Their daughter, Chrissy, is visiting with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cunningham.

Parochiaid Proposal Deserves a 'No' Vote

The language of the parochiaid amendment (Proposal C on the Nov. 3 ballot) is so far removed from the original intent of the opponents of parochiaid that it deserves a resounding "no" vote from all quarters.

Some $22 million was voted by the 1970 Legislature to help pay the salaries of teachers of nonreligious studies in nonpublic schools. From the outset a number of persons in Michigan had grave reservations about the constitutionality of expending public funds for nonpublic schools.

However the Michigan Supreme Court was upheld the constitutionality of the parochiaid portion of the 1970 school aid bill, but has ordered that a constitutional amendment on aid to nonpublic schools be placed on the Nov. 3 ballot.

Unfortunately, the wording of Proposal C and the amendment it would afix to the Constitution is so all-encompassing that it would virtually spell the end of nonpublic schools in Michigan.

For example, the Legislature in 1965 passed an Auxiliary Services Bill which extended certain public school services to nonpublic schools. These services include visiting teachers, teacher consultants for mentally handicapped and emotionally disturbed children, remedial reading services, health and nursing service, speech correction and counseling for physically handicapped children.

These services, which have nothing whatsoever to do with religious education, would be terminated if Proposal C passes.

The amendment as written could also eliminate the shared-time concept in which nonpublic pupils are permitted to be taught some types of classes in public schools. The shared-time concept has been a boon to the parochial school children, particularly in the area of vocational education. Most parochial schools lack the funds and the skilled personnel to do much, if anything, in the field of job training.

But the shared-time concept stands in serious jeopardy of Proposal C passes.

Dr. John W. Porter, acting superintendent of public instruction, says that in addition to banning public aid to non-public schools, the broad language of the amendment would go far beyond the original intentions of opponents of parochiaid.

Erwin Ellman, chairman of the American Civil Liberty Union and one of the drafters of the parochiaid amendment, has labeled some of the objections as "exaggerations," but even he concedes that some auxiliary services now provided nonpublic schools would definitely be eliminated if the amended is approved.

Thomas J. Brennan, vice-chairman of the state Board of Education, claims passage of the amendment would "close nonpublic schools within a year."

If so, the public schools are in grave trouble.

Thomas B. Adams, chairman of the board of Campbell-Ewald Co. and president of Michigan Citizens Against Proposal C, says there are 274,000 children enrolled in 800 nonpublic schools in Michigan.

"These schools save Michigan taxpayers $274 million each year in state and local taxes," Adams says. "This figure does not include $1.2 billion in building replacement costs."

If the nonpublic schools are forced to close, Adams says every taxpayer in Michigan will experience a 20 percent increase in his state personal income tax.

"I don't think our citizens realize at the moment what a real tax saver's bargain our 800 nonpublic schools are for the people of Michigan," Adams says.

The Courier agrees and urges a "no" vote on Proposal C at the polls Nov. 3.

Clockwise

Et tu, Schweigert

By Bob Clock

It sort of knocks the win out of you to discover your hero has clay feet.

Ever since moving to northern Michigan five years ago, one of my favorite figures in public life has been Sen. Thomas Schweigert. As a reporter and editor, I have had an opportunity to listen to Sen. Tom at various public meetings as he expounded his ideas on such far-ranging subjects as green-belt zoning and state aid to education.

I found him to be incredibly well-informed on every subject. He does his homework. He has a sharp mind. And he is an excellent speaker. Moreover, he is as comfortable as an old shoe once you get to know him.

When Sen. Tom became Michigan's acting lieutenant governor earlier this year, I was in the front row of the cheering section. I could see him some day moving into the governor's chair and then.....Who knows? There are no limits for a man of his immense capability.

That is why I was left with an empty feeling last Thursday night when I heard him publicly endorse Richard Friske for the Michigan House of Representatives.

I wasn't particularly angry with Sen. Tom personally, because I knew he was acting in the interests of Republican party unity.

But I was aghast that a man of Schweigert's stature would publicly offer his support to an avowed enemy of democratic government in the cause of political expediency. Party politics is one thing; selling-out is quite another.

And, my fellow constitutents in the 106th district, if you have any doubt that Richard Friske gives any quarter to the kind of democracy we enjoy in America today, ask him yourself.

"Democracy," he will parrot from his John Birch Society mentors, "leads to mob rule."

To the Birchers, democracy is almost as serious a threat to the United States as their arch enemy, communism.

Richard Frske fought democracy as a member of Hitler's army during World War II. And he is still fighting it today although he has lived in the United States more than 20 years and has had ample opportunity to witness the results and enjoy the fruits of democratic government.

What do Friske and the Birchers propose as an alternative to democracy? Ask them yourselves. You'll get a lot of gibberish about a "constitutional republic." Then ask them to explain the difference between a "constitutional republic" and a "constitutional democracy" and they will dodge behind a smokescreen of semantics that will leave your head spinning. Or they will tell you that you are insufficiently schooled in the John Birch Society philosophy to understand the difference.

And that is only the beginning. The John Birch Society – and Richard Friske – find little that is good in American life today and are hell-bent on destroying American political and social institutions one by one. Our public schools and universities are rotten, our courts are a mockery, our tax structure is unfair, our welfare programs are degrading, our laws are laughable, our morals are depraved and our kids get away with murder.

Even more frightening is the fact that the Birchers are squarely opposed to badly needed changes in our political and social institutions – witness abortion reform, parochiaid and sex education.

Making the entire John Birch (Richard Friske) doctrine even more ghastly is the pervading conviction that a gigantic Communist conspiracy has been working for 200 years to take over America. They see communists infiltrating every strata of American life, and if you aren't a victim of the same paranoia you are automatically numbered among the conspirators.

Many otherwise sensible voters ask: "So what? What harm will Richard Friske be able to do as a piddling state legislator?"

Although it is true that Friske probably would be highly ineffectual in Lansing because of his meager understanding of Michigan's problems, it is no secret that his brand of high-handed authoritarianism is beginning to be felt on all levels of American government, from the vice presidency on down.

What we need in Lansing is a man who will stand up to the tyrants, not side with them.

Furthermore, Friske has made it clear that he intends to use the state Legislature as a stepping-stone to Washington.

Of course, Sen. Schweigert had nothing to lose personally by his endorsement of a John Birch Society candidate. Schweigert is no longer a candidate for the Senate and his appointment to a high office with the U.S. Department of the Interior is expected sometime in October.

But I cannot figure out why he and other GOP leaders, including Charlevoix County Republican chairman Oscar Stroud, have suddenly decided Friske is their man when there is another perfectly acceptable GOP candidate who intends to run – and win – the House seat on sticker and write-in votes.

He is Glenn Law jr. of St. Ignace, a Republican moderate who more accurately reflects the thinking of most GOP voters in the 106th District.

I wish Law had served a couple of terms on his local school board, followed by a few years on the St. Ignace City Council. But he hasn't. He is a political greenhorn, as is Friske.

But Law does not advocate the overthrow of American democracy, as does Friske. Law agrees that many of our institutions need a fresh look and new ideas, but he feels we can work out our problems within the framework of our present form of government.

But political leaders, including Schweigert, are convinced that a write-in candidate doesn't stand a chance. Instead they have sided with Friske in the mistaken assumption that the people of northern Michigan are so poorly informed that they will vote a straight Republican ticket, regardless of whose name appears on the ballot.

Furthermore, the leaders are willing to go to any lengths to keep the 106th District seat in the GOP fold in the Nov. 3 election. They fear a write-in candidate will only split the Republican vote and send a Democrat to Lansing.

We have arrived at a sad day when raw political power is more important to our party leaders than the caliber of men we elect to exercise that power.

If it Fitz

Follow the Pigtail

By Jim Fitzgerald

I've said it before and now it's time to say it again: there is no view to which distance lends more enchantment than the view of a high school marching band.

The uniforms are usually 25 years older than the kids in them. And when your pants are dragging, and your hat is wobbling, it is hard to march in step while reading music and blowing a horn. Especially when the kid in front of you trips over the shadow of the goal post.

I first revealed my apathy toward marching bands several years ago, when my oldest daughter became a majorette. A wise columnist never knocks something kids are doing unless his own kid is also doing it. This way, he doesn't catch so much heck from other parents who think marching bands are great and their particular kid is John Philip Sousaphone. These parents think marching columnist is an ignorant jerk, plus a lousy father, but they withhold their criticism because they know the jerk columnist will only say: "I didn't say anything about your kid that I didn't say about my own."

Anyway, the majorette daughter didn't turn out to be such a bad deal. She was out in front of the band and I could see her when she fumbled the baton. I was glad she wasn't one of the 36 clarinet players. I marveled at the parents who ran alongside parades, snapping photographs of horn players. "How can they tell which kid is theirs?" I wondered.

Well, my favorite majorette strutted off into the arc lights long ago, subsequently turning this neighborhood swinger into just another grandfather. But now comes Daughter No. 2. And she is a clarinet player. Oh me.

"I will buy you that $125-horn on just one condition," I told her, "and is if you make the band, I don't have to go watch you play." She agreed.

But her mother didn't. Chrissie ("Call me Chris!") made the band. Her first marching performance was just the other night. I said I wasn't going.

"What kind of a father are you?" my wife asked.

"I am the father of 1 horn player, not 50. But from 100 yards away, I won't be able to tell which of them is mine. You can't even tell which ones are daughters," I pleaded.

"Chris is putting hair in a pigtail. She has the longest hair in school. All you have to do is follow the bouncing pigtail," my wife said.

So, to the surprise of absolutely no one, I went to the game. Let's face it, I knew all along I was going. I just said I wasn't because I love the way my wife looks when she's angry. (They don't make movies like that anymore).

All during halftime I kept my eyes on that pigtail. I even nudged the guy next to me and said, "Hey, see that pigtail? That's my daughter."

"I'd love to meet your wife," he said, moving two seats away.

But seriously, folks, I was as proud as any dad there. Chrissie didn't fall down once. And after the game, I sought after that pigtail to tell her she did well and I really love her very much, even if I don't like clarinets.

But there was no pigtail in sight. I circulated through that entire band and not one girl had a pigtail. Mystery.

It would make a terrific ending to this nonsense if I could report I'd spent halftime admiring the marching of a Chinese laundry boy.

But the truth will out. When the music ended, Chrissie quickly undid her hair for fear she might be mistaken for a non-hippie. It blew in her face and I couldn't tell her from the other clarinet players with hair in their faces.

Onward and Upward, especially fathers.

Authority Challenged

Revolution And Fight For Freedom Sustained By The Printed Word

By Robert M. Shaw, Manager
Minnesota Newspaper Association
(Second in a series)

What caused the American Revolution? How did it happen that American colonists, outnumbered and out-gunned by one of the world's "superpowers", were able to tear themselves away from European rule and set out on a new course in a free world?

Obviously, there had to be a revolution in men's minds. Not all colonists wanted independence. There were strong forces in colonial America which wanted to stay with England. What was it that fanned the flames, which set fire to the smoldering revolutionary movement?

Some historians believe the Revolution was largely brought on by skillful writers and propagandists such as Tom Paine and John Quincy Adams, men whose words echoed what most men knew but could not articulate. These propagandists, writing in a small number of newspapers, converted men into fiery patriots and helped to weld the far-flung colonies into one great social movement.

James Franklin, publisher of the New England Courant, was one of the first of these editors to kick up the traces. About 1720, he resisted censorship by the colonial governor, and was thrown in jail. When released, he kept up his sharp criticism of government until the Colonial Court put an abrupt end to his newspaper publishing career. But his example stayed, it remains to this day. "Nobody, especially government officials, is going to see MY copy before it's printed!"

Later, other colonial editors printed an increasing volume of material which challenged British authority and crystallized public opinion, giving it a clear and positive direction. There were only a handful – about a score – of these newspapers. They were all weeklies – and their total circulation was about 40,000 – but they were passed from one hand to another until they literally fell apart. They were read aloud to small groups and to large ones. They carried their revolutionary ideas into every hamlet and frontier village. The news of the Declaration of Independence was first published in the Pennsylvania Post on July 6, 1776. First came communication – news of complete rupture with England. Then came action – ringing of the bells, organizing of the militia, and war.

During the battles which followed, it was the force of words printed on paper which greatly contributed to the morale of the fighting colonial soldiers. Tom Paine's "Common Sense" was enormously popular with the troops, and his views on independence were known to every literate American. It was in the form of a colonial newspaper that his stirring words were published in the Pennsylvania Journal on Dec. 19, 1776.

> These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will in this crisis, shrink from the service of their country, but he that stands it NOW, deserves the love and thanks of man and woman. Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered; yet we have this consolation with us, that the harder the conflict the more glorious the triumph. What we obtain too cheap, we esteem too lightly; it is dearness only that gives every thing its value. Heaven knows how to put a proper price upon its goods; and it would be strange indeed if so celestial an article as FREEDOM should not be highly rated.

When George Washington read these words he ordered them read to each corporal's squad of his tiny, bleeding, army. He reported that "It worked a powerful change in the minds of my men."

Words printed on paper can have powerful effects. When words are printed, they remain. They are not lost in the wind, not subject to the distortions which occur when they are passed along by word of mouth. They can be handed from one reader to another, without change. And those persons who put words on paper are peculiarly conscious that they may be called to account for what they do.

Newspapers have always provided the best means for the accurate expression of complex ideas. It was true in colonial times, and it is true today.

National Geographic Feature

TV Screens Shed Light Around World

Millions of small screens light the world from tropical Sierra Leone to frigid Siberia.

Local color and customs often flavor foreign television broadcasts. In one small African country, the entire cast of a program fled the studio when the local witch doctor appeared.

Stations in Saudi Arabia begin the day with readings from the Koran. Saudi women are not allowed on programs, and a pair of hands is the only live thing viewers see during a popular series on the delights of cooking.

SPANS THE GLOBE

Television has spread to 100 countries from Albania to Zambia, the National Geographic Society says.

Viewers cluster around the glowing tube in such unlikely places as Gabon, Mauritius, and Southern Yemen. More than 225,000,000 television sets are in use around the world.

A recent documentary introduced its audience to a "Stone Age people" in New Guinea. Now Australian authorities say that educational television may reach the region within five years.

JAPAN SECOND

Japan ranks second behind the United States in number of television sets with 20,500,000. Japanese traditionalists delight in kabuki theater, and sumo wrestling by gigantic grapplers. Younger viewers seem to prefer westerns and science fiction films.

The medium's impact extends beyond the screen to clothing and speech habits. "We used to be able to tell whether people were Tokyoites or hicks," explained a popular TV personality, "but this is no longer possible."

Italy has experienced a similar transformation. Before the television age, many Italians spoke regional dialects. Now linguists claim people generally converse in the national tongue.

CULTURES COMPARED

A television set in Cairo, capital of the United Arab Republic, offers a rare opportunity to compare cultures and languages. A wide array of programs from the United States, the Soviet Union, France, the United Kingdom, and Czechoslovakia is beamed each night in original languages with Arabic subtitles.

Western shows are more popular than the standard Russian fare, which may offer massive cranes lifting heavy steel, or tractors rolling majestically across vast fields--all to a background of solemn, uplifting music.

In the United States an estimated 83,000,000 sets make television a way of life. A few holdouts persist, however. One father permanently unplugged the family set after his son complained that a family mountain climb was not as exciting as the one he had seen on television.

necessary.

"We have the money in hand and are now preparing the plans and specifications," says Jack Mechler, Chief Project Engineer in the Detroit office of the Corps of Engineers. "They should be completed by the first of the year. Advertisements for bids will be placed by March 1971. Work should begin on the 350 foot steel sheet piling revetment by early summer."

Whether that will be soon enough is the question constantly asked in Charlevoix.

Obituary

Mr. Goss

Funeral for William E. Goss, 78, a retired Michigan Bell employe, was held Monday at the Winchester Funeral Home, the Rev. Lawrence E. Tenhopen officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Goss died Friday at Lockwood - MacDonald Hospital where he had been a patient one day.

He was born Oct. 10, 1891, at Wadford, Ont., moving to Rapid City, Mich., with his parents when he was three.

He married the former Leila P. Race in 1919 at Saranac and they lived in Traverse City before coming to Charlevoix 49 years ago. Mrs. Goss died in 1962.

He was a veteran of World War I, a member of the Congregational Church, the Leslie T. Shapton Post of the American Legion and the Telephone Pioneers of America.

He also represented the Third Ward on the city council for 12 years.

Mr. Goss retired from Michigan Bell in 1956 after 37 years with the company.

Survivors include four sons, Gerald A. and Shelby R. of Charlevoix and Thomas A. and William C. of Saranac; 15 grandchildren; a brother, Arthur of Traverse City and two sisters, Mrs. Newell Card of Pontiac and Mrs. D. Dickerson of Flint. Another son, Robert, of Charlevoix, died last year.

City Bond Firm Sold

Kenower, MacArthur & Co., of Detroit, the bond consulting firm working with the city of Charlevoix on the proposed issue of $700,000 in general obligation bonds to finance the new waste water treatment plant, has been acquired by American Securities Corp. of New York.

After the merger announcement Sept. 28, both firms hastened to assure that the combination was not related to the stock market slump and accompanying problems which have triggered a rash of mergers in the securities industry.

American Securities President H. Theodore Freeland said that "both companies have at all times had ample capital and plan to apply their combined talent and resources to continued emphasis on creative investment."

So far as Charlevoix is concerned, the firm will compile financial information necessary for the bond issue, assist local attorneys and draw up a prospectus for potential buyers of the bonds.

If the bond issue fails, the firm will be paid a fee of $750 for duties already performed.

Skis that tilt in turns for tight, precise handling in all snow conditions. A clutch that's torque sensitive, safety wrap-around dashboard and a quiet and efficient ArcticTron muffler. Complete range of power choices including exclusive engines built especially for Arctic-Cat. The Boss. And the competition thought they had it tough last year.

ARCTIC CAT SNOWMOBILES

2. LYNX The lightweight. With a special shorter chassis to perform best with smaller power-plants. But Lynx is no midget. Under the all-riveted aluminum chassis there's the same wide track and the Arctic Cat proven torsion spring/slide rail suspension. And full size skis and tilt-turn steering. And all the safety features found on all Arctic Cats. And a range of power choices to match your needs. Lynx tops most larger machines in everything. Except price.

3. PUMA Puma is the result of testing and development on race tracks all over the snow belt by Arctic Cat racing teams. A shorter and lighter chassis was combined with new gearing, track length and track angle for maximum handling and performance. We experimented with different hood designs, different carburetion and special clutches. Puma is a race-bred Cat for the serious sportsman who wants a machine that will outcorner, outclimb, outhandle and outlast everything else on snow.

4. EXT Arctic Cat's laboratory on skis. This is the one you'll see on the ovals and running the cross country races this season. Special shock absorbers on the skis and track suspension. Wedge design free-air hood for extra cooling under the grueling conditions of racing. Special rider position, higher handlebars, sloping seat, collision-protected center-mounted gas tank. EXT is going to be the one to watch . . . so take a close look now.

HAILS EAST JORDAN SAFETY SEMINAR

Gov. Doffs Parka to Snowmobilers

Claims Michigan First in Nation

Michigan Gov. William Milliken has doffed his snowmobile parka to the dozens of snowmobilers from the across the nation who took part in the first annual Snowmobile Safety Seminar sponsored by the Michigan International Snowmobile Association at East Jordan Aug. 27.

The turnout at the seminar was particularly gratifying to Milliken, a native of Traverse City and a life-long winter sportsman.

"Based on the large growth of snowmobiling," the governor said, "I believe it is safe to say Michigan now leads the nation in this family-oriented wintertime recreation field.

"Because I am a winter sports enthusiast," Milliken continued, "I am particularly proud of this position of leadership your industry has brought to our state.

"Regulation of the snowmobile industry is a necessity," the governor pointed out, "but laws governing the use of snowmobiles must be proper laws, meaningful and positive, not punitive. Good legislation – now – makes far more sense to me than repealing bad legislation at some later date."

"I am pleased to know that representatives of your industry are working with legislators to obtain sound regulatory measures. This is the fine example of the way in which your industry is accepting the responsibility for leadership.

"This safety seminar is another such example. Today's agenda covering enforcement, insurance, public trails, safety education, nationally, and Michigan's plan, indicate that your industry is trying to take positive steps to insure that snowmobiling will continue its healthy growth in the future.

Your program today tells me that you are aiming for industry expansion that will provide additional recreational opportunity for the snowmobiler while at the same time protecting the individual rights of the non-snowmobiling citizen in Michigan."

SNOWMOBILING is a sport the whole family can enjoy. Many youngsters can handle a snow machine like experts--once they know the safety rules.

MANY snowmobilers have become experts at repairing their machines on safari. But an expert is usually called in for the more ficklish jobs.

Snowmobiles Assist 'Avalanche Busters'

Thanks to the snowmobile, the job of the "avalanche buster" in the rugged snow-capped peaks of the American west is a whale of a lot easier than it was a few short years ago when "busters" were forced to travel by ski or on snowshoe.

But because of the snowmobile, the avalanche buster must travel further into the hinterlands than ever before.

The reason, of course, is the snowmobilers insatiable curiosity to explore every gulch and gulley in the west on his machine, places never before visited by man in the dead of winter.

The job of the avalanche buster is to spot treacherous buildups of snow on mountainsides, snow that could without a moment's notice break loose from the face of the mountain and thunder down into the valley below crushing everything in its path.

That "everything" includes trees, skiers, snowmobilers and mountainside chalets. In fact, avalanches have been known to wipe out entire villages.

When an avalanche buster spots such a buildup of snow, it is his job to make sure the path below is clear and then set the snow mass in motion, using either dynamite or mortar shells. If he does his job properly, his man-made avalanche will expend itself without damage to life or property.

With more and more outdoorsmen venturing via snowmobile into the rugged wilds of the mountain states, the task of the avalanche buster has become doubly important. And the snowmobile has become as important to him as the dynamite and mortar rounds he carries with him.

PICK DIRECTOR

The International Snowmobile Industry Association has selected C. Glynn Fraser of Buford, Colo., as its first executive director. The appointment was announced by C. Rene Bourassa, president.

SHOW PLANNED

The Twisting Trail Sno-Braves of Muskegon County will hold a snowmobile show at their clubhouse at 5568 Sweeter-rd., Oct. 17 and 18.

ATTENTION RUPP RIDERS

Exclusive Rupp 440 Twin engine. All performance. All heart. Star of the Ram-Air package is Rupp's own sweet runnin' 440cc power plant. Built for lasting durability and performance. Rupp took a long look at other 2-cycle engines – then built the best of them all. An engine designed specifically for snowmobiles, with a crankshaft that can really stand the gaff. Controlled cooling. And lots of other better ideas. What's more, Rupp Dealers service the Rupp 440 engines they sell using Rupp's multi-million dollar inventory of parts ... should you need 'em.

Get RUPP and ... go!

Compare Rupp ... to any other snowmobile

Comparison proves its more economical for you to own and operate a Rupp than any other make of snowmobile. Look at the quality features. Every one of them helps you save when you buy and save as you operate your Rupp.

1. Dual Release Hood. Tilts forward or lifts off. Easy to unlatch and get under quickly anytime. When working in limited space in doors, just pull the pins to completely remove hood.

2. Rupp Torque Converter. Automatically adjusts to all terrain and load conditions. Keeps full power flowing to the track until you let off. The nylon wear blocks last almost forever.

3. No-Freeze Motorcycle Controls. New smooth low friction brake and throttle cables deliver instant action regardless of the temperature.

4. Your choice of Power in twins and singles! Rupp's new Ram Air 440 power package featuring Rupp's own 440cc engine leads the way. Other engines in red hot Rupps: Hirth 634cc, Curtiss Wright 340cc, Sachs 295cc and JLO 230cc.

5. Pleated Naugahyde Seat. Plush, light weight, poly foam cushion. Covered with pleated naugahyde for extra wear and comfort. (All models except S-23.)

6. Slant-Up Grab Bars. Strong. Sturdy. Set for comfortable his and her riding.

7. High-Rise Seat Back. Great for "his & her" riding. Contains extra storage space inside. (All models except S-23.)

8. Reflector Tail Light. Safety reflector shows up all headlights of the riders behind you. A decoration by day, a necessity at night.

9. Two Windshields. High, heavy duty one for family fun and sport riding. Better wind protection. Made of resilient low temperature butyrate. Low silhouette rally windshield is optional.

10. Chrome Plated Skis. Man-size hand grips. New wrap-around heat treated steel wear bars. Bolted front and rear. Now you won't lose a wear bar no matter how far or fast you want to ride. Painted skis on Models S-23 and S-29.

11. Automotive-type Ski Suspension. All twin cylinder models have high alloy multi leaf springs matched to your machines weight. Lightweight S-23 uses mono leaf spring. Jounce bumpers take the bang out of the big bumps, gives you positive control.

12. Quick Response Slalom Steering. Skis change angles as you turn like you're slalom racing. High alloy steel spline steering arm.

13. Double-Filtered Fuel System. Keeps water, dirt and other pollution out. Gas tank is baffled for smoother running in the rough. All steel and five gallons deep.

14. Quick Opening Chain Case. Racing fast oil check and chain adjustment. Speedy access for sprocket changes. Tough and durable die-cast aluminum construction.

15. Reflective Rupp Decals. Side identification decals are special Scotchcal® reflective material – offer extra safety for night riding.

16. Rupp Disc Brakes. Extra large. Almost twice the stopping power of other machines. Grab quick, and hold. Repeated stops, temperature, or wetness will not affect the lightning-fast response.

17. Space-Age Drive Sprockets. Single and dual drive. Tough, one piece polyurethane front and rear. Withstands lowest temperatures. New larger rear sprocket makes your machine more efficient. The front drive shaft is high strength steel. It won't break. Bearings are super size too.

18. Poly Idler Tires. Polyurethane withstands low temperatures. Tough and free wheeling at all speeds and temperatures.

19. Safety Stirrups. Strong, roomy. Well placed for easy riding or quick exits.

20. Performance-Proven Trailing Bogey Suspension System. A Rupp first. 12 bogies independently suspended. Soak up bumps. Keep your track on the snow where it belongs. Sealed bearings plus bearing shields.

21. New Power Track. Dual drive on wide track models. Center drive on Sprint models. Great strength. Super durability. Self cleaning tread makes Rupp's track a grabber in any kind of snow.

22. Aluminum Rupp frame. Hottest chassis in the industry. Lightweight aircraft aluminum chassis is the key to Rupp's sports car performance. Strong. Corrosion free. Easy to handle. The big reason Rupp rides on the snow, not in it.

23. Roomy, unobstructed Power Track Tunnel. No chance to collect snow build-up and jam track. You keep moving even in wet snow.

Quick Release Torque Converter Guard. (not shown) Guard is lightweight, built to take it. Racing type fasteners work fast.

NEW USES FOUND EVERY YEAR

Snowmobile Is Ski Area Workhorse

By BOB CLOCK

Although snowmobiling and skiing are close rivals for the title of Michigan's most popular winter start, it was the ski areas which gave the snowmobile its first big push in northern Michigan.

In fact, many persons saw their first snowmobile in action at such Charlevoix County ski areas as Boyne Mountain, Thunder Mountain and Walloon Hills.

Ski area operators discovered early that the snowmobile is the fastest, most reliable vehicle for traveling their snow-packed slopes.

Every year, ski area operators are adding more snow machines to their stables of rolling stock as more and more uses are discovered for the versatile winter workhorse and plaything.

Ski patrols, for example, have found the snowmobile an invaluable adjunct to their rescue missions.

In years past, when a skier was injured high in the hills it was often a major undertaking loading him aboard a toboggan and trundling him down the mountain to a first aid station.

The task was usually accomplished by two patrolmen on skis, one in front of the toboggan and one behind.

To their credit, the ski patrolmen invariably did an excellent job, guiding their wounded cargo as quickly and as comfortably as possible over often treacherous terrain.

But almost every ski patrolman can tell you stories about what happened "when the toboggan got away," a terrifying experience at best for the injured passenger.

Today, however, the snowmobile has taken most of the leg work out of moving disabled skiers. The toboggan-ambulance is securely hitched to the rear of a snowmobile and the victim can rest assured that he will be transported safe and sound to medical help, without further damage along the way.

The snowmobile also has proven to be an invaluable tool for ski resort owners and operators in keeping track of their far-flung holdings.

They use them for routine inspections of lift houses and equipment and to determine snow conditions on the various slopes.

Of course, most ski area operators are inveterate skiers themselves and prefer to make their rounds on a pair of boards. But the snowmobile allows them to cover more territory faster, without sometimes lengthy waits for chairs and other lifts.

The ski area engineer spends a good deal of his time on his snow machine, determining where snow making heads should be placed that night and carrying tools and supplies to keep equipment in good repair.

The men who make snow on frosty nights also make good use of snow machines, using them to travel between snowmaking stations and to drag heavy hoses across the frozen slopes. The hoses and snowmaking heads have to be moved several times in a single night to prevent unwieldiv buildups of snow.

At Boyne Mountain several years ago, a snowmaking head was left unattended overnight to determine just how much artificial snow it would produce. By morning, it had buried itself under a drift of six feet deep.

Although lift operators usually rely on their own chairs to reach their duty stations, the snowmobile has proven to be the fastest method of move in relief men when needed. The lift foreman also uses a snowmachine to check on his men from time to time during the day.

'Average Snowmobiler' Lost in Drift of Facts

Who is the average snowmobiler?

This is a question that has puzzled western Michigan resort proprietors ever since the snowmobile came into its own in the 1960's.

They would like to know so they can decide how to reach him and what services they can provide for him.

A partial answer to the question was offered by Wesley Tebeau, president of the West Michigan Tourist Association, when he addressed a meeting of winter resort operators in Traverse City July 30.

But Tebeau was frank to admit no one as yet has the complete answer.

"We know the market is there, but we haven't quite figured how to 'put a handle on it,'" he told the resort operators.

However he did offer a concise synopsis of a 250-page report on snowmobiling compiled by the Great Lakes Regional Commission. The report showed:

–The median purchase for a snowmobile is $903. In addition $159 is spent on equipment and clothing. During the season the snowmobiler spends $36 on gas and oil and $14 on maintenance and repair. That totals $1,062 for the vehicle and equipment and $50 to operate it. With 130,000 registered snowmobile owners, the total represents $144 million in basic purchases.

–The average snowmobiler is a 42-year-old man, married with two children. He owns 1.45 snowmobiles. He is a craftsman, foreman, or manager or proprietor of a business. His average income is $10,500 a year.

–Mr. Average Snowmobiler used his machine on trails 47.73 percent of the time. Safaris account for 89 percent of usage. Seven percent are used for hunting and fishing, three percent for transportation and two percent for racing.

Tebeau said the report didn't "put a handle" on snowmobiling by any means. But he said it did provide some direction as to where the handle should be located.

EVEN THOUGH the sun is bright enough for sunglasses, seasoned snowmobilers know that warm clothing is a must.

TIPS ON SNOWMOBILE CARE

When All Else Fails, Check Manual

If you are an average snowmobiler, chances are pretty good that you haven't done much with your snowmobile all winter, except give it a friendly pat on the rump every time you walked past it in the backyard while cutting the grass.

But the moment of truth is fast approaching. Barring a calamity, the first snowmobiles will be taking off for the wide open spaces and the woodland trails sometime next month.

To make sure your machine is in good running order, here is some expert advice from "The Michigan Snowmobiler" on what you should do before winter sets in:

Check the brake and throttle cable first, making sure they are free. Then make an attempt to start the machine. If it does turn over, you will know the pistons have not frozen in the chambers. If it does not start, check the spark plug. Remove the plug, putting the plug wire back on and lay the bottom of the plug along the metal head of the engine.

By turning the engine over, and shading the plug area from the sun, you will be able to determine if you have spark. To insure proper ignition, open the spark plug air gap to about ⅛ of an inch. If there is adequate spark across that gap, you can be fairly sure the ignition system (coil, condenser, contact points) is OK. Then regap the plug to manufacturers specifications or check the owner's manual. If you can't find a gap figure to use, try setting it at .020.

PULL RECOIL

Before putting the plug back in, choke the machine and pull the recoil, letting the machine turn over a few times. Then peer into the spark plug hole, using a flashlight if necessary and check to see if the top of the piston is wet with fuel. If so, you are getting gas into the piston chamber.

If, after cranking about 1½ minutes (15-20 pulls) and the piston is not wet, you might check the gas tank for fuel! Then remove the fuel line at the tank and attempt to blow through it. About 8 lbs of air pressure should unstick the carburetor needle valve. Sticky needle valves are a common occurrence after a long hot summer. If you are unable to blow through the gas line, go to the corner gas station and use their air hose. Service station air hoses generate 175 lbs of pressure and you will damage the diaphrams in the carb. We recommend taking the carb apart unless you are a thoroughly experienced mechanic. It can be a heart-breaking job getting it back together again.

SEE DEALER

We do recommend taking the machine to a dealer who can unstick the needle valve by using a small air pump generating not more than 25 lbs. of pressure. Once the needle valve is unstuck, you should be able to blow through the gas line and by reattaching the fuel line to the gas tank, be able to get gas into the piston chamber.

Try turning the engine over again and check for wetness of the piston. If you have fuel in the chamber, re-insert the plug and try to start it. If it still will not start, you may have too much gas in the chamber and the engine is flooded. Push the choke in, remove the plug and check to see if it is wet. If so, dry the plug or change plugs. Continue this process until the excess gas is gone from the chamber. If the snowmobile has adequate spark on the plug and if gas is going into the cylinder, it should start.

CHECK OIL

Presuming the machine is now running, check the lubricant levels right away. Remove the chain case cover and check for oil level. The bottom of the chain should be dipping into lubricant at the bottom of the case. There should be about three inches of oil in the bottom. Now give the machine a good visual inspection while it is running on the kickstand. Check the track for cuts, tears and misalignment. The center low portion of a warm track should hang about 2½ inches below the bogies. Use your hand, while machine is turned off, to push the track down away from the center bogey assembly to make this measurement.

EXAMINE SKIS

If your machine has rested on grass all summer, no doubt the bottom of the skis are rusted. If you want to save the metal, sand them off and repaint.

The polished inside faces of both ends of the clutch may become rusted also. Remove the drive belt and sand off the rust. Yes, you may leave the rust on, but the abrasive quality of the rust will rapidly wear away the edges of the drive belt. And you may find yourself in the middle of the woods wondering why you lost a belt!

DRIVE CLUTCH

Chances are also good the drive clutch on the engine has lost its lubricant. It should be removed, inspected for worn parts, relubricated and reinstalled. The drive clutch on the chain case should also be inspected, cleaned and lubricated with oil.

You should also be check the front ski spindles for any cracks in the metal, and you should also check the skis for alignment.

In any case, most machine owners manuals contain instructions for doing many of the things we have mentioned. It may be an old hackneyed statement, but there's nothing to beat reading the instruction manual!

Your Snowmobile Battery Needs Tender, Loving Care

There are few things in life more aggravating than having your car battery go dead.

One of them is having your snowmobile battery conk-out on you just as you are ready to start out on what was supposed to be a pleasant afternoon safari with your family.

To make sure your snowmobile battery gives you all the power you need this winter, here are some handy tips on what to do to your battery before the snow flies:

After disconnecting and removing the battery from the vehicle, check specific gravity of each cell with a hydrometer. Cells should give uniform reading of 1.260 if battery is fully charged.

Check electrolyte in each cell and add distilled water, (if unavailable, drinkable tap water), as necessary. Do not over fill bottom of vent wells. Accurate electrolyte readings can only be taken after the cell fluids are thoroughly mixed, ie: after charging.

Charge the battery fully. Using a 12 volt charger (5 amps) or trickle charger until 1.260 specific gravity readings are achieved. CAUTION: Battery electrolyte must not exceed 120 degrees F while charging.

Clean battery terminals and cable connections with a wire brush then apply light coat of L.P.S. No. 1 Metal Protector, (if unavailable, petroleum jelly).

T'NT

Our nineteen-seventy-one for luxury has everything . . . everything you expect from the ultimate snowmobile. Nordic* has wide track stability, better flotation to ride you luxuriously over fresh snow. It's quick and responsive, sure and smooth on rough terrain. Nordic does everything with style. And that means a cigarette lighter, brushed aluminum console, deeper more comfortable seats. Luxury? Nordic sets the pace. Everything you could possibly want in a snowmobile is yours in Nordic. Three models this year. Three sophisticated statements of Ski-Doo leadership. Don't just follow the leader. Go Nordic and ride it.

Ski-Doo does it again. The company that invented the snowmobile now brings you a totally new concept . . . Elan* - the easy snowmobile. Easy to handle, easy to own. It's the perfect machine for the first time snowmobiler or the family that wants more than one. Not a toy, but a compact-sized full-performance machine. It has all the best features of the bigger ones including the same full-length 15" new profile track for exceptionally lightfooted maneuverability. It even has an engine-hiding console. And it's the lowest priced Ski-Doo ever, with both an electric start and manual model to choose from. Size one up soon.

Here's the one that made Ski-Doo famous: the performance minded Olympique. Chances are you won't recognize it at first glance though. We've given it aerodynamic styling, structural improvements and a host of new features including an engine console and new deeper seats. We've even improved its performance. Olympique takes bumps, jumps, steep hills, deep drifts and trickiest turns better than ever. Take a good look at the new look of our nineteen-seventy-one for performance. In four new models from 15 to 24 hp this year. Four ways of putting you number one in performance.

The all new Valmont* is our nineteen-seventy-one for everywhere. We took a twin-track and gave it single-track mobility and sleekness. The result? A handsomely appointed, stable yet streamlined sport machine built to take you into real snow country, over almost anything. Hill climbs like a mountain goat. Zips across the open flats. Reverses out of places where turning's tough. And it's so lightfooted you have little worry about digging in or bogging down — even in deep powder. In three models to take you everywhere. Beautifully.

The hot one is all new this year. T'NT*: the nineteen-seventy-one for power has bold new lean lines. Tachometer and speedometer are tucked neatly under the profile-hugging windshield. The fixed headlight flows with the contour of the cowl to give the machine a sleek racy appearance. But it's not just racy styling that makes this one a sizzler. That comes from optional double action slide suspension and up to 771 cc's of pure power. Speed and power enough to break any country trail wide open. This gutsy speedster makes you the leader of the safari. Take your pick from either 15" or 18" tracks from a fast family of five track and trail blazers. Nothing comes close to T'NT, the hot one from Ski-Doo. Catch one if you can.

Versatile is the word that describes the tough, serviceable Alpine*. A really reliable twin-track utility machine built for hard work. Alpine can take it, wherever you take it — in deep powder or steep sidehill. New long length, with a full set of extra bogeys means 20% more track for greater flotation. Alpine — the workhorse with a lot of pull. It's the big one from Ski-Doo, in three models for seventy-one, all with reverse. Why not put one to work for you?

BLIZZARD Our nineteen-seventy-one for pros. Strictly a limited production racer recommended for racing circuit drivers, Blizzard* is a new concept in racing machines built to keep us on the winning track. Packed with power . . . styled for speed . . . it's the record-setting machine of the year, with a world championship to its credit. In five models, with standard features including aluminum frames, free air engines, exclusive double-action slide suspension. Look out for Blizzard, the winning one from Ski-Doo.

Law's Campaign Picks Up Steam

A write-in campaign to elect Glenn Law jr. as state representative from the 106th District is gaining momentum throughout the area.

Law, a St. Ignace pharmacist, will face GOP candidate Richard Friske of Antrim County and Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City in the Nov. 3 general election.

Law campaigners from throughout the district have met twice during the past week at the Hidden Brook home of Rev. Harold Kohn who ran a five-column political advertisement in the Petoskey News-Review Oct. 7 documenting the reasons why he believes Friske, a leader of the John Birch Society, will not accurately reflect the thinking of area Republicans if elected.

Rev. Kohn drew his conclusions after an extended interview with Friske and has challenged him to a lie detector test to determine the validity of his contentions.

He also has placed $2,000 in escrow at the First State Bank as a wager on the outcome of the lie tests.

Friske, to date, has not accepted the challenge; nor has he agreed to debate publicly with Rev. Kohn.

Rev. Kohn charged specifically that Friske could not be elected if the voters of northern Michigan knew the political views expressed by Friske during the interview.

Dem Candidates Tell Their Goals

Russell 'Bob' Lee of Onaway, Democratic candidate for State Senator, and Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City, Democratic candidate for state representative of the 106th District, were the guest speakers at the recent meeting of the Charlevoix county Democratic committee.

Both addressed the group, outlining their goals if elected and answering questions relating to such issues as Proposal C (Parochiaid), abortion laws and other issues of the day.

Both agreed that everyone would lose if Proposal C, as it has become known, is approved in the Nov. 3 election; that all schools would lose monies and that children in parochial schools would lose many services such as speech correction which their parents underwrite with their tax dollars.

In answer to a question regarding abortion laws, Lee said that he felt that it should not be a political issue, that it should be left to the decision of the experts, the doctors and ministers.

A brief business session followed at which Mrs. Howard Horton was elected vice chairman to succeed Mrs. Charles Leist of Boyne City who resigned recently.

Teach Kids to Cope With Environment

Charlevoix parents and teachers were told Wednesday night to start now to educate youngsters on the environmental problems they will have to grapple with when they become adults.

Dr. William Stapp of the University of Michigan's Department of Planning and Conservation, told the PT-O kids should:

--Visit the local sewage plant, find out how it works and what's wrong with it.

–Take part in landscaping of school grounds so they will take a more protective attitude toward trees and shrubs.

–Make a study of city signs to determine which are attractive and effective and which are not.

–Study building and zoning ordinances and soil erosion.

He also said they should understand pollution resulting from automobiles, pesticides, fertilizers and the threat to the environment posed by the population explosion.

Michigan-Ave. Parking Ban Will Stand

The controversial ban on parking on the east side of Michigan-ave. will stand, the City Council agreed Monday night.

However the council intends to work toward the establishment of Burns-st. as the major street in the area, allowing Michigan-ave. to revert to minor street status in time.

For several years, the city has been receiving state Highway Department funds to maintain Michigan-ave. as a major street. However, this year the department notified the city that parking would have to be eliminated from one side if the street were to keep its favored designation.

The parking ban was vigorously protested at the council meeting two weeks ago by more than a dozen Michigan-ave. residents who said they and their guests would not have enough room to park and that the move would turn the narrow one-way street into a speedway.

The council plans to widen and improve Burns-st. in hopes that it will soon carry most of the traffic leaving the area.

The council also heard a report by Ken Staley of the Regional Planning Commission on implementing planning recommendations that have been under study for the past five years. The plan calls for creating of a central business district in the valley, with greatly increased parking space.

Included in the plan is the closing of Clinton and Mason-sts. from Bridge-st. to State-st.

Staley outlined sources of local, state and federal funds which might be used in the project, suggesting that a professional planner be hired to handle details.

Mayor William Fochtman said parking on Bridge-st. is the first major problem to be overcome. He said the council also should start looking for additional land near the business district which might be acquired for off-street parking.

Staley was accompanied by commission members Hal Hill and Steve LaBlance.

No action will be taken on the report until council has a chance to study it in detail.

In other business, the council:

How to Buy Plates Now

If you plan to spend the winter out-of-state, Mary Marshall of the Charlevoix Secretary of State's office reminds you that you may pay for your Michigan plates in advance of the Nov. 15 sale date and have them mailed to you.

Since the price of the plates has not increased this year, simply have a bank money order made out for the same amount you paid last year and leave it, along with your winter address and registration form at the Secretary of State's office in the Oleson Shopping Center.

Camporee Starts Friday

The northern district of the Boy Scouts' Scenic Trails Council will hold a fall camporee Oct. 16 to 18 at Weber Lake Recreation Area near Wolverine, according to coordinator Paul Sorenson of Gaylord.

Sorenson said approximately 450 Scouts and their adult leaders will take part in the camporee, including several from Charlevoix.

Guests will be welcome at the camporee Saturday, Oct. 17 to see "scouting in action," Sorenson said.

Ruppe, Davis Fail to Make Friske Dinner

Neither Cong. Phil Ruppe nor Rep. Robert Davis showed up for a fund-raising dinner in Charlevoix Oct. 8 for GOP House candidate Richard Friske, contrary to the expectations of his campaign workers.

The only speaker was Murel Edinger, field director for the Republican State Central Committee, who offered a sweeping endorsement of all GOP candidates.

William Cooper said Ruppe had telephoned his regrets at being unable to attend, saying he would meet with Friske Oct. 19. There was no explanation why Davis did not attend.

The dinner was held at the American Legion hall.

Wednesday evening, Friske was the only speaker at a rally in Gaylord which had been billed as a "Meet the Candidates" night. Democratic Candidate Peter Johnson of Boyne City showed up, but Otsego County GOP Chairman Rod Brown told him the meeting was for Friske only.

Brown also objected strenuously when Chuck Drake of Petoskey attempted to record Friske's remarks.

Friske insisted that he had no objection to the tape recorder, but Brown insisted on the no-tapes rule.

This week Friske apparently has changed his tune

Scott Romney Stumps for Mom

Charlevoix County Republicans turned out in force at the Weathervane Inn Friday noon to hear New York attorney Scott Romney tell why his mother, Lenore, should be elected to the U.S. Senate from Michigan.

Young Romney, son of former Gov. George Romney, came to Charlevoix in place of his mother, who had been scheduled to address two luncheon meetings on the same day by mistake.

Romney was accompanied by his pretty blonde wife, Ronna, who also put in a good word for her mother-in-law as U.S. senator.

Mrs. Romney said that living in New York City she herself is well acquainted with crime in the streets and the seamier side of life.

She said her mother-in-law "can represent all the good things in life."

She added that if women are judged on how they raise their families, Lenore Romney has done a "great job."

"I have a wonderful husband," she said.

Romney changed that for the past decade Democrats have set priorities for America, claiming the nation could fight a war, erase poverty and bring an end to racial discrimination at bargain basement prices.

"But it has cost us a great deal and the Democrats have done a bad job with the priorities," Romney charged.

He said the GOP, under Nixon, has reordered the priorities "and for the first time in 10 years we are spending less on defense than we are on human resources."

Romney cited Nixon's "new federalism" by which nations will solve their own problems under a nuclear shield of protection provided by the United States.

"We can't be policemen, but we can provide nuclear defense," he added.

Romney said one aim of the new federalism is to return more tax dollars to local communities to be used to solve problems on the grass-roots level. He said it is necessary to work through the federal government because the federal income tax is the only way vast amounts of money can be collected.

He hailed Gov. William Milliken as a man "who can help keep government in the hands of the people."

He assailed Sen. Phil Hart, his mother's opponent, as a man who "votes to spend more money than he is willing to pay for."

Romney touched on the crime-in-the-streets issue, claiming "the best deterrent to crime is the belief in the criminal's mind that he is going to be caught and punished."

He added that Hart has failed to support anti-crime legislation.

Speaking on campus disorder, Romney said students who break the law should be expelled.

"We don't have to have massive disobedience," he added.

Romney was followed by Don Teasley, finance worker, who asked for donations and pledges for Mrs. Romney's campaign.

RAYDER Co-Captains Bruce Meggison (84) and Kevin Swanson (69) present bouquet of roses to 1970 Homecoming Queen Marcia Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown. Members of her court are Sherry Austin, Nancy Fochtman, Beth Inman and Kris Osterberg.

Epsilon Band Will Play for 'Autumn Ball'

The Epsilon Dance Band has been engaged to provide music for Charlevoix's first semi-formal Autumn Ball, scheduled Saturday, Oct. 24 at the Belvedere Casino.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Dick Oestrike said the evening will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8. The Weathervane Inn will cater the dinner.

Sen. Robert Griffin has been scheduled as speaker, but was forced to cancel. Oestrike says the ball will be held whether or not another speaker is engaged.

The dinner will be followed by four or five hours of dance music.

Hampton Suit Up to Judge

Circuit Judge Stuart Hoffius concluded hearings on the Hampton Village special assessment case in Charlevoix Monday.

City Attorney John Michael said a decision is expected within 30 days.

New Subdivision Opening in County

The opening of the first portion of a new 139-lot development on Lake Charlevoix has been announced by Colwell & Co. Realtors.

"The first plat has been approved and the entire subdivision should be opened the next Spring," stated Ed Colwell, owner of the local real estate firm.

"We plan to have a grand opening at that time but now are offering all lots in the first plat at special prices. The first 40 lots will be priced between $2,395.00 and $2,995.00 with all the privileges of higher priced lots. Terms are available at $100.00 down and $45.00 per month at an annual interest rate of 8 percent."

The development, known as Charlevoix Shore Estates, is located on South Shore of Lake Charlevoix west of Advance near Ironton on Ferry-rd.

Owned by Prestige Development Corporation of Lansing, the subdivision has been three years in the planning.

The entire parcel consists of over 1,500 feet on Lake Charlevoix and 87 acres of land. The lots average about one half acre in size with most having a view of the lake. All roads will be blacktopped and sensible restrictions are set up to keep a respectable development and protect the investment.

"Our goal is to, at last, offer realistically priced lots with all the advantages of lake living," said Cecil McKay, President of Prestige.

"We will have a beautiful three-acre park area on the lake for the exclusive use of lot swimming, a boat ramp launching area, dock facilities, beach house, and picnic area. We chose Colwell & Co. Realtors to handle the sales of development because of their respected reputation throughout Northwestern Michigan and their familiarity with lake values in this area," McKay added.

The first presentation of the development will be this weekend Oct. 17 and 18, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Representatives from Colwell & Co. Realtors will be on hand to show the subdivision.

BEAVER ISLANDER

MORE THAN 250 persons boarded the motor ship Beaver Islander for a color tour of Lake Charlevoix, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. The guests danced to the music of Wayne Belding and his combo, downed more than 400 sandwiches and gallons of beverages.

Attend GS Conference

Seven Charlevoix Girl Scout leaders were among 60 women from 11 northern Michigan counties who attend a Crooked Tree Council leaders' conference in Traverse City recently.

Members of the Charlevoix contingent were Mrs. Robert Timms, Mrs. Laura Wells, Mrs. Tracy Curtis, Mrs. William LaBrecque, Mrs. Evelyn Neiret, Mrs. Edward Mann and Mrs. G. Hogen.

Featured speaker was Mrs. W.O. Wilcox, council president, who spoke on achieving human potential; Mrs. D.K. Holland, field director, who presented a singing games workshop; and a panel of consultants in the fields of arts, heritage, conservation, ecology and problems of girls today.

Mrs. Julia Baer of Charlevoix was leader of a "buzz group" following panel discussion.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Murray

Miller-Murray Rites Solemnized

Sandra Miller became the bride of Terry Murray in ceremonies Oct. 10 at the First Congregational Church, the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller of 313 Belvedere-ave., Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Murray of R-1, Charlevoix.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with baskets of mums in fall colors.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace over white satin, with long sleeves, empire waist, shoulder-length veil and satin train. She carried a bouquet of white mums with green streamers.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Charles Bellinger.

Jo Anne Powell was maid of honor, with Mrs. Randy (Ruth Ann) Chambers of Traverse City, a sister of the bride, as bridesmaid. They wore identical gowns of pale green satin with moss green trim, empire waists and elbow-length sleeves. They each carried a single yellow mum.

Best man was David Anderson of Bay Shore and groomsmen were John Murray, a brother of the groom, and Randy Chambers of Traverse City, the bride's brother-in-law.

A reception was hosted in the church fellowship hall by the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The couple will live in Wyoming, Mich.

Out-of-town guests attended from Grand Rapids, Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Rochester, Traverse City, and Detroit.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Miller wore a salmon, empire-styled dress with brown accessories. Mrs. Murray wore a light-blue sheath with beige accessories. Corsages of mums complemented their costumes.

Pvt. and Mrs. Peter VaaderArk

Judy Lee Farkas Wed at Ellsworth

Judy Lee Farkas of Charlevoix became the bride of Pvt. Peter Jay VanderArk of Ellsworth in ceremonies at the home of the bridegroom's parents Oct. 3, the Rev. Robert Greydanus officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Farkas, of 102 Green-st., Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter VanderArk sr. of Ellsworth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white antique satin gown with a fitted bodice and trimmed with venise lace and pearls. Her headpiece was made of lace daisies and she carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Carla Jo Lusk of Twin Lake, Mich., a niece of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a gown of green nylon over rayon, with a lace panel. She carried a single yellow rose.

Keith VanderArk, brother of the groom, was best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Farkas wore a pink lace sheath dress with white accessories. Mrs. VanderArk wore a rose knit dress with gray accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Asssisting were Mrs. Eleanor Whiteford of Traverse City, a sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Teresa Rlehert of Grand Haven, an aunt of the bride; Mrs. William Farkas jr. of Lansing, another sister of the bridegroom; Miss Nanett VanderArk, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Rhonda Richert, a niece of the bride; and Miss Carla Lusk.

The bride changed into a plaid two-piece suit with white accessories for the wedding trip to the Upper Peninsula.

A graduate of Ellsworth High School, the bridegroom studied forestry for one year before entering the army in July. He is stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo.

The bride attended Charlevoix schools and is employed at Lexalite.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Grand Haven, Muskegon, Twin Lake, Lansing, Cadillace and Traverse City.

More Coupons Are Needed

Betty Crocker coupons needed to purchase a portable cardiac defibrillator for Munson Hospital are being collected at five locations in Charlevoix, according to Mrs. George Carbary, chairman of the Women's Group of the Community United Methodist Church of Bellaire.

They are Oleson's Food Store, Kentucky Fried Chicken, the Kroger Store, Lieberman's and Central Drug Store.

Mrs. Carbary says her group now has 95,581 coupons and $62 in cash toward the purchase of the $2,625 heart machine. Some 430,000 coupons are needed, Mrs. Carbary said.

She added that credit also is given for the bottoms of certain snack items and cereal. (See advertisement on classified ad page.)

Debaters Selling Candy for Funds

The Charlevoix High School Debate-Forensics team is selling candy to raise money for out-of-town activitities, including a trip to the Central Michigan University district competition.

The school foots the bill for judging, materials, entrance fees and transportation, but additional money is needed for chaperons, meals, motels, and other traveling expenses.

Coached by Mrs. Larry Ford, the debate team talked its way to a seven-one win record in league debates to become district champs. The team also took first place in the "Tip of the Mitt" novice tournament.

In forensics, the team took first place in the Bay City regional competition, with six of the eight participants receiving awards for excellence.

Their one-act play, presented at Grayling, won second place, with two of the actresses winning awards for excellence and one of the actors copping the "best actor" crown.

'If You Don't Do It It Won't Get Done'

"If you don't do it, it won't get done. Give the United Way."

That is the wording that appears on posters throughout town promoting the Charlevoix Community Chest drive.

But it looks like the job won't get done locally unless everyone digs a little deeper.

Mrs. Don Anders, executive secretary of the Chest, reports that collections to date are only about 60 percent of the $21,014 goal. At this point in the campaign, they should be nearing the top---or over it.

Mrs. Anders believes Charlevoixans should be reminded that the bulk of their Community Chest dollars remain right here at home, doing jobs that otherwise wouldn't get done.

What do Community Chest dollars do?

They support the Mt. McSauba Ski Area which provides months of healthy outdoor recreation for young and old alike from the first good snow until the last thaw.

They support the City Recreation Program, recognized as one of the finest in the state. The program includes, among other things, supervised swimming at three beaches during the summer and baseball for all ages.

They support the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children, sponsor of a sheltered workshop program which is a model of its kind. Under the program, mentally handicapped young people not only learn specific job skills but also assist local industries---earning while they learn.

They support the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council and the Scenic Trails Boy Scout Council.

They support Michigan Children's Aid, an organization which eases the bumps for the young victims of broken families.

They support the Salvation Army in its many endeavors, including a comprehensive assistance program for unwed mothers.

They support the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Red Cross, sponsor of first aid classes and water safety instruction. It is the Red Cross that families of local servicemen turn to whenever the presence of the serviceman is required at home.

They support the Charlevoix Hospital, one of the finest small community hospitals in the state.

They support the Charlevoix nurses fund, supplying the necessary funds for vital health work that otherwise wouldn't get done.

They support Charlevoix County Big Brothers Association, a group of dedicated men who give freely of their time to provide adult male companionship and counsel to boys from fatherless homes.

And they also support 36 state and national agencies with equally important health and welfare missions.

It is possible to assist them all by making your donation to the Charlevoix Community Chest as generous as possible.

After 200 Years?

Journalists Agree That Threat Of Press Suppression Is Real

By Paul R. Conrad, Executive Director
Allied Daily Newspapers

(Third of a series)

SEATTLE, Wash. (NNW) – Why would America's press, free of government controls throughout the nation's nearly 200 years, now fear substantial loss of that freedom?

Journalists consider U.S. newspapers, magazines and broadcasters to be more responsible than ever before, and for the most part, eminently sound financially. Yet publishers, editors, broadcast news personalities and journalism educators generally agree the threat of press suppression is real and probably greater than at any time since the First Amendment was added to the Constitution.

The press reacted instantly, and many felt immoderately, to criticism from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in three widely-publicized speeches decrying news management and bias. Despite the Vice President's protestations that he was not advocating censorship, newsmen accused the Nixon Administration of trying to intimidate the press.

But many journalists now admit it wasn't so much what the Vice President said as the number of American citizens who seemed to agree with him. At a time when the U.S. Supreme Court has, in decisive opinions, extended the reach of constitutional press freedom to insure "uninhibited, robust and wide open" debate on public issues, great segments of the public and some of their elected and appointed representatives seem bent on stifling that kind of news coverage.

For example:

The American Bar Association in 1968 launched a nationwide effort to cut off press access to information about criminal prosecutions and even some court proceedings, in the name of avoiding press reports which might prejudice jurors.

At all levels of government, but particularly at the federal level, newsmen and press photographers have been subpoenaed before grand juries and into courts to testify as to confidential information they have obtained from news sources, or to supply photographs and television films for use in prosecutions.

There is growing clamor among liberals for a governmentally-enforced "right of access" to the press, guaranteeing any individual or group space in the nation's newspapers to express their particular views.

There has even been a proposal, by Dr. Walter Menninger of the President's Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, that newsmen be licensed in the same way as are doctors and lawyers.

Of a more general concern are polls which show a public distrust of the news media. A survey of several hundred high school students in Colorado has been wide publicized in journalistic circles as representative of the attitudes of young people. Asked whether the press should be controlled by government to prevent unfair attacks on individuals, a substantial majority favored outright control, while the next largest group voted for some controls. A small minority voted against any form of censorship.

Journalists fear that this basic lack of commitment to a free press, coupled with general disgruntlement with the news, may bring even more strident calls for controls. There is little doubt that the far right counts the press as an enemy. But the far left is almost equally at odds with the news media, considering them captives of and apologists for the "establishment". Even the "silent majority" is suspected of blaming the press for stimulating extremist activity by giving it publicity.

While newsmen sympathize with this view, they insist a news blackout is no answer to protests and demonstrations. Says Wes Gallagher, general manager of the Associated Press, "The task of the journalist in every medium is to hold a magnifying mirror before our society to show warts and all. The man who lets us see all our faults is seldom frontrunner in a popularity contest."

One of the criticisms most often leveled at U. S. journalism these days is "media concentration", referring to the decline in the number of newspapers and cross-ownership of various news media. Yet this too puzzles the thoughtful journalist. The nation has never had so many news dessiminating agencies cranking and beaming out information. In addition to more than 1,700 daily newspapers there are an estimated 9,000 non-daily newspapers, 6,400 radio stations, 840 television stations, and more special interest magazines than at any time previously. Volunteer organizations, churches, trade associations, unions and a host of other groups publish newsletters and bulletins by the thousands (the U.S. Post Office Department currently shows more than 20,000 periodicals holding permits for regular mailings).

Newsmen generally are resigned to a certain amount of unpopularity. The editor who finds both sides mad at him usually feels he must be doing a pretty good job covering an issue. But as the nation looks to its 200th birthday, newsmen wonder just how much press unpopularity the country can afford. Because [illegible] believe most sincerely that the American experiment in government would have never succeeded without a press free of prior governmental restraint (they accept, reluctantly, the limitations of libel law).

A "right of access" to the press, benign as it sounds, means government would be telling the news media what to disseminate. Muzzling of news sources at the police station and courthouse means limited opportunity to report on vital governmental activity. Licensing of newsmen, no matter how well-intended and well-administered, would have government deeply involved in press operations. Subpoenaed newsmen can't be doing their jobs while sitting in the prosecutor's office, and they may very likely lose the confidence of news sources if they are forced to reveal information given in confidence. A Vice President may not be advocating censorship, but the government he represents grants radio and television licenses, and can take them away.

These are the reasons newsmen worry about press freedom in the 1970's.

Clockwise

The Blue Book

The John Birch Society, which many of us thought had died a-borning more than a decade ago, is still very much alive today in Charlevoix and Antrim counties and elsewhere in the 106th Representative District.

A John Birch Society candidate, Richard Friske, has won the Republican nomination to succeed Robert Davis in state representative from the 106th District and a number of old guard Republicans have jumped on the Friske apple wagon.

The "bible" of the John Birch Society is a 184-page document called "The Blue Book," a two-day address by Robert Welch, founder of the society, to his first 11 disciples in Indianapolis Dec. 8 and 9, 1959.

The overriding belief of the Birchers is that the take-over of America has been the ultimate goal for the past 200 years of a world-wide Communist conspiracy. This belief governs their every move and colors their thinking on every issue public and private.

Following are excerpts from "The Blue Book" (4th Printing) which Courier readers might want to keep in mind when they go to the polls Nov. 3. They also might want to remember that Glenn Law jr. of St. Ignace, a Republican, is running against Friske as a write-in candidate for the house seat.

Religion Pg. 51:

"What is far worse, fully one-third of the services in at least the Protestant churches of America are helping that trend (away from religion). For the ministers themselves are not true believers in the Divine Names or the Divine History and Divine Teachings to which they give lip service, as they go through their conventional motions on Sunday mornings. Some have merely watered down the faith of our fathers, and of theirs, into an innocuous philosophy instead of an evangelistic religion. Some have converted Christianity into a so-called social gospel that bypasses all questions of dogma with an indifference which is comfortable to both themselves and their parishioners; and while "social gospel" becomes in fact indistinguishable from advocacy of the welfare state by socialist politicians. And some actually use their pulpits to preach outright Communism, often in very thin disguise if any, while having the hypocrisy as atheists to thank God in public for their progressive apostasy."

President Nixon, Pg. 116:

"Or, more for the other illustrative points that will arise than for any hopes offered by the prospect, let's look at Richard Nixon in this connection. He is an extremely smart man. He is one of the ablest, shrewdest, most disingenuous and slipperiest politicians that ever showed up on the American scene. He can sit in Washington one night and convince some of the most "modern" Republicans that he is the best ball-carrier they have, and spend four hours in the Waldorf Towers the next day convincing MacArthur and Herbert Hoover that he is their man. He can use the tremendously overrated and over-publicized but actually highly cautious part he played in the Alger Hiss exposure to hang onto the hopeful loyalty of the vigorous anit-Communists, at the very time when he is insinuating himself into the good grades of the Left by quietly knifing McCarthy."

President Nixon, Pg. 117:

"Nixon always brings to my mind the old gag that a wife is a person who helps you to get over all the troubles you wouldn't have had if you had never married; or the somewhat more elegant version that diplomats help us to solve our problems that never would have arisen if there were no diplomats. But for the dirtiest deal in American political history, participated in if not actually engineered by Richard Nixon in order to make himself vice-president (and to put Warren on the Supreme Court as part of that deal), Taft would have been nominated at Chicago in 1952. It is almost certain that Taft would have been elected president by a far greater plurality than was Eisenhower, that a grand rout of the Communists in our government and in our midst would have been started, that McCarthy would be alive today, and that we wouldn't even be in this mess that we are supposed to look to Nixon to lead us out of."

The United Nations, Pg. 21:

"A part of that plan (the Communist Conspiracy), of course, is to induce the gradual surrender of American sovereignty, piece by piece and step by step, to various international organizations--of which the United Nations is the outstanding but far from the only example–while the Communists are simultaneously and equally gradually getting complete working control of such organizations. Both sets of steps, which were short and insidious at first, are now being steadily increased in both length and brazenness. Until one day we shall gradually realize that we are already just a part of a world-wide government ruled by the Kremlin, which the police-state features of that government rapidly closing in on ourselves."

Politicians, Pg. 119:

"We shall have to use politicans and help the best ones we can find to get elected. I am thoroughly convinced, however, that we cannot count on politicians, political leadership, or even political action except as a part of something much deeper and broader to save us."

Letter writing, Pg. 75:

"We would institute the organized planning and control to make full and effectively coordinated use of the powerful letter-writing weapon that lies so ready at hand...There should be a continuous overwhelming flood of letters, not just to legislators or the executive departments in Washington, but to newspaper editors, television and radio sponsors, educators, lecturers, state legislators and politicians, foundation heads and everybody else whose opinions, actions and decisions could for anything in the ultimate total actions and decisions."

Communism Pgs. 63-64:

"This octopus (Communism) is so large that its tentacles now reach into all of the legislative halls, all of the union labor meetings, a majority of the religious gatherings and most of the schools of the whole world. It has a central nervous system which can make its tentacles in the labor unions of Bolivia, in the farmers' cooperatives of Saskatchewan, in the caucauses of the Social Democrats of West Germany, and in the class rooms of the Yale Law School, all retract or reach forward simultaneously. It can make all of these creeping tentacles turn either right or left, or a given percentage turn right while the others turn left, at the same time in accordance with the intentions of a central brain in Moscow or Ust' Kamenogorsk. The human race has never before faced any such monster of power which was determined to enslave it. There is certainly no reason for underrating its size, its efficiency, its determination, its power or its menace."

Storefront Reporters

TV is full of shows about lawyers who work for free and doctors who make house calls to neighboring countries on Hondas after midnight. But whatever happened to the brash reporter with the flask of gold who used to save the world while wearing a hat with the brim turned up?

The newspaper profession is obviously being ignored by TV producers. Something should be done about it and I am just the clown to do it.

My show will be called "The Young Storefront Reporters". My three reporters are a Negro woman, a male Indian teenager and another young man whose nationality cannot be immediately determined because of all the hair hanging in his face. He is my wild-card character. At any time during the series he can get a haircut and reveal himself to be a Jew or an Arab or a Viet Cong or even a conservative Republican, whatever seems politically expedient at the time.

These three reporters work for a wise, kindly, older (but still sexy!) editor who has ink in his veins. This was discovered during World War two and he was thrown out of a Red Cross blood bank on his ear.

This wise editor knows everything but he does not force his will upon young Indian, Negro and Wild Card. He lets them make their own decisions and go their own way, as long as they report back to him one minute before each commercial.

"It's the only way," the wise editor explains. "These youngsters must have their freedom to do their thing. And besides this way they do all the work."

I will play the part of the wise old editor.

A typical plot might concern this young girl who comes into the newspaper office to buy a year's subscription. But it costs $5 and she has only $3.

This is a young person with a problem! Indian, Negro and Wild Card leap to her assistance. They really do leap, right over the subscription counter, knocking their wise, kindly editor flat on his ink-stained pants.

Besides being $2 short, the subscriptionless girl also has some minor problems. She's pregnant and unwed. She's on heroin and has VD. She ran away from home four years ago and her millionaire parents have not yet noticed she is gone. They have been too busy selling Establishment taffy at the PTA Fair.

And there's a busted string on her guitar.

It would spoil things if I told you how Indian and Negro and Wild Card solve this girl's problems. But you can be sure they get the job done before the wise old editor is back on his ink-stained feet. For details, watch your TV listings.

However, to keep you eager, I will let you in on the ending. Most of the doctor-lawyer shows end with the heroes running down a street. But no one ever knows why they are running. On my show, you'll know.

Indian and Negro and Wild Card are running after a Red Cross bloodmobile which, by mistake, has accepted some of the editor's blood.

Hails Kohn For Stand On Friske

Editor:
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Clock:

Upon reading the article written by Reverend Kohn in Wednesday's Petoskey paper, I thought that I like to congratulate him on a very well written and informative letter. Unlike previous letters and articles written by numerous citizens, there was no political mud-slinging.

This aritcle was written, I believe, in answer to many people's question's; and not meant to be a mere paid political announcenent. It was a letter expressing Rev. Kohn's view's and because he supports Mr. Law, I don't believe he was pressed into writing this letter by anyone; it was done on his own, and therefore expressed his own feelings.

If the fine people of this district continue to refuse to see the light then it is entirely too late for them. Glenn Law is honest, and, I believe, has nothing to hide from anyone.

The John Birch Society and Richard Friske have something to hide for, if it were known before the election just where they do stand it would mean political disaster for them.

Friske himself even admitted this to Rev. Kohn. What more can I say. I want the truth, and will vote for someone who is willing to come out and speak it and not hide in the bushes or give the people a runaround by speaking out but not really saying anything, only confusing those whom he spoke with. Glenn Law is not this type of person but Friske certainly is.

As the good Reverend said so very ably: "Let's get this country together, not just the individual parties. Just because Richard Friske is running on the Republican ticket, doesn't mean he is the best man."

Glenn Law gets my vote because he's still fighting for us; he has not given up the ship. He's fighting for the, country, not the spoken minority.

Sincerely,
Bob Bergmann

National Geographic Feature

Ever since Rome gave up throwing Christians to the lions, zookeepers have had menu problems.

They struggle to satisfy the appetites of the world's most finicky or gluttonous eaters. Thousands of species of wild birds, reptiles, and mammals – some fresh from the jungle, some born to captivity – are a steady mouthful of trouble.

Zoo men are becoming increasingly skilled in the care and feeding of their charges. In the last century, the life span of wild animals kept in menageries was a matter of days, weeks, or months.

Today zoo animals frequently live to old age, are healthier than they would be in a wild state, and more and more rare specimens give birth in captivity.

Penguins, accustomed to the nearly germ-free air of Antarctica, must be fed fish scrupulously cleansed of bacteria.

Keepers at the Bronx Zoo make weekly trips to a nearby Italian market to buy costly live snails, the only fare a certain South American snake will eat.

Yellow rose petals must be provided in quantity for leaf-cutter ants, but anteaters in zoos get along nicely on canned dog food.

Both pythons and king cobras periodically diet to lose weight, making them a little edgy around feeding time. To keep a slinky figure, a zoo cobra puts away no more than a very small portion of rattlesnake meat once every 10 days.

Most zoo inhabitants adapt to diets that are better for them than their native fare. Laced with vitamins, the menu sometimes has a striking uniformity: gorillas and canaries eat the same basic foods – though in vastly different quantities.

A large zoo must have a gigantic grocery list. The Bronx Zoo spends $200,000 a year on food and forage, including $16,000 for hay and about $25,000 for some 150,000 pounds of fish.

A California sea lion eats 25 pounds of mackerel a day, and a tiger 22 pounds of horsemeat. An elephant may devour a ton of hay a week.

About 3,000 crickets – at $4 for 500 – are purchased weekly for small snakes, lizards, frogs, and toads.

Many zoos grow their own supply of hydroponic food – plants grown in nutritious solutions – and raise such favorites with birds as cockroaches, mealworms, and moths.

Despite admonitions not to feed the animals, visitors at many zoos throw them everything from bread crusts to olive pits. To give spectators something more nourishing to throw, vending machines sell special animals pellets at some zoos.

Big-mouthed appetites can do in unwary animals. Streetcar tokens, key rings, pennies, and rubber bands have killed hippopotamuses, and a python died after finding a woman's high-heeled shoe indigestible.

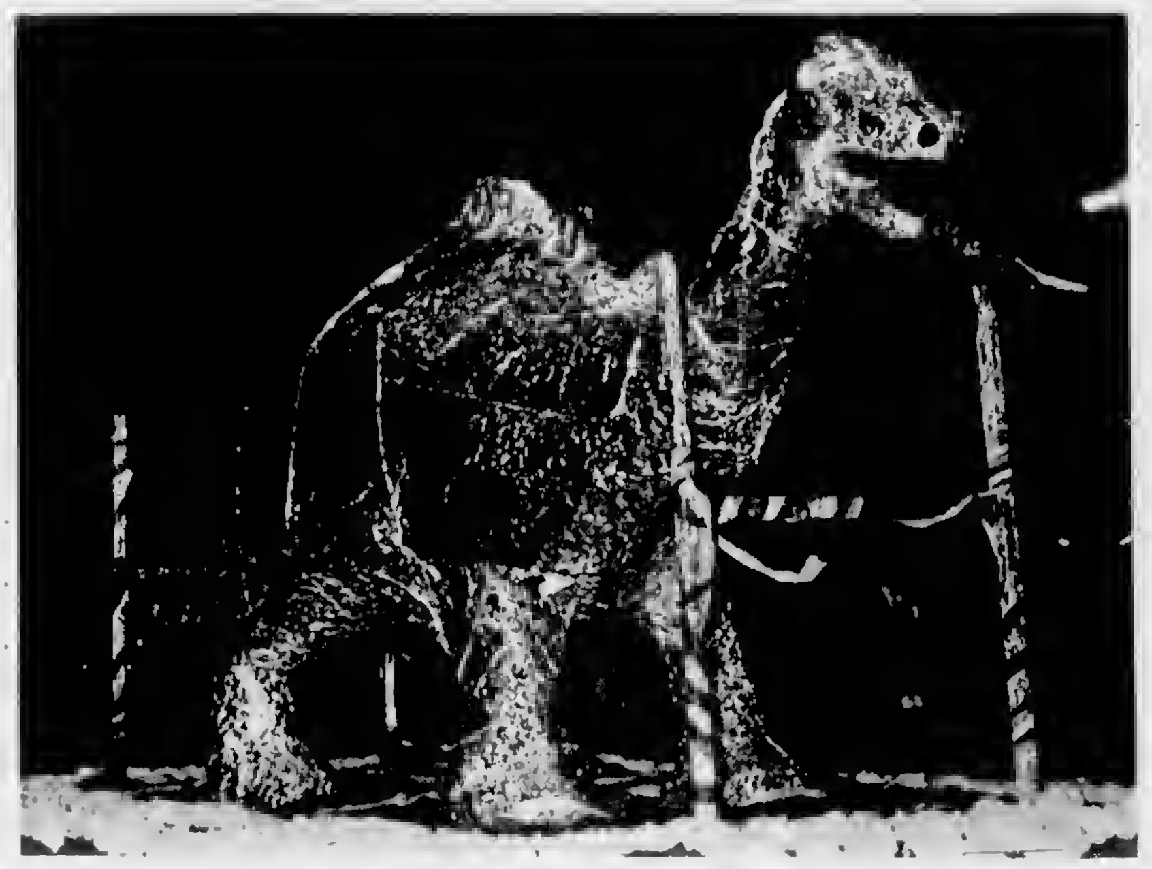
Homecoming Highlights

HOMECOMING activities started off with a snake dance Thursday night, starting at the Middle School and winding its way to the High School.

FRESHMAN were interested in "brewing" up a victory. Below, the 8th graders saw the Rayders "inching" to victory with this inchworm.



"RAYDERS aren't 'dragon' their feet" was the theme of the Senior class float, which took first prize.

HOMECOMING QUEEN Marcia Brown is crowned by the 1969 queen, Jackie Warner.

THE LUV MACHINE
A GAS DRYER

GENTLY CARESSES
PERMANENT PRESSES

It's love, pure and simple, the first time you use The Luv Machine, a Gas dryer. And why not? A Gas dryer is so good to clothes. Leaves them soft, fresh-smelling. In fact, a special setting gently caresses permanent press things so they don't need any ironing. And there's the way a Gas dryer saves money. Dries five loads of clothes for the price of one load in an electric dryer. Does a load up to 10 minutes faster, besides. Buy a Gas dryer at your appliance dealer's or Michigan Consolidated showrooms. You'll luv everything about it.

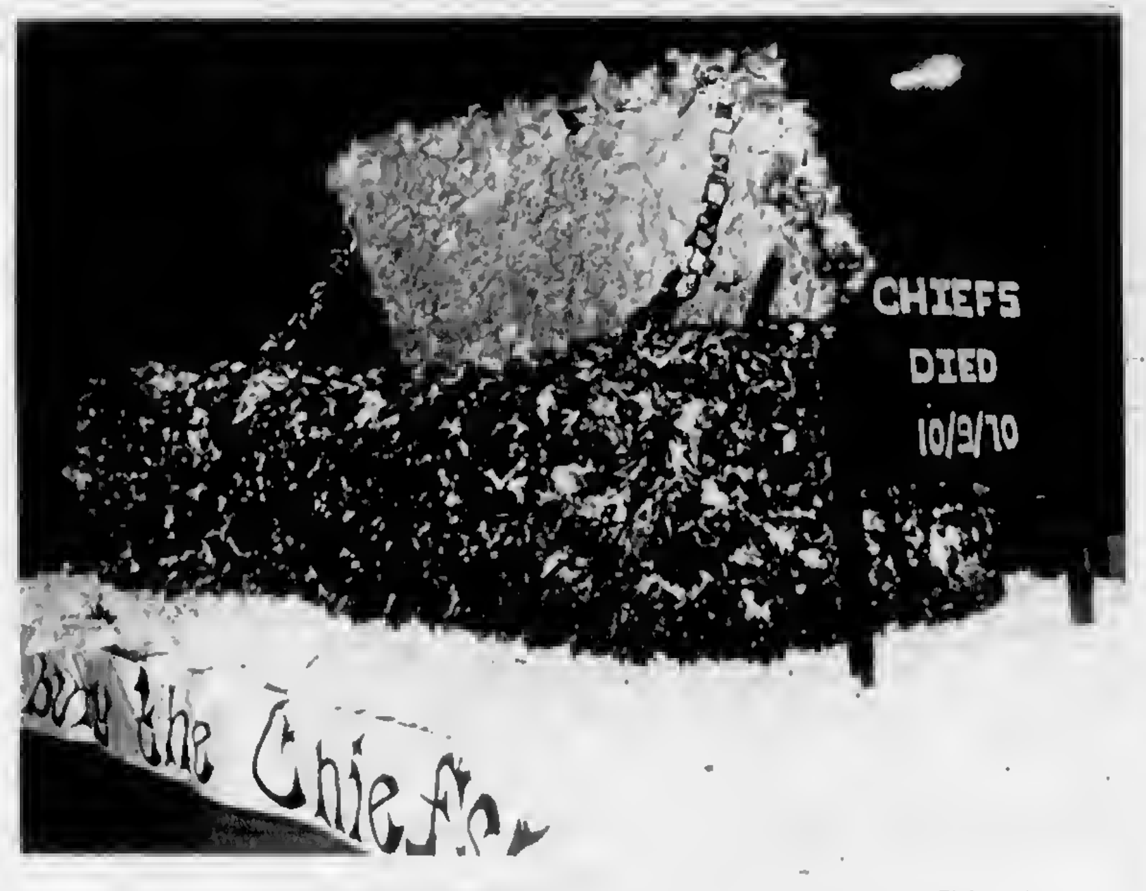
THIS COMPUTER, built by the Junior Class, attempted to put across the idea that you can count on victory. It came in second.



THE SOPHOMORE class intended to "bury," the Cheboygan Chiefs in this coffin. They didn't. Cheboygan won 14-8.

Resort Operators Had a Good Summer

The great majority of resort operators in Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties (west of I-75) reported a substantial increase in business in 1970 over 1969, according to the West Michigan Tourist Association.

A total of 84.6 percent of the tourist opeartors contacted reported that business was up The rest said it was down

When reported increases and decreases were balanced against each other, the net result was an increase of nine percent, the Tourist Association reported.

Following is a list of nther questions and answers: in the survey:

Q- How did prices for services this summer compare to the 1969 season?

A-46 perceut of the respondents had no change in their prices; 38.5 percent reported an average increase of 5.8 percent; the remaining 15.5 percent indicated they had increased their prices, but did not give a percent of increase. We would assume from the size and quality of the sample that a 5 to 6 percent increase was incurred to partially cover inflation.

Q-What was the comparison of customers served from summer 1970 as to summer 1969?

A-53.9 percent of the respondents reported the number of individuals up an average of 18.4 percent; 30.8 percent stated their count was down 5.4 percent; the remaining 15.3 percent indicated the number of customers was either up or down, but gave no percentual amount.

Q-Is your business operated during the winter season?

A-53.9 percent of the respondents operated during the winter months,while 46.3 percent did not.

Q-If business is operated during the winter months, how great a factor is skiing to your business?

A-14.2 percent reported was very important; 28.4 listed skiing as important; 28.4 percent reported it as average; and 28.4 percent replied not important.

Q-Do you plan to expand or remodel your existing facdities?

A-38.5 percent plan to expand within the near future; 46.2 percent do not plan to expand; 15.3 had no plans or did not answer this question. Of the respondents who plan to expand or remodel 40 percent said they would begin within one year; 20 percent within 2-3 years; and 40 percent in 4-5 years.

Q-What are the strongest reasons given by your customers for vacationing in northwestern Michigan?

A-Not necessarily in order of importance: Friendliness of the people; Accessibility from large cities; Abundance of lakes, good beaches and quality boating; Interesting scenery and tourist attractions; Climate; Good camping and facilities.

Q-What are the most serious problems you as a businessman believe confront your business in the near future? Answers are in order of importance by reply.

A-Increasing government restrictions and rising taxes; Competition from neighboring states and Canada; Litter and pollution rules not being enforced; Lack of capital; Poor sewer and solid waste facilities; Problems in increasing fall and winter attractions; Labor costs; Poor parking facilities-especially in water front communities; Difficulties in obtaining advertising (sign) locations to attract the instant tourist traveler; Lack of emphasis on convention business; Not enough effort to attract retired and semi-retired persons by providing adequate housing.

They're in Life

A picture article on Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Cummings and their summer home on Lake Charlevoix will appear in Life Magazine Oct. 23, Mrs. Julius Gilbert has learned.

Peter C. Johnson

Friske Backers Rapped

Peter Johnson, Democratic candidate for 106th District representative, has accused three prominent Republicans of being willing dupes to a John Birch Society bid for political power.

During a union meeting in Boyne City last week, Johnson stated that State Sen. Thomas Schweigert, Rep. Joseph Swallow, and District Judge James Carr, all Republicans, were guilty of shocking disregard for the views of 106th District voters in knowingly supporting John Birch extremist Richard Friske.

Johnson levelled his charges as part of an address delivered to a meeting of the northern Michigan UAW-CAP Council, during which Council Chairman Gale Murphy announced that the group's eight locals in four counties had unanimously endorsed Johnson.

"Attacking his opponent's radical views and World War II Nazi Luftwaffe background, Johnson declared, "Friske's campaign is a typical John Birch power grab aimed at using established political figures as pawns to gain a voice in government".

"What makes the actions of Schweigert, Swallow and Carr so reprehensible is that they have willingly lent their names to a member of a secret society dedicated to political change and disturbance through deception."

Noting Friske's continuing failure to appear when invited to speak before large public gatherings, Johnson attacked him directly saying, "Mr. Friske's monumental disregard for area voters supports my prior contention that he is unfit for public office, an embarrassment to the Republican party, and unrepresentative of the 106th district.

Johnson illustrated Friske's disdain for area voters by noting his absence from several critical area meetings, including a parochiaid meeting in Gaylord Oct. 4, during which Johnson reaffirmed his position in opposing Proposal "C".

Mr. and Mrs. Ole Olesheve have returned from their home in Detroit to spend a week in their local summer home and enjoy the fall colors.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Nielsen and daughter, Mary Carol, are spending this weekend in Portage, Mich., with their daughter Terry and son-in-law, Geoffrey Enlund, and family.

The fall colors must be at their best for I have never seen such gorgeous shades or red, orange and yellows as we have this week and it all seemed to come overnight. Wouldn't it be a beautiful sight if it would continue until the white snow comes to cover the ground with all the colors and shades of the greens of the evergreen trees. It is all too much to ask for, but one can close his eyes and have a beautiful dream.

CHARLEVOIX'S Royal Rangers, sponsored by the Assembly of God Church, held their first camp-out Oct. 2 near Lake 26. Unseasonably cold and wet weather failed to mar the outing.

Church Organizes Royal Ranger Unit

Thirty-five Royal Rangers and their fathers of the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church took part in a camp-out Oct. 2 near Lake 26.

The Royal Rangers group was organized recently by the church for boys from age six through their teen years.

Commander of the group is Charles Elzinga, assisted by Lt. Cmdr. Marvin Telgenhof.

The group meets the first and third Thursday of every month at 7:30 p.m. at the church fellowship hall, 203 E. Upright-st.

Aims of the groups are three-fold, according to Elzinga:

–To instruct in Bible doctrine;

–To challenge for Christian service, and;

–To satisfy a boy's need for activity.

According to the Royal Ranger code, members are "alert, clean, honest, courageous, loyal, courteous, obedient and spiritual."

The Royal Ranger program includes field trips, athletics, first aid, hobbies, crafts, skills, collections and ceremonies.

Weekend activities will be held in addition to the regularly scheduled meetings.

Persons wishing more information about the program should contact the church at 547-6430 or Cmdr. Elzinga at 547-2392.

Chiefs Scalp Rayders, 14-8

The Red Rayders lost their first game of the season Friday night, bowing to the Cheboygan Chiefs, 14 to 8.

The Homecoming loss dropped Charlevoix to fourth place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, with two wins, one loss and one tie.

The defeat came as a letdown after two days of feverish Homecoming activity on the part of Rayder boosters.

Even the weatherman failed to cooperate, giving Charlevoix a rainy night for the biggest game of the football season.

The rain began to fall in earnest as Homecoming Queen Marcia Brown and her court advanced onto the field during halftime. By the final period, players and spectators were drenched.

In other league games last week, Rogers City defeated Boyne City, 22 to 12; Petoskey defeated St. Ignace, 31 to 8; and Traverse City St. Francis defeated Gaylord, 32 to 6. In a non-conference game, Alpena Catholic Central beat Coleman, 34 to 6.

The Rayders were outplayed by the towering Chiefs from the onset. Cheboygan scored in the opening period when Mark Fralick passed to Mark Herzog who carried the ball 23 yards for the TD. Bill Mockridge kicked the conversion.

Midway in the second stanze, the Chiefs did it again when Randy Elliot traveled 20 yards to reach paydirt. Again Mockridge made good on the extra point, leaving the score 14-0 at the half.

Charlevoix's lone marker came in the third period on a pass from Tim Carey to George Anderson, who ran 29 yards for the goal.

Law

Rev. Kohn said Friske concurred.

Friske has said since that his political views would have to be "explained" before they are fully accepted.

Law is kicking off his campaign in the area with a "Meet the Candidate" meeting Friday, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the State Bank and Trust Co. in Petoskey.

On Thursday, Oct. 22, he will address a similar rally at 8 p.m. in the community room of the First State Bank in Charlevoix.

Law also will address Boyne City High School students on the subject of "politics" Oct. 14 and will take part in a St. Ignace "Candidates' Night" at 7:30 p.m. the same day.

Oct. 15 he will appear at the Kalkaska County Courthouse at 7:30 p.m. and will address the Central Lake PTA Oct. 21 at 8 p.m.

He also has appeared on local radio in the Upper Peninsula and plans an extensive pre-election advertising campaign.

Although he is a newcomer to political life, Law feels he is well versed with most of the issues the Legislature will face next year, particularly drug abuse.

As a pharmacist, Law has traveled extensively throughout the district, lecturing youth groups on the dangers of drugs. This summer he donated a film on drugs and a projector to the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District.

One of the main problems faced by the Law campaigners is educating voters on the write-in. Leaflets and brochures are being prepared to instruct voters on how to vote for Law on both machine and paper ballots.

on tape recorders. When newsman Tom Dammann said he would like to tape an interview with Friske, the candidate refused. However, Friske intended to tape the interview himself. When an impasse developed, the interview was called off.

Brd. OK's Deficit Budget

The Charlevoix Board of Education adopted its 1970-71 budget Monday following a public Hearing which few attended.

The deficit budget was in the amount of $1,245,000 with revenues an anticipated $1,215,000.

Though it cannot be shown in the budget at this time, it is expected the monies realized from the sale of the house being constructed by the Building Trades classes will balance the budget when sold upon completion.

In other action the board accepted the bids of the Washers Sale Co. of Southfield for a 30-pound commercial dryer and two 14 pound washers in the amount of $194 for each washer and $391 for the dryer. The price includes the cost of installation. The overall cost of $611 includes $26.00 for freight. Richard Donaldson suggested that instead of purchasing a smaller dryer, the board buy two washers to take care of the Middle School's needs.

Tuition for Vocational-Technical students from Ellsworth attend classes in the Charlevoix schools was set at $200.00 per student. There are two students enrolled in drafting courses, three in business machines and three in building trades for a total of eight students.

Mrs. Sandra Fassett and Bruce Morgan were named to share the responsibility of sponsoring the Pep Club and Mrs. Marie Osterberg was named faculty advisor to the Girls' Association.

The bids of the American Fence Erector Co. for fencing at the K-4 and Middle Schools were approved. The eight foot nine gauge fence to be installed to the east of the tennis courts at the Middle School will cost $2,437 and the five-foot 11-gauge non-climbable cyclone fence at the K-4 school $1,400 or a total of $3,837.

The board gave its approval to borrowing $80,000 by the sale of Tax Anticipation bonds. The board must advertise for bids on the bonds and pay approximately $9,900 in interest in order to cover operating expenses, have funds on hand to pay for new school buses now on order, purchase materials for the house being constructed by the Building Trades Classes and to meet current bills.

Here Donaldson said that the amount of the interest could be saved if school taxes could be levied in the summer as has been suggested.

It was decided to pursue this proposal by arranging a meeting with the City Council and township officials.

Jerrald Redeker, board president, announced that the annual meeting of the National Association of School Administrators would be held in Atlantic City in February. Redeker urged members to attend the meeting. He, Donaldson and Mrs. Jane Lieberman indicated they plan to attend.

Hartwell Fund Is Established

A special fund in memory of Richard Hartwell, son of Mrs. Marian Fox Hartwell of Boyne City, has been established at Greensky Hill Mission, according to Jay Oliver, treasurer.

Richard Hartwell, age 20, was killed on his motorcycle in Colorado.

"We mourn the untimely passing of such a promising young man and are deeply honored that we have been chosen to be the recipient of numerous donations in his memory. We were very fond of Richard and he spent many hours worshiping at Greensky Hill Mission during the summer months," says Mr. Oliver.

The Hartwell family is well known in this area. Mrs. Hartwell is the owner of the Red Fox Inn at Hortons' Bay.

Greensky Hill Mission is an early Indian Methodist Church, built in 1840 and is a Michigan Historical Site. Services are open to the public during the summer months and all hymns, prayers and responses are in the Indian language.

Anyone interested in making a contribution to the Richard Hartwell fund may contact Jay Oliver, 408 W. Lincoln, Charlevoix.

Yacht Club Plans Party On Halloween

The Charlevoix Yacht Club will host a costume Hallowe'en party at the VFW Hall from 9 until 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 31, for members and friends.

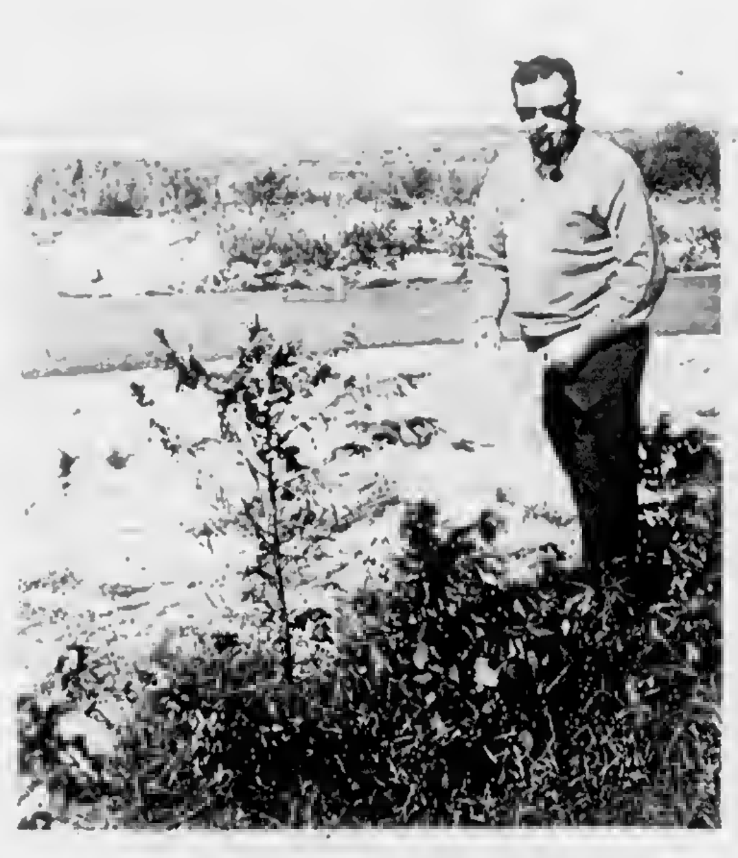
Refreshments and set-ups will be served. Prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Tickets may be purchased from Yacht Club members.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Doan are in charge of arrangements.

Story Hour

Charlevoix library's first story-hour of the season will be Friday at 10 a.m., according to Mrs. Dorothy Olmstead, librarian. Youngsters in the three-to-four year age bracket are welcome.



WILLIAM DRENTH, manager of the East Jordan office of Colwell and Co. Realtors, places another "sold" sign at the Charlevoix Shore Estates development on the Lake Charlevoix shore about two miles east of the Ironton Ferry. Open house was held at the development site Saturday and Sunday.

Township Officers Convene Oct. 29

Township officials from Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Emmet counties will meet at Boyne Mountain Lodge in Boyne Falls Oct. 29, beginning at 9:30 a.m., according to William Wolf of Alpena, a board member of the Michigan Townships Association (MTA).

Wolf said 229 township officials have been invited to attend to hear reports by state government representatives and MTA speakers.

Col. Joseph A. Parisi Jr., exeuctive director of the MTA, is in charge of the meeting.

The agenda includes discussion on assessing; equalization and taxation; the Michigan Boundaries Commission; planning and zoning; appeals procedures to the state Tax Commission; election; financing and accounting of public funds; and legislation affecting townships.

State agencies to be represented at the meeting include the treasury, the office of the director of elections, the department of administration and the department of commerce.

Congressmen and members of the Michigan Legislature also have been invited to take part, Wolf said.

Charlevoix, Cheboygan and Emmet counties make up south region "A" of the 11th Congressional District.

City Poet In Anthology

Three poems by W. Wayne Belding, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Belding of Charlevoix, are included in a new anthology of modern poetry entitled "Encounter."

The poems are entitled "Screaming Madness," "My Trip" and "Ode."

"Encounter" was edited by H.M. Rosenberg and printed by Idlewild Press.

New Manager at Woodshed

Richard (Rick) Hooks is new manager of the Woodshed bar and restaurant on U.S. 31 north, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wood.

Hooks, 26, is a native of Williamsport, Ohio, and has been in the food business ever since he helped his grandfather prepare community fish-fries in this hometown as a boy.

Before coming to Charlevoix, Hooks was manager of the Ranch House Restaurant in Louisville, Ky. He also opened five Laurel and Hardy Pizza Palaces in Florida for National Food Marketers.

Hooks also has been in the mobile dairy bar business, owning one in Erie, Pa., and managing another in Washington Courthouse, Ohio.

Hooks said he met Wood at a restaurant in Louisville when they happened to be seated at adjoining tables.

"I overheard Mr. Wood comment that his steak wasn't done exactly the way he liked it, but that he wouldn't send it back," Hooks recalls.

Being in the restaurant business, Hooks suggested that if Wood sent the steak back to the kitchen he would be doing the restaurant a favor, since good food, tastily prepared is a restaurant's stock-in-trade.

Hooks said he subsequently learned that Wood owned a restaurant in Charlevoix, and, after a trip to town, was hired as manager.

Hooks and his wife, Fay, are living at 103 W. Dixon-ave. She will help in the restaurant.

Although remodeling of the restaurant interior will begin in November, Hooks says he plans to serve hot meals from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. daily and cold sandwiches at all times.

RICK HOOKS, 26, is new manager of the Woodshed bar and restaurant on US 131 north. Here he prepares a steak "as you like it."

House Candidate Glenn Law To Speak Here Thursday

Hopes to Win Seat as Write-in

Charlevoix residents will have an opportunity to meet write-in candidate Glenn Law jr. and quiz him on his political views Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the community room of the First State Bank, Clinton and State-sts.

The session is one of several Law has organized throughout the 106th Representative District in a bold bid to win Robert Davis' seat in the House in the Nov. 3 election. Davis is running for the Senate.

It is an uphill fight for Law, 27, a St. Ignace pharmacist, who will be opposed by GOP candidate Richard Friske, an Antrim County orchard man, and Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City.

Law decided to enter the race because he feels that Friske, as a leader of the John Birch Society, does not accurately reflect the political thinking of Republicans in the 106th District.

Law was one of 10 candidates who lost to Friske in the August primary, placing third.

He believes the main hurdle to overcome in his campaign is acquainting voters throughout the district on how to write-in a candidate on both paper ballots and machines.

On paper ballots, he says, a voter must merely cross out the name of the Republican candidate, write in "G. Law Jr." and place an "X" in the box to the left.

Machine write-ins are provided a special slot (No. 7) above the representative column.

At a public meeting at the Petoskey State Bank and Trust building Friday, Law was introduced by Stanley McRae of Mackinaw City, another Republican candidate who lost to Friske in the primary.

Law said that Republican leaders in the area are against a write-in simply because it has never been done before and that they are fearful of losing the 106th district seat in the Legislature to a Democrat.

He pointed out, however, that 75 percent of the electorate in the district is Republican, many of whom will not vote at all if Friske is their only choice.

As for his platform, Law said he:

--Favors a no vote on Proposal "C" (parochiaid) on grounds it would eliminate vital services to private schools.

–Favors reducing the voting age to 18 as one means of closing the generation gap.

--Favors an educational program to combat the worsening problem of drug abuse among young people.

–Favors enforcing a gun control law on the Michigan books for 25 years before attempting any new legislation.

–Favors bingo as a fund-raising gimmick for non-profit organizations.

–Is against abortion reform, however, his decision on the issue will reflect the thinking of his constituents if it ever comes to a vote.

County Adopts Record Budget

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Thursday approved a record budget of $673,760 for 1971, an increase of $37,179 over the 1970 budget.

The budget will require a tax levy of 5.7 mills, (compared to 5.5 mills last year.

The millage will raise $543,160 of the total, based on an assessed evaluation of $95,291,320.

Making up the balance will be state income tax ($42,000); fees and rentals ($67,000); state marine law enforcement funds ($6,600); and fees from District Court ($15,000).

Major items in the budget are Department of Social Services, $45,000; Child Care Fund, $10,000; District Health Fund, $34,968; Building Authority (jail rent) $50,000; bonds and insurance, $11,200; Whiting Park Fund, $12,000; Board of Commissioners, $50,000; Circuit Court, $11,500; county clerk's office, $25,650; county treasurer's office, $20,929; courthouse and grounds, $18,935; District Court, $19,050; Equalization Department, $36,575; jail, $15,675; judge of probate, $18,405; prosecuting attorney, $21,725; planning commission, $13,500; register of deeds, $20,320; retirement, $12,000; sheriff, $60,125; state institutions, $32,000; Social Security, $12,000; and contingency-emergency fund, $22,945.

In other business during the October session the board:

–Agreed to purchase No. 2 fuel oil from the East Jordan Co-op for 13 cents a gallon.

–Awarded publication of the board's minutes to Gregg Publications for $1.45 per folio, camera ready, with 125 booklets free.

–Increased salaries of the clerk, register of deeds, treasurer and equalization director from $7,000 to $8,000 a year; the prosecuting attorney from $7,000 to $8,600 a year and the sheriff from $7,500 to $8,300 a year.

The dinner will be held at the Petoskey Senior High School cafeteria.

Tickets may be obtained by contacting John Perry or Tom Turcott in Petoskey; Katherine Hafstad, Mrs. David Irish or Mrs. Ward Walstrom in Harbor Springs; Mrs. Robert Henderson in Cheboygan, or Rod Brown in Gaylord.

CHARLEVOIX County Republicans and Democrats working on the Glenn Law jr. write-in campaign met at the Middle School Wednesday to discuss plans for a Law rally this Thursday night at 8 p.m. in the community room of the First State Bank.

Death Claims Rev. Stoppels

Word has been received of the death of Rev. Charles A. Stoppels, 81, pastor of the Charlevoix Christian Reformed Church before his retirement in 1966.

Rev. Stoppels died at Ferguson - Droste-Ferguson Hospital in Grand Rapids Oct. 15 following a long illness.

Funeral was Monday, Oct. 19, at the Central Reformed Church, the Rev. Donald Hoffman and the Rev. Isaac Scherpenisse officiating, with burial in Rosedale Memorial Cemetery. Arrangements were handled by the Jonkhoff Funeral Home in Grand Rapids.

A native of Muskegon, Rev. Stoppels graduated from Hope College and Western Theological Seminary. He later served on the board of trustees of Hope, Western Theological and Central College in Pella, Iowa.

He served as pastor of churches in Allendale, Holland and Hull, Iowa, in addition to Charlevoix.

Rev. Stoppels is survived by his widow, Jeannette; four sons, Judge A. Dale Stoppels of Grand Rapids; Robert M. of East Grand Rapids; Rev. Charles J. of Flint and Paul J. of Grinnell, Iowa; 15 grandchildren and one sister.

DAVE FOWLER, chairman of the Glenn Law jr. write-in campaign for the Charlevoix area, outlines campaign plans at Middle School meeting. Law is a candidate for the state House of Representatives, opposing GOP candidate Richard Friske and Democrat Peter Johnson.

'Autumn Ball' Is Saturday

Charlevoix's first "Autumn Ball" will be held this Saturday night at the Belvedere Casino, starting with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres at 7 p.m., according to Dick Oestrike, manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

"A "sit-down" dinner, catered by the Weathervane, will begin at 8, followed by dancing to the music of the Epsilon Dance Band.

Tickets may be purchased from any member of the board of directors or at the Chamber of Commerce office on Bridge-st.

Cut-off on the ticket sale is 4 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 21. No tickets will be sold at the door, Oestrike said.

Dress will be semi-formal and corsages will be furnished the ladies, he added.

COAST GUARD

THE U.S. Coast Guard's 40-footer stationed at Charlevoix traveled piggyback aboard the Cutter Sundew when the smaller boat was taken to Sault Ste. Marie for repairs on Monday. The 40-footer was hoisted by crane to the Sundew's buoy deck with very little room to spare.

OCT

'Ballet Brio' Is Oct. 28

Thomas Andrew's "Ballet Brio" will be the first offering on the Northern Michigan Community Concert Association's program for the winter

The performance, which features three ballerinas and their male partners, is scheduled for Oct. 28 at 8:30 p.m. at the Petoskey Junior High School auditorium.

"If you're unhappy with the phone company. I'll get you action."

"It happens.

"Sometimes people have a legitimate complaint against the phone company.

"But too often they go to someone else for an answer. When I should be the first to hear about it.

"I'm a service representative at Michigan Bell, and if you need an answer for a service slip up, call me first.

"We have a new way to handle complaints and unusual service requests much faster. Now if you should ever have a question for the phone company, you don't have to contact someone else.

"To take care of these hang ups, Michigan Bell has set up 'Customer Service Action Teams' in its local business offices.

"These teams are here to make sure you get what you're used to getting: the tops in service from Michigan Bell. Even on those out-of-the-ordinary requests.

" 'Customer Service Action Teams' are made up of specially trained people.

"They know the best ways to track down misplaced orders. To answer uncommon questions. To process even the most complicated service requests.

"So if you ever have a misunderstanding with the phone company, call your service representative at the local Michigan Bell business office. If she can't solve your problem through her regular channels, she'll turn it over to her 'Customer Service Action Team'.

"Now, if you contact us first, you'll get faster action."

"WITH A LITTLE BIT OF LUCK" sings Harry T. Cook, who plays Eliza's father in "My Fair Lady" being presented October 22-24 and 29-31 at Voorheis Auditorium, Bay View. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night and tickets may be obtained at Volume I, Petoskey or at the door. In this scene Cook is joined by other members of the cockney chorus: (left to right) Shirley Greenwell, Jean Miller, Dorothy Koury, Sandi Wangeman, Helen Shepard, Diana Allen, Jean Beekly, Pat Duncan, Bob Llewellyn, Bob Honig, John Caron, Paul Voorheis, Harry T. Cook and Lois Wood. (Photo by A. Hilton)

DR. LEO BINGLEY, (left) president of Little Traverse Civic Theatre Assoc. congratulates Ross Stoakes for his 25 years of active participation in the theatre group. The book compiled by the members, "Curtain Call" was dedicated to Mr. Stoakes and the first copy was presented to him during intermission of opening night of, "My Fair Lady".

'My Fair Lady' Is As 'Loverly' as Ever

By Bob Clock

Although it has been produced literally hundreds of times, the musical "My Fair Lady" never seems to lose any of its original brightness.

And the Little Traverse Civic Theater production of the Lerner and Loewe classic is no exception. The show had its initial run at Voorheis auditorium in Bay View last weekend. Shows also are scheduled Thursday, Friday and Saturday this week and next. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Musical director of the show is Gig Stewart, Petoskey High School librarian, who has done a masterful job with his 29-man orchestra, drawing from the best musical talent in the area. You'll find yourself singing along to such foot-tappers as "Get Me to the Church on Time" and "Wouldn't It Be Loverly", two of the many songs from the show which have gone on to win a niche for themselves in musical history.

Petoskey florist Ross Stoakes, as usual, did a superb job of coordinating the efforts of a cast of about 50, including 30 with speaking parts. Others appear with such group as the "Buskers," the "Ascot Ensemble" the "Ballroom Scene" and the "Cockney Chorus," with some actors doubling in more than one role.

Adapted from George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," "My Fair Lady" is the story of a Cockney flower girl, Eliza Doolittle (played by Jean Moyer) who is taken under the wing of linguist Henry Higgins (George Duncan) and his companion, Col. Pickering (Christopher Smith). Higgins accepts the challenge of converting Eliza into a full-blown society belle in six months.

The job entails stripping Eliza of her Cockney accent and teaching her all of the social niceties, like not wiping her nose on her coat sleeve.

All three are flawless in their roles. Duncan and Smith are the perfect English gentlemen and Miss Moyer not only sings beautifully but also does a magnificent job in the verbal metamorphosis from a flower girl to debutante.

If there is any problem at all with the lead roles, it is on the part of the viewer who has difficulty equating the amply-proportioned Miss Moyer with any of the other sylph-like ingenues who traditionally play the role of Eliza Doolittle.

However, it is entirely possible that G.B. Shaw envisioned someone more like Miss Moyer than Julie Andrews when he created the part of Eliza Doolittle.

In the supporting roles, special mention must be made of Antrim County Probate Judge Harry T. Cook who plays Eliza's father, Alfred P. Doolittle, an eloquent Cockney ne'er-do-well who could never find the time to marry the women he bedded with, including Eliza's mother.

Although Cook's accent is more middle-European than Cockney, his singing and dancing are delightful. Cook alone is well worth the price of a ticket.

Doolittle's perpetually inebriated pub pals Harry and Jamie (played by Paul Voorheis and Bob Honig) do such a credible job you wonder if the management isn't selling something stronger than soft drinks in the lobby.

Club Hears Mrs. Gilbert

Mrs. Edith Gilbert of Charlevoix addressed the Monday Study Club of the Boyne City Lutheran Church Oct. 19. Her topic was "Parties to Remember."

Mrs. Gilbert is the author of the book "All About Parties."

Kathryn Timmer and sister Anne Osterbaan attended the funeral of their uncle John Kruis last week Thursday. Kathryn returned by bus on Saturday but Mrs. Osterbann remained a week to visit with her children and returned Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Margie Osterbaan of Grand Rapids.

Mrs. Walter (Edna) Burck and daughter of Grand Rapids spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kooyer and brother Ron.

Pv. Jack Kooyer of Washington, D.C., is enjoying a months' furlough with his wife, Judy, and folks, Mr. and Mrs. John Kooyer.

Sandy LaFreniere Wed at St. James

Sandy LaFreniere, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere of St. James, Beaver Island, became the bride of Peter LoDieo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dehring, in ceremonies Oct. 17 at Holy Cross Church, the Rev. Fr. Herbert Graf officiating.

Approximately 250 guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed before an altar decorated with lavender gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin gown trimmed with venise lace accenting the bodice, neckline and detachable train. Her elbow-length illusion veil was secured by a Juliet cap. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink miniature roses and carnations.

Organist was Mrs. Walter Wojan.

Maid of honor was Miss Judy LaFreniere who wore a floor-length gown, lavender rayon on the bottom and creme nylon on top, accented with satin buttons and trimming.

Bridesmaids were Miss Joan LaFreniere, Miss Loretta LaFreniere, Mrs. John Gillespie and Mrs. Larry Kubic who wore costumes similar to that of the maid of honor.

Best man was Sam LoDicn and groomsmen were Frank Maccione, Francis Pike, Joseph LaFreniere and Alvin LaFreniere.

A reception was hosted after the ceremony at Holy Cross Hall, Mrs. Russell Green and Mrs. Bill Wagner assisting.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live at 210 Cross-st., Adrian, Mich.

The bride attended Lansing Business University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Michigan State University with a major in food and dairy science. He works in the sales department of Kraft Foods Corp.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Illinois, Detroit, Kalamazoo, Armadn and Charlevnix.

Girl Scouts Need Room, More Adults

Charlevoix Girl Scouts are looking for a meeting place in a private home, one that can be used one afternoon a week after school, according to Mrs. Ed Mann.

Mrs. Mann says the scouts have attempted to arrange for a meeting place in all of the public buildings and churches in Charlevoix without success.

Mrs. Andres Matthews says the girls also are badly in need of volunteer adult leaders.

She says most mothers would like their daughters in Scouting, but are reluctant to give of their own time as leaders.

Mrs. Matthews said that some girls may be excluded from Scouting this year unless more leaders are found.

Volunteers, or persons with a meeting room to donate, should contact Mrs. Mann at 547-2022.

Library Notes

New titles in the variety of subjects and will appeal even to our "all-fiction" readers.

"Brother Can You Spare A Dime?" by Milton Meltzer is an eyewitness account of the harrowing first years after the stock market crash of 1929. The book deals with what the Great Depression really meant in human terms. For a mother it meant pinchpenny shopping; for a teacher it meant lost salary; for a black man, it meant being the first one fired. It was a time when youngsters hopped freights and bankers waited in line for free soup at the Salvation Army. The book is extremely readable and is well illustrated with heartbreaking photographs.

"The Legacy of Tom Dooley" by Lawrence Elliott is the story of the splendid young Americans who have kept alive the work of the great Tom Dooley. With Tom Dooley's tragic death in 1961, his relief operations in Asia seemed doomed. But a handful of his associates determined that his vision and compassion would live on, and so, under Dr. Verne Chaney, they founded the Thomas A. Dooley Foundation ot provide the personal devotion to the poor and sick that Dr. Dooley had given during his lifetime. The book reads like a fascinating novel because of the living characters involved, from Dr. Carl Wiedermann, a German refugee to Marleane Thompson, the first of many stewardesses to give their vacations to help Tibetan refugees in India. There are many fine photographs.

"Retreat to the Bear Paw" by Marian T. Place is the story of the Nez Perc'e–not recommended as light, frothy reading, but one of the best accounts of a tragic chapter in American history which as been written. In 1877, a band of 750 Nez Perc'e men, women and children made an incredible 1,700 mile retreat from their homes in eastern Oregon to the Bear Paw Mountains of Montana. During their long and bitter journey, the Indians repeatedly outmaneuvered nearly three times their number of U.S. troops. They fought four major battles and 14 lesser battles along the way, yet they reached a point only 40 miles from the Canadian border and freedom before they were defeated by fresh Army reinforcements. The Indian tactics during this remarkable withdrawal are still studied by cadets at West Point. This is a vivid and tragic story. The author recreates the long months of fighting and suffering and she draws memorable portraits of the key personalities in the conflict. The book is well-illustrated and the print is unusually good.

In a completely different vein, but still important to recommend in our non-fiction list this week, is "Managing Your Family Finances" by J.K. Lasser. If you don't have quiet enough money and want to know how to buy on credit, buy, rent or sell a home, play the stock market or finance education, you will want to read this informative, straightforward, easy-to-understand book written by the well-known authority on income, estate and gift taxes, as well as other financial and business subjects. It is a real problem-solver for young marrieds and for families who experience difficulty in bridging the ever-widening gap between income and inflation which just about includes everyone!

To Test 7th, 10th Grades

On Wednesday, Oct. 28, both the Charlevoix High and Middle Schools will be administering the National Education Development Tests, a testing program which helps professional educators, parents, and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students.

Grades 7 and 10 will be tested now, and the 8th grade will be tested in the spring.

Dr. William Ratigan, director of guidance, and Condit Drury, Middle School counselor, claim the NEDT program is being used because "it will give us the type of information we need to help our students make realistic decisions. The NEDT will help us to help the student plan wisely for his future education and for his future career.

"The NEDT Program will show how well the students can apply their skills acquired since entering school. It will help us recognize the strengths in each student's education development. At the same time it will pinpoint weaknesses. This information will enable us to know how we can help a particular student while he is still in school and will guide us in improving our program so that other youngsters can be helped earlier in their education."

Meat Demonstration, Farm Labor Talk On Bureau Program

"MASA and Farm Labor Problems" will be the subject presented by Mr. M.J. Buschlen, Operations Manager of Michigan Agricultural Services Association, at the Farm Bureau Women's Fall Meeting on Thursday, Oct. 22, at the American Legion Hall, 305 Main Street, East Jordan.

All Farm Bureau women as well as their neighbors and friends are invited to this meeting which will start at 10 a.m.

Labor Legislation has a far reaching effect on agricultural labor and all farmers and farm wives should understand this legislation. Workmen's Compensation, insurance, wages, payroll taxes and fringe benefits, unionization, farm labor housing are but some of the topics Buschlen will discuss with the women.

Buschlen is a native of Sanilac County, was graduated by Michigan State University with a B.S. in Agriculture, and received his Masters Degree from the University of Idaho. He has interesting developments and some valuable information for all farm folks.

A second speaker at this meeting on Oct. 22 will be home economist Bonita Bohnsack of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Chicago. She will be presenting a demonstration on "Beef Pork Styles of the Seventies", discussing nutrition for an active family, modern styles in beef and pork retailing, care and storage of meats as well as demonstrating cooking methods and carving of meat cuts. Beef and pork roasts and a meat cookbook will be received by some lucky winners at this meeting.

Miss Bohnsack was reared on a cattle ranch in Eastern North Dakota. She is an experienced ranch woman as well as home economist. As a member of the Meat Board's Industry Relations Department, Miss Bohnsack primarily works with the live stock producing and marketing groups. She conducts programs to help producers keep up to date on new developments of product promotion as well as meat cookery, care, nutrition and consumer needs and references.

A coffee hour has been scheduled for 9:30 a.m. preceding the business meeting. A potluck luncheon will be held at noon, with each person bringing his own table service.

The county Farm Bureau Women also are providing a baby-sitting service for preschool children. Mothers are encouraged to bring their youngsters so that they can participate in the activities.

The meat demonstration is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. for those wishing to attend the afternoon session only.

The beef and pork roasts which Miss Bohnsack will cook as part of the demonstration, as well as the cooking dishes she uses, will be given away at the end of the day.

Host at the meeting will be Mrs. Raoul Meyer of East Jordan, chairman of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau Women.

The meeting has been planned by Mrs. William Parsons, chairman of District 10-West, Farm Bureau Women, and Mrs. Edward Shanahan, district vice chairman, both of rural Charlevoix.

NOTICE

Notice is given that the Charlevoix Township Board has agreed to sell lot No. 2 in block No. 8, Mt. McSauba, North Point. All sealed bids should be in the township clerk's office by Nov. 9, 1970.

Thrift Sale Nets $250 for Guild

The recent thrift sale sponsored by the Women's Guild of the Charlevoix hospital netted approximately $250, Mrs. James W. Gallagher, president of the group, announced at a recent meeting held at the hospital.

The money will be used to purchase equipment for the hospital.

Mrs. Gallagher, who assumed her duties as president recently, named Mrs. Clifford G. Riley chairman of the sewing committee and Mrs. Dale Glass and Mrs. Reed McVay co-chairmen of the tray favors committee. Other chairmen will be named later. The sewing committee make layettes for indigent mothers, puppets for the children's department and knitting for layettes. Tray favors are made for patients' trays at all major holidays. Mrs. M.B. Miller and Mrs. L.H. Bruce have made Hallowe'en favors.

A report on the recent North Central District meeting of Hospital Auxiliaries at Cheboygan was presented. Mrs. Gallagher, Mrs. Jack Rader, Mrs. Eleanore Schultz and Mrs. William Carey attended.

Mrs. Gallagher acknowledged assistance given the guild during its recent sale and would like to thank the First State Bank for the use of its downtown building; Archie Himebaugh for transporting sale items, Oleson's Variety store for the use of clothing racks and the Will-Flow Corp. for the gift of a rack.

The Guild meets the second Monday of every month. Membership is open to anyone who would like to join and work on its many projects. The next meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Nov. 9.

New Plates Reflectorized

License plates for passenger cars and motorcycles go on sale throughout Michigan Nov. 16 at the Secretary of State's office in the Oleson Shopping Center.

The new plates...white on dark red...are the same colors as the 1969 plates. They will again be three letters and three numbers. For the first time, they will be reflectorized.

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Louis E. Hadix, Boyne City, was found guilty at trial of a charge of non-support. He plead not guilty. Sentence will be handed down later.

A disorderly conduct charge against John Martin, 22, Saginaw, was dismissed on request of the complaining witness.

An assault and battery charge against Robert McDermott, Charlevoix, was dismissed on request of the complaining witness.

William Wilbur Hadix, 22, Boyne City, demanded examination on a charge of arson. The case was continued until Nov. 4 Hadix is charged with setting fire to a house at 206 E. Cedar-st., Boyne City.

Kelvin Wiser, 19, Charlevoix, plead guilty to careless operation of a motor vehicle. He was assessed $25 and sentenced to spend five weekends in jail.

Raymond Genson, 24, Walloon Lake, was assessed $25 on a charge of being a disorderly person.

A non-support charge against Ralph D. Parmer, East Jordan, was dismissed on the request of the complaining witness.

Edward Jacobs, 50, East Jordan, plead not guilty to petty larceny. Case was continued.

Christopher Shelly, 18, Detroit, was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Thomas H. Smith jr., 44, Walloon Lake, was assessed $50 on charges of careless driving and not reporting a personal injury accident.

Thomas G. Crawford, 27, Clare, was assessed $75 on a charge of impaired driving.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard recently in Charlevoix by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

Michael Turcott, 20, Petoskey, was assessed $15 for violation of the basic speed law.

Donna Heney, 17, East Jordan, was assessed $15 for making an improper turn.

Dale Murphy jr., Muskegon, was assessed $15 for failure to stop.

Robert McQueen, 31, Grosse Pointe, was assessed $15 for failure to have his vehicle under control.

Robert Hooper, 18, Charlevoix, was assessed $15 for failure to have his car under control.

Robert G. Sarasin, 37, Charlevoix, was assessed $15 for failure to yield to oncoming traffic involving an accident.

Harold Jack Begrow, 39, Charlevoix, was assessed $17 for speeding.

Jerry L. Moore, 36, Charlevoix, was assessed $10 for driving with an expired operator's license.

Dorinda Luedke, 17, Charlevoix, was assessed $17 for speeding.

Evart Mason, 30, Charlevoix, was assessed $10 for operation of a motor vehicle without proper registration.

Rayders Whip Blue Devils

WITH BLUE DEVILS in hot pursuit, Charlevoix end Bruce Meggison sprints deep into Gaylord territory.

BALL CARRIER Bruce Meggison is tackled by Gaylord's Terry Peters at Friday at the Blue Devil's Homecoming game.

To Meet TC St. Francis Friday

The Charlevoix Red Rayders moved up a notch in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference Friday, defeating Gaylord 13 to 6 at the Blue Devils' Homecoming.

The victory puts Charlevoix in third place with three wins, one loss and one tie.

In first place is Rogers City with four wins, no losses and one tie, followed by Boyne City with four wins, one loss and no ties.

Next Friday, Traverse City St. Francis plays at Charlevoix.

Friday's game was far from a snap for the Red Rayders who faced an exceptionally tough Gaylord squad, in spite of the team's no-win, one-tie record for the year.

Charlevoix scored in the first period after an exchange of punts. On a long scoring drive, Larry Potter carried the ball from the Charlevoix 26 to the Gaylord 25. Then, two thirds through the quarter, Jerry Pease scored on a pass from Tim Carey for a 24-yard TD play. Bruce Meggison kicked the extra point after an original try was nullified by an off-sides.

Gaylord's sole marker was scored in the second period by Tom Rector from the one-yard line after Gaylord intercepted a pass on the Charlevoix 27.

The Rayders scored again in the final period, following a long drive sparked by Bruce Meggison. At the one yard line, Jerry Pease took the ball across for the TD. The conversion was lost.

CHARLEVOIX FULLBACK Jerry Pease runs into a brick wall of Blue Devil defensemen.

President Supports Kiwanians' Efforts

Albert Smith, president of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, claims that President Richard Nixon stands firmly behind voluntary programs to help him solve some of the nation's pressing sociological problems.

Smith reported on an interview between the President and Robert F. Weber of Detroit, president of Kiwanis International.

The President commented on Kiwanis' nation-wide program of drug use and abuse education called "Operation Drug Alert" which seeks to unite entire communities in their efforts to combat the drug problem.

He also noted Kiwanis' experimental television called "You and the Law" which is designed to let panels of college students and selected experts on law and justice explore publicity the many aspects of today's justice code and changing morals.

Nixon is a former member of the Kiwanis Club of Whittier, Calif.

Weber presented the President with a bell-striking boat clock in appreciation of his support of the volunteer service organizations of the country, and of his former active membership in Kiwanis.

MRS. MAKEL'S ANSWER TO HAROLD E. KOHN

To the Editor, Friends, Neighbors and Mr. Harold Kohn

What is happening to our people? Are we losing our sanity? What has become of our love for mankind, our Christian ideals and our sense of fair play? Is this political campaign so important that some are forgetting what we were put on this earth for?

Please, my friends, if you do not care about these things for your own sake, please be concerned about our young people who are watching us. I have taught hundreds of Charlevoix and Boyne City young people and I am still teaching in Charlevoix, and I know what I am talking about. These are good kids - there are none better. And they are watching and yearning for good leaders to respect and to admire. When you let them down, you are giving them good reason for being "mixed up" at times and for wondering "what it is all about." When I see leaders in our community performing as they do on occasion, I marvel that these kids are as good as they are.

This recent political move of yours, Mr. Kohn, seems to be downright dirty politics and a "frame up" of the lowest degree. Regardless of whether I were for Mr. Friske or not, I think the treatment he has just received from you was cruel and un-Christian.

You invited Mr. Friske into your home on grounds that you were ill. He had the courtesy to go, not knowing your ulterior motive and that a witness (your wife) was to be present during the entire interview. He had no witness there to represent him. That, in my book, was not even being fair to him. Then after he had left, you wrote a paid political endorsement of your candidate - not by giving many good reasons (if there were any) why he was your choice, but by tearing Mr. Friske to ribbons. That, in my book, was also cruel and un-Christian. By your own admission, you did not publish the entire interview - only what you chose to present — in addition to that, there seems to be much doubt as to the truth and accuracy of some of your accusations.

You have challenged Mr. Friske to a written debate which you must realize he could not possibly find the time for. This man has a fine family to support and a political campaign to wage - much more to do than to just sit at home and write.

These next few days are going to be "dog eat dog" days, I'm afraid, if others follow your method of procedure. It seems that race and religious prejudices, personal political and financial gains are the primary issues at stake with some people. Our love for one another and for our country seem to be on very thin ice.

Let's get our sights straight and see this thing through in a sane and Christian way. If not for ourselves, for our children who are watching us. They deserve this much from us.

And when it is all over, how good it will be if we can say that we were at least fair, honest, and above all, Christian in the stand we took. Let's be able to say that we did nothing to hurt or damage another person's character.

Don't you agree with me, that we owe this to our children who are watching us?

5-County Guide Off The Press

Charlevoix County snowmobilers who intend to explore the hills and hollows of neighboring counties to the south this winter will be interested to learn that the Grand Traverse Council of Chambers has come out with a comprehensive snowmobilers' guide of the entire area.

Thirty thousand copies of the guide came off the press Oct. 1 and are ready for distribution.

Until now, all of the 13 chambers of commerce in the county had their own area guides to snowmobile trails and facilities. But often residents of one community were unaware what was available just across the county line.

At a meeting Aug. 10, directors of the various chambers agreed that a comprehensive guide to all snowmobile facilities in Grand Traverse, Antrim, Kalkaska, Leelanau, and Benzie counties was needed.

The guide includes a listing of trails, lodging, safari guides and other pertinent information.

The Council of Chambers intends to update the guide every year as new services and facilities are added.

The guide will be distributed at snowmobile shows and is available at all of the participating chamber of commerce offices.

Defends Legislature, Court Roles

Charles A. Duerr, Jr.

Mr. Bob Clock
Editor, Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Mr. Clock:

In a letter from Mr. Ray Peltz published in the September 30 edition of the Courier the suggestion was made that, "The courts should confirm that laws are constitutional before they are passed." Mr. Peltz correctly notes that such a procedure would avoid the injustice of having defendants prosecuted under unconstitutional laws as occasionally occurs under the present system. One might add to this balance the unknown and unknowable social cost paid by those who have chosen to obey an unconstitutional law and thus have denied themselves rights or benefits secured to them by the Constitution.

What Mr. Peltz failed to mention is that his proposal that the courts give "advisory opinions" to the legislature has itself been found to be unconstitutional. Article III, Section 2 (I) of the Constitution states that the judicial power extends only to "cases or controversies." In the 1911 case of Muskrat v. United States (a case familiar to all law students who have struggled through a course in constitutional law) the Supreme Court interpreted that section, stating:

"If such actions as are here attempted (a legislative requirement that the court provide it with an advisory opinion) are sustained, the result will be that his court, instead of keeping within the limits of judicial power, and deciding cases or controversies arising between opposing parties, as the Constitution intended it should, will be required to give opinions in the nature of advice concerning legislative action,—a function never conferred upon it by the Constitution."

Mr. Peltz may urge that the Constitution be changed to allow for the rendering of advisory opinions. He would find a number of legal experts who agree. But before tinkering with the Constitution he might wish to consider the following language from page 108 of Vol. 5 of the Fordham Law Review (1936):

"The advisory opinion...would distort the entire focus of the judicial function in that it would require the Court to express its judgment on abortive issues without the benefit of all the relevant facts which, in crucial constitutional questions, are the very heart of the case. In addition, the operation of the device would debilitate the creative responsibility of the legislature in that it would tend to induce reliance upon the judiciary, depriving the former of submitting its convictions to the test of trail and error and of accumulating new facts for the vindication of its judgment which, a priori, may run counter to settled legal principles."

Sincerely,
Charles A. Duerr

Explains JBS Views

Dear Mr. Clock:

I am writing in regards to your "Clockwise" article in the Oct. 7 edition of the Courier.

I find this article about as factual as your editorial on Vice President Agnew, in the Sept. 30 issue of the Courier.

On Sept. 24, I attended a meeting in Charlevoix, that the John Birch Society was conducting to acquaint the public with the beliefs and purpose of their organization.

After viewing several films that explained the beliefs of the John Birch Society, which I found to be very American, a question and answer period was held by Mr. Malcom Dale, of the John Birch Society.

You, Mr. Clock, asked Mr. Dale what the difference between a republic and a democracy was. Mr. Dale had to explain the differences to you three or four times. Either you still do not understand what he told you or you are deliberately distorting what he said.

Mr. Dale's definitions of a republic and a democracy may not be entirely correct, but they were clear. There are several types of republics and several types of democracies. The type of republic that Mr. Dale defined, is a "constitutional republic", which the United States is. The type of democracy that he defined is known as a "totalitarian democracy," which the United States is not.

Mr. Dale in defining a constitutional republic said that "a majority ruled but the rights of the minority were protected by law." His definition of a democracy were "that a majority ruled, but the minority had no protection whatsoever." This last definition was what he composed to "mob rule," while trying to explain the differences to you. Mr. Clock, I prefer to be ruled by Mr. Dale's definition of a republic. Which definition would you prefer to be ruled by?

I think that you have stooped pretty low by attacting Mr. Friske because he was a member of Germany's armed forces during World War II. Mr. Friske was about 14 years of age when the war started. He did not start the war. As I recall, every able bodied man that could be spared, was pressed into service in Germany's armed forces.

In closing, I wish to say that I have been reading the worst political mud-slinging since Barry Goldwater ran for president in 1964.

The Oestrike Touch Brightens Chamber

The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is taking on an entirely new image under the energetic leadership of its new secretary-manager Dick Oestrike and his wife, Sharon.

We don't know how Oestrikes have done it, but we are familiar with the results and they are impressive.

As relative newcomers to Charlevoix, the Oestrikes' growing string of "successes" is all the more impressive. Until moving into the manager's office they had never attended a Venetian Festival, rubbed shoulders with artists at the Waterfront Fair, promoted a "Sidewalk Days" bargain bazaar or rubber-necked like tourists on a color cruise.

Yet all four events, under their management, have been better than ever before and the business community is beginning to breathe easier.

When the Oestrikes took over in June, the Chamber of Commerce was on the verge of collapse. There was even talk of cancelling the Venetian Festival because of lack of interest.

Yet the Oestrikes and their aides put on one of the biggest mid-summer extravaganzas on the books, with an estimated 25,000 visitors in town for the Saturday night doings alone. And there were more boats in the boat parade than ever before.

Although the art fair committee handles most of the details of the Waterfront Fair, this year's event went particularly well and the Oestrikes were very much in evidence, helping out wherever they were needed.

Then came "Sidewalk Days," a smashing success according to participating merchants. The city was jammed both days and one merchant reports he did $1,900 worth of business in sidewalk merchandise in one day, not to mention the scores of shoppers the sale attracted to his store.

The Oestrikes' latest venture, the annual color cruise aboard the motorship Beaver Islander, was equally successful. So many visitors from throughout the midwest came to Charlevoix for the cruise that there was hardly room aboard for the local people who waited until the last minute to buy tickets. More than 250 people took the trip to Boyne City and back, catching breath-taking vistas of northern Michigan in her fall raiment.

The next Oestrike undertaking will be a semi-formal dinner dance at the Belvedere Casino this Saturday night---something never before sponsored by the chamber.

"We think Charlevoixans would like a chance to dress up for a fancy ball," Oestrike said in explaining the reason for the dinner-dance.

And judging from his record over the past five months, Oestrike is probably right.

It is nice to know that the chamber is in such capable hands.

Apples and Politics

By BOB CLOCK

What bothers me most about the present race for the 106th District seat in the House of Representatives is the personal bitterness it has engendered among the backers of Glenn Law jr. and Richard Friske.

Friske, as you already know, won the GOP nod at the August primary and his name will appear on the ballot. Law, as you already know, came in third, but is running as a write-in candidate in the Nov. 3 general election because he believes Friske, as a leader of the John Birch Society, is not truly representative of the people of the 106th District.

So far so good. There is nothing wrong with write-in campaigns. They happen every so often in this land of ours where the people place their ultimate faith in the ballot box.

But I have heard Law backers claim in the past few weeks that they have stopped buying apples from Friake because they don't agree with his political beliefs.

On the other hand, I have been attacked personally by Friskeites because I happen to favor Law. One fellow claims his company has stopped advertising because of me. We also received another anonymous telephone call at the office the other day saying the Courier was going to lose 250 subscriptions because the Courier has backed Law.

Which is a lot of nonsense, in my book.

What in the world do Friske's apples have to do with politics? Why would a man stop advertising because he happens to disagree momentarily with the stand a newspaper has taken on a certain issue?

For my money, Friske grows some of the best apples on the market and I intend to keep buying them.

Oddly enough, it is not the candidates themselves who have resorted to mud-slinging. It is their backers.

When I was filing into the American Legion hall the other night to cover a fund-raising dinner for Friske, I couldn't help overhearing the remarks of a woman directly behind me. They were directed at her companion, but they were intended for my ears as well."

"Can you imagine the nerve of this fellow in front of me," she said. "Coming to Richard's dinner after all the dirty stuff he has written about him in the paper. He has a lot of guts."

She apparently didn't realize that although Friske and I are poles apart politically, we are still on very amicable terms and I hope we always will be.

In fact, there is no one I would rather send to Lansing to represent me than a first generation American who has been as successful as Richard Friske. He is the American story all over again—a European immigrant who, through dint of hard labor and self-sacrifice has made himself independently wealthy in 20 short years.

Furthermore, his little wife, Olga, is cute as a button; his daughter, Judy, is a charming teenager; and his little boys are friendly and well-behaved. Beautiful Americans and a credit to their country.

Friske and his family have achieved in two decades the material opulence that most native-born Americans never achieve. They have reaped the fruits of American democracy and the free enterprise system in full measure.

This is why it is hard to understand why Richard Friske has chosen to embrace the John Birch Society, which espouses a philosophy as alien to American soil as the dictatorship he lived under in Germany and the communism he fled in Russia.

Why has this man chosen to denounce the same democracy that has given him so many of the good things in life in favor or a secret organization which, if it ever gains national prominence, will enslave us all?

Does he really believe democracy is as evil as the John Birch Society claims it is:

Does he really believe the United States should abandon the United Nations, our last best hope of ever achieving any kind of international peace?

Does he really believe that Dwight Eisenhower, who led the Allied armies to victory in Europe, was actually a Communist dupe?

How could Friske possibly pay dues to a society so devious in its operations that it must use a host of "front" organizations to achieve its goals—the same tactic used by the Communists?

(On Page 77 of the fourth printing of JBS bible, "The Blue Book", Robert Welch writes: "We would organize fronts—little fronts, big front, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kinds of fronts.)

No, sir. I cannot buy Friske's politics. Not for a minute. His insidious ideas pose a far greater threat to American democracy than anything the Communists have to offer.

But I will continue to buy his apples. They're delicious.

The FBI in Action

Law enforcement has made great strides in this country since the vulgar old days when G-men gunned down James Cagney and George Raft.

There may even be some truth to the gossip that J. Edgar Hoover is now doing Pat Nixon's hair.

You youngsters probably don't even recognize the term "G-men". That's short for "Government men". That's what they used to call the FBI back in the 1920's, before Efrem Zimbalist Jr. was born and Ed Sullivan was the only thing to watch Sunday nights.

Those were the bootlegging days when Hoover was young but certainly not gay. G-men had just been issued guns and they lost no time in rat-tat-tatting themselves a rugged reputation. They were tough and they scared the crooks. They were nice to have around if you expected John Dillinger for dinner. But goodness, you'd hardly want a G-man stationed permanently in your boudoir. He might show up in a checkered jacket, scratching, and spit tobacco juice in the philodendron.

That was yesterday. Today's FBI man is ever-ready to have tea with Queen Elizabeth. He's a college grad with a degree in horticultural criminology. He's dressed fit to pallbear and he's so polite he never points his gun without first announcing he's from the FBI (This gentlemanly gesture admittedly gives the criminal a headstart but so what? The FBI knows that fleeing crooks always end up on the top of water towers and where can they go from there?).

A present issue of Life magazine showed the modern FBI man in action. The story was about Attorney General Mitchell's wife Martha, the Washington hostess with the mostest mouth. Two of the pictures showed how the FBI helped Martha solve some crucial problems of state.

Martha needed to iron a dress to wear later to an important reception. She also needed a loose thread snipped from the back of the dress she was wearing. She obviously needed the FBI. And, fortunately, an FBI agent was present, guarding Martha against Communists.

The pictures show the agent maneuvering the hand-iron with incredible dexterity and capturing the wayward thread through intense concentration. Professional criminologists were probably fascinated to note that the agent wore horn rimmed glasses for ironing, but took them off for snipping.

It is typical that Life didn't give the FBI agent's name. He was identified only by occupation. The FBI is made up of selfless men who want no personal glory for their marvelous achievements. They want only to protect you taxpayers, you people who pay their salaries, from wrinkled dresses and loose threads.

If an ordinary, glory-mad maid had been pictured ironing that dress, she would probably have demanded that Life print her name. But there was no maid around that day.

She was probably out fighting the Mafia. Somebody has to.

Jack Harris Backs Kohn On Friske

October 13, 1970

Mr. Robert Clock
Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Mich.

Dear Bob,

I am writing to subscribe to the Courier. I have been missing it! The Friske question is getting warmed up, I see. Harold Kohn's article was superb and did an excellent job exposing Friske's true beliefs. Your article was also good and I am going to write Senator Schweigert of my great disappointment in the stand he has taken. The John Birch Society is a real menace to a good America.

Keep standing in there with conviction, Bob. Wish I could be up there right now.

Sincerely,
Jack Harris

40 Ways To Spell 'Charlevoix'

Dear Bob:

In going thru old Charlevoix history material, we came across the following paragraph which I knew you would enjoy.

"When Harrison Berdan was postmaster, he gave the Sentinel a list of 40 different ways in which the name Charlevoix had been spelled on letters received at the post office."

The source of the quote is Rosa Nettleton, 1943.

I can't, for the life of me, think of 40 ways to spell our dear old town.

Censorship Plans

Free Press of Future May Dance To Government Tune

By Sam Archibald, Director
FREEDOM OF INFORMATION CENTER
Washington, D. C. Office

(Last of a series)

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (NNW) — The evening edition of the Daily Government Press came out of the slit below the television set and plopped on the living room rug. John Smith ignored the newspaper and merely glanced at the smiling newsman on the three-dimensional screen.

"The same good news tonight," John Smith said. "The same as yesterday, the same as last week. Production is up, peace is wonderful, the government is great — all's right with the world. And I don't believe a word of it. I get more real news from my friends at the office than I get from the GovPress and the teevy."

A slice of science fiction from the world of tomorrow? Maybe not. The machinery for the programmed world of tomorrow is here today — both the electronic marvels and the government systems.

If some of the political leaders in office today have their way, tomorrow's newspaper will be as bland as a government release. In fact, some of the plans for the future would replace the free — and often controversial — press with a government-sponsored — and always dull —"information program. In effect, there would be a Ministry of Truth similar to the government agency described in George Orwell's futuristic novel, 1984.

Is this too pessimistic a picture of the future of our free and responsible press? Let's look at the record — the plans which the Federal Government has prepared for information control in some future "national emergency".

The government has set up a "Stand-by Voluntary Censorship Code" and has planned all the bureaucratic trappings necessary to enforce the Code. It would become effective either in wartime or in some un-defined "national emergency".

—Who would run the censorship system? That is a military secret, classified to protect the national security.

—Who would staff the censorship headquarters? There are 26 stand-by reservists but only five of them are working newsmen. The rest are public relations men, businessmen, government employees, college professors or are listed merely as "retired".

—Who has approved the censorship plans? Representatives of eight news organizations have seen the plans drawn up by a government agency. They have been shown to one Congressional committee but have never been sent to the newsrooms throughout the nation which would be controlled by the censorship system?

During World War II an Office of Censorship was set up under Byron Price, a nationally known newsman who established the voluntary censorship principle, with newspapers cooperating to make sure no vital information was given to the enemy. Since then, the rules of war have changed and the censorship system is ready to be applied in all kinds of less-than-war situations.

Until the mid-1960's Byron Price still was designated as the stand-by director of the Office of Censorship if it should be established in a "national emergency". He had been retired for many years and had urged many times that an active newsman take over his stand-by censorship job.

Finally his recommendation was heeded. The Johnson Administration designated a new stand-by director of censorship — and immediately classified his name as a military secret. The Nixon Administration has maintained the secrecy in spite of repeated requests to declassify the information — to tell the public who will be responsible for controlling the news in a "national emergency".

The names of the stand-by staff for the future Office of Censorship have been made public, but only after pressure from the University of Missouri Freedom of Information Center with the help of some Congressmen. Very few of the stand-by staffers of the Office of Censorship are currently active newsmen and very few are recent appointees. Most were designated in the 1955-65 period and could be expected to bring the techniques of yesterday to the information problems of tomorrow.

The Office of Emergency Preparedness, which is responsible for updating information control plans, has historically ignored the changing problems. No top-level consideration was given to the problems of a free press in a national emergency until the Government Information Subcommittee under Congressman John E. Moss (D., Cal.) called the agency on the carpet in 1963. Then the agency added a few members to the stand-by censorship staff and also asked a few news organizations to look at its plans for emergency control of information in the United States.

The six and one-half page Stand-by Voluntary Censorship Code is designed to guide editors and broadcasters the minute the President declares that a national emergency exists or as soon as Congress declares a state of war. But the only current copies of the Code are stored by the Office of Emergency Preparedness. If war comes in this nuclear age there would be no time to mail the Codes on to the newspaper offices and broadcasting stations which are expected to follow the guidelines.

Thus, the information media of tomorrow will most likely be controlled by generalized "thou shalt not" directives from some government official if war comes — or even if Federal officials decide that some political or economic catastrophe qualifies as a "national emergency."

Who will issue the directives? That is classified as a military secret. What will the directives say? Nobody — not even the reporters and editors whose jobs give them stewardship of freedom of the press — can be sure. The current stand-by censorship code would be a meaningless document in a less-than-war emergency, yet even that document has been kept from the working press.

Will the newspaper of the future be a bland and biased government publication put out by a Ministry of Truth similar to the agency described in George Orwell's 1984? A small chorus crying for a press which tells the government side of the story has been led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew who has a good chance of [illegible] as vice president if President Richard M. Nixon runs for a second term [illegible] of election as president on his own [illegible] the Constitution [illegible] limit. Eight years as vice president [illegible] years as president [illegible] us to 1984.

'Invoke Dealth Penalty'

Dear Editor,

The common census of opinion is that: Pres. Nixon and Vice Pres. Agnew are men of real stature, who are telling the truth. That:

We don't need dissolutioned Liberalists (to spend more billions) who are of the caliber of Ted Kennedy, Humphrey, Hart, Lindsay, Percy, Bayah, etc.

The Supreme Court has done terrible damage to the U.S. by tearing down the Laws of the Constitution, and condoning filthy literature, shows, etc., under such judges as Douglas and the late Warren.

The death penalty should be invoked for all killings. The taxpayers are sick of supporting radical minority groups who cause misery in our country, and try to overrule the president and his cabinet.

We need more true Americans on the order of Richard Friske, who shows respect for the U.S.A.!

Amateur Forecasters Rely on Mom Nature

Just as sure as winter, homegrown weather prophets already are searching out those certain signs for their fearless forecasts.

They are listening for the song of the katydid, watching how the squirrel carries its tail, measuring the stripes of the woolly bear caterpillar.

All are time-honored autumn clues for revealing what kind of winter is in store: cold and snowy, mild and green, long or short, early or late.

Even skeptical modern meteorologists have been amazed at the accuracy of some harbingers deciphered by the finger-in-the-wind weather forecasters, the National Geographic Society says.

FUR AND SNOW TIRES

Man has always looked to his surroundings for a sign of a change in the weather, be it heavier fur on a prehistoric mammoth or a snow tire sale at the neighborhood gas station.

Folklore's catalog of winter signs is long and complicated:

Katydids give song exactly six weeks before the first frost.

Red begins to creep first into the leaves of poison ivy—which remains, however, as virulent as ever.

Plenty of acorns, hickory, and other nuts—with squirrels working overtime storing them away—means a severe winter (or, say the skeptics, a bountiful summer and greedy squirrles).

WINTER HARBINGERS

A bad winter is also foretold when the holly is thick with berries, the dogwood smothered in spring blossoms, or the pine tree sheds more needles than usual, so the extra heavy snow will fall off before breaking branches.

Pick up a knife and "if the onion skin is thin, mild winter's comin' in." A thick-skinned apple campaigns for a thick overcoat.

But field corn "spraddly looking with limp-hanging ears and loose husks that show the kernels through them" indicates a mild winter. So do soybeans and milkweed when they split their pods and throw seeds earlier than usual.

HORNETS AND PERCH

Few snows will come if hornets nests hang low in the trees, or perch swim closer to the lake surface.

But woolly bear caterpillars, destined to become tiger moths, forecast sharp cold and deep snow when the black bands around their coats are especially wide.

The same is true when ducks head south early, wild animals grow heavier than usual pelts, squirrels hold their tails forward, or turkey feathers are thicker. But, at Thanksgiving, a light-colored turkey breastbone predicts easy winter weather.

The date of the first snowstorm numbers how many more winter storms will follow. A white Christmas means a green Easter, and vice versa.

Each of the 12 days after Christmas, stormy or fair, match the weather to be expected during each of the 12 following months.

When lots of spiders move into the house—or skunks under the barn — a bad winter at least is on the way.

Or, according to an Alaskan Eskimo, when the government meteorologist lays in extra supplies of food and firewood, it foretells a hard winter.

Sand Cushions Impact

Plastic barrels containing sand, designed to turn hard traffic accidents into soft ones, have made their first appearance in Michigan, the Department of State Highways announced.

A cluster of 12 such barrels replaced guard rail in front of a bridge pier at northbound Interstate 96 and Interstote 496, west of Lansing. The cluster of barrels can stop a car safely at 60 miles an hour at impact.

Max N. Clyde, Highway Department design engineer, explained that it is not the barrels that cushion impact, but the sand that is sprayed into the air, creating a heavy blanket.

When struck by a fast-moving vehicle, the barrels disintegrate, fanning the sand in all directions. The lower portion of each barrel contains a frame supporting a seal so that sand fills only the upper portion of the barrel.

The 12 barrels forming the safety barricade at I-96 and I-496 contain amounts of sand varying from 200 pounds to 2,100 pounds. The barrels are 36 inches in diameter with varying height of 30 or 36 inches.

Clyde said the Highway Department has purchased 200 barrels which will be used as safety devices at highway danger spots elsewhere in Michigan.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harrison have had as a guest the former's uncle, Alick Olson, of Fort Morgan, Colo., the past two weeks.

Visitors recently of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Beene were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Szpytek of Detroit, also Mrs. Marie Hacker of Mt. Clemens who are retired friends of the Detroit Police Force.

Rev. Harmon and several members of our Pilgrim Fellowship Group attended the Youth Rally in Luzerne Sunday afternoon. Attending were Kelly Smith, Diane Alexander, Scot Kemp and Mike Bennett.

Roy Meyers made a business trip to Indianapolis this week.

Mrs. Ada Alderson returned Thursday from Johnstown, N.Y., after spending a month with her daughter and family.

Mrs. Vi Christensen, Mrs. Hilda Crowe, and Mrs. Effie Arthur attended the games party Thursday at the Grandvue Medical Center in East Jordan.

Mrs. S.E. Chamberlin of St. Louis, Mo., has been spending several weeks at Sequanota.

Mr. and Mrs. William LaValley are building an addition on the back of their new home.

Louis Edwards has closed his Jiffy Market for the season.

The church was represented by Rev. Harmon and Jerrold Murdick at the fall meeting of the Cheboygan Association in Alpena Oct. 6. Rev. Harmon was elected vice president of the association. Last Sunday morning Jerrold Murdick gave a most interesting report of the business meeting during our morning church service.

Elliott and Mable Bird have recently returned from a month's visit to the British Isles. After visiting friends in London they took a seven day couch tour through Devonshire, Cornwall, and Cotswold. They also visited Plymouth which wos celebrating the 250th anniversary of the sailing of the Mayflower. One of the towns visited was Bideford, the birthplace of their grandfather, Thomas C. Bird, who platted the village of Ironton.

While visiting friends near Glasgow, they rented a car and toured Edinburgh and the Highlands.

This surely was a most interesting and a historical trip for them as they are the only ones of the Bird family that have returned to visit their Grandfather's birth place.

Salt Piles May Pollute Waterways

The Department of State Highways is renewing its efforts to provide covering for roadside stockpiles of salt used to melt ice and snow.

Director Henrik E. Stafseth says he has received unconfirmed reports that such stockpiles may be the source of water contamination in some areas of Michigan.

Heavy rain on open or uncovered salt piles can cause chemical seepage into nearby ground areas, Stafseth said.

"For this reason," he added, "the Highway Department implemented a program in 1960 requiring all road salt for use on state highways to be stored only in properly designed closed or covered facilities."

The Department, in an effort to encourage similar storage precautions throughout Michigan, offers counties and municipalities financial aid for salt storage to help amortize the cost of providing closed or covered facilities.

Two Good Ideas From Davis, Lee

Republican Robert W. Davis and Democrat Russell (Bob) Lee, candidates for the state Senate from the 37th District, have come up with a couple of sound, non-political ideas which are worth keeping in mind as election day approaches.

Davis has urged all registered voters who will not be able to make it to the polls on Nov. 3 to vote absentee ballots beforehand. Applications for absentee ballots must be in the hands of city and township clerks no later than 2 p.m. Oct. 31.

The ballots themselves must be returned before 8 p.m. on election day.

"I think that in the day to day shuffle of normal activities the election is creeping up on people without their realization how close it actually is," Davis said. "It's easy to keep saying, 'I'll do it tomorrow' and before one realizes it the deadline has passed them. Of course, one must have a valid reason for requesting an absentee ballot. Generally, if you are unable to find transportation to the polls, or are prohibited for physical reasons, or will have to attend to business out-of-town on the day of the election, these will be considered valid reasons for obtaining an absentee ballot."

Candidate Lee would like to see at least 97 percent of the electorate in the 37th District cast ballots in the Nov. 3 election, to set an example for the rest of the state and the nation.

He has enlisted the cooperation of newspapers, radio and television stations, students, teachers, school administrators, public servants, members of service groups and the other candidates to make his "dream election" come true.

"Wouldn't you feel better at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 3, if you had voted before the polls closed?" Lee asks.

Good ideas, both. And we hope that voters throughout the 37th District take them to heart.

Anxious City Council Awaits Fate of Sewage Bond Issue

Decision Is Up to Voters

Major discussion at the Charlevoix City Council meeting Monday night centered around the upcoming $700,000 general obligation bond issue to finance the city's proposed tertiary sewage treatment plant.

The council is mailing out 1,800 flyers to residents pointing out that the bond vote is a "chance to personally have a hand in the fight against pollution."

To be located on Lake Shore-dr. on 10 acres of property purchased from the Medusa Portland Cement Plant, the new sewage facility will cost an estimated $1.5 million, of which the city will pay 45 percent.

State and federal grants already have been offered to cover the balance.

Although city fathers have discussed construction of a new sewage facility for several years, the issue came to a head two years ago when the state Water Resources Commission ordered many Michigan communities, including Charlevoix, to reduce by 80 percent the amount of phosphate compounds discharged from their waste water plants.

The proposed facility, with a final-stage filtering drum, will return water to Lake Michigan that is pure enough to drink.

When the new plant is completed, the present primary treatment plant near the city dock will be converted into a pumping station.

Effluent from city sewers will reach the new facility by means of a forced main which will run east of Charlevoix Hospital to Eastern-ave., west to Boulder-rd. and south to the plant site.

If the general obligation bonds fail to pass, the city is studying a revenue bond issue which will cost considerably more, according to the council. Revenue bonds' will necessitate an increase of

MORE THAN 50 Charlevoix area residents turned out at the First State Bank Thursday night to hear write-in candidate Glenn Law jr. discuss his platform. Law is running for the House of Representatives from the 106th District against GOP candidate Richard Friske and Democrat Peter C. Johnson.

Coaches, Sponsors Named

The Charlevoix Board of Education, meeting in special session, gave its approval to basketball coaching assignments, special after-school programs, club sponsors and the construction of a sidewalk at the new K-4 school among other business.

The board confirmed the appointment of Barry Anderson as head basketball coach, Don Carey as Junior Varsity coach and Dale Burge as freshman basketball coach.

Mrs. C.A. (Janet) Odmark was approved as faculty sponsor for the Future Homemakers of America; Mrs. Joy Mudge as faculty advisor of S.L.A. A.M. (student librarians) and Mrs. Max (Frances) Novak faculty sponsor for the Latin club. It was again emphasized that the board should be advised regularly of meetings and activities to determine if the clubs are accomplishing their goals.

Approval was given three after-school programs which teachers have offered to teach after regular hours in order to make them available to students.

Miss Tony King will be in charge of an athletic program for girls in the Middle School. This being offered because there is so little available to girls in this age group.

William Murray, art instructor, will teach an art program for students in the junior high (7 and 8) grades. Many students in these grades have full schedules and are

Jim Sisson

Jim Sisson Heads Courier Ad Dept.

Jim Sisson has joined the staff of the Charlevoix Courier as advertising director.

Sisson, 25, was an advertising salesman for the Petoskey News-Review for one year before coming to the Courier.

Before joining the News-Review, he was in the sales department of radio station WJML and sailed aboard the Medusa Portland Cement Co. freighter, the Medusa Challenger.

A native of Grand Rapids, Sisson graduated from Redford High School in Detroit in 1963.

Sisson and his wife, the former Barbara Burns, live on M-75 between Boyne City and Walloon Lake. They have two children, Derek, 7, and Jamie, 18 months.

Leaf Burning

The Charlevoix City Council Monday night decided to permit leaf burning along street gutters, but said fires should be kept off the blacktop.

City Superintendent Tom Hanna said he had received many calls from residents wondering what to do with their dead leaves.

Auto Crash Injures Eight

Two persons were hospitalized and six others suffered minor injuries as the result of a two-car collision at 5 a.m. Sunday on US 31, near Burgess-rd.

Sheriff's deputies said that a 1969 Olds driven by Miss Nadine C. Shanley, 31, Petoskey, struck the rear of a Mercury Comet which had stalled and was being pushed by four of the seven occupants.

The Comet was driven by Efriem (Frank) Marcus, 26, of Elk Rapids, who was treated for injuries at Charlevoix Hospital.

Miss Shanley suffered lacerations and a hand injury and was treated at a Petoskey hospital.

Glenn McSauby, 18, of Traverse City, a passenger in the Marcus car, suffered a broken leg and lacerations.

Other passengers in the Marcus car were Mrs. Juanita Stevens, 37; her daughters Jenneva, 18, and Kathy, 16; Gary McSauby and his sister, Lois, 12, all residents of Traverse City.

Kids See Disney Film

The Walt Disney movie "The Shaggy Dog" is being shown to Charlevoix youngsters this week as part of the Kiwanis Club's annual Hallowe'en program.

Afternoon kindergarteners were scheduled to see the film Tuesday and morning kindergarteners on Wednesday. Wednesday afternoon, the movie will be shown at St. Marys School, Thursday at the Middle School and Friday at the Elementary School. Ironton School students have been invited to the last showing.

After the movie, Kiwanians will distribute Hallowe'en candy to the youngsters and urge them to have a safe Hallowe'en.

Campaigns Move Into Final Week

Candidates in the three-way race for the House of Representatives seat in the 106th District have moved into their final week of electioneering with very little formal campaign activity on the docket.

From here on in it appears to be a case of ringing doorbells and shaking hands for GOP candidate Richard Friske, Democrat Peter C. Johnson and write-in candidate Glenn Law jr.

Law, a St. Ignace pharmacist, made his first formal appearance in Charlevoix Thursday night at a "Meet the Candidate" session at the First State Bank.

More than 50 persons heard him outline an educational and therapeutic program to combat drug abuse and crime linked to drug abuse.

He suggested that a drug rehabilitation center be established in northern Michigan, preferably in the buildings being abandoned by the Moral Rearmament movement on Mackinac Island, where addicts and potential addicts could be treated.

Law said the closest such center is operated by the federal government at Lexington, Ky.

As a pharmacist, Law has traveled widely throughout the 106th District during the past year lecturing in schools on the dangers of drug abuse. He said he would like to see such visits followed up by involvement on the local level.

"There is no generation gap where drugs are concerned," he said, "but there is a communications gap."

He also spoke in favor on continued service by the rail car ferry Chief Wawatam cross the Straits of Mackinac. He said discontinuance of the service, as requested by the Penn Central and Soo Line railroads would be a severe economic blow to both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas.

Law contended prices of many commodities would rise if all freight had to be trucked into the area. He also said the rail line is an inducement to new industry.

Law's crime platform is closely related to his views on drug abuse, since he maintains that 50 percent of all crime results directly or indirectly from drug use.

In addition, he suggested that service organizations establish youth chapters to give more than lip-service to the problems of young people.

He also recommended courses in ethics be established in Michigan schools to inculcate a system of moral values in young people.

Law said that he is personally opposed to aboration reform, but that he will vote the way his constituents want him to vote if the issue ever reaches the floor of the House.

"I don't want the job if I can't represent you," he said. "I can represent myself by staying at home."

Glenn Law jr.

Library Notes

Ellen Williamson (Mrs. Gregory Williamson) of Oyster Bay and Princeton, N.J., has just published her second book-"Spend Yourself Rich"–and the dust jacket warns: "Don't buy this book unless you're rich–or want to be!"

Mrs. Williamson's first book "Wall Street Made Easy" was an immediate success because of her light-hearted, humorous style and her ability to untangle serious, complicated financial matters and turn them into fun. Her new book is no exception.

"Spend Yourself Rich" gives advice in investing in blue-chip land, buying jewelry for security, autographs and manuscripts, philately for fun and profit, coins, rising volume in rare books, giving money away, gambling and spending money to buy more leisure.

There are many references to Charlevoix in Mrs. Williamson's new book. Her family lived for many years on the Chicago Club. When she is not traveling, Mrs. Williamson lives in New York, Princeton and Charlevoix. She was born in Cedar Rapids (and is a trustee of Coe College there) and has lived in Santa Barbara; Chicago and Lake Forest; Pasadena; Noroton, Conn.; Bal Harbour, Marathon and Surfside, Fla. She graduated from The Spence School and Vassar and has written mystery novels and children's books.

Her most recent book is published by Doubleday & Co. It is available in the Charlevoix Library.

Mr. and Mrs. William Seese were pleasantly surprised recently on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary by a party given them by Mr. and Mrs. John Sindek jr. A large number of relatives and friends joined in the celebration.

Mrs. Richard Ross entertained at a dinner party for her son Ricky in honor of his sixth birthday last Monday. Guests were Scott Franzyck, Kim and Terry Novotny, Gregg Whitley, Timmy Wojan and Robby Bell. Later in the evening Ricky's grandparents and several aunts and uncles stopped in to join the celebration.

Mrs. Debra (Bergeon) Clark and two children of Saginaw were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stephan.

Mrs. Minnie Peterson Hyland had as her guests last week her brother William Van Dyke and his daughters Mrs. William Dodge and husband and Mrs. Charles Dodge and husband of Waterford, North Dakota.

Will Discuss Population

A spiritual solution to the problem of living easily with others in today's overcrowded world will be presented Saturday, Oct. 31 at 8:15 p.m. in First Congregational Church, 6105 Center Road, Traverse City, when Thomas O. Poyser, C.S.B., a Christian Science lecturer from Dallas, Texas, will discuss "Are People Your Problem?"

Poyser is a teacher of Christian Science as well as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

He graduated from the University of Michigan with a degree in engineering and served in World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star for service in the United States Army Air Corp.

In 1952, Poyser resigned as manager of a Dallas business firm to devote full time to the healing ministry of Christian Science. Currently he is on a lecture tour throughout the United States, Canada, Ireland, Great Britain, and Europe.

Recipe for Great Meals.

(Take one Gas range.)

Take one Gas range. Add love. And you've got what it takes to make kitchen magic three times a day.

But you've got to start with Gas. Because a Gas range gives you everything you can get in an electric range. Plus a lot of things you can't get in an electric range.

Things like 1. Smokeless broiling. 2. Speed - Gas has instant-on, instant-off. 3. Complete heat control. At all times. 4. The professional touch. Nine out of ten chefs cook with Gas. 5. Low-cost oven cleaning. Gas does the whole job automatically. 6. Total economy. Gas costs one-fourth as much to operate as electric.

Did you ever run across a simpler recipe —or one that had more things going for it?

See the new Gas ranges at dealer or Gas Company showrooms.

Helps Spread Town's Name

If you happen to visit Mt. Prospect, Ill., and find the folks talking about Charlevoix, you can thank Al (Breezy) Breeze, pianist at Grey Gables during the summer.

Breeze is now appearing at Mt. Prospect's "Holiday Inn" and the sign in front reads: "Breezy from Charlevoix---Piano and Organ---Tuesday and Saturday."

"How's that for spreading the name of our town?" Breeze asks.

Antrim Write-in Elected

Bryce W. Petrie has taken over the duties of sheriff of Antrim County after a two-year court battle over the legality of 132 write-in votes.

Petrie replaces Robert R. Curtis who was Petrie's opponent in the 1968 election.

The write-in candidate was sworn in after the Michigan Supreme Court denied a motion by Curtis' attorney, James R. Zerafa, asking a stay of execution of a circuit court judge's ruling that Curtis be excluded from office.

The Antrim County Circuit Court had ruled that Petrie was, in effect, elected sheriff if 132 ballots marked simply "Petrie" were added to his total.

The court held that the voters who wrote-in "Petrie" intended for Bryce W. Petrie to be elected, although they neglected to include his given name.

However, the legal dispute is apparently not over.

Zerafa has filed an appeal on behalf of Curtis with the state Court of Appeals on grounds that Circuit Judge Charles A. Wickens' decision allowing the "Petrie" votes is contrary to law and that the judge erred in allowing them.

Zerafa has twice been denied a stay of execution request on Wickens' ruling that Curtis be excluded from office, once by the Court of Appeals and once by the Michigan Supreme Court.

Petrie's attorneys, Glenn Aylsworth and Richard Benedict of Traverse City, reportedly plan to file a brief in answer to Zerafa's latest petition to the Court of Appeals.

UNICEF Will Benefit

United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF) greeting cards, note paper and engagement calendars will be available to members of the Charlevoix Women's Club at the November and December meetings where samples will be on display.

All proceeds from the sale, which is endorsed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, will go to the children's fund.

UNICEF helps youngsters by providing medical check-ups, vaccinations, nutrition classes for mothers, teacher-training centers, food conservation assistance and emergency needs arising from man-made and natural disasters.

A Concerned Citizen Speaks

This presentation has been prompted by the attacks on President Nixon, the late President Eisenhower and seemingly all Americans whose ideas do not conform to the thinking of the John Birch Society as prepounded by the nominee to represent the 106th District of Michigan. Also alarming is the number of good citizens who, because of the peculiar situation, have told me they were not going to vote Nov. 3.

The strength of our nation rests ultimately with the people. It can be strong only to the extent that our families, our cities, our counties and institutions are strong and by the united efforts of individuals.

It has been said that dissension is a loose agreement whereby each agrees to be disagreeable beyond the point of reason. While the nominee has the legal right to dissent, by what moral or ethical standard can anyone criticize the President of the United States, the local party leaders and seemingly everyone in between connected with official government, and at the same time use the good name, prestige and dignity of the Republican Party to get votes in his own behalf!

The burden of researching the candidates and informing the public of the situation has been borne by the Honorable Rev. Dr. Harold E. Kohn. To this man, great in his own time among men of truth and excellence of purpose, and whose integrity is unimpeachable, we all owe a great debt. Far be it from me to add or detract from the work of so noble a person.

To the original candidates, my hope is that we forget the disappointments of the past and work together for harmony and understanding. Let us accomplish what we set out to do, put a Republican in Lansing. Mr. Glenn Law Jr., who will reflect the needs and wishes of the people of the 106th District, has taken the duty to be a write-in candidate, to represent the Republican philosophy which is the basis of our freedom and the democratic procedure which is the basis of our actions.

To all leaders and workers in the 106th District, my hope is to unite and overcome the damaging split brought about by an outside informal influence, with headquarters in Boston, Mass. We now have the choice to write-in Glenn Law Jr. Rather than elect a man who, even the party leaders admit, may have to be recalled later, let us send to Lansing Mr. Glenn Law Jr. who will reunite the party, give us strength, faith and courage to go forward with dignity and honor.

To Mr. Richard Friske, my hope is that you stop tearing at our society, our leaders and our system under which you have fared so well. Please stop belittling our national policy (of containing Communism and not letting it spread). We are a young and very strong nation. We have made mistakes. One was leaving Germany after World War 1, whereby in just 18 years the enemies of freedom – the far rightists under Hitler – were well on their way to a militaristic take-over and World War II.

However, we learned something, and by our presence in Germany after World War II we have endured 24 years and there is no sign of another Hitler rising to power in Germany.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of peace." This vigilance is being kept by our friends and neighbors in uniform around the globe.

Many of us have sworn "to protect and defend the United States of America against all enemies foreign and domestic, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion." I interpret this to include verbal or written attack. I implore that the derogatory written and verbal attacks on the leaders of this country, from the Commander-in-Chief to the local party bosses, be stopped.

For the leaders represent all the people. And the people comprise the United States of America.

BEAVER ISLAND retains the quiet demeanor of an earlier era when life was slower and more deeply savored.

Beaver Island Still Clings To 'Sense of Community'

(The following article on Beaver Island is reprinted from the Sept. 3 issue of the Los Angeles Times. David S. Broder is a national political correspondent for the Washington Post.

By DAVID S. BRODER

ST. JAMES, Mich. – It is back-to-school time here on Beaver Island, just as it is in the rest of the country, and at the tiny school across from Holy Cross Church, a crew of volunteers has been working with the sisters to scrub and paint the classrooms for the new year.

It took no great effort to line up the help, for on this lovely Lake Michigan Island, west of the Straits of Mackinac, where children and old people constitute most of the 250 souls remaining from a once-thriving fishing center, cooperation and improvisation are requisites for survival.

SCHOOL UNIQUE

The school itself is a unique hybrid. It is a public school, financed by public funds. But since few lay teachers could be persuaded in recent years to spend the long winters on this isolated island, the teaching is done by the nuns – which is fine with the largely Irish Catholic community, anyway.

The new school building, like the historical museum, the new medical center and the new dock, all represent the same mixture of public funds and private effort – signs of vitality in a community.

Beaver Island displays, in a microcosm, the qualities America must recover if it is to survive as a nation. In the past two weeks, this reporter has heard three intelligent and deeply concerned men – John Gardner of the Urban Coalition; Chancellor Alexander Heard of Vanderbilt University, President Nixon's adviser on campus problems, and Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine – talk about the crises of this nation.

All of them were saying the same thing: That America must rediscover its sense of community or fall victim to its internal divisions.

'CAUSE' LOST

From their differing perspectives, Gardner, Heard and Muskie see the universities, the cities and the nation all threatened by disillusion from within – not because the aims of their constituent members are in conflict, but because their sense of mutual purpose – what Gardner calls "common cause" – has been lost.

"Every American I have met," Muskie says, reflecting on his travels of the past year, "wants this to be a whole country and one with a place for him and his family. The difficulty is that we have grown so far apart, in every way, that what one man does to secure a place for himself strikes another as a threat to his own place – and so fear and disgust undermine the sense of wholeness that keeps us secure.

In the small society of Beaver Island, shared family ties, a shared religious faith and the fierce shared determination to survive create a spontaneous and overwhelming sense of community.

But most Americans have lost that sense of belonging to each other. This is one of those epochs which, as Alexis de Troqueville wrote, "Sometimes occur in the life of a nation, when the old customs of a people are changed, public morality is destroyed, religious belief shaken and the spell of tradition broken, while the diffusion of knowledge is yet imperfect the civil rights of the community are ill-secured or confined within narrow limits.

LAND DESPISED

"The country then assumes a dim and dubious shape in the eyes of the citizens," De Toqueville said. "They no longer behold it as the soil which they inhabit, for that soil is to them an inanimate clod; nor in the usages of their forefathhers, which they have learned to regard as a debasing yoke; nor in religion, for of that they doubt; nor in the laws, which do not originate in their own authority; nor in the legislator, whom they fear and despise. The country is lost to their senses . . . and they retire into a narrow and unenlightened selfishness."

Charlevoix Goes Formal for First Autumn Ball

WHITE JACKETED busboys Paul Osterberg (left) and Chuck Metzger of Charlevoix manned the hors d'ouevres table at the Belvedere Casino.

CORSAGES for the ladies were included in the price of a ticket to the Autumn Ball, held Saturday night at the Belvedere Casino. From left are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oestrike, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Themm and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bartlett.

It was a night many Charlevoixans will long remember.

The women in their long formals and stylish pant suits.

The spacious Belvedere Casino with its polished hardwood floors and roaring fireplace.

A sumptious prime rib dinner catered by the Weathervane Inn.

And dancing until the wee hours to the music of the Epsilon Dance Band.

The occasion was Charlevoix's first "Autumn Ball" Saturday, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Eighty couples attended.

Next year, Chamber of Commerce Manager Dick Oestrike expects a sell-out.

It was a night many Charlevoixans will long remember.

Stamps Needed To Support 2 Youth Projects

The Charlevoix Women's Club is spearheading a drive to collect trading stamps to be used in two state and national projects to benefit young people.

The first project is sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the goal is to collect 5,000 books of S&H green stamps. The Sperry-Hutchinson Co. will redeem the stamps for $10,000, which will be used to disseminate information about the dangers of drug abuse to young people.

The American Medical Association has contributed $15,000 toward the project.

All other trading stamps collected will be used to buy appliances, linens and other furnishings and equipment for a new residence hall, Loch Rio, for emotionally disturbed girls at Belleville, Mich. Loch Rio is supported by the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs.

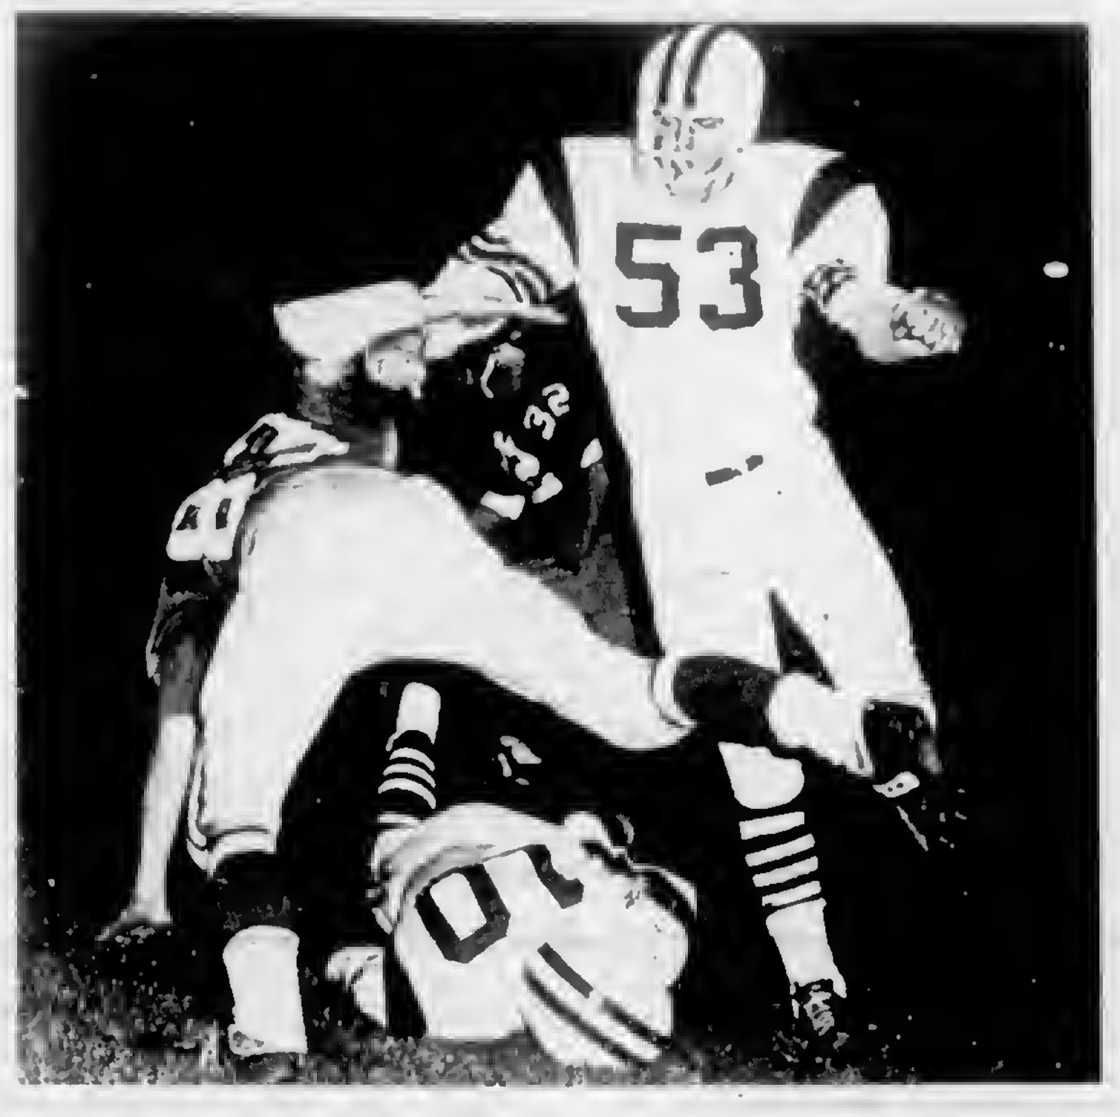
Red Rayders Tie Gladiators



DAVE SWANSON, a 200-pound tackle, topples the opposition for the Rayders in Friday's game with Traverse City St. Francis. Hitting the turf is Rayder halfback Larry Potter.

TC Team Scores High in Penalties

The Red Rayders kept their No. 3 slot in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, wrestling to a 6-6 deadlock with Traverse City St. Francis at Kipke Field.

During the game the Gladiators chalked up 155 yards in penalties, compared to 45 for Charlevoix.

The game leaves the Rayders with three wins, one loss and two ties, trailing Rogers City with a 5-0-1 record and Boyne City with a 4-1-1 record.

Most of Traverse City's infractions came in the first period, for a total of 125 yards lost. After the half, the Gladiators settled down, losing only 30 yards more because of penalties.

After a scoreless first period, Charlevoix hit paydirt on a 10-yard pass from Tim Carey to Bill Carey, but the conversion point was lost.

St. Francis took the kick-off, plowing down to the Charlevoix 20 where Pat Reay passed to Randy Ogden in the end-zone, deadlocking the game at 6-up. The conversion point also was missed.

The second half of the game was scoreless, as threat after threat was short-circuited by the opposition.

The Rayders have an open week, but will play at Boyne City Nov. 6 and will meet St. Ignace at Charlevoix Nov. 13. The St. Ignace game was approved by the state Board of Education last week. There had been a question of the legality of the late-season game between Upper and Lower Peninsula teams.

Club Wants Big Turnout

A non-partisan "get out the vote" campaign will be conducted on election day, Nov. 3, by members of the Charlevoix Women's Club.

All voters in the Charlevoix area will be contacted by telephone and reminded to vote. Club members will be available to drive voters to the polls if they lack transportation.

The aim of the campaign is to bring out a record vote in a non-Presidential election. Mrs. Lynn Poerter is chairman.

Ironton

Mrs. Ross Alexander
547-9878

TUESDAY was an eventful day in the history of Ironton as the 80-year-old store building was moved to its new location near Kemps corner. Some trees had to be trimmed on the school hill. With the help of Consumers and Michigan Bell, it was a smooth trip all the way. Nearly everyone was out and many pictures were taken. This one shows the building moving around the corner on old-M66, with the William Bird barn in the background.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rauscher and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pawolski of Parma, Ohio, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner. While here they enjoyed some fishing and also the beautiful fall color and local scenery.

The Ladies Fellowship met at the church Monday evening and plans were made for their annual cookie sale to be held in the church dining room Nov. 8.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilhite of Kalkaska were guests Sunday at the home of Glen and Ada Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Friend of Petoskey were guests Sunday afternoon of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Alexander.

Sonny Williams had a close call this Wednesday when the heavy roller equipment that he was operationg went out of control on the Brock Hill on Ferry-ave. and rolled over in the ditch. Sunny suffered severe bruises on his legs but no broken bones. He was taken to the hospital for treatment and observation returning home that afternoon.

'Problems' Class at Ellsworth

By Anne Osterbaan

Ellsworth teacher Jack Gebott explained the range of subjects covered by his new Current Problems Class at the October meeting of the board of education.

Gebott said the class will discuss drug abuse, inner-city social problems, vocations and recognizing and improving the individual student's self-image.

Board President Richard Strong and Principal William Vescoiani discussed a new elementary reading program which was approved by the board. It will be started as soon as materials arrive.

Strong said he would make recommendations at the November meeting to improve the library.

The board approved having a Student Council member sit in on meetings of the Athletic Council with coaches, administrators and two board members.

How Courier Votes On State Proposals

On the three state proposals on the general election ballot Nov. 3, the Courier recommends:

--A "NO" vote on the $100 million bond issue for low income housing;

--A "YES" vote on lowering the voting age to 18;

--And a "NO" vote on the parochiaid issue.

The language of Proposal A (low income housing) is so strongly weighted in favor of a "yes" vote that the issue is immediately suspect. Of course we want "decent, safe and sanitary" housing and of course we are against "slums and blight" but such language certainly has no place on a proposal ballot.

Wording aside, we have no guarantee than one penny of the money will be spent in northern Michigan. We strongly suspect that the big cities will be the chief beneficiaries.

On Proposal B (lowering the vote age to 18), we recommend a "yes" vote because we can think of no better way of closing the so-called generation gap. If the nation sees fit to draft a fellow at 18, the least it can do is give him a voice in running his country.

Watch out for the language on Proposal C (parochiaid). A "yes" vote means you are against state aid to private schools. A "no" vote means you like things the way they are, including the $22 million the Legislature approved this year to subsidize the salaries of lay teachers in parochial schools.

A "yes" vote would automatically eliminate many of the services already provided by the state for students in parochial schools, such as speech correction, aid for the hard-of-hearing, diagnostic services and other services which are routinely provided all youngsters, regardless of which school they attend. It also would preclude payment of any state monies directly to private schools.

The amendment is too all-encompassing to win our support, as much as we agree with the time-honored concept of church-state separation.

We urge a "no" vote in hopes the issue will come up again as something other than an "all or nothing" proposition.

New Engine ?

October 15, 1970

Charlevoix County Road Commission
Boyne City, Michigan
Gentlemen:

While riding on the Ironton Ferry several weeks ago, we were concerned about the noxious pollution emitted by a defective, old engine being operated on the ferry.

We made inquiry of the pilot who informed us that the engine has been defective for a considerable period of time, but no one will provide the funds to get a motor to end the air pollution.

We are sending a copy of this letter to the Charlevoix Courier in the hopes that someone will make the effort to provide the Ferry with a properly functioning engine.

Sincerely,

Vietnam GI Challenges John Birchers' Honesty

October 13, 1970

Letters to the Editor
The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan
Editor:

In noting that no one has yet responded to candidate Friske's challenge printed in a daily in your area "to prove anything stated by the John Birch Society to be false", I feel a sense of duty to respond.

I call to the attention of your readers the July 10, 1970 front page story of the New York Times. In this report, the highly authoritative Times covers a number of slogans and quotations popular among ultra-right publications particularly the notorious Communist "Rules for Revolution." Many of you are probably aware of these "rules" calling for the corrupting of the young by stressing sex to the exclusion of moral virtues, fomenting disorder and dissatisfaction with government, legislating gun control and seizing power.

In their report, the Times wrote the "rules" "appear to be one of the more durable frauds popular among the far right and anti-Communist organizations, similar in purpose, to misquotations of Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev by ultraconservatives and of Hitler by the radical left."

The news story continued that "each reproduction of the 'rules' says they were captured from Communists by allied officers in May, 1919, in Dusseldorf, Germany. Never are names or addresses given. The National Archives, the Library of Congress and the libraries of the nation's universities have no copy or trace of the 'document' ".

The Times story added that the Birch Society magazine, American Opinion (from which Mr. Friske appears heavily dependent) linked the country's sexual revolution to the "rules".

The Times quoted an authoritative source, John H. George, political science teacher at Central State College in Edmunt, Okla. who has made a study of misquotations by extremists, as describing the "rules" to be a "forgery".

Mr. George, the Times story related, told how he once tested the misquotation tendency of ultra-right to see whether it would be used without checking. Probably this one most Courier readers have seen. It goes, "We cannot expect the Americans to jump from capitalism to Communism, but we can assist their elected leaders in giving them small doses of socialism until they suddenly awake to find they have Communism." The result was that "its use among rightwing pamphlet and book writers continues to be as great as ever despite futile searches by the FBI, CIA, and Library of Congress to find any source for it."

The Times story reported that even more popular among ultraconservatives is one attributed to Lenin: "First we will take Eastern Europe, next the masses of Asia, then we will circle that last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack it; it will fall like an overripe fruit into our hands." Mr. George said a search by scholars at Stanford University of Lenin's complete works in Russian produced no such quotation, and that a Library of Congress search similarly found nothing resembling it.

The July 10 Times story with which I make reference also said a quote printed in American Opinion, the Birch magazine, quotes Lenin in saying in 1923: "We must secure the goodwill of teachers and professors in schools and universities, of liberal ministers of religion and of the pacifist and reformers of the world in order to create a mental barrage in the minds of capitalist youth which shall forever bar them from

Editor, Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Mr. Clock:

I would like to have you print this letter in "Our Readers Sound Off" column in the October 28, 1970 edition of the Charlevoix Courier. Further, I would like this printed at no cost whatsoever to me and this is not to be paid for by any other person.

I contend that the caption which you attached to my letter which was printed in the October 21st, 1970 edition of the Courier was misleading and illegal. You stated to me that you took the copy of my letter from another newspaper in the county. This is not entirely true because you replaced the caption which appeared in the other paper with one which was intended to suit your own political motives. You did this without my knowledge or permission which I claim you had no right to do.

Also, what authority did you have to allow Harold E. Kohn to pay for having my letter published? Just what was your intention-and his? In addition to being illegal it was certainly, in my opinion, most unprofessional and improper.

It seems to me that you have gone too far this time with your unprofessional practices. Consequently, I am obtaining legal counsel to investigate every facet of this matter and shall take the necessary steps in order to bring about the proper justice to which; in my opinion, I am entitled.

Yours truly,
Marguerite Makel

A 'Yes' Vote on Bonds Will Help Save Lakes

If 1970 is remembered for no other reason, it will certainly go down in the history books as the year Americans woke up to the fact that their environment is in grave danger of being contaminated beyond hope of recovery.

And it is significant that in the general election of 1970, residents of Charlevoix will be asked to take a giant step toward preserving our most precious natural resource -- the waters of Round Lake, Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan.

A city proposal on the Nov. 3 ballot will ask residents to approve a $700,000 bond issue for construction of a tertiary sewage treatment plant which will return only pure, drinkable water to Lake Michigan.

The present primary treatment plant is simply not up to the job. Thousands of gallons of nutrient-laden water is pumped into Pine River Channel every day, fertilizing water plants and encouraging the growth of algae. Increased plant growth is the first sign that a body of water is beginning to die.

But it is not too late to reverse the process and construction of the proposed sewage treatment plant is a big part of the answer.

Of course, the $700,000 is only part of the cost. The state and federal governments are pledged to contribute the remainder of the estimated $1.5 million project -- if we act now.

If we fail to approve the general obligation bonds, the state and federal grants probably will have to be renegotiated with uncertain results.

And if the city is forced to complete the project with revenue bonds, we can expect to pay a great deal more in interest, since general obligations bonds -- with the full faith and credit of the city of Charlevoix behind them -- can usually be sold at a lower interest rate.

Although $700,000 seems like a lot of money, the cost to individual Charlevoix property owners will be minimal. If your property is assessed at $6,000, you can expect to pay an addition $3 a month -- or $36 a year -- in city taxes.

The Courier earnestly encourages a "yes" vote on the sewage plant bond issue. We look forward to the day when the water of Round Lake will once again be clean enough for swimming.

Ball Field No Place For Foul Language

A high school football playing field is no place for the kind of vulgar language overheard Friday night by the Courier photographer and other Charlevoixans who happened to be on the Traverse City St. Francis side of Kipke Field.

It came not only from the coaching staff -- which is bad enough -- but also from a number of out-of-town sports boosters who lined the fence.

And it was directed at players on both teams and at game officials.

By the half, the mood on the Traverse City side of the field had become so ugly that officials asked to have a police officer in attendance.

Frankly, we had expected something better from the faculty and supporters of a school devoted to the teaching of religious principles.

Excitement naturally runs high during a hard-fought football contest such as the Charlevoix-St. Francis game.

But no game is so important that it should give rise to verbal abuse of players and officials.

Such unsportsmanlike behavior not only reflects adversely on Traverse City St. Francis but will damage the image of entire Michigan-Huron Shores Conference if it is allowed to continue.

How to Vote A Write-In

It is possible to write-in a candidate for elective office whether you use a machine or paper ballot.

In machine precincts, voters should look for the appropriate number of the office for which they would like to write-in an unlisted candidate.

On the top of the machine, they will find a diagonal slot with the same number. Lifting a metal tab will expose a roll of paper on which they can pencil in the name of their candidate.

Then they should proceed to vote as they normally would.

On paper ballots, voters should simply cross out the name of the candidate they do not wish to vote for and write-in the name of their choice, making sure to place an "X" in the box to the left.

If a voter runs into trouble, he should ask a member of his election board for assistance. Machine voters are reminded not to pull back the curtain lever until they have finished voting.

PROPOSAL C WOULD REPEAL SERVICES such as remedial reading, speech therapy, counseling for the physically and emotionally handicapped, and others shown in photos, now being received by 274,000 students in Michigan's non-public schools. Walker L. Cisler, Chairman of the Board of The Detroit Edison Company and Chairman of Michigan Citizens Against Proposal C, said the proposed amendment "would deprive thousands of children of needed health, educational and welfare services so essential to sound education." He said passage of Proposal C would also jeopardize $60 million in federal funds for educationally deprived children, including educational aids such as those shown in photo at lower left. He urged Michigan citizens to vote "No" on Proposal C on November 3.

Clockwise

Law Has My Vote

By BOB CLOCK

Although election day fast approaching, I suspect that a good many northern Michigan residents are still deep in the throes of soul-searching as they weigh the merits of one candidate against those of another.

Such is not always the case this close to election, but has been an unusual year in the 106th District. The sharp lines which once defined party affiliations have been almost obliterated.

A serious split has developed in the Republican Party over the nomination of Richard Friske, a leader of the John Birch Society, for the House of Representatives. Many lifelong Republicans have assured me that they would have voted for Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City if Glenn Law jr. of St. Ignace had not announced his candidacy as a GOP write-in. Now they intend to vote for Law.

The Democrats also have suffered a split of sorts, but it is not so noticeable. Many Democrats I know would like to vote for Johnson, but they fear the major race will be between Friske and Law, and, fearing a Friske victory, have decided to give their support to Law.

Other Democrats are hoping that the two-way race on the Republican ticket has so severely split the GOP that Johnson has a good chance of winning and they are doubling their efforts on his behalf.

Predictions are a dime a dozen and they're worth just about that much.

It is no secret that Clockwise is in the Law corner. It is also no secret that I am one of those renegade Republicans who would have voted for Johnson if Law had not agreed to run.

But I am not a starry-eyed idealist who believes we have a political knight in shining armor in Glenn Law jr. Like his GOP opponent Richard Friske, Law is a political greenhorn. Neither man had run for political office of any kind until the August primary.

Judging from his remarks at the First State Bank last Thursday night, Law certainly doesn't have all the answers and his knowledge on certain issues, such as gun control legislation and disbursement of recreation bond money, is sketchy at best.

Furthermore, his stand on abortion reform leaves me befuddled. He is against it personally, however he says he will vote the way his constituents want him to vote. Either because of his youth or his political immaturity, Law has taken an impossible stand on this particular issue. He should know that it is impossible to please all of the people all of the time, even if there were some accurate way to determine what would please them.

I would prefer a legislator who is willing to stick with his own convictions on the so-called "gut issues", whether I agree with him or not. And I suspect, in time, that Law will become this kind of representative. I, for one, wouldn't want him to have to live with a decision which goes against his conscience.

Because of his Catholic upbringing, Law is attempting to be "a nice guy" on abortion reform, without realizing that many of his Protestant supporters, including Clockwise, have some grave misgivings about changes in Michigan's present abortion laws.

Of course, there is far more on the credit side of the Law ledger than on the debit side.

As a pharmacist, Law is one the inside track insofar as knowledge of drugs--and their abuse--is concerned. Long before he decided to run for the Legislature, Law covered the area talking to young people on the dangers of drug abuse. He even has donated, out of his own funds, a film on drug abuse to the Charlevoix-Emmet intermediate School District library.

As a druggist, he also is far better acquainted than the average run-of-the-orchard apple grower with legislation relative to Medicare and Medicaid, and his counsel in Lansing will be invaluable.

One of the most appealing recommendations he made at last week's meeting in Charlevoix was the establishment of "ethics" courses in Michigan schools.

Until now, the teaching of ethics and moral values was left pretty much to the home and the church. But our skyrocketing crime rate indicates that both institutions have fallen down very badly on the job.

Complicating the problem is the fact that even many adults today have difficulty discerning between what is ethically "right" and ethically "wrong" in their dealings with their fellow men.

And making the situation even more difficult is a growing belief in America that the whole issue of ethics is up for grabs, that there are no longer any absolutes relative to moral conduct.

I believe Law's proposed ethics courses have a great deal of merit, possibly involving a study of comparative religions, folkways, mores, history, government and sociology. And I can envision the lively discussions they will engender in the classroom, if handled property.

I also favor Law's suggestion that fraternal organizations establish junior chapters involving young people, rather than merely giving lip-service to the problems of youth.

Glenn Law's most salient characteristics are his sincerity and honesty. He is not brash in offering solutions to problems he himself does not fully understand.

But he demonstrated his ability during the write-in campaign to work hard and learn as he goes along.

As a Republican, I am grateful Law has given me a choice when I go the the polls next Tuesday. And I wish him well.

Wash That Window

By JIM FITZGERALD

One way to leave your wife speechless is to rob her of the stuff from which she fashions her most frequent speeches.

(One thing about reading this column, you don't have to read Ann Landers.)

For 15 years, my wife Pat made the same speech about the picture window in our family room.

"That window has never been washed on the outside and your mother is coming this weekend," she would say.

Or: "That window has never been washed on the outside and it's Christmas."

Or: "That window has never been washed on the outside and the sun is shining."

And on and on and on.

My first suggestion, made about 1955, was that she go outside and wash it herself. But Pat said there was a huge storm window that had to be taken down before the window could be washed on the outside. And no woman could lift that storm window.

Five years later I happened to be passing through the backyard on my way to the poolroom. I looked at the storm window and noticed it was screwed to the house with those funny screws that have +'s on their heads, instead of -'s.

The next time I saw Pat I explained to her that our screwdriver was for-screws, not +'s. She tried to tell me it didn't make any difference but I knew better. "If God had wanted–screwdrivers to go into + screws He wouldn't have made + screwdrivers," I said.

The next Christmas my rotten kids gave me a + screwdriver.

Ten years later I happened again to be in the backyard, having taken a wrong turn on my way to Detroit. My wife threw the + screwdriver out the back door and then quickly locked it. She had already locked the front and side doors, I found out.

So I graciously took down the lousy storm window and hollered at Pat to bring out her cruddy soap and water and wash the stupid glass before I stuck my gracious foot through it.

So the task was finally accomplished. And I have never seen my wife so happy.

That night we cancelled plans to fly to Monte Carlo to dine with the Rainiers. Instead, we sat home and looked out the window.

Two weeks later, Pat was still pulling strangers in off the street "Look at the window," she told them.

The paperboy thinks she is nuts. She wouldn't pay him until he finally guessed "what looks different in this room?"

When the weather is nice, she watches TV from outside, sitting on top a stepladder, a peeping Pat. The kids communicate with her by semaphore, closing and opening the drapes.

But the biggest change in our domestic life is the conversation gap. Now that she no longer complains about that dirty window, she can't think of a thing to say to me.

Which leaves me plenty of time to ponder about how delicious it would have been if, after 15 years, it had turned out the dirt was on the inside.

But Onward and Upward.

'Kids Wearing Masks Are Not Communists'

October 15, 1970

The Charlevoix Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan

Dear Editor:

With the approach of Halloween, also designated in the U.S. as National UNICEF Day by a 1967 Presidential Proclamation, I feel something must be done to counteract the anti-UNICEF propaganda being circulated by the John Birch Society.

The JBS Bulletin for August, 1970, devotes seven pages to their ongoing project to get the U.S. out of the U.N. This bulletin is concerned in particular with the United Nations Children's Fund. Seven specific charges are made, linking UNICEF with communism-followed by equally specific instructions to JBS members regarding an anti-UNICEF letter-writing campaign.

One of the statements made in the August JBS Bulletin (p 22) refers to "negotiations being carried on by UNICEF to start making gifts to the Communist government of North Vietnam. The first allocation was to be $200,000. About half of this gift would have been American money. Which meant that nickles collected by American children in the UNICEF 'trick or treat' Halloween canvass, and dollars obtained by UNICEF from the sale of their greeting cards in American post offices, would have formed part of the sum contributed to our enemies in Hanoi to help them to kill American soldiers on the battlefields of Asia."

The following statement is taken from a reprint of the Congressional Record which contains a speech made by the Honorable Charles H. Percy in the Senate of the U.S. on Aug. 3, 1970. Sen. Percy has this to say about UNICEF aid to Vietnam:

"At its April, 1970 session, the UNICEF Executive Board authorized the acceptance of $200,000 in funds-in-trust contributed by the governments of the Netherlands and Switzerland to provide clothing for needy children of North Vietnam...It should be noted-especially that the funds for this project are a special purpose gift. No U.S. contributions are involved."

So...if a small, masked individual comes to your door on the evening of Oct. 31 to ask you to contribute to UNICEF go ahead and give generously. He may be wearing a disguise-but I'm sure he's not a communist agent!

Ruppe Hails GOP On POW Stand

At a Republican fund raising dinner in Petoskey Saturday night Congressman Philip E. Ruppe spoke out on the Republican party's united effort to obtain fair treatment and release of our prisoners-of-war.

The Congressman praised senator Robert Griffin, the evenings principal speaker, for "being one of the first men in public life to call the attention of the world to the plight of our POW's held in North Vietnam." Ruppe noted that Griffin personally organized a "Tell It To Hanoi" letter-writing campaign that received national support.

"The Republican Party can be proud," Ruppe said, "of our responsible stand on the prisoner-of-war issue. It is in sharp contrast to the platform of our opposition in Michigan which seems to be chiefly concerned with amnesty for those who duck their military obligations and flee to Canada."

"Frankly, our party is more concerned with those who have met their obligations. We are concerned that our prisoners-of-war held in North Vietnam receive fair treatment under the Geneva Conventions, and that the President's offer for a prisoner exchange be seriously negotiated in Paris. We are concerned that the War in Asia be brought to a lasting conclusion, and that those hundreds of thousands of young men who have worn their country's uniform without complaint be welcomed home like the heroes they are.

"I say let's let the hippies and the draft card burners take care of themselves. The obligation of a major political party should be first to our men in uniform," Ruppe said.

National Geographic Feature

Office seekers by the thousands are swarming over the land in this election year, shaking hands with the man in the street and the woman in the supermarkets.

His right hand may throb at day's end, but so far no politician has matched President Theodore Roosevelt who shook 8,513 hands at a White House New Year's reception.

Outside public life, aspirants to the handshaking crown claim to have clasped as many as 13,000 hands in one day. Purists question these feats, however, because the shaker often gets the same shakee repeatedly.

SIGN OF PEACE

Though the friendly handshake is a political and social institution of great antiquity, no one knows exactly how or where it began, the National Geographic Society says.

The best-known explanation is that the right hand traditionally holds weapons, so in the dim past an extended empty right hand showed peaceful intent. Another theory suggests that people got into the habit of clasping right hands as a sign of assistance.

In Babylon, the leading politician had to shake at least one hand a year. During the new year festival, custom required the king to grasp the hands of the image of Marduk to signify he received his authority directly from that deity.

AS IN ROME

Romans clasped hands in court as a sign of agreement, peace, or friendship. This became the Christian practice of extending the right hand of fellowship.

The handshake traveled with western culture. It even affected the customs of American Indians, who had greeted friends with various gestures, including blowing in one another's ears.

SCIENTIST ANNOYED

In the 1880 annual report of the Smithsonian Institution's Bureau of Ethnology, Garrick Mallery noted rather testily: "The senseless and inconvenient custom of shaking hands, is, indeed, by no means general throughout the world, and in the extent to which it prevails in the United States is the subject of ridicule by foreigners."

Central Europeans may be today's greatest handshakers. Many office and factory workers customarily shake the hands of all fellow employees daily both arriving on the job and departing for home.

Greetings in other parts of the world range from weeping to kissing.

The Ainu people of Japan make guests feel welcome by rubbing their own palms together. Andaman Islanders blow into one another's hands.

Many primitive peoples indulge in ceremonial crouching and weeping. Australian aborigines meet with loud lamentation to commemorate friends who have died since the last encounter.

The ceremonial kiss has declined in recent centuries. The Dutch scholar Erasmus, who died in 1536, said a really wellmannered caller kissed his host, hostess, all the children, and the dog and cat.

The custom survives, perhaps, in the predilection of candidates for kissing babies.

participating in a carnal conflict with the Communist order." Mr. George said the Library of Congress could find no such statement in the works of Lenin. The Times Story reported the political scientist "said his research had turned up 23 "fake quotes" enjoying currency on the far right."

Interestingly, the Times story reported the political left has also to have employed fabricated quotations. One attributed to Hitler in 1923 says: "The streets of our country are in turmoil. The universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting. Communists are seeking to destroy our country. Russia is threatening us with her might. The Republic is in danger. We need law and order." The Times said the quotation has been employed for more than a year, especially by underground newspapers and reported "as recently as last month it was used by a student speaker at the commencement of Mills College in Oakland, Calif." A check, the Times said, in compilations of Hitler quotations and speeches produce nothing similar.

I feel that with the above, Mr. Friske's challenge has been more than adequately met. I sincerely hope the events of the past few months haven't eroded the 106th District's confidence in the area Republican party organization. It is a party of vitality, strength, and dynamism and open to all of all viewpoints. I urge all to vote and work for the candidate of their choice, be it write-in, or otherwise.

In closing, I'd like to say the criticality of this election is cause for concern, even for those on the other side of the world. It isn't unusual for the men in my unit to receive small arms fire while on night guard, but when we do we try to keep our cool, all I ask is that the voters of the 106th do the same.

P.S. We G.I.'s in Vietnam do like to get mail. For those who would like to "send news from home-I promise them a newsy return." My address: 219th Military Intelligence / II Field Forces APO 96266 / San Francisco, Calif.

Are people your problem?

Is the world becoming too crowded for you? Almost wherever you go today, you find people. This sometimes results in problems — for you as well as for others. What's the solution?

It's certainly not avoiding people — even if you could. But you can avoid having problems with them! The key to solving people-to-people problems is understanding what people really are. The Bible reveals man as having a spiritual nature. How this can help you in your relations with others will be discussed by Thomas O. Poyser, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. His lecture is entitled "Are People Your Problem?"

Come and bring your neighbor. Admission is free.

Mrs. Law Answers Critic

Oct. 16, 1970

To the Editor:

As the wife of the write-in candidate, I have hesitated to become verbally involved. However, I now feel that this is a mistake that too many of us are guilty of...not getting involved. Therefore, in answer to Mrs. Makel's letter of Oct. 15—

I would hope that her play on our basic human feelings for our children will not blind us to the true issues. I have four children, and what we owe them is the chance to grow up in a society where a citizen has a chance to be heard. If you have attended meetings where all the candidates have been present, I think you will find it difficult to explain Mr. Friske's tactics. The citizens questions are tossed from one John Bircher to another in the audience, and the answer is usually in the form that will cast a shadow on someone else, the true meaning of which is lost in a charade of yelling, pacing, finger pointing, and "amening". The citizens beg to be heard, only to be verbally slapped in the face by the hecklers who twist and turn words.

Let us not lose sight of who has the shadow that needs explaining. It all comes back to the question of whether or not we want a man who refers to the John Birch Society Blue Book as his Bible, as our voice in Lansing, or anywhere else, for that matter. If our young people "are watching and yearning for good leaders" how can they "respect and admire" a man who takes his group of actors to each meeting with him? If, on the other hand, his claim is true—that he doesn't know they will be there—it shows how little control he has over the J.B.S. people, and makes our hope for unbiased representation even dimmer.

Therefore, I feel that Mrs. Makel's references to "dirty politics", "low frame-up," and "fair play" were misdirected.

Yes, "our children are watching us" and to me this is a strong reason for defeating Mr. Friske on Nov. 3.

Thank you,
Joan Marie Law
121 Fitch St.
St. Ignace, Mich.

P.S. To the Friske-ite demolition crew-as you prepare your destruction of my character, please bear in mind:

1. I am a Christian person.
2. I hate no one.
3. I am mentally stable.
4. I did not get a raise in my allowance for writing this.
5. I am all for Motherhood.
6. I am definitely not a Communist, and
7. The strongest drink I have in an average day is white milk!

Pensioners Will Get VA Forms

More than 34,000 Michigan Veterans and dependents who receive monthly VA pension checks will receive income questionnaires with their Nov. 1 checks, according to Bob Wasoski, Charlevoix County veterans counselor.

Wasoski said 1971 pension payments will be based on information submitted by the recipients. He urged prompt respoonse to the questionnaire as payments will be withheld unless the form is completed and returned by Jan. 15.

VA pension payments go to veterans totally and permanently disabled by injury or illness not connected with military service. Widows and children of deceased veterans may also be eligible for such pensions if they meet certain income limitations.

Parents of deceased veterans who received dependency and indemnity compensation payments also are required to fill out and return the questionnaire.

Pension payments, unlike service connected compensation, are based on the amount of income a recipient receives from other sources. The income questionnaire requests information on the amount of income the beneficiary received in 1970 and the amount anticipated in 1971.

Wasoski emphasized that failure to return the questionnaire could not only cause pension payments to cease, but could result in a refund of payments received during 1970.

Pensioners needing assistance in completing the forms may contact the VA office nearest them. Charlevoix area residents should contact Wasoski. In Boyne City, the VA counselor if John Studer and in East Jordan Bill Bennett.

KLEVORN
For District Probate Judge
Serving Charlevoix-Emmet Counties

...the Seventh Probate District which includes Emmet and Charlevoix Counties. Klevorn presently serves as city attorney of East Jordan, village attorney of Boyne Falls, secretary of the Twin Valley School District and is a member of the Charlevoix County Special Elections Committee.

Born in Grand Rapids, Klevorn attended grade and high school in Charlotte, Lansing Business University, Bryant & Stratton College in Chicago and earned his law degree at the Detroit College of Law.

He is married, has three children and has been a resident of Charlevoix County since 1961.

Klevorn is a past president of the Emmet-Charlevoix Bar Association, a member of the Michigan State Bar Crime Prevention Commission, the Probate Section of the State Bar and the American Judicature Society. He is a member of BPOE No 629 of Petoskey, a 32 degree Mason, Shriner, has been active in Little League, service clubs and numerous fraternal organizations including the Emmet-Charlevoix Law Enforcement Association.

In announcing his candidacy, Klevorn stated he well recognized the challenge of the seventies in the field of probate code review, the responsibility of handling the rapidly changing field of law in juvenile courts and the necessity of giving a new look to this phase of the law which affects the family and financial affairs of so many people.

Medusa Income Down

Although billings to customers were up more than $3 million, Medusa Portland Cement Co. experienced a 16 percent drop in net income during the third quarter, according to the company's financial report.

Billings to customers, less discounts, totaled $26,307,000 for the quarter ending Sept. 30, compared to billings of $23,187,000 for the same period last year, an increase of 13 percent.

However income before taxes came to $3,022,000 for 1970, compared to $3,867,000 in 1969, a drop of 22 percent. Net income dropped from $2,412,000 to $2,023,000, a decrease of 16 percent.

Earnings per share dropped from $1.33 to $1.

The third quarter report, however, is considerably brighter than the picture for the entire first nine months of 1970.

Since the first of the year, billings to customers, less discounts, showed an increase of only five percent, with income before taxes down 47 percent, net income down 42 percent and earnings per share down from $1.61 to 84 cents.

"In the third quarter, cement shipments were below expectations because of continued strikes against customers and cement truckers," Medusa Board Chairman Ellery Sedgwick jr. and President Robert W. Fort reported to stockholders.

"The decline in unit volume was tempered by better equalized prices so cement billings were off only eight percent. After inclusion of newly acquired businesses, total billings were up 13 percent. Despite efforts at control, costs of operation rose much faster than output. Thus, profit per share declined 25 percent from the all-time high recorded last year," they continued.

Phone Bills Jump 40¢ a Month

The Public Service Commission (PSC) of the Michigan Department of Commerce has approved new rate schedules for Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

The new rates, which went into effect on Oct. 20, will produce $14.8 million annually in additional revenue. Michigan Bell serves 2.4 million customers in 76 counties.

Approval of the new rate schedule means that the average Michigan Bell subscriber in the Charlevoix area will pay 40 cents more a month for telephone service.

The PSC approved Michigan Bell's request for a rate increase on Aug. 31 and directed it to submit revised tariff schedules to accomplish the increase.

PSC Chairman Willis F. Ward of Detroit said slightly more than $9.7 million in additional revenue will be produced by increases in business and residential telephone service.

Business telephone rates throughout the state will be increased by $5,363,000 annually while residential customers will pay an additional $4,354,000 annually.

The balance of the rate increase--slightly less than $5.1 million--will come from increases in service connection charges, toll calls made to points within Michigan and miscellaneous services.

The average residential customer in Detroit will pay six cents more per month for telephone service under the new rates. Residential customers in Detroit suburban zones will be increased an average of 35 cents a month while outstate residential customers will pay an average of 40 cents more per month.

Residential rate increases will vary, however, depending on the number of telephones in the exchange in which the person lives and the type of equipment the customer has.

Persons with one-party service who live in exchanges that have less than 120,000 main telephones–and this includes most of outstate Michigan–will pay 40 cents per month more for telephone service.

Rates in exchanges that have between 120,000 and 240,000 telephones–Grand Rapids, Flint, Lansing, Pontiac, and most suburban communities in the Detroit area–will be increased 15 cents per month for one-party residential service.

Business telephone rates throughout the state will be increased an average of $1.56 per month. In Detroit, the increase will average $2.03, Detroit suburban zones $1.56 and outstate areas, $1.12.

Ward said there will be major changes in rates for long distance calls made within Michigan.

Under the new tariffs, intrastate long distance calls will be charged on a per minute basis rather than a three, four or five minute minimum charge.

If a long-distance call within Michigan is direct dialed by the customer, there will be a 20 or 40 percent discount depending on the time of the call.

Under the new rates, there will be a 50 cents service charge for any person-to-person call made within the state that is completed in addition to the basic station rate and no discounts would apply.

The revised intrastate long-distance rates will produce an additional $1,879,000 in revenue annually.

Ward said the Commission approved major changes in rates charged for residence service connections and moves. Under the new rates, there will be a one-time charge of $8.80 for residence service connections, moves and changes made at one time on the same premises.

The $8.80 charge replaces a variety of rates Michigan Bell charged for installing telephones and other customer requested changes.

Uniform Marking System Adopted for County Roads

Michigan residents and tourists soon will benefit from a new, standardized county primary road marking system.

Adoption of the improved route numbering plan has been announced by Earl F. Rogers, engineer-director of the County Road Association of Michigan, following months of study.

The program features use of new maize and blue road signs with letters followed by two-digit numbers to identify the more than 25,000 miles of county roads in the state.

The unique numbering and lettering plan will enable tourists and commercial haulers in strange areas to quickly identify direction and general location of destinations. The program is expected to be specially helpful in resort areas and in many suburban areas where business plants are located on county roads.

Rogers said that the new county marking system is compatible with the state trunkline numbering plan and eventually will be incorporated on state highway maps and directional markers.

The basic plan provides for dividing the state into eight zones lettered from A to H. Charlevoix County and the surrounding area is in Zone "C." These zones are determined by major state and federal trunklines which form dividers.

Within each zone, two-digit numbers will designate continuous routes although each may cross several counties. In some cases, the route number may extend through one or more zones although the letter designation may change.

The numbering system will employ even numbers for East-West roads and odd numbers for North-South routes. Lower numbers, such as 01 and 02, etc., will start at the East or South boundaries and progressively increase to the 90 and 91 levels toward the West and North within each zone.

Thus, a traveler seeking to find A-28 could quickly determine that his destination is in the Southwestern Michigan area and that his route is an East-West road in the central part of that zone.

Development of the comprehensive route numbering plan puts Michigan counties in a leadership role. Several other state such as Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, and California have experimented with somewhat similar programs.

While engineering departments from Michigan's 83 county road commissions now have approved the new marking system, Rogers estimated it will require several years to make the plan completely effective. No estimates are available yet on the cost of re-signing the entire primary system but it is expected to be sufficiently costly that many counties will be obliged to tackle the problem gradually, spreading the cost and the pysical job of replacement over a period of several years. Rogers said he estimated it may cost as much as $15 to $20 per mile in rural areas to replace existing signs and the expense may be for greater in metropolitan areas where more markers per mile are required.

PTO Plans Discussion On Drugs

"Drug Abuse" will be the discussion topic at the next meeting of the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Nov. 4 at the Middle School cafeteria.

Films on drug abuse will be shown and materials relative to drugs will be on display.

From 8 until 8:30, refreshments will be served, including Stewart sandwiches which the Middle School and the High School are serving this year in place of the Class A lunch.

At 8:30 a panel discussion on "What We Need to Know About Drugs" will start, followed by a question and answer period. Members of the panel will be announced later.

Membership dues will be accepted at the meeting and copies of the year's program and the school calendar will be distributed.

The Middle School will be open at 7 p.m. on the night of the meeting to permit members to visit the newly refurbished classrooms.

about $8 a month in water and sewage rates. Revenue bonds usually demand a higher interest rate than general obligation bonds and are supported by a smaller base.

If the general obligation bonds are approved at the Nov. 3 election, the owner of a home with an assessed evaluation of $6,000 can expect to pay an additional $3 a month in city taxes.

Mayor William Fochtman hopes to spread the bond issue over a minimum 15 years rather than 20, which will save an estimated $150,000 in interest.

If the bonds are approved, construction bids will be asked in November to be returned by Dec. 7. The construction contract should be let by the end of the year. The Water Resources Commission has set Dec. 1, 1972, as the target date for completion.

In other business the council:

–Said it would study a request by Frank Boss to extend the city water main 321 feet to serve a proposed overnight camper park on the Lake Charlevoix shore below the trailer park.

–Turned down a request by the Michigan Municipal League that the city formally endorse state Proposal A for low income housing bonds.

–Approved a beer and wine takeout license for Brow Marina.

–Accepted a low bid by William Porter of East Jordan for laying water and sewer lines into Westwood Subdividion.

–Heard a report by City Superintendent Tom Hanna that it will cost an estimated $350 to refinish the walls and ceiling of the women's restroom in East Park which are covered with graffiti. He said the men's restroom has only one or two obscenities scratched on the walls.

–Received a request from Condit Drury to change the zoning on Stockman-ave. to permit construction of a duplex.

–OK'd extending a water main 100 feet down Robinson-st. at the request of Don Murphy.

–Approved payment of bills totaling $90,686.11, including transfers of approximately $57,000 from the general fund to the launching ramp fund.

Board

unable to take part during the regular school day.

Norman Probert will be in charge of an after-school wrestling program for students in the eighth through the eleventh grades. The program is being offered in preparation for eventual participation in the sport on n Varsity basis.

The three instructors are to be paid at the rate of $5.00 per hour with the success of the programs determining the length of the courses.

The appointment of Charles Shindorf as lead custodian at the high school was approved. With the added responsibility, his salary is to be increased from $2.00 to $2.50 an hour. The position of head custodian has not been filled.

Jerrold Redeker, president of the board, appointed two more members to the Professional Study Committee, Hal M. Hill and Richard Martin. Earlier he had named Supt. Robert L. Miller, Max Novak and Mrs. Robert Lieberman. Five members to represent the teachers will be named by their organization.

The appointment of a Library Advisory Board and the developing of a recruiting brochure were discussed briefly. The board advised that the administration carry through on both projects.

Judge Of Probate

There will be only one local race on non-partisan ballot in next Tuesday's general election.

Robert C. Klevorn of Boyne City opposes John T. Murphy of Petoskey as judge of probate in the newly created 7th Probate Court District, comprising Charlevoix and Emmet counties.

Voters in the two counties elected last year to combine the two districts under a single, full-time probate judge.

Under state law, candidates must be attorneys, but the winner will not be permitted to maintain a private law practice, as has been the case in the past.

A resident of Boyne City, Klevorn is East Jordan city attorney and a member of the Twin Valley Board of Education.

Murphy has been probate judge of Emmet County for several years.

represents 45 percent of the cost of the project, with the balance pledged by state and federal governments.

Wilson Township voters will be asked to approve a two-mill levy for road construction.

Bay Township also will ask voters to approve two mills for five years for roads.

In Hudson Township, the issue is "open range."

Hudson voters also will be asked to approve one mill to finance the construction of a new township hall.

In Marion Township, the township board is asking for two mills for five years for road improvement.

St. Marys to Host Gaylord Deanery

The women of St. Mary's parish will host the annual fall meeting of the Gaylord Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women here Wednesday, Oct. 28.

Site of the meeting will be the 111 room of the First State Bank where members from Boyne City, East Jordan, Mancelona, Bellaire, Elmira, Boyne Falls, Gaylord, St. James, Prudenville and Charlevoix will gather at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Marie Kent of Boyne City, president of the Gaylord Deanery, will preside at the meeting at which each parish will present reports.

Mrs. C.D. Geiken, program chairman, has arranged a program that will include music provided by members of the Charlevoix high school band and a talk on drugs by David Fowler.

Mrs. Elmer Gibson, president of the St. Mary's Altar Society, host to the meeting, has asked Mrs. Robert Trost and Mrs. Ralph Doan to serve as co-chairmen of the refreshment committee.

Assure — public funds for public schools
Maintain — the integrity of private and public school systems

He was a business machine repairman for the Michigan Central Railroad and continued to repair typewriters and other office equipment after moving to Charlevoix.

Mr. Annis is survived by his widow; one son, James jr., and two grandchildren.

PROPOSAL "C"

We, the teachers and administrators at Ellsworth Community School would like to inform the registered voters and other citizens of the Ellsworth School District about Proposal C on the November 3 ballot and the implications derived therefrom.

Initially, everyone should be aware of the wording of Proposal C. It states:

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO PROHIBIT PUBLIC AID TO NON-PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND STUDENTS

This amendment adds language to the constitution to:

(a) Prohibit use of public funds to aid any non-public elementary or secondary school;

(b) Prohibit use of public funds, except for transportation, to support the attendance of any students or the employment of any person at non-public schools or at any other location or institution where instruction is offered in whole or in part to non-public school students;

(c) Prohibit any payment, credit, tax benefit, exemption or deductions, tuition voucher, subsidy, grant or loan of public monies or property, directly or indirectly, for the above purposes.

A "YES" vote means that you DO NOT FAVOR the usage of public funds for non-public schools.

A "NO" vote means that you DO FAVOR the use of public funds for non-public schools.

We feel A YES vote WILL:

1. Make clear the constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state.
2. Assure that public funds will be used only to support public schools.
3. Protect every citizen's religious liberty, every citizen's right not to be forced to support any church or sectarian institution, not even his own.
4. Keep parochial and private schools free of government control.
5. Protect your pocketbook by preserving economy and efficiency in education. Two or more school systems cannot be run as cheaply as one.
6. Assure the continuation of public funds for transportation of ALL school children, public & non-public.

We feel A YES vote WILL NOT:

1. Face closure of all private and parochial schools. Most would continue to operate with private and parochial funds.
2. Deny parochial schools tax exemption status on real estate and personal property. These assure us are guaranteed in the Michigan Constitution (Article IX, Section 4). This principle was also upheld recently by the U.S. Supreme Court.
3. Deny private and parochial schools fire and police protection.
4. Deny non-public school children shared-time services.
5. Deny non-public school children intermediate district auxiliary services, such as speech correction, diagnostic service, social work service, etc.
6. Affect athletic contests between public and non-public high schools.

Whatever your feelings are on the proposal, we urge you to get out and vote.

Patti Sawtelle Killed In Accident in Florida

Brother, Sister Injured

Patti Sawtelle, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Sawtelle, formerly of Charlevoix, was killed instantly Friday in a head-on crash on a freeway in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., friends in Charlevoix have learned.

Vicki Sawtelle, 19, and Rick Sawtelle, 21, were injured seriously in the accident and are in a Ft. Lauderdale hospital.

Vicki sustained multiple fractures and Ricky suffered serious internal injuries. He was still unconscious Sunday night.

The Sawtelle's youngest son, Mike, was not a passenger in the car.

Patti and Mike reportedly were attending school in Ft. Lauderdale.

Word of the accident was received late Sunday by Mrs. Brian Seymour of Charlevoix, a close friend of the Sawtelles.

Mrs. Seymour says the senior Sawtelles were on the Caicos Islands at the time of the accident but flew immediately to Ft. Lauderdale. Sawtelle is engaged in a real estate development on the islands, several hundred miles off the Florida coast.

They are staying in Florida at the Stuart Loomis residence. Loomis is a former resident of Charlevoix.

The originator of "shipwreck furniture" made from the timbers of sunken sailing ships, Sawtelle and his family moved to Florida two years ago, but they have been frequent visitors in the area. In 1969, Patti Sawtelle spent the summer at the home of the Seymours.

Sawtelle designed and constructed the 'Tween Decks lounge at the Topside bar and remodeled the Weathervane Lounge with a shipwreck motif.

Two years ago, the Sawtelles operated the Treasure Cove marine museum aboard the former Coast Guard Cutter Aspen docked at Ironton.

Funeral arrangements for Miss Sawtelle were incomplete at press time.

STUDENTS BETH INMAN (left) and Donna Staley count ballots in school election last week. In the three-way House race, the students favored Democrat Peter C. Johnson, a graduate of Charlevoix High, over GOP orchardman Richard Friske and pharamcist Glenn Law jr.

Aldea G. Barber

Scout Chief To Speak at TC Meeting

Alden G. Barber, chief U.S. Scout executive, will be main speaker at the annual meeting of Scenic Trails Council, Boy Scouts of America, scheduled Nov. 11 at the Park Place Motor Inn in Traverse City.

Barber, who became chief Scout executive Oct. 1, 1967, heads the largest youth organization in the world. More than 4½ million boys and 1½ million adults are involved in the Scouting movement.

Barber is the principal architect of "Boypower '76" a long-range expansion plan to make Scouting more relevant to the needs and concerns of today's youth.

Objective of the plan is to involve one third of all boys in the country in the Scouting movement by the 200th anniversary of the Declaration in Independence.

Two Banks Write $77,000 in Checks

Charlevoix's two banks are in the process of disbursing a total of $77,000 in Christmas Savings Club funds to residents of the Charlevoix area.

The Charlevoix County State Bank has prepared checks totaling $51,000 for its Christmas Club customers, an increase of $13,000 over the $38,000 disbursed last year.

The First State Bank of Charlevoix has checks totaling $26,000, an increase of 77 percent over the $14,667 paid out last year.

The County Bank will mail checks to members on Nov. 9. First State checks will go in the mail Nov. 7. Early check pickups may be made at the First State Bank Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Christmas Clubs for 1971 will be started at both banks in mid-November.

Officers of the First State Bank say they will make the first payment for all savers who keep their accounts current.

The Christmas Club was started at the County Bank in 1957. Some 182 members received $14,535 to do their 1958 Christmas shopping. This year, membership has grown to 455. The largest check is for $500.

This year for the first time both banks have paid interest on Christmas Savings Club accounts.

Event Will Benefit Mental Health Clinic

Mrs. David Fowler, Mrs. Hewitt Johnston and Mrs. Robert Tollas have been named Charlevoix ticket chairmen for the annual benefit dinner-dance Nov. 14 at Boyne Mountain Lodge sponsored by the Petoskey Area Mental Health Clinic.

Proceeds from the dance, the clinic's only fund-raising project, are used to further expand facilities for the counseling and treatment of emotionally disturbed children and adults in five Northern Michigan counties.

With an increase in staff, the clinic has been able to initiate several new services during the past year. A group therapy program has met with much success, and there are now two active adult groups meeting each week. A family-oriented therapy group (parents and children), has been equally effective.

Working in conjunction with the Emmet-Charlevoix District Court, the Petoskey clinic also has developed a preventative program to aid in dealing with alcoholic and marital cases which have necessitated police intervention.

Mrs. Lee J. Scott, dance chairman, has emphasized that reservations for the dinner-dance must be made by calling Boyne Mountain Lodge, 549-2441, before Nov. 11.

DRESSED AS BUGS, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lieberman took first place in a costume ball Saturday evening at the VFW hall sponsored by the new Charlevoix Yacht Club.

Ellsworth PTA Plans Programs

The PTA program committee of the Ellsworth Community School met Oct. 26, in the school library to discuss plans for the 1970-1971 P.T.A. school year.

The November meeting will be a regular basketball practice of the Varsity basketball team, and Hugh Campbell, varsity basketball coach, will explain the various basketball plays. Hopefully a basketball official also will be present to explain rules.

Other meetings scheduled for the year are the elementary school Christmas program in December; a Science and Arts Fair in January; and the annual spring banquet in May.

Tentatively scheduled is a "Local College Night" in March. It is hoped that the school administrotors, and possibly representatives from two or three nearby colleges, will be present to explain to

Curtis Thompson

Standard Agent Named

The Standard Oil Division of American Oil Co. has announced the appointment of Curtis "Curt" Thompson as the new Standard Oil agent for Charlevoix.

Thompson has operated a Standard Oil service station in Petoskey for the past six years. He is past president of the Petoskey Jaycees, and currently is district Four Vice-President of the Michigan Jaycees.

Thompson is also active in Petoskey civic affairs.

He recently graduated from Standard Oil's Agent Development Center at Plymouth, Ind., where he received intensive training in customer service and product information for home and industry.

Thompson and his wife, Louise, are natives of East Jordan. Mrs. Thompson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bader of East Jordan.

They have purchased the former Tom McDaniels home at 204 Park Row in Charlevoix. They will be moving in with their four children as soon as details of the sale are completed.

School Notes Are Approved

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, announced today that the Commission approved $80,000.00 of tax anticipation notes-operating-current fiscal year for Charlevoix Public Schools, Charlevoix and Antrim Counties.

Attorney General Kelley said, "The proceeds will be used to meet necessary operating expenses until taxes are collected. These notes are to be dated Nov. 2, 1970, are to be due March 1, 1971, and will carry a maximum interest rate of 6 percent per annum".

Monsignor Celebrates Jubilee

Eighty friends and relatives gathered at St. Marys Church Oct. 27 for a 25th Jubilee mass honoring Msgr. Victor P. Gallagher, a native of St. James who is now working in the Grayling Parish.

Following the mass, a dinner was held in the school hall at tables decorated with a display of fall flowers and centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with a 25th Jubilee motif.

The mass was celebrated by Msgr. Gallogher, which was followed by a sermon covering his years on Beaver Island and other assignments.

Assisting at the mass were Lt. Col. Giles McCann and Norbert Gallagher.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gallagher and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coppens presented the monsignor a gift at the altar.

Attending the celebration were three priests who have been associated with Msgr. Gallagher over the years, Fr. Fox, Fr. Neubecker and Fr. Graff.

City Students Favor Johnson for House

If voters in the 106th District follow the lead of Charlevoix High School students, Democrat Peter C. Johnson will be the next representative.

In polling last week, Johnson garnered 160 votes, compared to 108 for Republican Richard Friske and 58 for write-in candidate Glenn Law jr.

As on bonafide ballots, Law's name did not appear but had to be written in by the electors.

More than 300 students in grades Nine through Twelve took part in the election, conducted by Donna Staley and Beth Inman.

On other candidates, the students elected Rep. Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) to the state senate from the 37th District, giving him 247 votes compared to 79 for his Democratic opponent, Russel M. Lee of Onaway.

They also favored GOP Rep. Philip E. Ruppe over Democrat Nino Green, as congressman from the 11th District. The vote was 283 to 39.

However, Democrat Philip A. Hart defeated Republican Lenore Romney, 208 to 125, as U.S. senator from Michigan.

In state races, incumbent GOP Gov. William G. Milliken and his hand-picked deputy, James H. Brickley, were elected governor and lieutenant governor with 211 votes. Democrat Sander Levin and Edward H. McNamara picked up only 94.

Peter C. Johnson

Elsewhere on the gubernatorial ballot, American Independent Party candidates James L. McCormick and Robert E. Cauley received 14 votes, Socialist Worker candidate George Bouse received nine votes and Socialist Labor candidates James C. Horvath and W. Clifford Bentley received one vote.

On the proposals, the students favored a $100 million bond issue to finance low income housing by a vote of 229 to 112.

They also approved lowering voting age to 18 by a vote of 277 to 70.

On the controversial parochiaid amendment, the students voted 213 "No" to 126 "Yes", meaning they favor public aid to non-public schools.

The city's proposed $700,000 bond issue to finance construction of a new sewage treatment plant did not appear on the ballot.

Collectors Organize

The first meeting of the Charlevoix Collectors' Club will be held at 7 p.m. Nov. 10 in the community room of the First State Bank, according to Ralph Hamilton, chairman.

Collectors of stamps, coins, first day covers, bottles, matchbooks, salt and pepper shakers, china and other collectable items are invited to attend.

NOV

FIREPLACE cookery is practiced by the Tom Dammanns of Boyne City-rd. This sumptuous lake trout was cooked to a turn on a broiler tray on hot coals. Mrs. Dammann smothered the filets with a mixture of melted butter, garlic and lemon juice, slices of onion, hunks raw apple, salt, pepper, bayleaf and a commercial mixture of seafood spices. She covered the fish with aluminum foil to retain moisture. The trout was a flakey and ready to eat in about 10 minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Peter Haydea

Sugden-Hayden Rites Solemnized

Sharon Sugden of Chicago Heights and K. Peter Hayden of Chicago exchanged their wedding vows recently at a double-ring service at the Beverly Covenant Church in Chicago.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sugden of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hayden of Chicago.

Arrangements of gold and yellow mums and red roses graced the altar and hurricane candles marked the pews for the candlelight service witnessed by 100 guests. The Rev. William Lundberg officiated at the ceremony. Robert Norman sang "More" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied at the organ with chimes by Mrs. Norman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire gown of white crepe and lace fashioned with bishop sleeves. A band of the same lace secured her veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, stephanoitis and baby's breath centered with a white orchid.

Barbara Sugden of Bay Shore, L.I., N.Y., assisted her sister as maid of honor and Chris Hayden, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Miss Sugden's gown was of yellow crepe with an empire waist and bishop sleeves. Miss Hayden's gown was of identical design in gold crepe. All of the gowns were made by the bride. The attendants carried hurricane candles surrounded by pompoms in autumn colors, brown oak and red roses.

Jon M. Malm of Chicago attended the bridegroom as best man. William Johnston of Kalamazoo was groomsman.

Mrs. Sugden chose a light blue gown with beige coat and accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Hayden, mother of the bridegroom, wore a silver gown and matching accessories. Corsages of white roses complemented their ensembles.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents followed in the church parlor.

A wedding trip will be postponed until the Christmas holidays when they plan to go to Miami Beach. They are making their home in Chicago Heights, Ill.

Wedding guests were present from Detroit, Traverse City, Kalamazoo, Charlevoix and Nebraska.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at the Beverly Woods Inn Friday evening.

Barnard News

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bost and daughter Jackie left Oct. 29 for West Palm Beach, Fla., where Michael has accepted a position with United Aircraft Corp. at the Florida Research and Development Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Smith were in East Lansing over the weekend and attended Mrs. Smith's 25th class reunion at Michigan State University. They also visited his nieces, the Keith Lapps and William Pasche families.

Mrs. Frank Matchett visited the past week in southern Michigan with relatives. On Oct. 24 she attended the wedding of her eldest granddaughter, Miss Kathy Heldt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gliddon of Alba were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Wieland.

Grandvue Welcomes Nine New Patients

Recent new patients are Linus Finch and Agnes Woodcock, both of East Jordan; Vern Barnes, Evelyn Wangeman, Eugene Fern, Elsie Meyer, and Otis Barlow, all of Boyne City; and Ray Gunther and Grace Dutcher, both of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Florence Bryan has been discharged to the home of her son, Garth in Boyne City. Mrs. Laura Harris has gone to live with the R.J. Dubin family in Boyne City.

Mr. Frank Coatta, Mrs. Esther Neff, and Mr. Harry Elzinga, all of Charlevoix, passed away during September and early October. Miss Ethel Munson of Boyne City also passed away recently. We were very sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Philo Danly, who had been a patient here during the summer months and who was transferred to a nursing home near his home in Hinsdale, Ill. on Oct. 7. Mr. Danly died Oct. 9 at the Americana Nursing Home in Naperville, Ill. Mrs. Danly and Mrs. Betty Barkley visited Mr. Danly nearly every day while he was here, and we miss all of them.

Margaret McDonald enjoyed her vacation early in October. She said she got several odd jobs done around the house and yard. Kay Peck has also been on vacation the past two weeks.

Several of our employees have been on the sick list recently with bouts of flu and colds. Most of them are back to work now and feeling better.

Virginia Uhlinger, our social worker, and her husband, Ray, have sold their home in East Jordan and are in the process of moving to Central Lake.

Grandvue Auxiliary met on Oct. 8. Guest speaker was Mrs. Alfred L. Mansen of Charlevoix, who showed slides of Alaska and told us about their stay of two years there. About 39 ladies attended this meeting and discussed final plans for the benefit games party held Oct. 15. This games party and the bake sale which accompanied it turned out to be a big success, and while final figures are not available, it appears around $160 was taken in. It was voted at this meeting to start a Patio Fund with a contribution of $1,000 from the Auxiliary. This is to be a long-range project, and it is hoped that other organizations in the area will choose to donate to this fund also. The next Auxiliary meeting will be Nov. 12. when Dennis Johnson, band director of Boyne City High School, will bring his chorus members over for a musical program.

Our administrator, Mrs. Hilda Watkins, became a grandma again on Sept. 28 when her daughter and son-in-law, the Vasco Zucchiattis of Boyne City, presented her with a brand new grandson. The young gentleman answers to the name of Damon Ross, and "Grandma" reports both mother and baby are doing fine. Reports are that daddy is holding up well, also.

On Oct. 13, the Charlevoix County supervisors met at the Facility for their noon meal. About 37 supervisors and county officials attended the luncheon.

Irene Behling and Helen Deming spent Thursday, Oct. 22, in Traverse City, attending the Michigan Municipal Employees' Retirement System annual meeting.

A big thank you to the East Jordan Girl Scouts and their leaders, Mrs. Dorothy Bartlett and Janet Norton, for coming out and decorating our windows and doors in the patients' dining room with Hallowe'en figures. It's almost spooky to look in the dining room now, and the patients are really enjoying the witches, ghosts and goblins.

Ella Mousseau Hostess

Ella Mousseau has been appointed as one of the official Davenport College Hostesses for the 1970-71 year. The hostesses are on call to conduct tours of the campus to groups of guests coming on campus, including parents, counsellors, high school students, etc., showing them classrooms, dormitories and even serving lunch if the occasion calls for it.

The hostesses can always be seen almost anywhere during open house. They are easily recognized as they show guests around campus by their white gloves, name tags and bright smiles!

Clothing Drive Starts Nov. 8

The 22nd annual Thanksgiving Clothing Collection of Catholic Relief Services to assist the poor of the world will be conducted in parishes of the Grand Rapids Catholic Diocese the week of Nov. 8.

Monsignor Joseph C. Wulen, diocesan director of Catholic Charities, has been appointed by Bishop Joseph M. Breitenbeck to direct the Campaign.

He has asked all parishioners to begin "Operation, Clothes Closet" this week by searching out wardrobes, and hunting through basements and attics for gifts of clothing, shoes and bedding that can be shared with their less fortunate neighbors here and overseas.

Collection centers have been set up in parishes of the 29 counties of Western Michigan

Library Notes

Library notes will devote the next two weeks to new juvenile titles which will be of interest to our young patrons and the parents of preschoolers who need read-aloud bedtime stories.

"Wolfic" is such a book. The illustrations are wonderful, the print is large, and it's bound to become a favorite with the "I Can Read" group.

"Sir Ribbeck of Ribbeck of Havelland" is a delightful poem by Theodor Fontane, translated by Elizabeth Shub with lovely woodcuts to charm the youngest child.

There is a new "Puss In Boots"—a picture book for the very young.

"The Witch's Magic Cloth" is an American edition of a lovely Japanese classic by Miyoko Matsutani. It is published by Parents' Magazine and will have appeal for adults as well as children.

"How, Hippo!" is another fine book by the distinguished author-artist who has illustrated so many fine books for youngsters. The woodcut technique she uses in her new book is the one she used so effectively in "Once A Mouch" which won the 1962 Caldecott Medal.

"A Story, A Story" is an African tale retold and illustrated by Gail E. Haley. There are forceful, lovely woodcut illustrations.

Ed Emberley's "Drawing Book of Animals" is one of the cleverest books to come along a long, long time. Even a child with absolutely no talent can end up drawing delightful spiders and ants and birds and whales after five minutes spent with this Caldecott winning author-illustrator. The book, incidentally, would make a marvelous Christmas gift.

"The Elephant and the Bad Baby" is a charming book with a new surprise on every page for the very young. The text and pictures capture all the flavor and fun of a nursery rhyme.

"Alexander and the Wind-Up Mouse" by Leo Lionni needs no introduction. It is another inimitable Lionni combination of delicate fantasy and visual beauty—the talent which has won the author-illustrator three runner-ups for the Caldecott Medal.

"Broderick" by Edward Ormondroyd has humor, satire and adventure all wrapped up in one tiny enchanting book which is just the right size to take to bed.

There are over 20 other additional new titles for the very young fry which will be on special display during the month of November to commemorate National Book Week.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE

CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOLS
COUNTIES OF CHARLEVOIX AND ANTRIM
STATE OF MICHIGAN

TAX ANTICIPATION NOTES

Sealed bids for the purchase of tax anticipation notes of Charlevoix Public Schools, Counties of Charlevoix and Antrim, Michigan, of the par value of $80,000.00 will be received by the undersigned at the Superintendent's Office, Garfield Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, until 11:00 o'clock, A.M., Eastern Standard Time, on the Mon. 16th day of November, 1970, at which time and place they will be publicly opened and read.

The notes will be dated November 2, 1970, will mature March 1, 1971 and will bear interest at a rate or rates not exceeding 6 percent per annum. Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company located in the State of Michigan to be designated by the original purchaser of the notes which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statues of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government, subject to the approval of the Charlevoix Public Schools. Denominations and form of notes to be at the option of the purchaser. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such notes must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

The notes shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

For the purpose of awarding the notes the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar interest cost on the notes from November 16, 1970 (Here insert the sale date or the date of the notes, whichever is later), to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The notes will be awarded to the cost to the municipality. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the notes or at a price less than their par value will be considered.

The loan is in anticipation of the Operating portion of the School Tax for the fiscal year July 1, 1970 to June 30, 1971, which tax is due and payable December 1, 1970.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of 2 percent of the par value of the notes, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the notes. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney approving the legality of the notes, to be secured at the purchaser's expense. The purchaser shall furnish notes ready for execution at his expense. Notes will be delivered at a place to be agreed upon with the purchaser. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Notes."

MORE THAN 50 members of the Gaylord Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women met at the 111 Room of the First State Bank Wednesday for their fall meeting. The meeting was chaired by Mrs. Marie Kent of Boyne City, deanery president.

Catholic Women Convene

Poverty and drug abuse were among the topics discussed at the fall meeting of the Gaylord Deanery of the National Council of Catholic Women Oct. 28 at the First State Bank community room in Charlevoix.

The deanery comprises 11 parishes in the Grand Rapids diocese.

Mrs. Elaine M. Poliski, diocesan president from Lake Leelanau, discussed extending the work of the council both at home and abroad. She was particularly concerned with poverty in India.

Dave Fowler of Charlevoix discussed the dangers of drug abuse among young people. Fowler is a Petoskey pharmacist.

The group also heard reports from the presidents of chapters in Boyne City, Mancelona, East Jordan and Charlevoix.

Entertainment was provided by a woodwind trio from the Charlevoix High School band composed of Kay Fiedorek, Jeanne Belfy and Sue Pettis.

Church officials attending the meeting were Msgr. Francis T. Kaminski, Gaylord; Rev. Jerome A. Syzdlowski, Boyne City; Rev. Joseph F. Wiekerak, Lake Leelanau; and Rev. E. Francis Denay, Charlevoix.

Refreshments were provided by the St. Marys Altar Society, headed by Mrs. Elmer Gibson. Program chairman was Mrs. C.D. Geiken of Charlevoix.

An Ordinance to provide for the establishment of Zoning Districts within which the proper use of land and natural resources shall be encouraged and regulated, and within which districts the location, the size of, the uses that may be made of, the minimum open spaces, sanitary, safety, light and protective measures that shall be required for, and the maximum number of families that may be housed in dwellings, buildings and structures, including tents and trailer coaches, that may be hereafter erected, altered, or moved; to provide for the administration hereof; to provide for a method of amending; to provide for conflicts with other acts, ordinances or regulations; to provide for the collection of fees for the furthurance of the purpose of this ordinance, to provide for petitions and public hearings; to provide for appeals and for the organization and procedure of the Board of Appeals; and to provide for penalties for violation of said Ordinance.

PREAMBLE

The provisions of this ordinance shall be administered in accordance with Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1943, as amended.

PURPOSES

It is the purpose of this Zoning Ordinance to promote the safety, health, morals, convenience, and general welfare; to encourage the use of lands and natural resources in the Township in accordance with their character, adaptability, and suitability for particular purposes; to conserve social and economic stability, property values, and the general character and trend of community development; to prevent excessive concentration of population; to lessen congestion on the public streets and highways; to facilitate adequate provision of streets and highways, sewerage and drainage, water supply and distribution, educational, and other public resources, by establishing herein standards for community development in accordance with these objectives and by providing for the enforcement of such standards.

It is the furthur purpose to adopt provisions for each designated zoning district, within which the location, size and uses of buildings and minimum open spaces, sanitary and safety measures required and the maximum number of families to be housed in buildings erected or altered in the future, are specified.

The Township Board of Marion Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan ordains:

CHAPTER I SHORT TITLE

SECTION 1.1

This ordinance shall be known as the zoning ordinance of Marion Township, Charlevoix County, Michigan, and will be referred to here as "This Ordinance".

CHAPTER II
GENERAL PROVISIONS

SECTION 2.1 THE EFFECT OF ZONING

(a) Required area of space; No lot or lots in common ownership and no yard, court, parking area or other space shall be so divided, altered, or reduced as to make said area or dimension less than the minimum required under this Ordinance. If already less than the minimum required under this Ordinance, said area or dimension shall not be furthur divided or reduced.

(b) Existing platted lots: The division of a recorded plat is prohibited, unless approved following application to the Township Board. Where an existing residentially zoned platted lot has an area of not less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements and where such lot can provide the side yard requirements of its zone, a one-family use is permitted. An existing platted lot in single ownership of less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements may be utilized for a one-family use and for such purpose the required side yards may be reduced by the same percentage the area of such lot bears to its zone district requirements, provided that no side yard shall be less than five feet and that off-street parking requirements are met. Where four or more adjacent lots are in single ownership and where such lots contain less than 90 percent of its zone district requirements, such lots shall be utilized in conformance with the zoning ordinance minimum requirements. In the event two or three adjacent lots are in single ownership and the Board of Appeals shall find that there is no practical possibility of obtaining additional land, it may permit their use as separate lots having less than the required lot area if it shall determine that they can be so used without adversely affecting the character of the neighborhood; provided, however, that no side yard shall be less than five feet and that off street parking requirements are met.

(c) Exceptions: The requirements of all zones shall be subject to the following exceptions: Parapet walls not exceeding four feet in height, chimneys, cooling towers, elevator bulkheads, fire towers, gas tanks, grain elevators, stacks, stage towers or scenery lofts, monuments, cupolas, domes, spires, and penthouses housing necessary mechanical appurtenances.

(d) Residential zones: The following uses are permitted in all residential zones:

(I) Public libraries, museums and art galleries;

(II) Municipal, State or Federal administrative or service buildings, if found to be essential to service the neighborhood or community;

provided, however, that such use shall be permitted only upon permit from the Board of Appeals after finding that such use will be in conformity with the character of the adjacent neighborhood and with respect to uses described in (II) above that they are essential to service the neighborhood or community and connot feasibly be located in a zone where they would otherwise be permitted. The Board of Appeals shall establish requirements for setback, side yard, parking, screening and other conditions necessary to conform the same to the character of the adjacent neighborhood.

(e) Front and side yard setbacks shall be measured to the main wall of a building.

(f) For residence zones, fences, hedges or clumps of shrubs within 15 feet of the front lot line, or other lot line adjoining a public street, higher than 5 feet above the average sidewalk grade measured at the center of the lot, are prohibited. All other fences may not exceed a height of six feet above the lot grade.

SECTION 2.3 - RAZING OF BUILDINGS

No Building over 2000 square feet shall be razed until a permit has been obtained from the Building Inspector. Said permit shall be conditioned on the applicant completing the razing within such reasonable period as shall be prescribed in the permit and complying with such regulations as to health ond safety os the Building Inspector of the Township Board may from time to time prescribe, including filling of excavations and proper termination of utility connections.

SECTION 2.4 - DUMPING RUBBISH AND WASTE MATTER:

(a) Every building hereafter erected, altered or moved upon any premises and used in whole or in part for dwelling, recreational, business, commercial or industrial purposes, including churches, schools and other buildings in which persons customarily congregate, shall be provided with a safe and sanitary water supply system, and with means for collecting and disposal of all human excreta and of all water carried domestic, commercial, Industrial and other wastes that may adversely affect health conditions. The written approval of such facilities by the Charlevoix County Health Department shall be filed with the application for a Building permit as hereinafter provided. All plumbing work shall conform to the standard of material and installation of the Michigan State Plumbing code.

(b) It shall be unlawful through the township to permit waste water from sinks or other similar drains and sewage to drain onto the land, yard or other spaces from dwellings, business places of all types and accessory buildings thereto, and to throw any such waste water and sewage onto said land; and it shall be unlawful to throw or dump empty cans, food containers, broken or whole bottles, crockery or utensils of any kind, automobile bodies or parts, old stoves, junk, parts of any machinery or any litter, flammable matter or substances, offal, ashes, industrial by-products or waste, clinkers, cinders, industrial wastes; or any other similar waste objects, either upon land owned, occupied or used by any individual or company, or upon any land in public place or privately owned of another, unless such place has been designated as a dumping ground by the Township; and it shall be unlawful to drain any waste water, water containing waste or foreign substances or any sewage, raw or treated, from any dwelling or business place of any kind either by open ditch or by pipes into any ditch, creek or stream, of any kind in the Township, unless approved by the Charlevoix County Health Dept.

SECTION 2.5 - ESSENTIAL PUBLIC SERVICES

It shall be lawful for public utilities, municipal departments or commissions, to erect, construct, alter, or maintain underground or overhead gas, electrical, steam or water distribution or transmission systems, collection, communication, supply or disposal systems, including drains, sewers, pipes, conduits, wires, cables, fire alarm boxes, police equipment and accessories in connection therewith, including buildings, reasonably necessary for the furnishing of adequate services by such public utilities or municipal departments or commissions for the public health, safety and general welfare of the public, in any zone, area, or use district of the Township; provided that the erection or construction of any or all above-grade construction consisting of necessary buildings and structures therefor shall be designed and erected to conform harmoniously with the general architecture and plan of such district in which it is to be erected, and shall be subject to the approval of the Board of Appeals.

The Board of Appeals hereby is granted the power to permit any public service corporation, contemplated in the foregoing paragraph, to erect and use a building or an addition to an existing building, or a structure for the aforesaid public utility purposes, in any permitted district, to a greater height or of a greater area than the district requirements herein established; and to permit the location in any use district of a public utility building or structure provided such Board of Appeals shall find such use, height, and service, provided that such public building, structure or use is designed, erected and landscaped to conform harmoniously with the general architecture and plan of such district.

SECTION 2.6 - TEMPORARY BUILDINGS

Temporary buildings for use incidental to construction work, and all debris, shall be removed within 60 days after the completion or abandonment of the work.

SECTION 2.7 - MOVING OF BUILDINGS

The moving of a building to a different location shall be considered as the erection of a new building, and all provisions, regulations or requirements relative to the erection of a new building shall be applicable thereto.

SECTION 2.8 - MOBILE HOME OR HOUSE TRAILER

When located in other than a Mobile Home Park or subdivision, mobile homes or house trailers used for dwelling purposes are considered dwelling units.

SECTION 2.9 - MIXED OCCUPANCIES

Through the Township, where any part of any building is used for residential purposes and the remainder thereof is used for conducting any business, commercial or industrial enterprise, the part thereof so occupied as a dwelling and all buildings erected, altered or moved into any zoned district of the Township outside of its residential or agricultural districts, shall conform to the minimum requirements for dwellings with reference to floor space, height of ceiling, bathroom, toilet space and sanitary requirements as stated in chapters on Residential Districts of this Ordinance, and such provisions shall apply as fully as if here repeated.

SECTION 2.10 - GREENBELTS

A greenbelt shall be required for any commercial or industrial use that abuts a residential use on either the side yard or rear yard. In all instances this may be provided as part of the side or rear yard requirements. If waived in writing by adjacent residential property owners, the greenbelt may be omitted or a fence substituted for the greenbelt.

SECTION 2.11 - BOATHOUSES

Boathouses are permitted in addition to other accessory buildings, provided they shall not be situated closer than 10 feet to any side lot line, nor of a height exceeding 20 feet above mean or established water level.

SECTION 2.12 - GENERAL LOT AND YARD LIMITATIONS

In determining lot and yard requirements, no area shall be counted as accessory to more than one dwelling or main building in use, and no area necessary for compliance with the open space requirements for one building or use shall be counted in the calculations or requirements for any other building or use.

CHAPTER III
MAPPED DISTRICTS

SECTION 3.1 - ZONE DISTRICTS

For the purposes of this Ordinance, the Township is hereby divided into the following zoned districts:

R-1 Single-Family Residential Zone
R-2 Single-Family Residential Zone

SECTION 3.2 - THE ZONING MAP

The locations and boundaries of these districts are hereby established as shown on the map entitled "Marion Township Zoning Map" which accompanies and is made a part of this ordinance. Where uncertainty exists as to the boundaries of districts as shown on the zoning map, the following rules shall apply:

(a) Boundaries indicated as approximately following the centerlines of streets, highways or alleys shall be construed to follow such centerlines;

(b) Boundaries indicated as approximately following platted lot lines shall be construed as following such lot lines;

(c) Boundaries indicated as approximately following township boundaries shall be construed as following township boundaries;

(d) Boundaries indicated as following shorelines shall be construed as following such shoreline and in the event of change in shoreline shall be construed as moving with said shoreline;

(e) Boundaries indicated as approximately following property lines or section lines or other lines of Government Survey shall be construed as following such property lines as of the effective date of this Ordinance, (or applicable amendment), Section lines or other lines of the Government Survey.

SECTION 3.3 - AREAS NOT INCLUDED WITHIN A DISTRICT

In every case where property has not been specifically included within a district, including all cases or property becoming a part of this township, subsequent to the date of enactment of this Ordinance, such property shall be in the A - Agricultural Zone.

CHAPTER IV
R-1 RESIDENTIAL ZONE

SECTION 4.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

The purpose of the regulations covering these districts is to provide for a stable and sound family residential environment with its appropriate neighborhood related utilities, facilities and services.

SECTION 4.2 - USE REGULATIONS

No land shall hereafter be used, and no buildings or structure erected, altered or used for other than one or more of the following uses:

(a) One-family or two-family dwellings.

(b) Public schools and colleges when owned and operated by a government agency; 50 foot side and rear yards are required if the property abuts any residentially zoned lots.

(c) Private non-profit schools, churches and colleges subject to the conditions stipulated in (b) above and said private schools shall not include trade schools, business colleges, or private schools operated as commercial enterprises.

(d) Parks, playgrounds, and community centers located therein, owned and operated by a governmental agency or non-profit neighborhood group.

(e) Farms on land areas of 10 acres or more.

(f) Motels, Cabin Courts and Cottages.

(g) Accessory buildings, structures and uses customarily incidental to any of the above uses when not constituting a nuisance. Attached garages shall be deemed part of the dwelling or other main building and as such shall conform to all set back and yard requirements governing such buildings.

SECTION 4.3 - HEIGHTS REQUIREMENTS

- No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2.5 stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 4.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

(a) One-family or two-family dwellings:

1. The land area upon which a one-family dwelling is hereafter erected shall contain not less than 12,000 (twelve thousand) square feet, and shall be not less than 100 (one hundred) feet in width at the building line. The land area upon which a two-family dwelling is hereafter erected shall contain not less than 20,000 (twenty thousand) square feet, and shall be not less than 100 feet at the building line.

2. There shall be a front yard of not less than 35 feet.

3. There shall be a side yard of at least 10 feet on each side of any dwelling or accessory building excepting the street side of a corner lot where a 25 foot side yard shall be maintained.

4. Every dwelling hereafter erected shall have a rear yard of not less than 35 feet.

(b) Cabin Courts

1. The land area upon which a cabin court is hereafter erected shall be not less than 100 feet in width at the building line.

2. For each cabin there shall be a front yard of not less than 25 feet and a back yard of not less than 25 feet.

3. There shall be a side yard of at least 5 feet on each side of any cabin, cottage, or accessory building.

(c) The minimum size parcel required for other permitted or approved uses, including accessory uses thereto, shall be determined by the Board of Appeals as may be reasonable for such use and be in conformity with the purposes of this Ordinance, upon written application to the Board. The Board may hold a public hearing upon the application before acting thereon.

(d) The front, back and side yard requirements of all other permitted or approved buildings hereafter erected shall be determined by the Board of Appeals as may be reasonable for the uses of such buildings and be in conformity with the purpose of this Ordinance, upon written application to the Board. The Board may hold a public hearing upon the application before acting thereon.

SECTION 4.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

(a) Every one-family or two-family dwelling hereafter erected shall contain not less than 1000 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements, and utility area, if a one story building, or 1500 square feet if a building of more than one story.

(b) Every cabin or cottage shall provide no less than 200 (two hundred) square feet of floor area exclusive of that used for space-heating, cooking or sanitary facilities.

(c) The minimum floor area for other permitted or approved building shall be determined by the Board of Appeals as may be reasonable for the use of such building and be in conformity with the purposes of this ordinance, upon written application to the Board. The Board may hold a public hearing upon the application before acting thereon.

CHAPTER V
"R-2" SINGLE-FAMILY RESIDENTIAL ZONE

SECTION 5.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

The purpose of the regulations covering these districts are to provide a stable and sound family residential environment with its appropriately related level of urban utilities, facilities and services. The essential difference between this and any other residential district is that a moderate density of urban type residential development will be permitted through the construction and occupancy of one-family dwellings on moderately sized lots. No district will be zoned or rezoned "R-2" unless public sewer and water are available within the district.

SECTION 5.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and / or buildings in the R-2 zone may be used for the following purposes only:

(a) One single-family dwelling on each lot.

(b) Public schools and colleges when owned and operated by a governmental agency; 50 foot side and rear yards are required if the property abuts any residentially zoned lots.

(c) Private non-profit schools and colleges subject to the conditions stipulated in (b) above and said private schools shall not include trade schools, business colleges, or private schools operated as commercial enterprises.

(d) Parks, playgrounds, and community centers located therein, owned and operated by a governmental agency or non-profit neighborhood group.

(e) One detached accessory building other than a garage not more than 12 feet in height subject to the following conditions:

(I) Said accessory building shall not be located closer to a side line than that allowed for a principal building.

(II) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located on the side of the main building shall not be less than six feet from such principal building and not nearer to the side lot line than the width of the side yard required on the lot for the main building and shall maintain a front yard equal to or greater than that of the main building.

(III) A detached accessory building, any portion of which is located to the rear of the main building shall be located not nearer than 10 feet to such main building.

SECTION 5.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

- No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 5.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards, lot area and building coverage requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building structure or enlargement.

(a) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than 25 feet.

(b) Side Yard - There shall be a side yard of at least 8 feet on each side of any dwelling or any accessory building excepting the street side of the corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.

(c) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than 25 feet.

(d) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be 8,000 square feet and a minimum width of 65 feet at the building line.

SECTION 5.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling unit in this zone shall have a minimum floor area of 800 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements or utility areas, if a one-story building; or 1,200 square feet if a building of more than one story.

CHAPTER VI
"R-3" ONE-AND TWO-FAMILY AND MOBILE HOME PARK ZONE

SECTION 6.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which provides for single-family and two-family residences along with mobile home parks.

SECTION 6.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and buildings in the R-3 zone may be used for the following:

(a) Any use permitted in the R-2 zone.

(b) Two-family residences.

(c) Mobile home parks, provided that in addition to state regulations, the following requirements are met:

1. Each park shall contain a minimum land area of 10 acres.

2. Private water supply and sewage disposal systems shall be connected to public systems within two years after such public utilities become available within 500 feet of the park.

3. All mobile home parks must maintain a 100 foot landscape setback from any public street and 50 foot minimum landscaped rear and side yards adjacent to any adjoining properties.

4. All public and private utilities shall be installed underground.

5. Each park shall have a minimum of 2 access streets entering a public street.

6. All streets within a mobile home park shall have a minimum roadway of 20 feet exclusive of parking facilities.

7. Each park shall have paved curbs, gutters and side walks.

8. No mobile home site shall be less than 40 feet in width and contain less than 4,000 square feet.

SECTION 6.3 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure, nor the enlargement of any building or structure, shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure or enlargement.

(a) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of 35 foot.

(b) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard of 10 feet each excepting the street side of the corner lot where a 25 foot side yard shall be required.

(c) Rear Yard - There shall be a minimum rear yard of 35 feet.

(d) Lot Area:

1. Single-family residence: The minimum lot area shall be 10,000 square feet with a minimum width of 80 feet at the building line if public sanitary sewer and water systems are available. If public sanitary sewer and water systems are not available, the minimum lot area shall be 20,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line.

2. Two-Family residence: The minimum lot area shall be 13,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line if public sanitary sewer and water systems are available. If public sanitary sewer and water systems are not available the minimum lot area shall be 20,000 square feet with a minimum width of 100 feet at the building line.

SECTION 6.4 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling shall have a minimum floor area of 700 square feet exclusive of porches, garages, basement and utility areas.

CHAPTER VII
R-4 PLANNED RESIDENTIAL ZONE

SECTION 7.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which will be established only upon application by the Owner of the property for approval of a pre-planned apartment, garden apartment or condominium complex. No area shall be zoned R-4 if there exists in the area sought to be zoned, any residential, industrial, or other use which would be nonconforming with the uses permitted under the terms of this section. The Township Board however, may zone the area R-4, if the developer guarantees in a manner satisfactory to it the removal or discontinuance of the nonconforming use(s). The proposed district shall be unified and contiguous in shape; the creation of odd-shaped areas which exclude nonconforming uses is to be avoided.

SECTION 7.2 - PERMITTED USES

In an R-4 planned Residential zone, no building or structure or part thereof shall be erected, altered, or moved upon any lot or piece or parcel of land, or used on any lot or parcel of land in whole or in part used for other than one or more of the following specified uses:

(a) Apartments and / or garden apartments which constitute a single operating or propietary unit.

(b) Condominiums.

(c) Playgrounds, parks, tot lots, open spaces, and other recreational uses either enclosed or in the open for the use of occupants only.

(d) Off-street automobile parking and off-street delivery collection facilities shall be required. Such parking area shall be for the sole use of the occupant of such building and the visitors thereto.

(c) Accessory uses customarily incidental to the above uses.

SECTION 7.3 DEVELOPMENT REGULATIONS

The general plan for a multiple family complex shall include evidence and facts showing that it has considered and made provision for, and the development shall be executed in accordance with the following essential conditions:

(a) The proposed development shall consider the surrounding land features of the area, including, but not limited to residences, schools, parks, other reservations of open spaces, location, width and grade of streets and locations and arrangement of parking spaces; local and regional business areas and shopping area and shopping centers; densities proposed for surrounding areas; and other such features as shall contribute to the harmonious development of the area, with due regard to the character of the neighborhood and its peculiar suitability for this type of use.

(b) The proposed development shall be constructed in accordance with an overall plan and shall be designed as the unified architectural unit with appropriate landscaping.

(c) If the development of the R-4 zone is to be carried out in stages, each stage shall be so planned that the fore-going requirements and the intent of the ordinance shall be fully complied with at the completion of any stage and the development of each stage shall take place in sequential order as designated by the plan.

SECTION 7.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

(a) Not more than 15 dwelling units per acre shall be permitted in this district, and the units in any development shall average at least 780 square feet of living area.

(b) Building area; Not more than 15 percent of the area of each R-4 zone may be occupied by residential buildings.

(c) Front Yard; (1) Where it is the intent of the developer to utilize the front yard area for parking there shall be a set-back from the right-of-way of each street on which the R-4 zone abuts of at least 75 feet, the front 25 feet of which shall be landscaped. (2) Where the front yard set-back area is not used for parking, there shall be a set-back from the right-of-way of all streets on which the R-4 zone abuts of 40 feet, the total of which shall be landscaped.

(d) Setback from property lines: There shall be a setback from any agricultural, single or two-family residential property, which the R-4 abuts, of not less than one hundred (100) feet, and from any commercial or industrial property of not less than forty (40) feet.

(e) Distance between buildings: The horizontal distance measured in feet between parallel elements of buildings forming courts and court yards shall not be less than twice the height of the taller building, measured in feet.

NOV

(f) Distance between principal and accessory buildings shall be a minimum of twelve (12) feet and accessory buildings shall be located the height of the building from any lot line, provided, however, that they shall not be permitted in the front yard area.

(g) Parking. Not less than two and one-half (2½) off - street automobile parking spaces shall be required for each dwelling unit. Such parking area shall be so placed so as not to interfere with any recreational or service area, and shall not be less than 25 feet from property lines or street right-of-way lines.

(h) Heights of buildings; No building shall exceed the height of 35 feet or 2½ stories (exclusive of basements) whichever is greater.

(i) Paving: All areas provided for use by vehicles and all pedestrian walks shall be surfaced with bituminous asphalt, concrete or similar materials.

(j) Service: Areas for loading and unloading delivery trucks and other vehicles and for the servicing of refuse collection, fuel and other services shall be provided and shall be adequate in size, and shall be so arranged that they may be used without blockage or interference with the use of access ways or automobile parking facilities.

(k) Access; Provision shall be made for safe and efficient ingress and egress to the public streets and highways servicing the R-4 zone without undue congestion to or interference with normal traffic flow. The Township Board shall be satisfied as to the thoroughfare to carry the additional traffic engendered by the apartment complex as well as to the street frontage of the proposed district.

(l) Utilities; Private water supply and sewage disposal systems shall be connected to public systems within two years after such public utilities become available within 500 feet of the zone. All utility lines (power and telephone) servicing the area shall be placed under ground.

(m) Open space; The developer shall be required where possible to preserve or incorporate natural features such as woods, streams, and open space areas, which add to the overall cohesive development of the R-4 zone and overall community development. However, all conditions deemed hazardous by the Zoning Board, including natural feature hazards are to be eliminated, or all precautions, deemed appropriate by the Zoning Board to reduce the hazard, are to be provided by the developer.

(n) Recreation: The developer shall be encouraged to give consideration to the provision of community areas, laundry facilities, playgrounds, and tot lots, and other services necessary for the comfort and convenience of R-4 residents.

SECTION 7.5 - TIME LIMIT IN CONSTRUCTION

Reversion and rezoning to former zoning classification. Every application, when approved by the Governing Body, either as submitted or resubmitted in modified form, shall constitute an agreement by the applicant that such installation shall be made, completed and operated as shown on the plan as part of the project in accordance with the provisions of 7.3 and that the area which has been zoned R-4 by the Township Board shall lose that status and revert to the be rezoned to its former zoning classification, if construction of approved buildings and improvements shall not be undertaken within 12 months of the zoning change or within such additional time as may be authorized by the Governing Body.

SECTION 7.6 - PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS

All procedural requirements of the Zoning Ordinance shall be adhered to and the following information shall be shown on plans submitted for approval in addition to the above mentioned requirements;

(a) Floor area (in square feet) of apartment dwelling units
(b) Number of bedrooms per apartment dwelling unit
(c) Total number of apartment dwelling units
(d) Total number of acres in proposed plan
(e) Total number of all off-street parking spaces

SECTION 10.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirements within this zone.

CHAPTER XI
"C-4" PLANNED COMMERCIAL ZONE

SECTION 11.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

A zone which will be established only upon application by the owner of the property for approval of a pre-planned commercial complex. The proposed district shall be a minimum of three acres and be uniform and contiguous in shape; the creation of odd-shaped areas which excludes nonconforming uses is to be avoided.

SECTION 11.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land and / or buildings in the C-4 zone are to be used for the following purposes:

(a) New automobile display rooms
(b) Used automobile display rooms, when in conjunction with a new automobile display room
(c) Mobile home sales
(d) Furniture and appliance sales
(e) Private school operated as a commercial enterprise

SECTION 11.3 - REQUIREMENTS AND PROCEDURES

(a) The Owner of any parcel of land which is situated in an area which is undeveloped, or on developed land on which it is proposed to raze buildings and redevelop, may make application to the Zoning Board for a change of zoning to the Planned Commercial Zone. Such application shall be accompanied by a development plan which includes a topographic map showing the location of all proposed buildings, all non-enclosed uses, all drainage, parking, loading and traffic handling facilities. The plan shall also indicate all screening and other landscaping, all enterior lighting and signs. It shall also state in detail the proposed use or uses to be made of the land. Such portions of the development plan may be waived by the Zoning Board, if it finds because of the nature of the proposed use the same would serve no useful purpose.

(b) At the public hearing for such rezoning into planned commercial use, the Zoning Board may recommend:

1) Such greenbelt as the Zoning Board may deem necessary to protect adjoining properties but not to exceed 25 feet in width.

2) Such setback from the right-of-way not to exceed 100 feet as the Zoning Board shall deem necessary to protect the value or use of adjoining properties and for the protection of the public health, safety and general welfare.

3) Such yards and open spaces as the Zoning Board deems necessary under the circumstances of the particular case to protect the health, safety and general welfare of the public.

4) Such area for parking motor vehicles on private property of the petitioner not to exceed in area a ratio of 3 square feet of parking area for each square foot of building area.

5) That certain specified utilities be underground

6) The premises be connected to public water and sewer systems as each becomes available.

7) Such fence and or other requirements it deems necessary and proper, to prevent debris from littering the premises involved and / or neighboring property.

8) The number and location of points or ingress and egress to serve the property.

(c) If the premises are rezoned into the planned commercial zone, before being used, the Board of Appeals shall determine which of said recommendations shall be required to protect the public health, safety and welfare. In making its determination, the Board of Appeals shall consider the following factors:

1) The location of schools and other public buildings and facilities.
2) Vehicular and pedestrian traffic
3) Parking facilities
4) The use of other property in the vicinity for residents and other uses.
5) The density of population in the vicinity.

CHAPTER XII
"PO" PROFESSIONAL AND OFFICE ZONE

SECTION 12.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

This zone is intended to accommodate those non-residential uses of an administrative or professional nature which are necessary to the normal conduct of a community's activities. It is intended, however, to prohibit the introduction of commercial establishments of a retail sales nature

SECTION 14.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No building shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories, whichever is less.

SECTION 14.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure nor the enlargement of any building or structure shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building structure or enlargement.

(a) Front Yard - There shall be a minimum front yard of 25 feet.

(b) Side Yard - There shall be a minimum side yard of at least 5 feet on each side of any building excepting the street side of a corner lot where a 25-foot side yard shall be maintained.

(c) Rear Yard - There shall be a minimum rear yard of not less than 25 feet.

(d) The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be 5,000 square feet with a minimum lot width of 50 feet.

SECTION 14.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

There shall be no minimum floor area requirement in this zone.

CHAPTER XV
"A" - AGRICULTURAL ZONE

SECTION 15.1 - DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

This zone is intended for large tracts used for farming or which are idle. It is not intended for any use except agricultural, low-density single-family residential use, and other specialized rural uses requiring large tracts of land. This restriction is necessary to prevent development without proper planning. If development and subdividing are to occur, they should be preceded by rezoning and sound planning.

SECTION 15.2 - USE REGULATIONS

Land in the "A" - Agricultural Zone may be used for the following purposes only:

(a) Any use permitted in the R-1 Zone except motels and cabin courts.

(b) Farms for both general and specialized farming together with farm dwellings and buildings and other installations useful to such farms.

(c) Roadside stands for sale of produce grown on the premises in greenhouses, nurseries, orchards, vineyards, apiaries, chicken hatcheries or poultry farms, on a year-to-year special use permit to be issued by the Board of Appeals; but only after a hearing and findings by said Board that the operations will not interfere with the enjoyment of substantial property rights by other owners in the vicinity and will not constitute a traffic hazard. The Board shall grant such permits and establish conditions as to the size of signs, (if any), hours of operations, lighting, and other matters when necessary. Such permit shall be issued or reissued only after access to the public highway has been approved by the Charlevoix County Road Commission.

(d) Country Clubs, golf Courses, riding stables, and publicly owned athletic grounds.

(e) Campgrounds and travel trailer parks subject to the issuance of a special use permit.

(f) Dog Kennels.

SECTION 15.3 - HEIGHT REGULATIONS

No dwelling unit shall exceed 35 feet or 2½ stories in height, whichever is less.

SECTION 15.4 - AREA REGULATIONS

No building or structure, nor the enlargement of any building or structure, shall be hereafter erected unless the following yards and lot area requirements are provided and maintained in connection with such building, structure, or enlargement:

(a) Front Yard - There shall be a front yard of not less than 50 feet.

(b) Side Yard - For residential buildings, there shall be total side yards of 50 feet, provided that no yard shall be less than 20 feet. For all other buildings, there shall be a minimum, side yard of 60 feet.

(c) Rear Yard - There shall be a rear yard of not less than 100 feet.

(d) Lot Area - The minimum lot area for use in this zone shall be one acre with a minimum lot width of 200 feet.

SECTION 15.5 - MINIMUM FLOOR AREA

Each dwelling unit in this zone shall have a minimum floor area of 500 square feet of usable floor area exclusive of porches, garages, basements or utility areas if a one-story building, or 750 square feet if a building of more than one story.

CHAPTER XVI
"SR" SCENIC RESERVE DISTRICT

16.1 - USES PERMITTED

In this district, no building, structure or land shall be used, and no building shall hereafter be erected or structurally altered unless otherwise provided in this ordinance, except for the following uses:

(a) Parks and recreational areas.
(b) Docks and parking areas.
(c) Related uses which tend to preserve in substance the scenic character of the area, such as unroofed and unenclosed structures.

CHAPTER XVII
SIGNS

SECTION 17.1 – DESCRIPTION AND PURPOSE

To permit and regulate the use of signs in all zones.

SECTION 17.2 – USE REGULATIONS

The following signs shall be permitted for identification of premises, for providing information relative to the functions of the premises, or for advertising, within the particular limitations fur each use zone noted.

(a) Residential Zones - One non-illuminated sign advertising the sale or lease of the lot or building not exceeding six square feet on any one lot and / or one non-illuminated sign announcing a home occupation or professional service not to exceed two square feet in area and attached flat against a building wall shall be permitted. A non-illuminated sign advertising a recorded subdivision or development shall be permitted, not to exceed 100 square feet in area and placed no closer to a street line than 10 feet.

(b) Community Service Zone -

(1 All signs in any residential zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations required for those zones.

(2 Signs projecting more than 5 feet over a public street right-of-way are prohibited. Where a sign projects more than three inches from the face of a building, it shall be at least 10 feet above the ground at its lowest level.

(3 A sign shall not exceed in height, 20 percent of the building height, and the total area of all signs shall not exceed 20 percent of the area of the nearest building face with which they are parallel.

(4 Signs may be illuminated, but moving illumination is only permissible at the discretion of the Zoning Board of Appeals.

(5 Signs not exceeding 2 square feet in area may be utilized for traffic regulation or direction within the zone.

(c) Resort, General and Planned Commercial Zones; and Industrial and Marine Industrial Zones -

(1 All signs in any residential zone or the community service zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

(2 An additional free standing sign not to exceed 80 square feet nor more than 20 feet in height, shall be permitted near one entrance on each street upon which the lot or parcel fronts. Such a sign shall convey only identification of the permitted use, shall be located so that the view of traffic is not obstructed and may not extend into or over any public right-of-way or easement.

(d) Professional and Office Zone.

(1) Signs in any Residential zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

(2) One sign pertaining to the permitted use shall be allowed, provided that the sign does not exceed 20 square feet. The sign shall not be illuminated except by a reflector method and the light source may not be visible from adjacent properties.

(e) Agricultural Zone -

(1) All signs in any residential, service or commercial zone shall be permitted subject to the same limitations for those zones.

(2) Outdoor signs or billboards shall not exceed 300 square feet in area nor more than 25 feet in height including border and trim but excluding uprights. All such signs shall be five feet or more above the ground and conform to the yard requirements of the zone. All illumination, unless otherwise approved by the Board of Appeals, shall not have the source of light visible beyond the property lines of the parcel upon which the sign is located.

No location shall be within 300 feet of another location on the same side of the highway. ("Location" means a place where there is located not more than 2 double faced or V-type signs.)

CHAPTER XVIII
OFF-STREET PARKING

SECTION 18.1 Description and Purpose

To permit and regulate the parking and loading of automotive vehicles in all zones.

SECTION 18.2-PARKING REQUIREMENTS

Requirements for off-street parking are as follows:

Zone	Requirements
R-1	2 spaces per dwelling unit
R-2	2 spaces per dwelling unit
R-3	2 spaces per dwelling unit
R-4	2½ spaces per dwelling unit
C-1	None
C-2	3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area.
C-3	3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area.
C-4	3 square feet of parking per square foot of gross floor area.
1 & 1-2	1 square foot of parking per square foot of gross floor area.
A	2 spaces per dwelling unit.

SECTION 18.3 - REQUIREMENTS FOR LOADING SPACES ARE AS FOLLOWS:

For every building or addition to an existing building hereafter erected to be occupied by manufacturing storage, display of goods, retail store or block of stores of over 10,000 square feet, wholesale store, market, hotel, hospital, mortuary, laundry, dry cleaning or other similar use requiring the receipt of distribution in vehicles of materials or merchandise, there shall be provided and maintained on the same premises with such building or addition, off-street loading spaces in relation to floor area as follows:

(a) Up to 20,000 square feet - 1 space
(b) 20,000 to 50,000 square feet - 2 spaces
(c) 50,000 to 100,000 square feet - 3 spaces
(d) one additional space for each additional 100,000 square feet or fraction thereof.

Each such loading space shall be at least ten feet in width, 25 feet in length and 14 feet in height. No such space shall be located closer than 50 feet to any lot in any residence district unless wholly within a completely enclosed building or enclosed on all sides by a wall or uniformly painted solid board or masonry fence of uniform appearance not less than six feet in height or a greenbelt.

SECTION 18.4 - SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS

The Board of Appeals may, without proof of unnecessary hardship but after a public hearing, grant any applicant a variance on the requirements of this chapter if the Board finds from the evidence presented that the intended use of a proposed building does not require parking or loading facilities to the degree specified herein. However, the Board shall require that adequate open areas be retained around such a building to permit the development of the required parking or loading areas should the use of the building change at a later date.

CHAPTER XIX
SPECIAL USES

SECTION 19.1 - PERMIT REQUIRED FOR CERTAIN USES

Notwithstanding any other provision of this ordinance, no land in any zone shall be used for any of the following uses without first obtaining a special use permit:

(a) Junkyard
(b) Tavern
(c) Commercial dumping ground or landfill area
(d) Commercial natural resource extraction or relocation including sand and gravel, but specifically excepting cases where land grades are changed in connection with the erection of any structures, roads and other land improvements.
(e) Campgrounds and travel trailer parks

SECTION 19.2 - REQUIREMENTS FOR GRANTING PERMIT

In order to grant a permit under this chapter, it must be determined that the proposed use is in the general public interest, and that it can be conducted at the proposed location without interfering with the enjoyment of substantial property rights by the other owners in the vicinity.

SECTION 19.3 - PROCEDURE

An application in quadruplicate shall be submitted at least 15 days prior to a regularly scheduled meeting of the Board of Appeals. Such application shall be accompanied by a development plan showing the location of all proposed buildings, all non-enclosed uses, all drainages, parking, loading and traffic handling facilities. It shall also indicate all screening and other landscaping, all exterior lighting and signs. It shall also state in detail the proposed use or uses to be made of the land.

When the application is for Item 19.1 (c); 19.1 (d) landfill or excavation, the development plan shall also include a topography map showing existing contour lines at an interval not greater than 5 feet and proposed contour lines at the same interval, which will exist upon completion of the operation.

SECTION 19.4 - TIME LIMITATION ON PERMIT

No permit shall be issued for a period of more than five years and shall not be renewed unless the findings required by Section 19.2 shall be made as upon an original application.

SECTION 19.5 - CONDITIONS OF PERMIT

The Board of Appeals shall attach appropriate conditions to permits granted regarding the control of erosion, hours of operations, fires, sanitation, supervision, fences, gates, and other matters in it's discretion.

CHAPTER XX
NONCONFORMING USES AND STRUCTURES

SECTION 20.1 - CONTINUANCE OF USE

The lawful use of any premises existing at the time of the adoption of this Ordinance may be continued although such use does not conform to the provisions hereof, but if such nonconforming use is discontinued, the future use of said premises shall be in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 20.2 - EXPANSION

(a) Structures or uses nonconforming by reason of height and area, parking and loading provisions only may be extended, enlarged, altered, remodeled or modernized provided that all height and area, parking and loading provisions are complied with, with respect to any extension or enlargement and provided the Building Inspector shall determine that any alteration, remodeling or modernization shall not substantially extend the life of any nonconforming structure. Any structure which is nonconforming at the time of enactment of this Ordinance or amendment by reason of Parking and loading provisions and which is thereafter made conforming or less nonconforming by the addition of parking and / or loading space shall not thereafter be permitted to use such additionally acquired parking and / or any loading space to meet requirements for any extension, enlargement or change of use to one requiring greater areas for parking and / or unloading.

(b) A legally-existing nonconforming use may be extended only throughout a building being used for a legally existing nonconforming use at the adoption of this ordinance, provided no structural alterations are made therein except those required by law or such as may be required for safety.

SECTION 20.3 - RESTORATION AND REPAIR

Such repairs and maintenance work as are required to keep a non-conforming building or structure in a sound condition may be made. In the event any nonconforming building or structure shall be damaged by fire, wind, or an Act of God or the public enemy, it may be rebuilt or restored provided the cost thereof shall not exceed one half the value of such building or structure after such rebuilding or restoration; said determination to be made by the Building Inspector or an appeal by the Board of Appeals.

In the event any nonconforming building or structure shall be damaged by fire, wind, or an Act of God or the public enemy and the cost of rebuilding or restoration shall exceed one half the value of such building or structure after rebuilding or restoration, the same shall be permitted only with approval of the Board of Appeals, which approval shall be granted only upon a finding;

(a) That such rebuilding or restoration will not substantially extend the probable duration of such nonconforming use, or

(b) That circumstances are such that the land previously occupied by such nonconforming use cannot then be advantageously used for a use permitted in the zone.

SECTION 20.4 - CHANGE OF NONCONFORMING USE

Whenever a Use District shall be changed, any then legally existing nonconforming use in such changed district may be continued, provided all other regulations governing use are complied with. Whenever a nonconforming use of a building or premises has been changed to a more restricted use or to a conforming use, such use shall not thereafter be changed to a less restricted use.

SECTION 20.5 - NONCONFORMING USE DISCONTINUED

In the event that any nonconforming use is discontinued for a period of two years, any subsequent use shall conform to the uses permitted in the district in which the premises are located.

SECTION 20.6 - BUILDINGS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

Nothing in this Ordinance shall require any change in the erection or intended use of a building or structure for which a building permit has been issued and the construction of which shall have been diligently prosecuted for 30 days preceding the date of passage of this Ordinance.

CHAPTER XXI
BOARD OF APPEALS

SECTION 21.1 - MEMBERS, PER DIEM EXPENSES AND REMOVAL TOWNSHIP ONLY

There is hereby created a Board of Appeals of three members. The first member of such Board of Appeals shall be the chairman of the Zoning Board, the second member shall be a member of the Township Board appointed by the Township Board and the Third member shall be selected and appointed by the first two members from among the electors residing in the unincorporated area of the Township provided, that no elected officer of the Township may serve simultaneously as the third member, or as an employee of the Board of Appeals. The total amount allowed such Board of Appeals in any one year as per diem or as expenses actually incurred in the discharge of their duties shall be a reasonable sum which shall be provided annually in advance by the Township Board. Members of the Board of Appeals shall be removable by the Township Board for non-performance of duty or misconduct in office upon written charges and after a public hearing.

SECTION 21.2 - OFFICERS

The Board shall elect from its membership, a Chairman, Vice chairman and other such officers as deemed necessary.

SECTION 21.3 - RULES OF PROCEDURE

The Board shall adopt rules and regulations. Copies of such regulations shall be made available to the public at the office of the Township Clerk.

(a) Meetings of the Board shall be held at the call of the Chairman and at such times as the Board may determine. There shall be a fixed place of meeting and all hearings shall be open to the public.

(b) The Board shall act by resolution. The concurring vote of two members of said Board shall be necessary to reverse any order, requirement, decision or determination of the Building Inspector or to decide in favor of the applicant on any matter upon which it is required to pass by this Ordinance, or to grant variations from the requirements of this Ordinance.

(c) The Board shall keep minutes of its proceeding, showing the action of the Board and the vote of each member upon each question, or, if absent, or failing to vote, indicating such fact, and shall keep records of its examination and other official action, all of which shall be filed promptly in the office of the Board and shall be a public record.

(d) A copy of each resolution passed upon by the said Board of Appeals shall be submitted to the Clerk of the Township, the Secretary of the Zoning Board and to the Building Inspector.

SECTION 21.4 - JURISDICTION

The Board of Appeals, in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance, may reverse or affirm, wholly or in part, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from, and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises, and to that end shall have all the powers to hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under this Ordinance; also where it is alleged by the appellant that there is error or misinterpretation in any order, requirements, decision, grant or refusal made by the Building Inspector or other administrative officer in the carrying out or enforcement of the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 21.5 - VARIANCES

Subject to the provisions of this chapter, the Board, after public hearing, shall have the power to decide the applications, filed as hereafter provided, for variances:

(a) Where, by reason of exceptional narrowness in width, breadth, length or shape of a specific piece of property on the effective date of this Ordinance, or by reason of exceptional topographic conditions, or other extraordinary situation or condition of the land, building or structure, or of the use of or development of property immediately adjoining the property in question, the literal enforcement of the requirements of this Ordinance would involve practical difficulties or would cause undue hardship; provided that the Board shall not grant a variance on a lot of less area than the requirements of its zone district, even though such lot existed at the time of passage of this Ordinance, if the owners of members of his immediate family owned adjacent land which can, without undue hardship, be included as part of the lot.

(b) Where there are practical difficulties or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of such Ordinance relating to the construction, structural changes, in equipment, or alterations of buildings or structures, or the use of land, buildings or structures so that the spirit of this Ordinance shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done.

(c) Approve issuance of a permit for enlargement of an existing building structure or erection on the same lot or plat of ground of additional buildings for trade, business or industry, located in a district restricted against its use, where such enlargement or expansion of such trade or business or industry will not be detrimental to or tend to alter the character of the neighborhood.

SECTION 21.6 - STANDARDS

No variance in the provisions or requirements of this Ordinance shall be authorized by the Board unless the Board finds, from reasonable evidence that all the following facts and conditions exist:

(a) That there are exceptional or extraordinary circumstances or conditions applying to the property in question as to the intended use of the property that do not apply generally to other properties in the same zoning district.

(b) That such variance is necessary for the preservation and enjoyment of a substantial property right similar to that possessed by other properties in the same zoning district and in the vicinity. The possibility of increased financial return shall not of itself be deemed sufficient to warrant a variance.

(c) That the authorizing of such variance will not be of substantial detriment to adjacent property and will not materially impair the intent and purposes of this Ordinance or the public interest.

(d) That the condition or situation of the specific piece of property, or the intended use of said property for which the variance is sought is not of so general or recurrent a nature as to make reasonably practicable the formulation of a general regulation for such conditions or situation.

SECTION 21.7 - SPECIAL EXCEPTIONS. The Board of Appeals, after public hearing, shall have the power to grant special exceptions heretofore authorized and, in addition may authorize the following:

(a) The vertical extension of a building existing at the time of enactment of this Ordinance to such height as the original drawings of said building indicated, provided such building was actually designed and constructed to carry the additional stories necessary for said height limit.

(b) Permit the erection or structural alteration, in a district where such use is permitted, of a grain elevator, gas holder, or other industrial structure to a height above the limit specified for such district.

SECTION 21.8 - CONDITIONS OF APPROVAL

In authorizing a variance or exception, the Board may, in addition to the specific conditions of approval called for in this Ordinance, attach thereto such other conditions regarding location, character, landscaping or treatment reasonably necessary to the furtherance of the intent and spirit of this Ordinance and the protection of the public interest.

SECTION 21.9 - PROCEDURE

The following procedure shall be required:

(a) An appeal for variance from any ruling of the Building Inspector or other administrative officer administering any portion of this Ordinance may be taken by any person, partnership, corporation or any governmental department affected or aggrieved.

(b) An application for special exceptions authorized by this Ordinance may be taken by any person, partnership, corporation or governmental department affected.

(c) When an application or appeal has been filed in proper form and the fee paid with the required data, the Secretary of the Board shall within 10 days place the said application or appeal upon the calendar for hearing and cause notices stating the time, place and object of the hearing to be served. Such notices shall be served personally or by mail at least seventy-two hours prior to the day of such hearing, upon the applicant or the appellant and the Building Inspector, or other administrative body from which such appeal is taken. A like notice shall be sent, or delivered personally, at least seventy-two hours prior to the hearing to all owners of property as shown by the Township Treasurer's Office within 300 feet of the premises involved by regular United States mail, postage prepaid, addressed to the last known address of such property owners as shown by said records. Any interested party may appear and be heard at such hearings, in person or by agent or attorney.

(d) Upon the day for hearing any application or appeal, the Board may adjourn the hearing in order to permit the obtaining of additional information, or to cause such further notice as it deems proper to be served. In the case of an adjourned hearing, persons previously notified and persons already heard need not be notified of the time of resumption of said hearing unless the Board so decides.

SECTION 21.10 - DECISIONS OF THE BOARD

The Board shall decide all applications and appeals within 30 days after the final hearing thereon. A copy of the Board's decision shall be transmitted to the applicant or appellant and to the Building Inspector. Such decision shall be binding upon the Building Inspector and observed by him, and he shall incorporate the terms and conditions of the same in the permit to the applicant or appellant whenever a permit is authorized by the Board. A decision of the Board shall not become final until the expiration of five days from the date such decision is made unless the Board shall find the immediate effect of such decision is necessary for the preservation of property or personal rights and shall so certify on the record.

SECTION 21.11 - STAY OF PROCEEDINGS

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the Building Inspector certifies to the Board of Appeals after notice of appeal shall have been filed with him, that by reason of fact stated in the certificate, a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property. In such case, proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by a restraining order which may, on due cause shown, be granted by the Board of Appeals or by the Circuit Court on application, after notice to the Building Inspector.

CHAPTER XXII

CHAPTER XXIII
ADMINISTRATION AND ENFORCEMENT

SECTION 23.1 - BUILDING PERMIT REQUIRED

It shall be unlawful for any person to commence excavation for, or construction of any building, structure or parking area, or to make structural changes in any existing building or structure, without first obtaining a building permit from the Township Building Inspector. No permit shall be issued for the construction, alteration or remodeling of any building or structure until an application has been submitted showing that the construction proposed is in compliance with the provisions of this Ordinance and with the Building Code No building, plumbing, electrical or drainage permit shall be issued until the Building Inspector has determined that the plans and designated use indicate that the structure and premises, if constructed as planned and proposed, will conform with the provisions of this Ordinance.

SECTION 23.2 - ADMINISTRATIVE OFFICIALS

Except as otherwise provided in this Ordinance, the Building Inspector shall administer and enforce this Ordinance including the receiving of applications, the inspection of premises, the issuing of building permits, and institute proceedings for enforcement of the provisions of this Zoning Ordinance.

SECTION 23.3 - PERMITS

Every application for a building permit shall be made as required by this Ordinance or by the Building Code and shall designate the existing or intended use of the structure or premises, or part thereof which it is proposed to alter, erect, or extend, and the number of dwelling units, if any, to occupy it. The application shall be accompanied by two ink, blueprint or photostat copies of drawings drawn to scale, showing the actual lines, angles and dimensions of the lot to be built upon or used, and the exact size and location on the lot of all existing and proposed structures and uses, together with specifications. The application shall contain other information with respect to the lot and adjoining property as may be required by the Building Inspector. One copy of both plans and specifications shall be filled in and retained by the Office of the Building Inspector, and the other shall be delivered to the applicant when the Building Inspector has approved the application and issued the permit. In cases of minor alterations, the Building Inspector may waive portions of the foregoing requirements obviously not necessary for determination of compliance with this Ordinance. Any permit required by this Zoning Ordinance or the Building Code of this Township shall be displayed face out, within 24 hours of its issuance by placing the same in a conspicuous place on the premises facing the nearest highway, and shall be continuously so displayed until all work, or the term for which issued, or purpose for which issued is completed. Failure to obtain and display any such permit shall constitute a violation of the Zoning Ordinance and Building Code and shall subject each person or persons or corporation for whose benefit the permit is required, and the owner or owners of the premises involved to prosecution for such violation.

SECTION 23.4 - OCCUPANCY

It shall be unlawful to use or permit the use of any structure or premises hereafter altered, extended or erected, until the Building Inspector shall have made an inspection of the premises and shall have approved the same for occupancy in writing.

SECTION 23.5 - VIOLATIONS AND PENALTY

Any person, firm or corporation who violates, disobeys, omits, neglects or refuses to comply with or who resists enforcement of any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be fined not less than $25.00 nor more than $100.00, or imprisoned for not more than 90 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment at the discretion of the court, with the cost of prosecution for such offense. Every day that violation is permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense.

SECTION 23.6 - AMENDMENTS

Amendments or supplements to this Zoning Ordinance may be made from time to time in the manner provided by law.

(a) Procedure:

(1) The Zoning Board may propose amendments on its own initiative.

(2) Any resident or landowner of the Township may bring before the Zoning Board any proposed amendment or change by filing a petition signed by the owner or owners of the premises to be acted upon with the legal description of said property, requesting the adoption of any specified amendment or change or regulation under the Zoning Ordinance. The Township Clerk shall promptly determine to his own satisfaction whether the petition is properly signed and the property to be affected is correctly described, and if he so finds in the affirmative, he shall file the same with the Secretary of the Zoning Board within 10 days of the date the petition was filed with the clerk. The determination by said Township Clerk as aforesaid shall be conclusive that the petition has the required information.

(b) Power of Revocation - The Township Board shall have the power to revoke or cancel any change of Zone affected for any failure or neglect to comply with any provisions of this Ordinance, or in case any false statement or misrepresentation is made in any petition, application, specification, plan or sketch submitted or filed pertaining to rezoning proceedings, or for failure to carry out any provision of such application, petition, specification, plan or sketch or conditions or provisions on which such rezone of property was granted.

(c) Action on Petition by Zoning Board - Said petition shall be considered by the Zoning Board at its next regular meeting following the receipt thereof by its Secretary provided, however, that there is adequate and sufficient time for giving any public notices required by law. The Zoning Board may recommend to the Township Board modification, rejection or the adoption of said proposal either in its original form or changed form.

SECTION 23.7 - FILING FEES

Applications and petitions filed pursuant to the revisions of this Ordinance shall be accompanied by the filing fees hereinafter specified.

(a) For each petition for an appeal from a decision of the Building Inspector to the Board of Appeals or petition or application to the Board of Appeals for variance, a fee as determined annually by the Township Board shall accompany the petition or application.

(b) For each petition for an amendment to this ordinance, a fee as determined annually by the Township Board shall accompany the petition or application.

(c) The Township Board shall annually set the amount of the Building Permit fees. The amount of such fee shall accompany each application for a Building Permit.

SECTION 23.8 - SEVERABILITY

Should any action or provision of this Ordinance be declared by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the Ordinance as a whole or any portion thereof other than the portion so declared to be invalid.

SECTION 23.9 - EFFECTIVE DATE

The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be necessary for the public health, welfare, safety, peace and morals and shall take effect immediately.

Notice is hereby given that the above ordinance was duly adopted by the Marion Township Board at its meeting in the Township Hall on Oct. 30, 1970; Viz:

Ellsworth Defeats MC at Homecoming

The Ellsworth Lancers took to a muddy field Friday night to tie a knot in the tail of the Mackinaw City Comets, 28 to 6.

The win gives Ellsworth a record of 2-4 for the season. The Lancers will play their final game of the season Friday night at Bellaire.

Ellsworth scored in the first period on a 60-yard run by Dennis "Hud" Drenth, with Bill James making the extra point.

In the second period, the Lancers scored again on a long pass, with Rick Van-Stedum making the TD. The extra point was also good.

Before the half, Mackinaw City scored on a six-yard run by Clement Valet, but the point was lost, leaving the score for two quarters at 14-6.

Action in the second half was dominated by James, Drenth and Ken Derenzy. On the first marker, James took the ball across after receiving a 40-yard pass from Drenth. On the second play, James received a 15-yard pass from Derenzy. Both points were good, leaving the score 28-6 at the final whistle.

Robert Grose of Ellsworth suffered a slight brain concussion at the start of the fourth period and was taken to Charlevoix Hospital where he was kept overnight for observation. He was released Saturday and is reported in satisfactory condition.

We've Learned a Lot, But We've Only Begun

Although the outcome of the 106th Representative District race is a toss-up at this writing, the vigorous three-way campaign just ended has been an education in politics for residents of northern Michigan.

And the main lesson that has emerged is the need for more education on the part of candidates and voters alike on the many problems that face our state lawmakers.

At least one candidate consistently confused state and national issues.

Another candidate didn't crack the books early enough or often enough, basing much of his platform on hearsay and intuition.

The same candidate, in his efforts to win friends, bent to every political wind that came his way, resulting in a number of proposals that were clearly inconsistent with each other.

The third candidate tried to avoid the issues for too long in hopes that his opponents would hang themselves by taking sides.

The poor electorate has been caught in the middle trying to sift the chaff from the grain and becoming hopelessly muddled at times during the long campaign.

Unfortunately, neither of the two Republican candidates, nominee Richard Friske or write-in Glenn Law jr., had the counsel they needed from the incumbent representative, Robert W. Davis.

Davis, who has his own political career to look out for, endorsed neither man and concentrated his efforts toward the defeat of Russel (Bob) Lee for 37th Senatorial District seat.

Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City was virtually without the support of his party on either the local or state levels until it suddenly appeared that a serious split in GOP ranks had put the House seat within his grasp.

Johnson's efforts were further hampered by press handouts prepared by a Traverse City public relations firm which emphasized the negative qualities of Johnson's opponents rather than the positive qualities of the candidate himself.

Now that the tumult and shouting are almost over, we hope both Republican and Democratic leaders will launch virogous educational campaigns to inform the voters--and keep them informed--of the issues as they develop in Lansing and elsewhere throughout the state.

We believe this can best be accomplished on the county level by public forums on the issues scheduled regularly every two or three months throughout the year.

Experts in the various fields (education, taxation, social legislation) could be called in to discuss the problems, suggest possible solutions and, hopefully, sound out the people on what they want and how far they are willing to go.

We also believe that henceforth anyone desiring to run for a partisan public office should be a bonafide member in good standing of the party he wishes to represent at the polls.

In the past, it has been too easy in the 106th District for candidates of any political stripe to sneak in under the Republican banner when their political beliefs are far removed from the mainstream of party policy.

We also would like both parties to make available to their candidates a "short course" in government issues so that they could speak out honestly and factually without embarrassing themselves or their constituents.

This doesn't mean we want "party men" right down the line. But we do feel the candidates should be apprised of where their party stands on the various issues.

It goes without saying that the current political maelstrom is without precedent in northern Michigan, from the emergence of 11 GOP candidates for the House seat last spring, right down to the final tally Nov. 3.

As a result, the voters in northern Michigan today are probably better informed on state problems than ever before in history.

We hope that the party chairmen will not let the momentum die.

Many persons never before involved in politics have jumped into the arena during the present campaign. With a little encouragement, they can be persuaded to continue their political activities and become better citizens in the bargain.

The GM Strike Hurts Us All

Although Charlevoix is far removed from strike-bound General Motors plants in southern Michigan, our resort industry certainly will feel the effects of the strike if it continues much longer.

Last Wednesday, GM officials reported a loss in revenue of $77 million during the third quarter of 1970, due in part to the strike.

And if big GM itself is feeling the effects of the labor impasse, so are the hundreds of thousands of strikers and others who have been laid off at GM and in supporting industries throughout the country.

Almost as hard-hit are GM shareholders.

The eight-week old strike probably has already delivered a body-blow to northern Michigan ski resort industry, although it won't be felt until the snow flies and the lodges reopen. City families living from hand-to-mouth certainly are not going to have much left over for winter outings.

And every week the strike continues means it will take that much longer for the families of the unemployed to catch up. Long vacations "up north" next summer already may be out of the question for some of them.

Supt. Objects To Editorial On Language

Charlevoix COURIER
Charlevoix, Michigan 49720
Gentlemen:

Your editorial of Oct. 28, 1970, titled Ball Field No Place For Foul Language, has done a grave injustice to our school. To imply that the fans, coaches and players participated in foul, vulgar, and abusive language to a point that the officials had to ask for police protection is an insult to our people.

Contrary to your opinion, I felt that our people handled themselves in an exemplary manner under the stress and duress if this poorly officiated game. The fact that this game was poorly officiated can be documented, not only by our films, but by the Charlevoix High School film should you care to review it.

We have lodged a protest with the Michigan-Huron Shores League and the Michigan State Athletic Association in regards to those officials.

No comment was made in your editorial about the conduct of our people in the second half of this game when it was obvious that nothing could be done as to the quality of officiation we received. Our stands were quieted by the cheerleaders. Our players sat demurely on the sidelines and our coaches steadfastly refused to question the officials on any more calls.

I would like to add that despite the poor officiation which took the game out of the hands of both teams the Charlevoix fans, coaches and players did not lose their heads. In no way does Traverse City Saint Francis hold any grudges against your fine school. Our relationship with Charlevoix High School has always been excellent and they will continue that way.

I, personally, watched the game from the fifty yard line–five yards behind the football players. I find no justification for your allegations.

Your editorial in no way could be construed as constructive criticism. It was derogatory, damaging, ill conceived and, therefore, unprofessional.

We ask that you retract, rewrite, or print this letter so that some of the damage can be undone.

Sincerely,
Jerome Allore
Superintendent

JA s

P.S. In regards to conduct during the second half, I suggest you call Vane Smith, Charlevoix principal who sat with the Traverse City St. Francis people during this time.

Collectors Meet Set

October 28, 1970

Charlevoix Courier
Letter to the Editor:

A group of interested collectors met recently at the community room of the First State Bank to organize a Collectors Club, that would include all types of collections that were in good taste and objects of Americana and memorabilia.

We know there are many collections locally, in stamps, coins, first day covers, bottles, matchbooks, salt and pepper shakers, china and even collections of antique cars, steam engines, farm equipment and unique collections unheard of before.

Many may wish to fill vacancies in their collections or to dispose of them, we feel that such an organization could help in either case, one, to get the most for your collection, two, to obtain the needed item for your collection reasonable.

We have decided that, with those who would like to join us, to bring samples of your collection(s) to the Community Room of the First State Bank on the evening of Nov. 10 at 7 p.m.

Naturally that type of collection that cannot be properly displayed on a table cannot be handled, however photos of the collection or a portion thereof could be exhibited.

A committee will be on hand to properly arrange your display and light refreshments will be available.

We hope to develop in all types of collecting and at a later date may be able to arrange full collection displays in various categories.

We realize that later on, divisions may be made to include those interested in the same type of collections, but for the present we feel this is a good way to start. A form will be available for your ideas of the future in this type of organization and we sincerely solicit the public co-operation.

You are invited to attend even though you do not bring a part of your collection, just come if interested.

Sincerely,
Ralph Hamilton

Take That, Miss Tatlock!

By BOB CLOCK

Every October I hold my breath in dreadful anticipation that a "good, old-fashioned Hallowe'en" is in store.

And every Nov. 1 I relax, safe in the knowledge that the next October is 11 months away.

I'd hate to have lived on my block when I was a kid, particularly during October if I were someone who was continually on the outs with the younger generation.

Because the month of October was when kids took their revenge, settling all accounts with people who had "done them dirt" the rest of the year.

Example: A baseball is inadvertently thrown into Miss Tatlock's petunia Bed. Miss Tatlock happens to be in the garden at the time and narrowly misses being hit by the ball. But instead of throwing it back, Miss Tatlock pops the ball in her apron pocket and shakes her finger at the offenders, promising to tell their parents.

Miss Tatlock doesn't know it, but she is a marked woman from then on. Come October, she will wish she had been born with a more charitable disposition.

Example: Mr. Simon Pure catches a bunch of boys behind his garage smoking cigarettes. Being a non-smoker himself, Mr. Pure takes down every boy's name and reports us all personally to our parents.

A fine, upright citizen, Mr. Pure, interested in the health and well-being of all the young people in the city. But he's also an unpardonable fink, one who will wish he had not been quite so high-principled when October rolls around.

For October, according to the code of the streets in the 1930's and 40's, was the month when all the poor, belabored kids in the city of Detroit squared accounts with their adult antagonists.

And we didn't confine our mischief to Hallowe'en. We usually had so many accounts to square that one night wouldn't have been long enough.

By common consent, the kids in our neighborhood settled on several different nights in October for various forms of harassment.

There was doorbell night, for one. Bands of five or six boys would rove the neighborhood ringing doorbells. One boy would sneak stealthily up on a porch and punch the bell button. Then he would run like the devil and hide behind the closest tree, while his friends looked on from assorted clumps of shubbery.

The home owner would flick on his porch light and open the door only to find the front porch deserted. Then he would step outside to look around. Seeing no one, he would swear under his breath and go back inside, leaving the porch light on.

When the door closed, every privet hedge and clump of spirea up and down the block rippled with laughter.

Then we'd move on to the next neighborhood offender, with each boy taking turns doing the dirty work.

Another night was set aside for soaping windows. We would sneak all kinds of soft soap from the laundry room and decorate every window we could reach. As I recall, we confined out designs to simple streaks and curly-cues and steered clear of the four-letter words so popular with today's window soapers. I suppose we would have used four-letter words, but, to be honest about it, none of us was very good at spelling.

No one really seemed to mind the soaping, because in Detroit no one washed their windows and put up storms until mid-November.

The most horrendous night of October was "garbage night," set aside to even the score with out most grievous offenders. On garbage night, you would simply remove the garbage can from the rear of the victim's property, carry it around to the front and strew the contents on the porch.

Looking back, I am aghast to have been a part of such goings-on, but at the time it seemed a perfectly natural form of protest against neighborhood busibodies and kid-haters.

By Hallowe'en itself, all accounts had been squared good and proper, and we would don costumes and traipse from door to door of the same householders we had been bedeviling all month, crying: "Help the Poor!" (I never heard the expression 'Trick or Treat' until I was 20 and too old to beg.)

But the good old days appear to be gone forever and it's just as well.

I'd hate to have lived on my block when I was a kid.

If it Fitz

Before I Leave You

By JIM FITZGERALD

A fellow columnist recently told his readers he has terminal cancer and will soon die.

I couldn't help wondering: If the doctors put a black X on my forehead, would I tell you about it? Outside of being born, the most important thing that happens to a person is dying. If I had advance notice of my funeral date, would it be fair to withhold the news from my constant readers (Mother and Aunt Madeline)?

Let's say the doctor gave me six months. Chances are I could press words out of this typewriter right up until the last week or so. I base this estimate on past experience. Neither snow nor rain nor terminal hangover has ever kept me home from work.

This isn't because I'm brave and rugged. It's because anyone who sleeps during the day in my house risks a cat in the face or a vacuum cleaner in the ear. My home is no place for an unhealthy man.

I could probably write 24 goodbye columns before finally leaving. My friendly mortician would wear out his tongue licking his chops.

And I could write more than soggy farewells. I could tell everyone off in fine fashion. I could prick balloons and name names and expose all sorts of foul hypocrisies. I could finally write without fear of a punch in the nose because no one would punch a doomed man. I would walk with a limp just to make sure.

I could also make it clear what I want done with my body. I want the doctors and scientists to help themselves...

–The eyes should go to a blind girl so that I might finally see what women see in clowns like Elvis Presley, Englebert Humperdink and Tom Jones.

–My heart should be transplanted into anyone living in San Francisco. Then the band will always know what to play when I walk into a nightclub in heaven.

--My liver should be made available but not forced upon anyone.

–The doctors can decide the distribution of any other parts that might be in demand at the time. The remains should be cremated and the ashes put in a Mason jar and stored on a shelf along with my wife's jams and jellies. This will help her to remember me every morning just before she spreads her toast.

These are all persuasive reasons for announcing my death in advance, if I should ever get the chance. But the best reason was supplied by a friend.

"Is it fair to force readers to react to my death before I die?" I asked him. "Should I print my obituary months in advance?"

"Sure," he answered. "That way you can go to all the parties."

Column Brings Back Memories

Route 2, Box 328
Traverse City, Mich. 49684
Oct. 26, 1970

Dear Mr. Clock:

I have before me a copy of the Aug. 5 "Clockwise." A friend of mine from Charlevoix mailed it to me thinking there might be a connection. There is.

(The Aug. 5 column dealt with picking cherries at the Thompson farm at Chum's Corners south of Traverse City in the 1940's).

The Thompson farm was my childhood home. I was married before the time you would have picked cherries there. The editorial was so well written and certainly brought back memories to me.

My mother, Mrs. Thompson, passed away in 1962 and my father followed in 1964. After mother was gone, Dad sold the farm to the former owner of the Golden Valley Ranch of Leelanau County. He named it the Spring Valley Ranch and developed it into the horseback riding area it is today. It pleased Dad to have someone really do something with the place. Since then I believe it has changed hands a couple of times.

My brother lives in the red brick-crete home across the road from the farm. My home is on Long Lake southwest of Traverse City.

It helps relieve the tensions and anxieties of today's world to read an article such as this one from the past.

Thank you
Yours truly
Lois (Thompson) Helmick

Odysseus' Ghost Haunts Ionian Sea

Odysseus' ghost still haunts islands in the Ionian Sea.

So accurate were Homer's descriptions in the Odyssey that scholars and sailors can trace the legendary hero's voyage across the "wine dark" waters.

Six of Greece's Ionian Islands rise from the sea along the west coast of the mainland, a seventh–Cerigo–lies in the Mediterranean off the tip of the Peloponnesus, the National Geographic Society says.

SERVED BY CRUISE

In the summer a weekly cruise ship from Corinth enables passengers to visit the six islands along the coast. Daily summer car-ferry service links Italy with Corfu, the largest and most popular island.

Visitors from Italy long have been attracted to Corfu. The Venetians held the island from 1386 to 1797. In the town of Corfu, the capital, narrow, twisting streets flanked by small colorful houses–balconies awash with laundry–still suggest parts of Venice.

Silver and green with four million olive trees, Corfu from the sea resembles an ancient Greek shield with rugged Mount Pantocrator forming the central boss. At Ermones Bay on the island's west coast, a stream cascades down to a sandy beach where tradition says Odysseus went ashore after his shipwreck.

TOMBS FOUND

Thick pine and fir forests cover the hills on 297-square-mile Cephalonia, largest of the Ionian Islands. The discovery of Mycenaean tombs in an elaborate necropolis prove the island's importance in ancient times.

To the south, flowers and orchards cover Zante, an island known to the Venetians as "the flower of the Levant." Two pitch springs near a small village called Keri were described by the Greek historian Herodotus in the fifth century B.C.

BELFRIES AND SHEEP

Goats and sheep roam rocky Paxoi, the smallest of the seven. Church belfries rise above the neat whitewashed houses grouped around the island's harbor.

Some scholars identify Leucas as Odysseus' long-sought island homeland. But most say neighboring Ithaca was where he "kissed the grain-giving ground."

Many coves and anchorages make precipitous Ithaca the natural center of a maritime kingdom whose configuration perfectly fits Homer's description.

LANDING PLACE

Jutting headlands shield the entrance to Vathi, Ithaca's modern port and capital and the place where Odysseus probably landed on his return home. The grotto of the nymphs where he hid his treasure lies buried on a hillside only a short ride from the town.

History and legend also flank neighboring Leucas. Off its northern shore in 31 B.C., the lighter, faster fighting ships of Octavian defeated the lumbering fleet of Antony and Cleopatra in the Battle of Actium. The Roman republic fell, the empire began, and history's famous lovers fled to suicide by the sword and asp.

Schuss Mt. Hires Real Estate Firm

Ski & Shore Properties, Inc., headquartered in Bellaire, has entered into a consulting contract to handle real estate sales and development for Schuss Mountain resort, near Mancelona.

In a joint announcement, Daniel Ianotti, president of Schuss, and Richard E. Georgi, of Ski & Shore, said the Bellaire real estate firm will maintain an office at Schuss to conduct the sale of building sites, homes and chalets on property at the popular new year-around resort.

Opened only three years ago, Schuss Mountain has enjoyed spectacular growth. It is surrounded by 1,300 acres of land suitable for private residences. Much of the property already has been sold, and sites in the first Schuss subdivision were sold out even before the present seven miles of paved roads were started.

Although Schuss is primarily a winter ski center, many nonskiers are building homes and chalets on the property for their own use in spring, summer, and fall, and are renting their property to skiers in winter.

Schuss offers a rental management service that includes snow plowing, trash removal, maid service, linens and switchboard service to the main lodge so that the owner of the property need not visit it during the winter season unless so inclined.

Ianotti said this concept is relatively new to the midwest but has won wide acceptance in Colorado and elsewhere.

"In addition to easy access to all of the resort's year-around facilities," he pointed out, "the owner of a home or chalet receives tax advantages from his rental property that accelerate payment of the mortgage, while he has first call on the use of the property, whether for family, business entertaining, or friends."

Ellsworth School News

By ANNE OSTERBAAN

Co-editors of the 1970 yearbook are Patti Ruis and Judy Friske.

Stanley Kitson and Jerry DeKraker are new ninth graders. Mike McQuire is new to the seventh grade.

Students in the Business Machines and Data Processing class in Charlevoix saw the film "A Manner of Speech."

A nice crowd turned out recently for the Campus Life "manhunt." Each team or two or three had to find various people, including a girl in curlers, a boy in shorts, a letterman, and a class officer. Object of the manhunt was recruiting new members. Games, music and food completed the evening.

Our first snowfall was hailed with joy by all. (Remember Nov. 14, 1969, when the season's first heavy snow forced the closing of the Ellsworth Schools? Other nearby school districts had only a fraction of the Ellsworth snowfall and were not affected.)

Mrs. Vera Ikens attended a convention dinner in Lansing last Thursday where she was honored as a past president of the Michigan Child Study Association. The association was celebrating its 50th anniversary.

Mrs. Morken's fourth graders went on a field trip to find leaves and rocks.

District Court

The following cases were heard recently in Charlevoix by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Proceedings against Larry Frank Sanford, 18, Charlevoix, charged with possession of a narcotic drug, were continued to Nov. 4 to allow him time to obtain counsel.

Darryl L. Smith, 36, Boyne City, plead not guilty to a charge of petty larceny. Trial will be held at a later date.

James McMullen, 34, Walloon Lake, plead guilty to a charge of non-support. He will be sentenced later.

Joyce Ruth Burch, 26, East Jordan, plead guilty to driving while her license was suspended and failure to transfer the title to her motor vehicle. She was assessed $50, placed on six months' probation and sentenced to three days in jail. The jail term was suspended.

Ronald F. DeMitchell, 33 Boyne City, plead guilty to a charge of non-support. He will be sentenced later.

SWIM BACKWARDS

Shrimp swim backwards, pushing themselves with their fan-shaped tails.

Ironton

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edwards left this week to spend the winter in their Clearwater, Fla., home.

Mr. N.C. Christensen is giving his home a new coat of white paint with a green trim. Looks nice.

It surely is unsual to see so many lovely flowers still in bloom in our vicinity as we still have not had a hard frost. The petunias marigolds and geraniums are all still beautiful and the chrysanthemums are bursting with bloom but we know it won't last much longer so enjoy each day as it comes.

Mr. George Krchak is installing a new furnace in the home of Mrs. Marie White.

Several of our local residents attended the band dinner in Charlevoix this Thursday evening.

County Soil Map Ready For Printer

Work on a soil map of Charlevoix County has been completed and is awaiting publication, according to Arthur Cratty, conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Cratty said that soil maps of 497,976 acres were completed in Michigan this year, for a total of 12 million acres, or one-third of the state's land area.

Maps of Grand Traverse, Osceola, Arenac, Muskegon, Montcalm, Ionia, Sanilac Counties already have been printed, Cratty said.

Awaiting publication are soil maps of Charlevoix, Emmet, Delta, Leelanau, Gladwin, Ottawa, Shiawassee, Genesee, Lapeer, St. Clair, Macomb and Livingston Counties.

He said the maps show the nature and extend of the various kinds of soil.

Attend Camporee

Several Charlevoix Scouts attended a camporee at Weber Lake near Wolverine recently. Included in the group from Troop 11 were:

Owl Patrol: Mike Mol, Terry Mol, Brian Osterberg, Chris Begrow and Mark Hosmer.

Wolverine Patrol: Tom Mort, John Osterberg, Robert Dannacher, Jeffrey Himebauch, Greg Mort, Alva Noirot and Lee Begrow.

Eagle Patrol: Dane Whitley and Dennis Wiemer.

Flaming Arrow Patrol: Tim Moerland, Bruce Avery and David Sonnenberg.

Senior Patrol: John Ozga and Paul Osterberg.

They were accompanied by leaders Louis Edwards and Val Avery. Drivers were Mrs. Jack Begrow and James Bergmann.

Highlight of the camporee was a half-mile search and rescue simulation conducted under the leadership of Trooper Bowers of the Cheboygan State Police post and his dog.

The boys also saw a demonstration of forest fighting techniques by the Department of Natural Resources' airborne firefighters.

Scouts attended from Charlevoix, Gaylord, Ellsworth, Alden, Harbor Springs, Boyne Falls, Boyne City, Walloon Lake, Petoskey, Cheboygan and Wolverine.

the parents of college-bound students - (freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, specifically) requirements for college admission and available financing and scholarships. This is a program requested by parents who feel they often do not have enough information on this subject.

The program committee has a couple of program dates still open and would welcome other ideas from interested persons as to programs they would enjoy and benefit from in the coming school year.

Suggestions should be sent to Mrs. Howard Horton, P.T.A. Program Committee Chairman, at the Ellsworth Community School or phoned to the school at 588-2544.

Mrs. Shirley Farrell, Mrs. Opal Hastings, Mrs. Judy Vollmer, and Mrs. Mary Lou Holecheck, members of the program committee, also will accept suggestions for future programs.

Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Vandenberg and children and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nabor spent last weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Klooster and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Boss.

MRS. JACK (Nancy) Kady has left the Courier to assume the role of wife and mother in California. Her husband, a Coast Guardsmen aboard the Cutter Sundew, was discharged Oct. 27 after four years' service and the couple moved west. They expect an addition to their family in December. Mrs. Kady has been replaced at the Courier by Mrs. Ted Lass of Park-ave.

Ponder Changes His Plea

Charles Dale Ponder, 47, originally charged with first degree murder in the slaying of his estranged wife, Marjorie, 47, last June 13 in Eveline Township, has plead guilty to the lesser charge of voluntary manslaughter.

The change of plea came Friday afternoon, only three days before Ponder was to stand trial for first degree murder in the shooting death.

Ponder's court-appointed attorney, Robert Hoffman of Charlevoix, arranged for his client to change his plea at a special session of Circuit Court before Judge Charles L. Brown.

Ponder stood mute to a charge of first degree murder at his arraignment and a plea of innocent was entered by District Judge W. Richard Smith.

At the arraignment, witnesses told how Mrs. Ponder visited the isolated cottage occupied by Ponder and his common-law wife, demanding to know what he intended to do about securing a divorce.

The witnesses said Mrs. Ponder beat and scratched Ponder before other occupants of the house were able to force her outside. Ponder allegedly followed her out of the house with a .22 cal. rifle and shot her when she rushed toward him. Mrs. Ponder was killed instantly by a bullet wound in the head.

The incident culminated a two day drinking party at the Ponder home.

Ponder has been held in the Charlevoix County Jail since the shooting, except for a visit to the state Forensic Center in Ypsilanti for psychiatric evaluation.

The case will now be referred to the county probation officer before sentencing on the lesser charge.

Friske Wins House Seat, Johnson Plans Recount

Antrim County orchardman Richard Friske celebrated a hard-fought GOP victory at the polls last Wednesday evening, after a final tally in the 106th Representative District gave him 12,425 votes, compared to 11,668 for Democrat Peter C. Johnson of Boyne City and 3,092 for write-in candidate Glen Law jr. of St. Ignace.

But the victory may be short lived.

Johnson told the Courier Monday afternoon that he plans to ask for a recount of votes in Chippewa and Mackinaw counties in the Upper Peninsula (except the city of St. Ignace) and certain other selected areas in the Lower Peninsula, including South Arm Township.

Johnson decided on the recount after an observer in South Arm said he saw several ballots with Glen Law write-in votes go into the straight-ticket GOP pile. He didn't say who the observer was.

According to Charlevoix County Clerk Clarence Rabach, Johnson will have to petition formally for the recount within two days after the state convass, scheduled Nov. 23. The cost of the recount is $5 per precinct.

Following is a county-by-county breakdown of how the vote went for the two candidates:

Charlevoix: Friske, 2,242; Johnson, 2,498; Law, 913.

Emmet: Friske, 2,620; Johnson, 2,673; and Law, 752.

Antrim: Friske, 2,352; Johnson, 1,917; Law, 307.

Chippewa: Friske, 1,561; Johnson, 995; and Law, 101.

Kalkaska: Friske, 915; Johnson, 640; and Law, 16.

Otsego: Friske, 1,182; Johnson, 1,709; and Law, 323.

Mackinaw: Friske, 1,553; Johnson, 1,276; and Law, 680.

Born in Poland of German parents, Friske, 45, served in the German armed forces during World War II and was taken prisoner by the Russians.

He eventually immigrated to the United States in 1952 and became a U.S. citizen in 1959. He worked as a tool and die man and operated a coal business in Boyne City before buying his Antrim County orchard, specializing in apples and cherries.

He and his wife, the former Olga Kottke, have a daughter, Judy, and two sons, Richard Jr. and Cornelius.

Waves Damage Seawall At Ferry Beach Ramp

Strong east winds last week did severe damage to the new stone seawall at the Ferry Beach boat launching ramp, Superintendent Thomas Hanna reported to the City Council Monday night.

The new boat launch facility was constructed this summer with funds from the state Waterways Commission and the city of Charlevoix.

Hanna said high waves have washed away small stones between boulders in the seawall and that a 50-foot section of the wall has collapsed.

The council wanted to know where responsibility for the wall lies.

Hanna said he brought the problem to the attention of Ray Lawrence, chief engineer for the Waterways Commission, who suggested that about $10,000 still in the ramp fund be used to make repairs. The new plan is to support the large boulders with large rocks instead of small stones and gravel.

Lawrence reportedly told Hanna that if further trouble developes, the city can either "repair it yourself or watch it fall apart."

The seawall, ramp, paved parking area and restrooms were built at a cost in excess of $130,000. The state paid 90 percent and the city 10 percent. The seawall was designed by United Associates of Cheboygan, a firm approved by the state for marine projects.

In other business the council:

--Learned that contract negotiations between the city and the Communications Workers of America (CWA) will begin Thursday, Nov. 12, at the city hall. The city will be represented by labor attorney Darrel Jacobs of Kalamazoo and the CWA by Stanley Powell, also of Kalamazoo. City employes voted to be represented by the CWA last fall, but negotiations have been delayed by efforts of the city to bargain with policemen and firemen separately. The city contends that police and firemen are subject to compulsory arbitration provisions of state law.

–Learned that all phases of the sewage plant construction project are beginning to dovetail now that voters have approved a $700,000 bond issue by a vote of 904 to 221. Bonding attorneys Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone and financial consultants Kenower MacArthur are drawing up a bonding proposal which will be presented to the State Finance Commission this week, pending approval of engineering plans by the Health Department. Construction bids will be asked by McNamee, Porter and Seeley on Nov. 14 and the contract will be let by Dec. 31. Bonds will go on sale Dec. 11. after a visit to Charlevoix by a representative of Moodys in New York to establish a credit rating.

–Heard from City Attorney John Michael that Circuit Judge James Fitzpatrick has taken under advisement his motion to dismiss a claim by Robert Hamilton that the city has abandoned the foot of Alice-st. adjacent to his boatyard. Michael said he asked for the dismissal in court Friday on grounds that a

TV Cable Cut By Equipment In Pine River

South side cable TV service has been off-again, on-again the past three Saturdays in a row because the cable across Pine River Channel has been broken by Luedke Engineering Co. equipment working on the channel seawalls, according to George Baldwin, owner of Lake Charlevoix Cable TV.

Baldwin says the situation "is almost a comedy of errors" but he hopes the trouble is about over with the seawall work nearing completion.

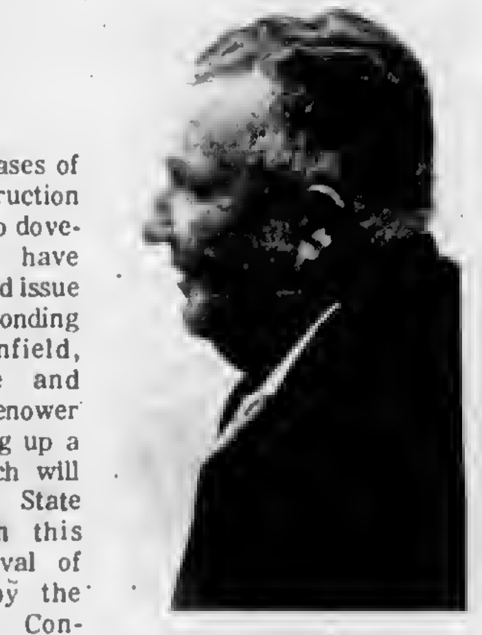
He said the cable actually has been broken four times, once while it spanned the channel from a tall pole on the north bank to the water tower on the south bank.

Then the cable was buried beneath the channel, in accordance with an agreement with the city, but the trouble didn't stop.

Baldwin said equipment used to smooth the banks has gouged up the cable on three different occasions.

"And we don't know about it until we start receiving complaints from television viewers," Baldwin said.

He added that his company hopes to offer uninterrupted service now that the channel project is drawing to a close.



John J. Martin

Tri-City President Stricken

Funeral for John J. Martin, 52, was held at the Community Reformed Church Saturday, Nov. 7, the Rev. Albert Mansen officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

A Charlevoix contractor and founder of Tri-City Concrete, Inc., Mr. Martin died unexpectedly at his home at 309 W. Upright on Wednesday, Nov. 4.

Although he had been in failing health for some time, Mr. Martin was active in the affairs of Tri-City Concrete, which he founded in 1963, until the time of his death. He was president of the firm.

He was born in Charlevoix Township Sept. 3, 1918, and attended Charlevoix schools. During World War II he served 18 months in the U.S. Army, including a year in Europe with the Fifth Division.

Mr. Martin was associated with the Charlevoix County Road Commission for 21 years, first as an employe, then as a foreman in

Dems To Meet On Thursday

Charlevoix County Democrats will meet at the Charlevoix city hall at 8 p.m. Thursday to elect an executive committee for 1971-72, Clement J. Wagner, county chairman, has announced.

Delegates elected in the August Primary election, Democratic candidates for office and persons sworn in as delegates at the summer convention will elect the executive committee at this time.

School Board Weighs Adult Education Classes

The Charlevoix board of education, at its regular meeting Monday, discussed plans for an adult education program to begin early next year, heard recommendations for staffing during the 1971-72 school year, approved appointments of Vocational Education advisory committee and negotiating committee and heard a report on the Grand Traverse Area Library Federation.

Supt. Robert L. Miller reported that he had received many requests for adult education classes. The board gave its approval to the idea that he explore the feasibility of organizing such classes. He said that it would be necessary to have from 12 to 15 students to make classes possible and added that he would explore the demand before completing plans. The classes would begin early in January and continue eight or ten weeks depending on the subject and length of classes.

Staffing for next year was recommended and includes a media specialist in the elementary library. This would be someone trained in the use of all media available in the material center including television; in the Middle School there will be need for an additional sixth grade teacher and a full-time certified librarian with some experience in the various media in the materials center.

He said if auto shop was to be introduced in the high school it would be necessary to look for a qualified teacher, a site for the shop and equipment.

He added that a survey of upper junior and senior high school students would be made to determine what classes they would like added to the curriculum. It will then be possible to determine staff needs if practical.

He added that there would be some shifting of teaching assignments that would likely send Barry Anderson to the high school and Norman Probert to the Middle School full time. Anderson is now at the Middle School and Probert at both the High School and Middle School.

Miller also said he would like to see a woman counselor

STEWART SANDWICHES, which are served daily at the Charlevoix High School and the Middle School this year in place of the type "A" hot lunch, were served to parents and teachers during a break in the Charlevoix PTO meeting Wednesday. Preparing the sandwiches is Miss Barbara Lake of Grand Rapids, a Stewart representative. The hot sandwich program was adopted by the school board because of a $7,500 deficit in the hot lunch budget last year.

PARENTS and teachers lined up for Stewart sandwiches during PTO meeting Wednesday at the Middle School. The frozen sandwiches are heated in their individual wrappers before serving.

PTO Hears Panel On Drug Abuse

"The drug scene is certainly a bad one and positive programs to meet it must be developed. We cannot become involved in mere hand-wringing and negativism and see the problem thereby evaporate into thin air. It just isn't going to happen that way."

These remarks, prepared by Charlevoix-Emmet District Judge W. Richard Smith and read by Jim Marshall, prefaced a meeting on drug abuse sponsored by the Charlevoix Parent-Teacher Organization Wednesday night at the Middle School.

In his letter to Marshall, Judge Smith underscored the drug problem by pointing out that "50 percent of all major crime against persons and property prosecuted in this state are drug-related offenses. Typically, these crimes are committed by heroin addicts attempting to support a $50 to $75 per day habit.

Judge Smith said that young people often tell him that the use of a "safe drug such as marijuana does not lead to heroin addiction.

"I am willing to accept this statement with one qualification: Through the use of marijuana a person forms personal associations that later expose him to heroin," Judge Smith wrote.

"I often ask young people what goal they have in life, he continued. "All too often I hear that they have no goal or no plan–they fail to see any point in having one. They have already given up on the way of life we generally think of as 'good.' I've stated many problems but no solutions. The solutions, if there are any, must come from the community, and by that I mean the entire community including the kids themselves.

Members of a panel discussion on drug abuse were pharmacist Dave Fowler, Principal Vane Smith of Charlevoix High School and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bruce, former drug users.

Smith said the school is at a loss to deal effectively with the drug problem, which has moved into small towns like Charlevoix from the metropolitan areas. He said small towns tend to attract small town teachers and that only one member of his staff, Mrs. Paul Osterberg, has had any formal training in handling drug problems.

Fowler commented on the series of articles on drug abuse which appeared in the Detroit Free Press and said that any drug–including aspirin—can be abused.

The audience was invited to view a display of most commonly misused drugs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce estimated that at least 75 percent of the young people in Charlevoix already have experimented with marijuana and another 35 percent have tried LSD.

Mrs. Robert Martin cautioned them against using statistics without proper supporting evidence.

Smith suggested that Charlevoix investigate "parental responsibility" laws, similar to those in effect in the Pontiac area, to curb drug abuse.

"Parents are called in on the first offense, and there are very few second offenses," he said.

During a break in the meeting, parents and teachers were invited to sample the Stewart sandwiches served this year at the High School and the Middle School.

Barnard News

The Barnard Home Extension Club will meet Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. with Mrs. William Booms.

Mrs. Bertha Roberts of Barnard and son Jack of Grand Rapids visited the past week at Slippery Rock Pa., with Dr. and Mrs. James Roberts and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Matchett of Cedar Springs spent the weekend with the Sanford Matchetts.

Mrs. Arthur Stoel spent the weekend with her daughters and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Noverr of East Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. John VanDam of Bronson and new grandson, James Arthur VanDam.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stutzman spent the weekend in Allegan with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Rose of Grand Rapids were recent visitors with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bottema.

Had quite a nice surprise on Saturday Oct. 31 when our good neighbor, Emil Chvatil brought over a beautiful quart of fresh strawberries out of his garden. He also reported his flowers are all as pretty as ever with no frost as yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Warner visited Sunday in Elk Rapids with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts and girls of Northport were Sunday visitors with Mrs. Bertha Roberts.

Group to Meet In Mancelona

The Charlevoix-Antrim County Holiness Association will meet Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. at the Church of the Nazarene in Mancelona.

Ed Koteskey of Boyne City will speak in the afternoon and Rev. John Morken will preach at the evening service.

A pot-luck supper will be served at 5:30. Members are asked to bring their own table service and a dish to pass, according to Mrs. Jane Fiedler of Charlevoix, secretary.

Charlevoix Area, Beavers Featured in CMU Exhibit

The Charlevoix-Petoskey area and Beaver Island are featured in the first in a series of exhibits entitled "The Michigan Collector" at Central Michigan University's Clarke Historical Library.

The aim of the series, according to John Cumming, director, is to give an overall survey of the development of literature and publishing in Michigan through books and other materials printed in or written by authors in the state.

The exhibit, on the fourth floor of CMU's Park Library, is open to the public without charge from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Cumming said that each exhibit will deal with a specific geographical region. The first is Northwestern Michigan including L'Arbre Croche, Harbor Springs, the Petoskey-Charlevoix area, the Grand Traverse Region, Traverse City, Beaver Island, Boyne City, Fife Lake and the Manistee-Frankfort area.

The inclusions represent a wide and varied selection of topics and interests from the extensive collections of the Clarke Library.

One predominate interest in the current exhibit is that of religion. This is partly represented by selections from the major writings of Bishop Frederic Baraga who began his missionary career among the Michigan Indians at L'Arbre Croche in 1831. Devoted to the Indians, Baraga not only became fluent in their language, but also translated many religious works for their use.

The various publications issued under the imprint of the Holy Childhood Indian School at Harbor Springs during the tenure of Father Zephyrin Engelhart also help to emphasize the importance religion has played in the literature and history of Michigan.

Since the Clarke Library is noted for having one of the most outstanding collections of Strangite Mormon literature in the country, the writing of James J. Strang (Beaver Island) and Wingfield Watson and Edward T. Couch (Boyne City) play an important part in the exhibit.

Watson was a particularly important figure since it was through his ceaseless efforts that the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints was not permitted to disintegrate completely after the murder of James J. Strang on Beaver Island. His efforts on behalf of the church are reflected in the writings during this period of time.

In a more literary vein, the poetry and prose of John Couchois Wright and George Edward Lewis are important because of their emphasis on events and themes as they relate to the Michigan scene. Lewis of Fife Lake is especially known for his tales of lumbering on the Manistee and Muskegon Rivers. The lumber industry, particularly in relation to conservation, is also the theme used in the novels of Harold Titus, a Traverse City author.

Also featured are selections from the works of John J. Howard, the "Bard of Benzie," Andrew Blackbird, the Rev. Peter Dougherty, Morgan Bates, George Lee Thurston and Gwen Frostic. Miss Frostic, the author - printer, is one of the few Michigan people keeping the art of the book alive. In her work is reflected a rare and creative combination of verse, illustration, color, paper and typography.

"Space limitations have necessitated that the exhibit aim at being representative rather than complete, Director Cumming explained, adding, by emphasizing the bibliographical as well a the literary or historical worth of each piece, it is hoped that this and succeeding exhibits will not only reveal the many and varied areas of collecting open in the field of Michigania, but also will stimulate interest, study and appreciation of the literature and history of the state."

The current exhibit will be in place through December.

JORDAN RIVER

The Jordan River rises on the slopes of Mount Hermon, then descends sharply as it flows through the Sea of Galilee before emptying into the Dead Sea, 1,290 feet below sea level. Hydrographic surveys have shown the river could provide power and irrigation for Jordan, Syria, Lebanon, and Israel if peace comes to the Middle East.

4-H Adults, Teens Train in Gaylord

More than 100 adult and teen 4-H leaders from seven northern Michigan counties met recently in Gaylord to participate in a day-long training school designed to develop leadership skills.

"This is the third such program here in Gaylord," said Mrs. Julia Beard, extension home economist for Otsego County, "and participants come from Alpena, Presque Isle, Otsego, Montmorency, Cheboygan, Charlevoix and Emmet counties."

The 4-H leaders attending the workshop ranged from teens with seven years 4-H experience to adults involved with 4-H for the first time.

Both the teens and adults, however, found that they had much in common, and all were enthusiastic about the many areas in which they received specialized training.

Larry Etter, an Alpena 4-H'er, and Mike Karslake, from nearby Vanderbilt, listened attentively as Ron Dickerson explained how they might organize a 4-H snowmobile club.

Others learned about 4-H involvement in such areas as sewing, woodworking, furniture refinishing, leathercraft, gun safety, horsemanship and leader training.

The emphasis in the day-long program was on "doing." The participants were encouraged to work on individual projects, whether it involved sanding and refinishing old furniture or tracing designs on leather.

Specially qualified leaders provided instruction. Those interested in snowmobiles and engines, for instance, worked under the supervision of a competent mechanic. For the girls interested in sewing, there was a room filled with styles of clothes they could make at home – plus many helpful hints on clothing construction from Mrs. Betty Horrocks, extension 4-H youth agent for Presque Isle County.

"Leadership," "communication" and "knowledge" were three words used constantly as both the teen and adult 4-H leaders developed their individual skills. Unspoken, but just as obvious, was the concern evidenced by all of the participants and their desire to better serve youth in their communities.

"We designed this training school for teens and adults in this area who find it difficult to be away from home for a night," said Keith Lampkin, extension 4-H youth agent for Charlevoix, Emmet and Cheboygan counties, "and we've been very pleased with our results. Our 4-H program is benefiting, our communities are benefiting, and each of us is benefiting, too."

BARB BANKS, Harbor Springs (left) and Cathy Gray, Gaylord, demonstrate riding skills for equestrian events. The two girls were among 100 4-H teen and adult leaders who met recently in Gaylord for an all-day training session. Charlevoix County 4-Hers also took part.

DNR Anticipates Smaller Deer Harvest This Season

Michigan's 1970 firearm deer season, set for a Sunday opener Nov. 15, is programmed to produce a lower kill than last season's harvest of nearly 107,000 whitetails, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

Figuring importantly in that planned picture was the DNR's decision to call for a cut of nearly 50 percent in antlerless deer permit quotas for the northern Lower Peninsula.

The region's antlerless deer quotas were reduced sharply in a move to help deer build up in areas where they appear to have been balanced with their range as the result of past antlerless harvests and commercial timber cuttings.

BUCKS ONLY IN UP

Also pointing to a more conservative kill this fall is the fact that the entire Upper Peninsula will be closed to hunting antlerless deer in line with a mandate of the State Legislature. Originally, the DNR had recommended trimming that region's antlerless deer permit quotas by about 50 percent in line with the continued downward trend among whitetails north of the Straits.

Permit quotas in the southern Lower Peninsula have been raised about 1,000 over last year in a continued effort to decrease the alarming rate of car-deer accidents in that part of the state.

DNR game men point out that the quota increase is a modest one and won't have much bearing on the state's total take of antlerless animals, which they expect to run below 25,000 this season. Of that estimated harvest, DNR game men look for this fall's antlerless figure to hit less than 20,000 in the northern Lower Peninsula and somewhere around 4,500 in southern Michigan.

WEATHER FACTOR

In light of last summer's lower deer observations throughout many parts of northern Michigan, the DNR also expects to see this season's buck kill to slip somewhat unless hunters turn out in good numbers and are blessed with the kind of weather that spurs whitetail movements.

In 1969, Michigan's firearm deer season drew a record 656,853 license holders. This fall, the possible impact of the current auto strike hangs heavy as a question mark over hunter turnout, and it poses an imponderable in estimating the level at which the 1970 season's kill will fall short of last year.

Another factor which could cut into early hunting pressure and shooting success is the Sunday starting date this season which will abbreviate the opening weekend.

Unless this season's firearm deer hunters have more "going for them" than can be sized up now, they probably won't match last fall's buck kill of 12,260 in the Upper Peninsula. By the same token, their buck harvest for the northern Lower Peninsula is expected to end somewhat shy of last year's 41,890 animals.

SOUTH PROMISING

In southern Michigan, hunters should equal and may even top last season's take of 11,840 bucks.

David A. Arnold, the DNR's deer specialist, predicts some "doggone good" deer hunting in that farm-belt region. He adds that the Upper Peninsula is still producing the state's big-racked bucks, and notes that the region's south-central area will be the most promising sector for finding those trophy deer.

Arnold observes that deer hunters in the northern Lower Peninsula may get a break from that region's generally spotty acorn crop this year.

MARINE SAFETY

Moved by Commissioner Staley and supported by Commissioner Richardson that the following Resolution be adopted:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

GENTLEMEN:

WHEREAS, The Board of Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, considers it necessary that a marine safety program be conducted by the Sheriff of said county and,

WHEREAS Act 303 Public Acts of 1967 provides for State Aid to Counties conducting a marine safety program on a reimbursement basis of a sum equal to 2/3 of the county's estimated authorized expenditures for a calendar year but not to exceed 2/3 of the county's authorized expenditures actually incurred for the calendar year.

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED That the County of Charlevoix hereby appropriates the sum of $7,840.00 dollars for personnel compensation, subsistence and marine program equipment costs for the calendar year 1971 and that the State of Michigan Department of Conservation Boat and Water Safety Section is hereby requested to authorize reimbursement to the County of Charlevoix a sum equal to 2/3 of the county's estimated authorized expenditures for the calendar year 1971 but not to exceed 2/3 of the authorized expenditures actually incurred for such calendar year. Such reimbursement to be paid to the county subsequent to the close of the calendar year, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the County Treasurer is hereby authorized and instructed to establish a restricted marine safety program account and to deposit therein all sums hereby appropriated, all of which is to be used solely for payment of salaries, subsistence and equipment costs of the marine safety program.

Respectfully submitted,
Kenneth A. Staley, Ralph Richardson, Kit Carson.

Mrs. Sophia McDonough left Oct. 26 to visit her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenny McDonough in Detroit for a few days. From there she and Kenny will go by plane to Barcelona, Spain, to see her son, Tony, who is living near Barcelona. They plan on being in Spain for a week and then Sophia will visit other members of her family for the winter.

Those from the Island who attended the 25th Jubilee Mass honoring Msgr. Victor P. Gallagher of the Grayling Parish were Mr. and Mrs. Bert McDonough, Mr. and Mrs. Dick LaFreniere, Mr. and Mrs. Archie LaFreniere and Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Gillespie.

Mrs. Lil Gregg has been home for a week before returning to Petoskey. Her husband, Phil, is still a patient at Little Traverse Hospital. Their son Ronny is going over for the weekend to see his dad.

Visiting Mrs. Mary Gattiff and Perry are her daughter, Sister Audrey, from California. Sister will be here for three weeks. Another daughter, Mrs. Kathaleen Woods, came to visit also.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Teeter from Hinsdale, Ill., are at their home here for a week.

Robert Gillespie went to the Mainland to Chicago and Holland and plans to go to Florida to work.

Mrs. Hattie Nanigaw is a patient at Lockwood-McDonald hospital in Petoskey. Her daughter Irene from Chicago and granddaughters Marilyn Naport and Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Marion) Bolton all visited her and then came to the Island for a few days.

Roberta Palmer of Hastings visited her dad Clarence Palmer and other members of her family for a few days. Irene Palmer is home too.

Word was received here of the death of Claude Fenn who was a summer resident here for some years. Mr. Fenn lived in Niles, Mich. He died of a heart attack while in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Martin and small son are going to Chicago for a week to visit her dad and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hallahan.

Baby Rattle Could Injure, Parents Told

Bruce B. Bragg, administrative assistant for District Health Department No. 3, has passed along a warning from the state Health Department that a potentially dangerous baby rattle is on the market.

Dr. Maurice S. Reizen, director of the State Health Department, described the rattle as having a plastic handle supporting a base made of the flimsiest cardboard. Should the cardboard base become separated from the handle several metal prongs of various lengths are revealed. These tines are attached to the rattle's handle and are sharp enough to inflict serious injury to a child.

A babysitter in Jackson County first brought the lethal toy to public attention when her young charge jolted the rattle hard enough to cause the base to become unglued from the handle.

Word of the rattle soon reached Richard L. Hardy, Chief of Environmental Health for the Jackson County Health Department. A search by Hardy turned up the rattles in several supermarkets in his county. In all cases store managers promptly removed the toys from their shelves.

It was Hardy who alerted the state health department from where a warning has been issued to all other county and district health departments in the state. The proper federal agencies have also been notified.

Parents of small children are advised to closely examine any baby rattles they have recently purchased. If they match the description given here, waste no time in taking them away from your children, Dr. Reizen

RAYDER halfback Larry Potter wears a sneaky look as he appears to have the field ahead virtually to himself.

Red Rayders Bow to Boyne

Face St. Ignace In Final Contest

Charlevoix lost an up-and-down game to the Boyne City Ramblers Friday night by a score of 20 to 18.

Although the Rayders tralled most of the game, they picked up steam in the second half leading the Ramblers 18-14 at the close of the third quarter. But Boyne came back hard in the finale with the TD that cinched the game.

The loss drops Charlevoix into fourth place in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, trailing Rogers City, Traverse City St. Francis and Boyne City.

This Friday, the Rayders will meet St. Ignace at Kipke Field, closing the season.

The win wasn't a complete victory for Boyne City, however. Mike Laurie suffered a broken arm and will miss basketball this season.

Charlevoix came on strong, recovering a Boyne City fumble in the opening minutes with Larry Potter scoring from the six-yard line. The extra point was lost.

The Ramblers came back with a kick-off drive that took them to the five where Garrie Lauri went over to tie the game. Mark Ledl made good on the conversion, putting the Ramblers in front 8 to 6.

In the second period, Steve Johnecheck took the ball over from the one-yard line boosting the BC tally to 14.

In the third period, Charlevoix came back with two TD's by Potter, one from the five-yard line and the other a 60-yard run. But in the final quarter, Boyne City staged a long drive down the field, culminating in a pass from Johnecheck to Keith Hausler in the endzone. Dave Korthase made the conversion, cinching the game.

You Can Cut, Haul Your Yule Tree

Even government officials respond to the warmth of the yuletide season.

You can cut down your own Christmas tree and haul it home to your fireside, providing you follow certain legal requirements. So says B. Dale Ball, director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Ordinarily, transportation of Christmas trees and evergreen boughs is illegal in Michigan without a bill of sale or proof of property ownership. The law is administered by the Department of Agriculture's Plant Industry division.

But during December, an exception to the law permits transportation of nor more than two trees without a bill of sale, if they were legally obtained. Many Michigan residents traveling to the north country before the holidays, such as deer hunters, enjoy taking advantage of this special permit.

Necessary legal forms for persons transporting more than two trees are available from the Lansing and regional offices of the Department. Forms can also be obtained from county extension offices, county sheriffs and state police posts.

County Records 70 Percent Turnout at Polls

County Voters Back Swainson, Williams

Traditionally Republican Charlevoix County voted in favor of two former Democratic governors for the state Supreme Court in balloting Nov. 3.

John B. Swainson received 2,705 votes and G. Mennen Williams 2,244.

Swainson and Williams also won support around the state, tipping the balance on the high court 5 to 2 in favor of the liberals. The eighth justice, Eugene Black, considers himself an independent.

The two former governors were opposed on the ballot by incumbent John R. Dethmers, who received 2,058 votes in Charlevoix County, and former Detroit Police Commissioner Edward S. Piggins, who received 1,792 votes.

Although the race was non-partisan in name, Dethmers and Piggins were endorsed locally by the Republican party. Dethmers has been on the high court bench 24 years.

Williams' victory set a record of sorts in Michigan and perhaps the nation. He is the first person on record to have been a candidate for governor, U.S. senator and Supreme Court justice. He never made the senate.

In the race for a vacancy on the Court of Appeals, county voters preferred Robert B. Burns (2,636) over his opponent, James E. Carr (1,502).

State Office Count

Following is a breakdown of Charlevoix County residents voted for state officers:

Governor: Sander Levin, 2,546; William Milliken, 3,147+.

Secretary of State: Richard Austin, 2,613+; Emil Lockwood, 2,917.

Attorney General: Frank Kelley, 3,050+; William S. Farr, 2,534.

U.S. Senate: Phil Hart, 3,487+; Lenore Romney, 2,260.

U.S. House of Representatives: Nino Green, 1,702; Phil Ruppe, 3,933+.

State Senate: Russel Lee, 1,959; Robert W. Davis, 3,703+.

106th Representative District: Peter C. Johnson, 2,498; Richard Friske, 2,242+; and Glenn Law jr., 913.

State Board of Education: Thomas J. Brennan, 2,511+; Annetta Miller, 2,232+; R. Robert Geake, 2,719; and David Robinson II, 2,952.

U of M Regents: Paul Brown, 2,769+; James L. Waters, 2,239+; Paul G. Goebel jr., 2,642; and Jack H. Shuler, 2,764.

MSU Trustees: Patricia M. Carrigan, 2,257+; Don Stevens, 2,246+; David D. Diehl, 2,876; and Richard D. Ernst, 2,926.

Wayne University Governors: Leon H. Atchison, 2,234+; Max J. Pincus, 2,109+; Raymond E. Hayes, 2,931; and Earl Kennedy, 2,969.

R. Furlong Joins Co. Commission

Charlevoix County residents re-elected 14 county commissioners and elected a first-timer in the Nov. 3 election.

New to the commission will be Robert Furlong of Boyne City, who ran for the seat formerly held by John Kujawski.

Kujawski was not a candidate for the commission because of his entry into the race for the 106th Representative District. He presently is chairman of the commission.

Following is a tabulation of how the vote went by district.

District 1: Delbert Ingalls; South Arm 1, 114; South Arm 2, 138; total, 252.

District 2: Clyde Cunningham; Marion, 173; Norwood, 110; Peaine, 20; St. James, 38; total, 341.

District 3: Clayton A. Smith; Charlevoix Township, 213; Hayes, 176; total, 389.

District 4: Ira L. Davis; Bay, 108; Evangeline, 130; total, 238.

District 5: Ralph Richardson; Eveline, 205; Wilson, 89; total, 294.

District 6: Harry Griffin; Chandler, 33; Melrose, 229; total, 262.

District 7: Anthony Kullik; Boyne Valley, 140; Hudson, 28; total, 168.

District 8: William Taylor; East Jordan 1, 102; East Jordan 2, 93; total, 195.

District 9: Barney R. Milstein; East Jordan 2, 63; East Jordan 3, 177; total, 240.

District 10: Albert Kassin, Boyne City, 163; total, 163.

District 11: Harry Tompkins, Boyne City, 173; total, 173.

District 12: Robert Furlong, Boyne City, 138; total, 138.

District 13: Kit Carson, Charlevoix 1, 38; Absent Precinct, 63; total, 101.

District 14: Kenneth Staley, Charlevoix 2, 178; Absent Precinct, 56; total, 234.

District 15: I. Lee Moerland, Charlevoix 3, 229; Absent Precinct, 43; total, 272.

State, Co. Agree on Proposals

Charlevoix County shared the sentiments of voters throughout Michigan on the three state proposals on the ballot at the Nov. 3 election.

County voters turned down by a vote of 3,266 to 2,037 a proposal which would have authorized the state to borrow $100 million and issue general obligation bonds "for the purpose of increasing the supply of decent, safe and sanitary low income housing and eliminating slums and blight..."

Charlevoix also decided against lowering the voting age to 18. The vote was 3,256 to 2,196.

On the controversial Proposal "C" – parochiaid – Charlevoix County residents voted in favor of changing the language of the Michigan Constitution to prohibit most forms of state aid to non-public schools. The lone exception, as spelled out in the proposal, is transportation.

The parochiaid vote was 3,565 "yes" to 2,205 "no".

The present session of the Legislature had approved $22 million in direct aid to non-public schools, which was approved by the state Supreme Court. However, the court asked that the proposal be placed on the ballot to determine public sentiment.

Probate Judgeship Goes to Murphy

Boyne City Attorney Robert C. Klevorn, a candidate for probate judge for the 7th District (Charlevoix and Emmet counties), carried Charlevoix County but lost in Emmet.

In the two-county tally, Emmet Probate Judge, John T. Murphy received 5,576 votes to Klevorn's 4,981, a difference of only 595.

In Charlevoix County, Klevorn polled 2,900 votes to Murphy's 2,219. But in Emmet County, Murphy won handily, 3,357 to 2,081. The difference was sufficient to offset the Charlevoix vote.

Charlevoix County's present probate judge, John Makel has reached the mandatory retirement age of 70 and was not a candidate for re-election. He will step down Dec. 31.

Judge Murphy is a native of Petoskey and graduated from Petoskey High School. After serving with the U.S. Army he attended Western Michigan University and received his law degree from the University of Detroit in 1950.

Prior to his election as Emmet probate judge in 1952, Judge Murphy worked for the federal government in Detroit.

He will discontinue his private law practice before Jan. 1, as required by state law. In the past, the probate judgeship in Emmet and Charlevoix counties was a part-time job.

Following is a breakdown of how Charlevoix County townships and precincts voted in the probate court race:

"Were it left to me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers, or newspapers without a government, I should not hesitate a moment to prefer the latter." ...Thomas Jefferson

The Time Has Come For Mending Fences

With the election over, both Republican and Democratic parties have a task of fence-mending ahead of them.

The GOP suffered a severe split in its ranks in the August primary when Richard Friske, a member of the John Birch Society, won the Republican nomination as representative from the 106th District.

Although local Republican committees automatically backed Friske as the party choice, many individual members either supported write-in candidate Glenn Law jr. or hopped the party fence to vote for Democrat Peter C. Johnson.

Nor did the Democrats emerge from the battle unscathed. Although Johnson had the nominal support of his party, he failed to win the vote of many otherwise loyal Democrats who sided with Law simply because they felt he had the best chance of defeating Friske.

It is idle to speculate whether or not Johnson could have won the election if there had never been a Law write-in campaign.

However, it is certainly possible that Johnson picked up a good deal of his support because of the charges and counter-charges leveled at each other by the Friske and Law camps.

But the general election of 1970 is history.

We salute the winner, Antrim County orchardman Richard Friske, and wish him well in Lansing.

As for the parties themselves, the time has come for mending fences, bringing the renegades back into the fold and salving the wounds that have resulted from the sticks and stones of a heated political campaign.

We are confident that the two-party system, with all of its flaws, is still basic to the American political scene. Although splinter groups may share the limelight from time to time, Republican and Democratic philosophies are still broad enough to embrace a wide divergence of political thinking.

It is time for both parties to say "Welcome home" to the wanderers.

'Yes' Vote on Bonds A Good Investment

Anyone old enough to remember diving off a plank dock into Round Lake as a youngster has good reason to rejoice this week.

A $700,000 general obligation bonding proposal to help finance a new sewage disposal plant passed by a margin of better than four-to-one at the polls last Tuesday, the last hurdle before construction bids can be asked.

Needless to say, the City Council and City Superintendent Thomas Hanna suffered some sleepless nights over the proposal, which will mean a tax increase for city residents of about $3 a month for 15 years.

Unlike most issues in Charlevoix, the bond proposal generated a minimum of controversy and city officials were hard-put to learn whether the populace would actually favor such a large expenditure without a knock-down, drag-out fight.

But Charlevoixans came through like champs, as we expected they would.

We know that fresh, clean water is our most precious asset, something our summer visitors travel hundreds of miles to enjoy. Furthermore, we would like Round Lake, Lake Charlevoix and Lake Michigan to remain "as is" for the benefit of our children, grandchildren and generations to come.

Furthermore, we have seen what can happen to a lake or stream that isn't properly cared for. And we know we aren't doing our own waterways any good by pumping thousands of gallons of nutrient-rich waste water into them every day.

Although Round Lake is probably cleaner today then 95 percent of the Lakes in the Detroit metropolitan area which are used for swimming, we know the quality of our water has deteriorated rapidly in recent years.

Thanks to last week's overwhelming "yes" vote on bonds, the sewage plant will soon become a reality and the quality of our water, hopefully, will be restored.

THAT NONE MAY BE FORGOTTEN!

The Gerbils Arrive

By BOB CLOCK

There have been two little houseguests at the Clock domocile for the past week who have completely upset the daily routine of the Clock dog, Ginny and everybody else of 207 E. Dixon-ave.

The guests are Frisky and Thumper, two gerbils whom we are gerbil-sitting while their owners are on vacation.

And the dog, who had started to go into her long winter siesta of inactivity when the gerbils arrived, can't believe she could be so lucky as to have such fascinating little creatures living under the same roof.

I don't know whether her instinct is maternal or dietetic, but she won't leave the vicinity of the gerbil cage for more than a minute at a time.

The cage, fortunately, is sturdily constructed of wood, wire and glass so there is not much chance of the gerbils getting out or of Ginny getting in. But the dog spends most of her time licking the glass, in hopes of wearing a hole in it.

The first few days she barked, yipped and whined almost without let-up as she watched the gerbils operate their treadmill and roll three small tin cans around their quarters. Now she is merely content to sit and watch, like the rest of us.

And I'll have to admit, Frisky and Thumper put on an eye-catching show.

Judy says their performance is better than television and she's right. The tube isn't turned on nearly as often as it was in our pre-gerbil days. Besides, when was the last time you saw Eric Severeid in a treadmill? Or Walter Kronkite on his hind legs, rolling a tin can in front of him?

Gerbils are johnny-come-latelies in the world of household pets. Until fairly recent times, I thought Gerbil was a new brand of baby food. Now it appears that every elementary school classroom has a box of gerbils somewhere on the premises.

Although our complete, unabridged and thoroughly accurate set of encyclopedias doesn't see fit to mention them, Judy says gerbils became popular as laboratory test animals because they have no known natural diseases.

Webster's dictionary says you can spell gerbil two ways: gerbil or gerbille, depending on how much ink you want to waste. They are described as "any of numerous Old World burrowing desert rodents ...with long hind legs adapted for leaping."

Even the usually garrulous Webster doesn't have much to say about them.

I don't know where Judy gets all of her information, but she says a gerbil makes an ideal housepet because, being desert animals, his urinary tract is either rudimentary or non-existent. Cage odor is no problem. Apparently they get sufficient moisture from lettuce and celery leaves, with only an occasional visit to their eye-dropper watering trough.

I have heard that gerbils are as prolific as field mice, but our houseguests are either the same sex or they just don't dig each other. At any rate, they have never mated and apparently they don't intend to. They are too busy operating their treadmill and rolling their tin cans for any other kind of nonsense.

When four-year-old Jennifer first met the gerbils, they were introduced to her by their owner as Frisky and Thumper. Jenny dismissed Thumper with a glance, but riveted her attention on the frolicking Frisky. Finally she turned to the owner and asked incredulously:

"Is this the fellow that everybody is supposed to vote for?"

Heroes Are Made

By JIM FITZGERALD

"Why are you taking two coats to the football game?" my wife asked as we drove down the highway.

"It's easier than getting a tattoo," I explained.

"What does that mean?" she asked.

"It means I'm too rugged to be suckered by this fancy, frilly, got-to-have-a-gimmick world," I explained.

"Forget it," she said. "I'm sorry I asked."

"But I want you to understand," I said. "It's important to you. Everyone else at the game will notice my extreme virility. As my wife, you should know about it too."

"Are you serious?" she asked.

"It's the cigaret commercials on TV," I explained. "It used to be you could recognize the hero by his tattoo, if he rode a horse and branded calves on their butts. Or you couuld recognize him by his hot eyes if he rode a barstool and picked up broads simply by flashing the brand of his butts..."

"You're not serious," she interrupted.

"...well, there's no tattoo parlor in our town and those Captain Marvel transfers kept washing off," I contined explaining. "Also, I always hated to turn on my hot eyes in a bar because it melted the ice. So I felt like an impotent sissy. But now the Camel cigaret people have shown me a practical way to prove my manhood."

"Don't take either hand off the steering wheel," she said. "But what does all this have to do with two coats?"

"I knew you'd get interested when the conversation got sexy," I said. "The point is that Camel doesn't frill up their cigarets with menthol or cork tips or coupons that'll furnish palaces. The TV commercials say their cigaret is straight tobacco, fine tobacco, with no gimmicks. Left unspoken is the obvious threat: if those fancy weakened cigarets can give you cancer, what can you get from Camels? It takes a brave man to find out.

"And then the brave man appears. He lights his Camel, squints his eyes, blows the smoke, slings his coat over his shoulder, and then strides off to watch a prizefight or win World War III. No matter where he goes, he doesn't wear his coat, he hangs it over his shoulder. That's virile," I said.

"I've seen those commercials," she said. "But the hero carrying the coat is in his shirtsleeves. You are wearing one coat and carrying the other one."

"Well, it's cold out," I explained. "They film those commercials under hot lights."

"Ok," she said. "But don't you think you could settle for just one coat until we get to the game. I don't think it's safe driving with a coat over your shoulder."

"If it were a tatoo, could I take it off to drive?" I asked out of the corner of my mouth, crinkling my eyes and twitching my cheek.

"You are serious. You think you're Humphrey Bogart," she said.

"Onward and Upward," I said.

Robben Fleming Defends His Students

"The older generation must understand the young; we cannot war between the generations," Robben W. Fleming, president of the University of Michigan, emphasized in the keynote address Monday at the 15th annual Broadcasters Promotion Association seminar at the Astroworld Hotel in Houston, Texas.

Fleming said today's college students "are your children and your grandchildren. They bring with them all the values you have given them. It is as incredible to suppose that they never did anything which displeased their parents before arriving at the university, as it is to suppose that they will never do anything which will displease the university while they are there.

"Oddly enough, if they are at home and they breach the code of the family or the society it is considered desirable to try and understand the problem and treat it with some compassion. Would you have the university do less than this?"

ELECTION OVER

In his address, entitled "Today and Tomorrow and Tomorrow," Fleming did not overlook the few extremists who are spread throughout society. "Now that the election is over," he said, "we need no longer pretend that it is a simple question of 'gutless' administrators and faculty at the one extreme, or simple, clean-cut idealists who occasionally engage in naughty acts at the other extreme.

"There are a few extremists on every major campus. The most violent of them are not students. The cadre of terrorists is so tiny as to constitute the most minute fraction of one percent of any student body.

"Aside from their capacity to engage in occasional criminal acts, such as mad bombings, they have no capacity to influence other students.

"In somewhat larger numbers, but still insignificant in the total number, are those who would destroy the university as a viable organization unless it conforms to their version of the new truth. This group is dangerous because it is utterly totalitarian in character, and incredibly arrogant intellectually."

LIKE NAZIS

The tactics—"abuse, harassment, obscene villification, advancement of highly simplistic new truths"—of "these purveyors of the new truth" have a marked similarity to those of the "Nazi youthful bully boys," Fleming pointed out.

But "the totalitarians of the new truth are not, in and of themselves, widely influential on campus because they are such obvious phonies. Their analysis of problems is so deficient that it can be defended only by refusing to let it be refuted." Most students have a "sound instinct against any such nonsense," he added.

"Campuses cannot be entirely isolated from the rest of the society. The mad bomber who is intent on placing a bomb in a building can do so on a campus as well as he can in a federal court, a city council building, an industrial headquarters, or a union hall."

"The problem of campus turbulence, then, is not the bomber or the totalitarian, it is the average student who becomes deeply concerned about aspects of the society which he sees around him."

FAIL TO ACT

The older generation sees, but does not do much about, today's national problems such as the Vietnam war, the widening chasm between blacks and whites, hunger, poor housing, inadequate medical care and environmental pollution, Felming said.

"The young people see" these problems, he continued, "and try desperately to persuade us to look, listen and act...It is them (the vast majority of today's students) that you ought to try and understand. You cannot do so by letting your attention be distracted by their looks, or by a horror generated out of a superficial glance at their value structure.

"Most importantly of all, you need to look at some of the things they are saying, and then sit in the still of the night and think about them."

Fleming noted that difficulty in obtaining public understanding of the young is their looks and sense of values. "Those of us who deal with students daily know that there is zero correlation between the outward adornment and the person hidden under it," he said.

SEX VIEWS DIFFER

"What the older generation views as an obsession with sex on the part of the young is but the other side of the coin for young people who believe that their elders are guilty of total hypocrisy in this area," he said.

Fleming closed by posing a list of questions which the college age generation is concerned with, questions which are properly asked on the eve of the 1976 bicentennial of the Declaration of Independence:

"Will we devote the time, the talent, the energy and the resources to resolving our racial problem in this country, or will we continue to drift further apart?...

"Will we tolerate the pain and penalty or hunger for that section of our population which is not able to provide for itself?...

"When will we face the fact that in this great nation health care is far below the standard that it ought to attain?...

"How does an urban nation adequately house itself?...

"In a nation in which all are 'free and equal' can one's educational opportunities be made dependent upon his economic status in life?...

ASKS QUESTIONS

"How do we defend the right of one generation to so deplete and despoil the resources of our country that those who follow must suffer the consequences?...

"Can the basic integrity of our economic system be sufficiently relieved of its artificial encumbrances to satisfy the needs of a new day?...

"How long can a judicial system which badly needs reorganization and expansion continue to struggle with problems which are beyond its capacity?...

"When will we be ready to face the fact that democracy cannot work if it continues to place so high a financial premium on successful candidacy?...

"Finally, will we, and our counterparts all over the world, ever be ready to accept the fact that war is obsolete and that there must be some rational system of resolving international disputes?"

National Geographic Feature

Add 'Envy' to List Of Fatal Diseases

To the list of fatal diseases, add envy.

After a ten-year study of farmers in Azerbaijan, a Caucasus mountain region noted for its centenarians, Soviet gerontologist Shykhyur M. Gasanov has concluded they live to be more than 100 years old because, "They are not envious of their neighbors."

Conversely, a study made last year by the Duke University Medical Center indicated that pessimists and persons who dislike their work are not likely to reach the century mark.

MIND OVER MATTER?

"We know the mind affects the body in various ways," says Dr. Erdman B. Palmore, of the Medical Center. "It would seem that the best way to increase longevity is to maintain a useful and satisfying role in society and keep a cheerful disposition."

Centenarians are found in nearly all countries, and there are as many theories of longevity as there are oldsters. But whatever the explanation, man outlives all other warm-blooded animals and birds, the National Geographic Society says.

Elephants popularly were thought to be the longest lived. The myth was fostered by circus ballyhoo that billed any large specimen as "More Than 100 Years Old." An elephant's average life span is 45 years, though occasionally one may reach 60.

DATA INADEQUATE

Inadequate data and faulty memories have made it impossible to pinpoint the greatest age reached by a human being. A South African who thought he was 160, for example, turned out to be only 110 when officials unearthed some old birth records.

The United States Social Security Administration sends monthly checks to a man 128. His age was authenticated when he applied for a Social Security card at the age of 106 so he could get a job picking fruit.

Professor Gasanov's conclusion that lack of tensions contributes to long life isn't new. Surveys also have shown that retiring may not be as healthful as continuing to work.

REACHES 165

The Soviet Union's oldest citizen, officially 165, was shown in a documentary tending his garden in Azerbaijan, riding his horse, and strolling a mountain path.

The film also featured a 30-member folk song group, all of whom were more than 100 years old. The troupe's only woman, a dancer, was reputed to be 130.

A 103-year-old Briton runs a boarding house by the sea; a woman 109 operates her own dairy; and other centenarians are tax assessors, physicians, newspaper columnists and farmers.

In San Francisco, a waiter who works up to 13 hours a day celebrated his 103rd birthday recently by jogging more than six miles. The previous year he ran the 100-yard dash in 17.2 seconds.

And a Syrian farmer who claims to be 136 is seeking a bride because he has been married 13 times and considers 13 an unlucky number. A Moslem, he already has two wives.

Mrs. Stanley G. Lord

LI 7-2185

Mrs. Roy Raymer of Traverse City called on her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Ritsema and girls Sunday. She took her granddaughter, Mary, home with her for a few days.

Mrs. Glenn Brennen of Hammond, Ind., visited her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Richardson several days last week. On Saturday the Richardsons and Mrs. Brennen visited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Skully and family in Cadillac. On Sunday they drove on to Grand Rapids where Mrs. Brennen's son, Richard, met her and they returned to their home in Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest VanDusen of Grand Rapids spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lord. They came to attend the funeral of Mr. William Alward.

Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson and son of Charlevoix called on Mr. and Mrs. Stanely Lord Sunday evening.

We all wish our Norwood friends Mrs. Floyd Wagner and Mrs. Sink, patients at Munson Hospital in Traverse City, a speedy recovery.

Norwood was sorry to hear that Mrs. Grace Sills of Grand Rapids passed away Nov. 2 in a Grand Rapids hospital. She had spent several summers here. She was a sister of George Light sr. The Light family has Norwoods' sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson of Perryburg, Ohio, were recent lunch guests with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stafford.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Pierce of Sturgis spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. William Parsons.

WEB WONDERS

Spiders provided the decor for an extravagant double wedding in Louisiana in 1870. Planter Charles Durand had his workmen release spiders in the three-mile avenue of trees leading to his manor. After the spiders had spun their gossamer arches between the trees, the workmen used bellows to blow silver and gold dust into the webs beneath which Durand's two daughters were wed.

Michigan 'Thinks Snow' As Winter Sports Grow

The Michigan Tourist Council offers the following "Recipe For Winter Fun":

–30 to 140 inches of snow

--1,500 miles of toll-free freeways

–76 winter sports centers

–168 snowmobile areas

--accommodations to fit every budget

Take these ingredients and mix them together for a fun-filled winter vacation in Michigan.

November's arrival is the signal for thousands of winter sports buffs to "think snow", so bring on the fluffy white–Michigan is ready.

Seventy-six developed winter sports centers, including three new areas, are ready to host an expected record number of snow fans this season. Many of these centers have made major improvements for the 1970-71 season, including new dining facilities, slopes and runs, lifts and tows and snowmobile trails.

With a little help from mother nature and a stabilizing economy, it is anticipated that last year's record of 350,000 skiers, who spent $125 million having fun in Michigan, will be surpassed.

Snowmobilers, too, will make their presence felt as the sport continues its fantastic rise in popularity. Some experts predict that $34.5 million will be spent by snowmobiling families on Michigan weekend trips this season.

When the snow flies, three new sports areas will make their debute–Timberline Mountain, between Rose City and Mio; Kandahar Ski Club, near Fenton; and Stony Creek Metropolitan Park, north of Detroit near Utica.

Timberline Mountain will open with four slopes, three tows, a lodge with snack bar and a ski shop. Open weekends only, Timberline also will offer instruction and rental equipment.

Kandahar is a private ski club featuring both ski slopes and trails. For the skiers uphill convenience, it has eight tows and a pomalift as well as a lodge with snack bar. The club provides a ski patrol and instruction.

Stony Creek Metropolitan Park is made to order for the non-skier who enjoys the outdoor life in winter time. For fun in the snow enthusiasts, there is tobogganing and sledding on moderate slopes and ice skating on Stony Lake. For warming those cold fingers and toes, the park also provides a warming shelter at the skating area.

Among the many improvements made during the summer—months are the installiation of four-place chair lifts at Boyne Mountain, near Boyne Falls (the resort now features two such chair lifts), and at Boyne Highlands, near Harbor Springs. For the first time, Boyne also features the longest ski run in the midwest. It's a two-mile "Over the Mountain Road" run to the golf course and summer recreation area. Starting behind the first tee, you ski the road down through the woods.

At Bear Mountain, near Grayling, additions include a cocktail lounge and swimming pool while the Mt. Brighton Ski Area, near Brighton, has added a new ski run, two more rope tows, a new dining room and one more cafeteria.

Appealing to the snowmobiler will be the new trails laid out at Bear Mountain; Fonro Ski Resort, north of Mio; Sheridan Valley, northeast of Lewiston; Skyline, south of Grayling; Snowsnake Mountain, north of Clare; and Timber Lee, northwest of Traverse City.

The 1970-71 season will find 11 resorts with 21 new lifts and tows and 35 new slopes and runs at 8 winter sports centers.

Michigan is well-equipped to accommodate large crowds during peak periods, boasting well over 600 ski slopes and runs. Taking the drudgery out of skiing are more than 400 lifts and tows, including 68 double, triple and four-place chair lifts.

Eleven centers have swimming pools, 70 offer meals or snacks, 29 have cocktail lounges and bars and two feature airplane landing strips. If after-ski activities are your bag, many centers also offer dancing, entertainment and teen fun.

Michigan's winter sports centers are widely scattered throughout the state, with 15 in the Upper Peninsula, 34 in west Michigan, 18 in east Michigan and 9 in the southeastern portion.

Now is the time to plan that winter vacation in Michigan. For additional information, write the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, Michigan 26.

Shaptons Leave

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shapton, 209 Antrim-st., left Friday to spend the winter in Zephyrhills, Fla. They expect to return in late April or early May.

What fun we all had greeting the local ghosts and goblins Saturday evening. I don't think I ever saw cuter and more interesting costumes. Several mothers even dressed for the occasion. I had 32 knocks on my door and come inside to visit and tell me who they were.

Halowe'en dinner guests at the home of Mary Carol Nielsen Saturday evening were Diane Alexander, Virginia and Susan Saunders, and Martina Bife who is the German exchange student at East Jordan High School. Martina is making her home this school year with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Daigneault and family who live on Old M66 north of East Jordan. Her home is in northern Germany just six miles from the Wall. Her father was a soldier in the German army during World War II and was taken prisoner by the Americans and brought to our country where he worked on a peanut farm in Alabama. When returning to his country his report was that we were very good to him and he liked it here.

Later in the evening the girls dressed as ghosts and went "trick or treating' which was a new experience for Martina as this holiday is not known in her country. She felt it great fun and thinks she will try to introduce it in her home town. We all hope to meet Martina again.

What a relief to have the election over. One of our politicians was so busy defending himself that he didn't have time to criticize the others. What has happened to the brotherhood of man?

PITY THE POSTMAN

Mailmen in the United States have difficulty with dogs, but things could be worse. Egyptian mailmen complain of being nipped by camels, mailmen in Brazil have been bitten by jaguars, a Tongan Island mailman was killed by a shark, and Afghanistan had to suspend rural deliveries a few years ago because leopards ate the mailmen.

added to the staff. She would serve both upper schools.

A five-member Vocational Advisory Board representing various phases of the program was named by President Jerrold Redeker. They are Hal M. Hill, Robert G. Lieberman, Ronald Peterson, C.H. Smith and Jack Grubaugh. They were appointed for one year terms.

Harold Kaufman, business manager, was named chief negotiator and Supt. Miller and Vane H. Smith, High School principal, were named to represent the board in negotiating the master contract for 1971-72. They will negotiate during the spring.

The resignation of Mrs. John (Marguerite) Makel was read and accepted by the board. The resignation will become effective Jan. 1. She said she was resigning because of her husband's health which requires a milder climate. The board accepted the resignation and asked that a letter thanking her for her years of teaching be written.

It was reported that 16 students were presently enrolled in the Vocotional Education program in the school.

Robert Olney, director of the Grand Traverse Area Library Federation, appeared before the board to outline the service offered by the federation.

Vane Smith reported to the board that he had attended a meeting of the Michigan-Huron Shores league (of which Charlevoix is a member) and reported that Alpena Catholic Central had officially resigned from the league, effective in June. However, it is possible that the school may close before that time and be usable to fulfill its schedule obligations. He said that there would now be eight teams in the league and that a new schedule is being drawn up. This will make a seven-game schedule with open dates at the beginning and end.

Obituary

Mr. Dixon

Funeral for Curtis G. Dixon, 62, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Nov. 9, the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen of the First Congregational Church officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Dixon was dead on arrival at Charlevoix Hospital on Friday after being stricken at home.

He was born in Charlevoix Feb. 19, 1908, and married the former Elizabeth Sharrow in February of 1932.

Mr. Dixon was a Navy veteran of World War II and belonged to Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

He is survived by his widow; four sons, Raymond T., Maurice and Thomas of Charlevoix and Louie of Boston, Mass.; two daughters, Mrs. Richard (Mary) Moore and Mrs. Wilbur (Louise) Wells of Charlevoix; 18 grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and a brother, Maurice, also of Charlevoix.

Mr. Beattie

Word has been received of the death of Leslie W. Beattie in Long Beach, Calif.

A retired Navy man, Mr. Beattie was born in the Barnard area July 24, 1887, and lived in the Charlevoix area most of his life.

The family moved to California during World War II.

He is survived by his widow, Ethel; three daughters, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers, Roy Beattie, of Manitoba, Canada, and Forrest Beattie of Salem, Ore.; and one sister, Mrs. Louis Shapton of Charlevoix. Several nieces and nephews also live in the Charlevoix area.

A sister, Mrs. Harry Elzinga of Charlevoix and a brother, Clifford H. Beattie of Muskegon, preceded him in death.

Mr. Curtis

Funeral for Harold E. Curtis, 54, was held Nov. 9 at the R.G. and G.R. Harris Funeral Home in Detroit with burial in a Detroit cemetery.

Mr. Curtis was born in Charlevoix June 9, 1916, and worked in Detroit during World War II. He returned to Detroit in 1951 to make his home.

He is survived by his widow, Clara; three sons, Harold, John and Robert; and five daughters, Mrs. Julian (Judy) Petryna, Mrs. John (Sarah) Broderick, Carol, Sue and Ann, all of Detroit; two grandchildren; two brothers, John and Franklin Curtis, both of Charlevoix; and two sisters, Mrs. Glenn E. Rose of Charlevoix and Mrs. Carl Eckman of East Tawas.

Miss Siminow

Graveside service for Miss Fannie Siminow, 89, a former local resident, was held at Brookside Cemetery Nov. 2, the Rev. Elmer Faust officiating. The ceremony was under the auspices of Charlevoix Chapter Nov. 72, OES.

Miss Siminow died Oct. 28 at St. Jude's Hospital in Fullerton, Calif.

Born in Indiana, Jan. 28, 1881, Miss Siminow lived in Charlevoix in the 1920's. She later moved to southern Michigan and then to California.

Miss Siminow was a seamstress and a life member of the Charlevoix chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Arrangements in Charlevoix were handled by the Winchester Funeral Home.

Bonds Pass By Big Margin

Several local issues passed at the polls Nov. 3.

The City of Charlevoix approved the issue of $700,000 in general obligation bonds for the construction of a new sewage treatment plant on Lake Shore-dr. The balance of the $1.5 million project will be provided by state and federal governments. The vote was 904 to 221.

Hudson Township approved one mill to construct a new townhall (41 to 34) and agreed to abolish open range (56 to 19).

Bay Township approved two mills for roads, 126 to 44.

Wilson Township voted against a two-mill levy for roads, 127 to 91, and Marion Township defeated a similar proposal, 118 to 111.

70 Pct. Vote

A total of 5,545 Charlevoix County residents cast ballots for secretary of state in the Nov. 3 general election, representing about 70 percent of the 7,989 registered voters.

Meet Thursday

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners will meet Thursday, Nov. 12, at 9:30 a.m. in the county building, according to County Clerk Clarence Rabach.

Club to Visit

Traverse City's Moyenichl Club, for people between the ages of 30 and 50, has included a trip to Charlevoix and dinner at the Argonne. on its November agenda. The trip is scheduled Friday, Nov. 13.

Dr. Jeffrey Porter

Dental Office Opens

Dr. Jeffrey Porter, 27, has started a dental practice in the Charlevoix Hospital Medical Building on Lakeshore-dr.

A native of Bad Axe, Dr. Porter lived most of his life in East Lansing, graduating from East Lansing High School in 1961.

He attended Michigan State University as an undergraduate, transfering to the University of Michigan dental school. He received his D.D.S. degree in 1968.

Following graduation, Dr. Porter entered the army, serving with the Dental Corps in California and with the 25th Infantry Division in Tay Ninh Province, Vietnam.

Dr. Porter will occupy one of four suites in the Medical Building. His neighbors will be medical doctors, Harry Custer and John Lignell.

He has hired Sandra Hurl, formerly of Royal Oak, as his assistant.

A bachelor, Dr. Porter is living in the Forbrig Apartments on Meech-st.

Although a newcomer to town, Dr. Porter already is involved in community affairs. An Eagle Scout, he has taken over as Scoutmaster of Troop 43.

First State Bldg. To House Gift Shop

A new gift and antique shop will be open in the former First State Bank building on Bridge-st. next Memorial Day.

The building, which was vacated by the bank more than a year ago, has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lennox of Howell who plans on converting it into a "Bit of Yesteryear" shop specializing in antiques and gifts.

The store will be operated by Mrs. Lennox who is closing up a similar business called "The Country Store of Yesteryear" in Brighton. Lennox is a manufacturer's representative.

The Lennoxes said they were driving through Charlevoix when they noticed the bank for sale.

"We've always liked Charlevoix, so we decided to buy the building and move north," Lennox explained.

The couple has purchased a home at Shanty Creek where Mrs. Lennox will operate the Shanty Creek gift shop this winter.

Among the antiques on display in the shop will be a 1850 vintage nickelodeon. Along with antiques the shop will feature reproductions of early Americana, candy, cheese, dill pickles and other "country store" items.

The Lennoxes have a son, Greg, 17, and three daughters, Patti, 14; Debbie, 12 and Frances, 11.

Turkey Day Edition Due Saturday

In order to assist you with your Thanksgiving dinner shopping, the Courier will publish its Turkey Day edition several days in advance.

Deadline for news and advertising copy for next week's paper is noon Thursday, Nov. 19. The paper will be on the newsstands and in the mail Saturday morning.

Advertisers and correspondents are urged to take note of the early deadline.

County Drops Fish Proposal

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners Thursday refused to adopt a resolution, proposed by Iosco County, asking that the Department of Natural Resources review its fish management concept relative to commercial fisheries.

Commissioner Clayton Smith of Charlevoix Township said that the supply of fish "is just getting to the point where we have some decent recreational fishing."

"I know the present restrictions are hard on the commercial fishermen, but we have paid taxes to have the fish planted. Let's leave things the way they are," he said.

He added that the Charlevoix area in the past two or three years has enjoyed better fishing "than it has in the past 40."

Commissioner Robert Furlong of Boyne City suggested that commercial fishermen might be allowed to take coho salmon in the late summer and early fall when they are prime.

However, Smith questioned whether it would be possible to net salmon without getting into trout waters.

The proposed resolution did not come to a vote.

Deputies Join Fire Patrol

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department was asked to place a special patrol on the Charlevoix-Emmet County line Saturday morning to keep an eye out for possible intentionally-set fires.

The request came from Emmet County law enforcement officers after four children lost their lives in a house fire on Blackbird-rd. Resort Township, believed to have been set by an arsonist.

The victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Carls, who were not at home when fire destroyed their six-room frame home shortly before 2 a.m. Saturday. The youngsters were Melanie Jane, 10; Deborah L., 9; Edward M., 7; and Aaron, 23 months.

Donald C. Oligney, 32, of Suttons Bay, was taken into custody at the Moyer Hotel in Petoskey shortly before noon Saturday and charged with murder through arson.

Oligney, an unemployed laborer, asked to have an attorney represent him when he appeared before District Court Judge W. Richard Smith for arraignment Monday morning.

The fire at the Carls home was one of several believed to have been set intentionally in the Petoskey area in recent days. Four of the fires erupted early Saturday within a three-mile radius of the Carls home.

Army Honors Vail Shepard

Specialist four Vail D. Shepard Jr., whose parents live in East Jordan, recently received the army commendation medal while serving with the 101st airborne division (airmobile) in Vietnam.

Air Code Tightened By Township Board

New Restrictions Toughest in State

The Charlevoix Township Board has passed an ordinance upgrading air quality control standards as they affect the Medusa Portland Cement Co.

The action came at a meeting of the board Nov. 9 after lengthy discussions on the ordinance by Medusa officials and township attorney Donald Berlage.

The ordinance amends the 1965 Air Quality Control Code regulating cement plant operations.

The amended code will permit Medusa to emit 0.20 pounds of particulate matter per 1,000 pounds of gas from its stack.

State regulations currently allow an emission ratio of 0.25, making the new standard for Charlevoix Township the most restrictive in the state and one of the tightest for cement manufacturers througout the United States.

"Tests at the Medusa plant show that Medusa can meet the new standard," commented Township Supervisor Oscar P. Stroud.

Two other significant changes were also made in the code.

An industry which discharges particulate matter into the atmosphere will be required to install and operate equipment which continuously monitors the level of emission. The device will include an instrument which will provide a record of the level of emmission.

"The monitoring device is a unique pollution control tool," Berlage told the board, adding that its use at Medusa may herald a new concept in environmental protection.

Fred Cohrs, Medusa plant manager, said the monitoring device has been purchased and installed and tests are presently being run to properly calibrate the instrument.

The third change in the code was establishment of a surveillance fee which will require persons—whose operations emit contaminants to pay an annual fee to provide funds for the township to continue its program of surveillance and investigation.

Stroud said Medusa's annual surveillance fee will be $3,000.

The amendments to the present code have been under consideration since May of 1970. The township originally employed Dr. Thomas L. Sweeney, a professor at Ohio State University, to assist the township in drafting the new code language.

Earlier this month, Berlage and Dr. Sweeney met with William M. Troutman and Charles L. Howlett, officers of Medusa, Corp., and Cohrs to resolve differences on the amendment.

Berlage commended Medusa for its cooperation in preparing the revised code and pointed out that Medusa agreed to many new concepts in environmental control that other companies would have flatly rejected.

"Medusa has displayed a concern for the citizens of the community and the maintenance of air quality," Berlage said. "We look forward to a continuing construction relationship with the company."

The new code amendment will be effective 30 days after first publication in the Courier.

Cartier Son Gives $500 to Hospital

By BERNICE WEXSTAFF

Charlevoix Hospital general fund has been recently augmented by a check for $500 from Harold A. Cartier of Dover, N.J., honoring the memory of his parents, Fred and Hannah Cartier who were long time residents of Charlevoix.

The old-timers of the town will long remember Mr. Cartier's tailor shop on the east side of Bridge street at approximately the site of the present concrete walk that bisects East Park.

Fred, as he was known to old and young, was not only an asset to the business community but he served many terms as city councilman and was a regular contributor of local news to the Grand Rapids Press. Mrs. Cartier was a devout worker in her church, the Charlevoix Congregational Church.

The Cartier family is presently scattered to the four winds: Betty Jean Cartier Cross in San Diego, Calif., Claire Cartier, DDS in Grand Rapids, Stanley in Atlanta, Ga., anx Harold in Dover, New Jersey, where he recently retired with the rank of senior vice president of the Walter Kidde construction firm.

Harold's supplementary successes have been real estate, railroading, and arbitrator on the American Arbitration Association scene as well as membership in an exclusive Three-Score-and Ten Club and temporary acting secretary of the Gasparilla "48" Club of Boca Grande, Fla.

Winchester Buys Petoskey Funeral Home

Charlevoix funeral director Robert Winchester has purchased the Desnoyer Funeral Home in Petoskey.

Winchester, who has operated a funeral home in Charlevoix for the past 13 years, said he will operate funeral homes in both communities.

He bought the Petoskey business from Mrs. Betty Desnoyer, whose husband, Richard, former operator of the business, died last April.

The Desnoyer Funeral Home is located at 410 Emmet-st. It was established by Ralph Peters and was later sold to Harold Briggs until it was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Desnoyer.

DUANE TAYLOR

Duane Taylor Opens Farm Bureau Office

A second Farm Bureau Insurance office has opened in Charlevoix under the management of Duane Taylor, a former Charlevoix school teacher.

The office is located at 111 Antrim-st. in quarters formerly occupied by the Lake Charlevoix Cable TV Co.

Taylor hopes the second office will mean added services to Farm Bureau policy holders in the Charlevoix area.

The city's first Farm Bureau Insurance office is operated by Charles Elzinga at 1206 State-st.

A native of Durand, Taylor graduated from Corunna High School in 1958 and attended Ferris State College for two years.

After working for the Ford Motor Co., General Motors and E.I. Dupont, Taylor returned to school, receiving his bachelor's degree in education from Michigan State University in 1966. He has a major in physical education and a minor in social studies.

He taught in the Corunna school system for one year before moving to Charlevoix in 1967 where he was a physical education instructor and history teacher for three years.

Taylor has been a licensed life insurance agent since 1966.

He was married in 1959 to the former Patricia Elkins of Corunna, teacher at the County Trainable School at Ironton.

The Taylors, who live at 403 Dixon-ave., have three children, David, 10; Tracey, 4; and Jill, 15 months.

GOP Elects Officers

Charlevoix County Republicans met last Thursday night to pick up the pieces of the 1970 election campaign and elect officers to serve for the next two years.

Chairman Oscar P Stroud was returned to office by a unanimous vote. Working with him will be Mrs. Art Rouse of Boyne City, vice chairman; Robert Wise, Charlevoix, financial secretary; Mrs. Dale Boss, Charlevoix Township, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Burkey, East Jordan, treasurer.

Mrs. Rouse and Mrs. Boss are new to the board, Mrs. Rouse succeeds Mrs. Effie Stevens of Walloon Lake as vice chairman and Mrs. Boss succeeds Mrs. Florence Urich of Charlevoix as secretary.

The meeting was attended by Richard Friske, the Antrim County orchardman elected state representative from the 106th District in the Nov. 3 election. Friske asked the support of all party members when he goes to Lansing in January.

Community Chest Short of Goal

The Charlevoix Community Chest has reached 84 percent of its 1970 goal, Board President Thomas LaBlance reported last week.

Collections to date total $17,558.99, some $3,455 short of the $21,014 goal. Last year, $19,074.16 was collected in the Chest drive.

The Professional Division is the closest to achieving its 1970 goal, with donations of $2,036.75 – just $83.25 short of the mark.

LaBlance credited the "fine response and cooperation" of teachers in the Charlevoix Public Schools for the "impressive showing."

The Professional Division actually is $330 over its 1969 campaign goal.

The Industrial Division, headed by Fred Cohrs, also has surpassed its 1969 collections by $135.67, but is still $594.24 short of its 1970 goal.

LaBlance said the difficulty experienced in the Industrial Division was not unexpected because of the state of the economy in the state and in the Charlevoix area. He commended the Division for doing "as well as it has."

He said the Residential and Outlying Residential Districts have done "as well as expected," but added that results in the Commercial and Special Gifts Divisions have been disappointing so far in the campaign. Both divisions are down considerably from last year, he noted.

However, he said donations are still arriving in the Special Gifts Division from summer residents and he looks for an increase in December and January.

LaBlance said the board of directors is asking persons who have not contributed – and those who feel they are able to give more – to contact E.D. (Pat) Hawley, John Lachman, William Peck or himself. in November or December.

He said additional contributions will be recorded and appreciated.

School Board OK's Student Dress Code

A dress code drawn up by the Student Council, the faculty and the administration was approved by the Charlevoix Board of Education at its Nov. 11 meeting.

Principal Vane Smith says students will be given a warning for the first offense. If there is a second offense they will be sent home for a change of clothing.

Smith hopes that parents acquaint themselves with the provisions of the code and make sure their youngsters follow it:

CHARLEVOIX HIGH SCHOOL DRESS CODE

I. General Statement

The Student Council, Faculty and Administration, in the belief that conduct, work habits and study habits in school are closely related to personal appearance, hereby propose the following rules and regulations regarding the dress and appearance of Charlevoix High School students. (Any extreme style that disrupts the educational process, however, if forbidden.)

GIRLS

A. Hair styles are a matter of personal taste, however, if bangs are worn, they should be above the eyebrows, or worn so the eyebrows are visible. Hair must be neat and clean.

B. Regular skirt-like culottes, or pant skirts are acceptable as long as they do not resemble Bermudas in any way.

C. Tight slacks, bluejeans and bermudas will not be permitted. The hemline of dresses and skirts must be of reasonable length and should be such that at no time do undergarments show. Extremely tight skirts will not be permitted. Girls' blouses must be tucked in unless designed to be worn as overblouses. Tennis shoes are allowed if they are neat and clean in appearance.

BOYS

A. Hair styles are a matter of personal taste. It is suggested that boys be clean shaven and must keep their hair neat and clean. It is also suggested that hair should not cover the eyebrows or touch the shoulder.

B. Shirts will be buttoned except for the collar and must be tucked in unless designed to be worn outside the trousers. Sweatshirts are acceptable only if sleeves are not cut off and they are worn right side out.

C. Belts must be worn on trousers unless the trousers are specifically designed to be worn without a belt. Jeans are permissable if they are clean and neat in appearance, not spot bleached, not extremely tight, and have not been cut off or frayed at the bottom.

D. Shoes and socks must be worn.

NOTE: The above code was approved by the Board of Education on Monday, November 19, 1969, and replaces the former code on page 13 of the 1969-70 Student Handbook.

School Needs Candle Stubs

The County Trainable School at Ironton is looking for used candle stubs to be used in the making of Christmas candles, according to teacher's aide Evengeline Inman.

Mrs. Inman believes many churches may have altar candle stubs which they would like to donate.

Persons with candles to donate should call the school at 547-2446 or Mrs. Inman at 547-9844.

Girl Scouts Elect Officers

Girl Scout Troop 253 has elected the following leaders:

Judith Klieber, president; Lisa Boss, secretary; Julie Wells, treasurer; and Roberta Klooster, news reporter.

LEAPING LIZARDS

Paraders brandish live lizards and carry pots containing cobras during the annual serpent festival in Shirala, India. When the rites end, participants release both snakes and lizards unharmed.

Farm Bureau Picks Wieland

Richard Wieland of Ellsworth was one of five district directors re-elected at the annual reorganization meeting of the board of directors of the Michigan Farm Bureau in Lansing.

Wieland, an Antrim County farmer, represents District 10.

Elton R. Smith, Kent County dairyman, was re-elected president of the 58-000 member organization, and Dean Pridgeon, Branch County farm leader, was elected vice president.

Dan E. Reed was re-elected secretary-manager; William Beattie, treasurer; and William Wilkinson, assistant secretary. New member of the executive committee is John Laurie, a Tuscola County dairyman.

News from Ellsworth

Mrs. Anne Osterbaan
Phone 588-2433

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Taylor jr. and baby have moved from the Maggie Klooster home on Park-st. to the new property they recently purchased from Mrs. Florence Hall on the Brick-crete road. Her parents the Truepianos from Detroit have purchased the cabin on the property for a summer home.

Jim Timmer of Jenison, who hauls steel for Havenbusch Steel Co. of Grandville, took a load to Petoskey Wednesday and on the way back stopped in Ellsworth to visit his mother, Mrs. Elsie Timmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Larson and children of Charlotte spent the weekend with his brother Bruce and all were Sunday dinner guests of the Clarence Boss family.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur (Bud) Wynsma and son Jeffrey of Grandville were weekend house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wynsma and were in-and-out visitors of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Wynsma.

The canned goods of the Michigan Fruit Growers have all been shipped out, and the last three employee's Henry Reus, Klon Johnston and Pete John Drenth have closed the office, the cannery was officially closed on Friday and so ends the history of our canning factory.

The new family the Schnikis live in the little square house on Lake-st., in the Chet Farrell "development".

Baby Talk: Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Tanis of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are proud parents of a 5 lb., 9 oz. boy James Wilson born Nov. 3, 1970. Mrs. Tanis is the former Mary Jean DeGroot daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry DeGroot.

Argo Lumber Co. of Central Lake built a pre-fab house recently for Mrs. Blanche Boss Kuhn on Park-st. It is located between Mrs. Balch's home and Mr. Roods home. Its a two-bedroom home with garage attached. The house is heated by electricity, fully carpeted and has an electronic garage door. Mrs. Kuhn says she is just "camping" as her new furniture hasn't arrived yet. Mrs. Kuhn spent the summer, renting the Art Drenth cottage. After being away from Ellsworth for 42 years she is happy to be back home. We also welcome her back to the village.

A birthday party was held for Maggie Heeres on Friday evening at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Boss. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heeres and daughter Marilyn and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Boss and daughter were also present. As four generations were present, a picture was taken of Mrs. Heeres, Mrs. Boss, her son Ron and his daughter Renee.

Mr. and Mrs. Abe VanStedum and four children of Jenison were Saturday overnight visitors with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Herman VanStedum and Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Versal Shooks. They came for the funeral of their cousin, John Martin, of Charlevoix.

It's that time of year again. Bill Clow and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Clow left Tuesday noon to spend the winter in Lakeland, Fla.

The surgery of Darlene Klooster two weeks ago was successful. Last week she had another operation. Darlene is a patient at the Osteopathic Hospital in Traverse City.

The Fred VanStedum family were pleasantly surprised to receive a telephone call via short wave radio from their son-in-law, Jack Kooyer from Japan. Unfortunately his wife Judy was working overtime and missed the opportunity to talk with her husband.

Mrs. Herman VanStedum, Mettie VanderArk and Anne Osterbaan were hostesses at a birthday party honoring Maggie Heeres and Mrs. Harry Cooper at the VanStedum home Friday evening. Guests were Mrs. John Veldkamp, Kate Cooper, Kate Bronkema, Margie Drenth, Mrs. Solomon Goeman, Mrs. Albert Fielstra, Mrs. Andy Kooyer, Mrs. Gerrit Rubingh, Fanny Koster, Little Rhonda Grulke was also present. Happy Birthday was sung to Mrs. Heeres and Mrs. Cooper, also to Mrs. Goeman whose birthday was Nov. 10.

Dec. 1 Is Deadline For Rec Bond Plans

Community officials in Michigan are reminded that they have only until Dec. 1 to submit local projects for possible funding under the next round of allotments to be made from the state's recreation bond program.

Such local requests are due by then to the Department of Natural Resources' Grants-in-Aid Section in Lansing. Under its latest series of screening, the DNR's review committee has approved 17 local recreation projects collectively calling for $307,000.

Those projects, plus perhaps 20-30 more yet to be processed and approved, will be submitted to the State Legislature in January for final clearance.

Under three previous rounds of Department screening and legislative review dating back to Sept. 1969, a total of 196 local projects have qualified for $11.7 million in recreation bonds funds.

DNR officials and local leaders have signed work agreements authorizing 82 of those projects to be launched. Local communities will be reimbursed with bond monies for the State's share of the costs as soon as the projects are completed and the DNR is properly billed for the improvements.

The next deadline for submitting local fund requests after the Dec. 1 cut-off point will be April 1, 1971. Local recreation projects approved by the DNR between those two dates will be forwarded to the State Legislature in May for final action.

Days Grow Short In Gray November

November will be marked by rapidly shortening daylight periods, says University of Michigan astronomer Hazel M. Losh.

By the end of the month, she notes, our days will be only about 9 hours and 20 minutes long. They will shorten by only 15 minutes in more in December before starting to lengthen again.

Saturn is the most easily observed planet in November, Prof. Losh says. It rises in the southeast shortly after sunset and remains in the night sky until daybreak.

The planets Venus and Jupiter, which appeared in the western sky almost all summer, have disappeared. Venus passes the sun on Nov. 10 and then becomes visible in the east just before sunrise.

Several familiar winter constellations decorate the November sky, Prof. Losh notes.

Saturn in the southeast will be found in the constellation Taurus. Below Saturn and to the East of it in Taurus is the bright star Aldebaran, the Bull's orange eye.

The constellation Orion dominates the eastern and southern sky as it rises at 9 p.m., Prof. Losh says. Its three vertically arranged "Belt-Stars" point north to Aldebaran in Taurus, and south to Sirius, the brightest star in the sky.

Low on the northern horizon is Ursa Major with its Big Dipper. Prof. Losh notes that this constellation's position in November creates the impression of a great bear prowling along the horizon.

Almost directly overhead at sunet is Cassiopeia, The Lady in the Chair. A zigzag row of five stars forming the letter "M" make this constellation easy to find, Prof. Losh says.

Big Game Season, Shows on Calendar

With autumn on the wane, the Michigan outdoor scene is dominated by big game hunting while the indoor events center around antiques, automobiles and the impending Christmas season, according to the Michigan Tourist Council's calendar of travel events.

Bow and arrow deer hunting season, which began Oct. 1, ended on Nov. 14, followed by the firearm deer season, Nov. 15-30.

All eyes will turn toward Detroit later in the month when the automobile capital of the world presents its nationally acclaimed auto show "Wheels and Winners". Named by Discover America Travel Organizations as one of the nation's top 20 travel events in November, the show will be staged in Cobo Hall Nov. 21-29. All 1971 domestic cars will be on display as well as some foreign cars and recreational travel vehicles. Some manufacturers also will display their built-to-order, one-of-a-kind automobiles.

Another major Michigan event begins the day after Thanksgiving when Lincoln Park offers its annual pre-Christmas display, "Christmas Fantasyland". The old fashion Christmas display will take place in the J.F. Kennedy Memorial Center beginning Nov. 28 and running through Dec. 24. It features animated scenes, a street of toy shops, country stores, candy shops, bell ringers and a circus. There also will be a doll house with 500 dolls dressed by Lincoln Park youth groups and service clubs for later distribution to charitable organizations.

Other November community events include a Craft and Hobby Show in Lansing, Nov. 12-14, l a Christmas Antique Show at Detroit, Nov. 18-22.

For additional information on Michigan's November activities, write for a copy of the Michigan Calendar of Travel Events, available free of charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Stevens T. Mason Building, Lansing 48926.

Update Farm Records

Robert W. Reidel, Chairman of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, says that now is a good time to bring farm records up to date.

Records are kept on farms participating in Government programs administered by ASCS. A farmer who was in any program in 1970 and who has bought, sold, leased, rented, or otherwise acquired or disposed of farmland should visit the County ASCS Office to report the transactions.

The ACS Committee chairman commented that previous farm legislation is expiring and Congress is expected to take up proposed new farm legislation when it reconvenes in November. "Whatever farm programs we have, farmers will want to be sure their farm records are accurate and complete when the programs go into effect", Reidel said.

County ASCS Offices are required to keep records on acreage of all farms where owners or operatora participate in any ASCS-sponsored programs. These include programs for feed grain, wheat in Charlevoix County. In addition, ASCS-administered farm programs include price support on several commodities such as wheat, corn and oats, honey and dry edible beans.

The County ASC Committee chairman said that if a farm is properly constituted signing up and participating in programs is so much simpler. If a farm has changed since the farmer began program participation, and if he hasn't reported the change, he should do so as soon as possible. Also, if a farm has changed owners or operators in that period, a report should be made to the County ASCS Office.

Reidel stressed that changes in the operations of farms need to be reported only be farmers participating in one or more farm programs administered by ASCS.

Takes Course At Ft. Bliss

ORDINANCE No. 6 CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP STATE OF MICHIGAN

Be it ordained by the Township Board of the Township of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that:

The "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" enacted on June 14, 1965, be and the same is hereby, amended as follows:

That Section 1.02 (c) is hereby amended to read as follows:

"(c) 'Air Quality control equipment' means any equipment which has as its essential purpose a significant reduction in (1) the emission of air contaminants, or (2) the effect of such emission.

'Air Quality measuring equipment' means any equipment which has as its essential purpose the measurement of the quality and / or the density of the emission of air contaminants."

That Section 4.01 be amended to read as follows:

"There is hereby created and established on Air Pollution Control Board to advise and consult with the Health Officer in effectuating the purposes of this Code including advice relative to legislation and to hear and pass judgment on appeals. The Board shall consist of the Health Officer who shall serve as ex-officio member; the township supervisor; a member of the general public appointed by the Township Board. Members of the Board shall be appointed for terms of three years, but any member can be removed for cause by the Township Board at any time. The members of the Board shall select their own chairman who shall serve for one year.

(a) MEETINGS: The Air Pollution Control Board shall meet on the call of the chairman.

(b) QUORUM: Two members, or an alternate of any absent member who shall be appointed by the Township Board, shall constitute a quorum for purposes of conducting its business and exercising its powers under this Code.

(c) GENERAL DUTIES: The Air Pollution Control Board shall hold public hearings, conduct investigations, request witnesses to appear, and administer oaths, take depositions and receive such pertinent and relevant proof as it may deem necessary or proper in order that it may effectively discharge its duties and powers under this Code. It shall also advise and consult with the Health Officer in effectuating the purposes of this Code including advice relative to legislation."

That Section 7.01 be amended to read as follows:

"The Township Board may appoint an air quality control officer with such officer possessing such qualifications as deemed necessary by said township board, taking into account education, skill, and experience.

That the first sentence of Section 7.03 (a) be amended to read as follows:

"Enter at all reasonable times in or upon any private or public property after giving advance notice to the property owner for the purpose of investigating either an actual or suspected source of air pollution or air contamination or to ascertain compliance or non-compliance with this Code or any properly issued order."

That Section 14.03(d) (1), Cement Manufacture, be amended to read as follows:

"Kilns - Gas cleaning equipment designed for full range of operating conditions and which limits emission to 0.20 pounds of particulate per 1,000 pounds of gas must be applied. Future expansion of existing kiln facilities and addition of new kilns will be subject to review and approval of Air Pollution Control Board. Each kiln is to be considered a separate process.

Kilns Equipped with Electrostatic Precipitator - Emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code during the kiln start-up process shall not be deemed to be a violation of this Code provided the complete electrostatic precipitator system is operating no later than such time as temperature and combustibles permit safe precipitator operation and in no event later than eight (8) hours after the kiln start-up process has commenced.

Section 13.01 to the contrary notwithstanding, emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code as a result of either a breakdown or a shutdown for scheduled maintenance of not more than 25 percent of the total gas cleaning equipment capacity shall be deemed a violation of this Code if the emission of particulate matter exceeds the limit established by this Code for more than twenty-four (24) consecutive hours from the time the breakdown or shutdown first occurs. Furthermore, each occurrence after ten (10) occurrences per calendar year, irrespective of duration except as provided herein, shall be deemed a violation of this Code. For the purpose of determining a violation for an occurrence after ten (10) occurrences per calendar year, any emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code shall not be deemed a violation if the occurrence does not exceed one (1) hour duration and does not occur more than once per calendar week.

Section 13.01 to the contrary notwithstanding, in the event the emission of particulate matter exceeds the limit established by this Code as a result of the inoperativeness or more than 25 percent of the gas cleaning equipment capacity, it shall be deemed a violation of this Code if the cause of said inoperativeness is not corrected within one (1) hour or if said inoperativeness occurs more than once per calendar week. However, it shall not be a violation of this Code if the kiln operation is suspended or curtailed until such time as either the emission level is within the limit established by the Code or the Health Officer authorizes the complete resumption of the kiln operation based upon a corrective program submitted to the Health Officer by the owner or operator which the Health Officer approves, and said authorization shall not be unreasonably withheld. In the event a violation of this subsection occurs, the Health Officer may seek a restraining order or injunction to suspend or curtail kiln operation until such time as the owner or operator complies with the requirements of this subsection.

Clinker Coolers - Gas cleaning equipment designed for full range of operating conditions and which limits emission to 0.25 pounds of particulate per 1000 pounds of gas must be applied.

Grinding, crushing, screening, conveying, drying, packaging and other material handling operation.

Air cleaning equipment must be applied and have a minimum collection efficiency of 99 percent (on a total weight basis). A maximum emission of 0.13 pounds per thousand pounds of exhaust gas in permitted."

That Section 14.06 be amended to read as follows:

"(a) It shall be the responsibility of the owner or operator of the operation tested to provide, at his expense, reasonable and necessary openings in the system or stack, and safe and easy access thereto, to permit technically valid samples and measurements to be taken.

(b) When any equipment used in a manufacturing process regularly emits 200 pounds or more of particulate matter by weight into the atmosphere per calendar day the owner or operator of said source of emission shall acquire, install and operate at his expense by January 1, 1971 air quality measuring equipment approved by the Health Officer after consultation with the State of Michigan Air Pollution Control Department. Said air quality measuring equipment, together with a device which permanently records the quantity of particulate matter emitted, shall be continuously operated except for shutdowns for maintenance. Permanent records shall be kept by the owner or operator for at least three (3) years and shall be made available to the Health Officer or the Air Pollution Control Board for inspection upon request. Furthermore, said owner or operator may be required by order of the Health Officer or the Air Pollution Control Board to submit written reports not more often than once per week which completely and accurately summarize said permanent records and identify periods of time in which particulate matter is not emitted because the source of emission is inoperative, or to submit copies of said permanent records certified by the owner or operator to be a true and accurate reproduction of said permanent records. Provided said air quality measuring equipment operates in a reliable and substantially accurate manner, the owner or operator shall not be required to acquire, install and operate any new, additional or replacement air quality measuring equipment unless other equipment providing substantially more reliable and accurate data is available at a reasonable cost. In no event shall the cost of any new, additional, or replacement equipment exceed $10,000 nor shall the owner or operator be required to acquire, and install said equipment more than once every three (3) years.

That the "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" is hereby amended by adding thereto and inserting therein following Section 15.06 thereof, the following section to be known as Section 15.07 as follows:

"Section 15.07 SURVEILLANCE FEE

(a) Any person who is required to register the emission of air contaminants under Section 2.02 shall pay annually a fee in advance to the township beginning January 1, 1971. Said fee shall be based on the quantity of air contaminants emitted in accordance with said registration statement and the schedule set forth herein. Any operation which emits air contaminants more than 10 percent of any calendar year shall be presumed to emit said air contaminats 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for the purpose of calculating said fee.

Annual emission of air contaminants disclosed by registration and supported by competent data as required by Health Officer

(In tons - hourly rate of pounds X 24 hours X 365 days / 2000 pounds)	Annual Fee
1000 tons and above	$7,000.00
900 " to 999	6,000.00
800 " to 899	5,000.00
700 " to 799	4,000.00

200 " to 299	250.00
100 " to 199	100.00
less than 100 tons	fee to be paid in accordance with provisions of sub-section (b)

(b) Any person required to register under Section 2.02 but whose operation emits air contaminants 10 percent or less of the calendar year shall pay a fee based on the actual cost of surveillance, investigation, monitoring, and enforcement for the preceding calendar year. Said fee will first become due and payable on January 1, 1972.

(c) The fees payable under sub-sections (a) and (b) shall pay the costs of surveillance, investigation, monitoring, enforcement and all other incidental activities necessary to provide for greater protection of the quality of the air of this township and to abate air pollution.

(d) The township shall establish and maintain a separate account for each person who is required to pay said fee. Monies received and disbursed shall be recorded in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Accurate records will be kept to determine the costs incurred for the surveillance, investigation, monitoring, enforcement and other incidental activities for each person. In the event the fee paid exceeds the actual costs incurred, the person paying said fee shall receive a credit against the next year's fee, or a refund.

That the "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" is hereby amended by adding thereto and inserting therein following Section 16.01 thereof, the following section to be known as Section 16.02, as follows:

"Section 16.02 EFFECTIVE DATES

These amendments shall take effect (30) days after the date of first publication thereof in the Charlevoix Courier newspaper. These amendments to the Air Quality Control Code were adopted by the Charlevoix Township Board at its regular meeting on Monday, October 12, 1970.

Farm-City Week Marked

The Charlevoix Kiwanis Club celebrated Farm-City Week Nov. 9 by holding its weekly dinner meeting at the Norwood Friendship Hall.

Fourteen Norwood township farmers attended the meeting, which featured a movie on tractor safety.

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug

The Billion Dollar Beer Mug plays an important role in helping keep the American economy on the move, strong and dynamic! Before beer reaches the consuming public it employs 60,000 workers in the brewing industry alone and 1 million in collateral and support businesses and industries, paying $1.5 billion in state and federal excise taxes, over $2.7 billion in wages to employees, and distributors, and $1 billion for agricultural products and packaging. In Michigan and throughout the nation beer is good business.

Saints Nip Rayders In Season Finale

Charlevoix's Red Rayders closed out the 1970 football season in fifth place Friday, bowing to the St. Ignace Saints 20 to 18 in a game that could have gone either way.

Charlevoix ended the season with three wins, three losses and two ties, trailing behind first-place Rogers City, Boyne City, Traverse City St. Francis and Alpena Catholic Central.

It appeared that Charlevoix had the game in the bag up until the final minute of play when the Saints mounted an air and ground offensive which culminated in the winning TD.

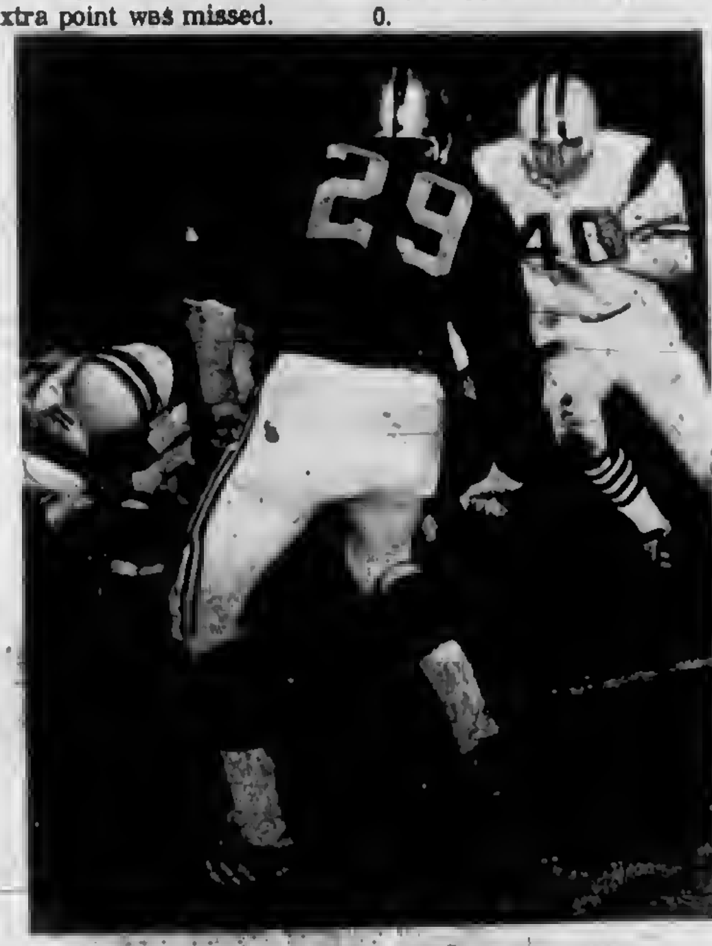
Charlevoix scored in the first period when Joe Jones carried the ball across from the one-yard line, although the extra point was missed.

In the second stanza, St. Ignace's Mike Winston polished off the Saint's first TD drive, with Mike Huskey passing for the conversion, putting St. Ignace ahead 8-6.

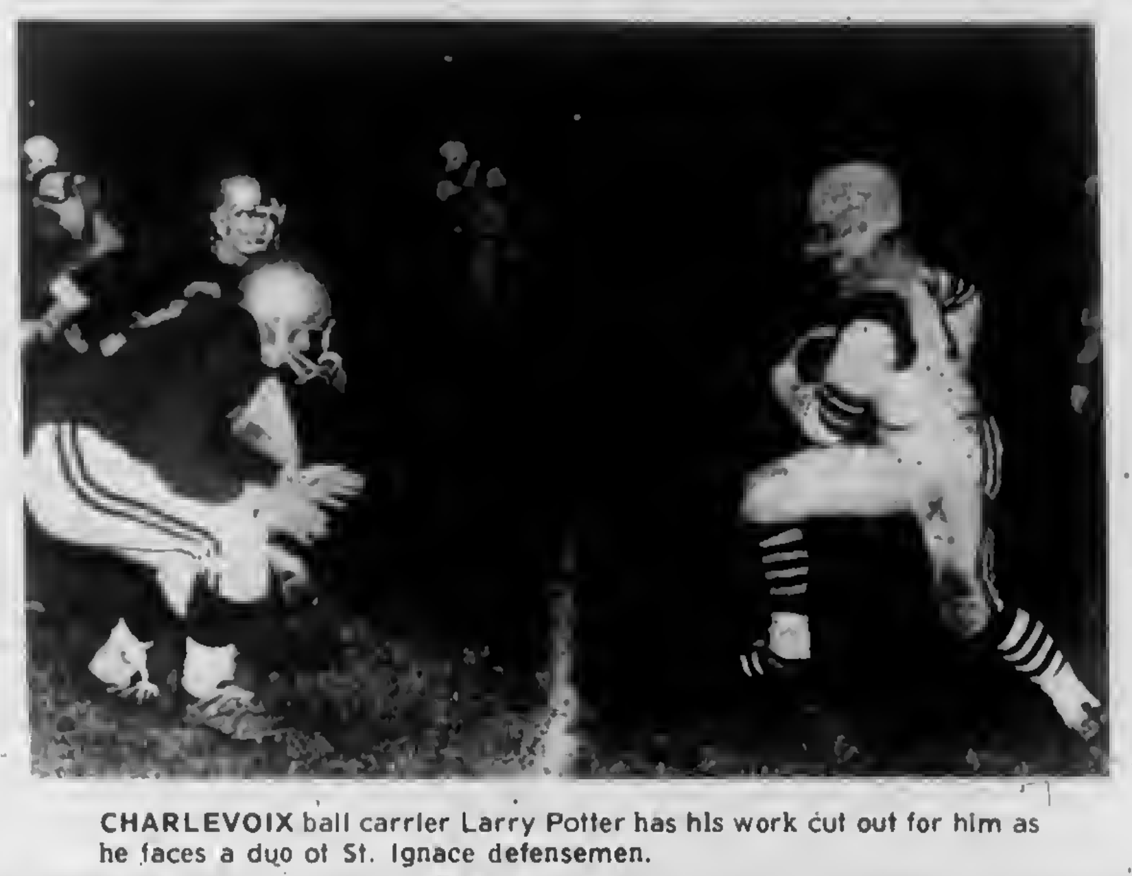
In the third period, Charlevoix's Larry Potter scored twice, first on a 32-yard run and later on a four-yard plunge, giving the Rayders a margin of 18 to 8.

But in the final period, the Saints came back with two TDs, first on a pass from Jeff Savard to Rick Powers and second on a pass from Ed Lester to Rick Powers.

In other action Friday, Gaylord defeated Petoskey 13 to 6, Alpena Catholic Central defeated Traverse City St. Francis 19 to 13; and Rogers City whipped Cheboygan, 28 to 0.



RAYDER TIM CAREY (40) charges head-on into Saints quarterback J. Savard. St. Ignace won the cliff-hanger by scoring a TD in the final minute of play.



CHARLEVOIX ball carrier Larry Potter has his work cut out for him as he faces a duo of St. Ignace defensemen.

Cheerleaders Attend Northwood Seminar

Five Charlevoix High School cheerleaders and their advisor attended the ninth annual Cheerleading Day for Michigan varsity cheerleaders at Northwood Institute in Midland Nov. 7.

The group included advisor Mrs. Marie Osterberg and cheerleaders Annette Hansen, Kay Fiedorek, Sherri Austin, Kris Osterberg and Teri Wood.

They were among cheerleaders from more than 120 schools taking part in the squad competition. Trophies were presented in three categories: performing a cheer designed to encourage crowd participation, appearance and squad discipline.

Mary Karen Campbell of Lansing Catholic Central High School was elected queen of the cheerleaders. She received a $500 scholarship to Northwood Institute.

Highlight of the day was the colorful march of the cheerleaders to Julierat Stadium to watch Northwood Institute play Olivet College. During half-time, the 120 squad were led in chants and yells by Northwood Institute cheerleaders.

The visit ended with a trophy presentation ceremony.

State Gas Taxes Being Distributed

Motor Vehicle Highway fund collections for the third quarter of 1970 – up 6.8 percent from the same period a year ago – are being distributed to Michigan counties, cities and villages, the State Highway Commission has announced.

In northern Michigan, Charlevoix County will receive $122,132, compared to 144,697 in 1970; Emmet County, $139,015, compared to $126,232 last year; and Antrim County $122,490, compared to $113,203 last year.

Following is a breakdown of the amount cities and villages in the area will receive. The figure in brackets indicates highway fund disbursements for the third quarter of 1969:

Charlevoix, $10,260 ($9,517); Petoskey, $17,832 ($18,647); Boyne City, $12,067 ($11,366); Boyne Falls, $1,353 ($1,193); Ellsworth, $2,598 ($2,456); and Mackinaw City, $5,617 ($5,264).

State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth said net receipts in July, August and September totaled $77,766,148, an increase of $6,271,480 from the third quarter of 1969. Normal growth in motor vehicle registrations and fuel consumption accounted for the increase, he said.

The highway fund is made up of the seven-cent-a-gallon state tax on gasoline and diesel fuel and motor vehicle license plate fees paid by motorists.

After deduction of Department of State collections costs, 1.5 percent of the gasoline tax for the state Waterways Commission and $3.5 million annually for the Mackinac Bridge Authority to retire bridge bonds, 46 percent goes to the Department of State Highways, 34 percent to the 83 counties and 20 percent to the state's 529 incorporated cities and villages.

Natural Gas Shortage: A Portent of the Future

It is strange how the "future" sometimes arrives overnight.

A case in point is the critical shortage of natural gas now facing Michigan and the rest of the nation.

Every thinking person knows that there is a limit to the supply of natural resources in old Mother Earth. And the supply of at least one commodity -- natural gas -- apparently is nearing depletion.

The situation is so bad that the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC) has authorized Consumers Power Co. to impose complete restrictions on future sales of natural gas. The commission said it acted "to protect service to existing customers...because of an imminent shortage of natural gas supplies."

The order confirmed the company's earlier decision to refuse new industrial and commercial business, beyond commitments already in force on Oct. 1, 1970.

The commission noted that a serious shortage in the supply of natural gas presently exists in the United States because the exploration for and development of new gas reserves have failed to keep pace with the growing need for natural gas.

The shortage of natural gas, the commission said, has made it impossible for the company to meet the increasing requirements for gas in its service area. The commission added that the unusual increase in demand for natural gas has been prompted, in large part, by the enforcement of air pollution regulations.

The commission observed that, without any restrictions on gas sales, the annual requirements of customers that would be added to the company's system by Dec. 31, 1971, would amount to approximately 390 billion cubic feet. However, the company's estimated annual supply of gas to meet these requirements, as of 1970, would be only 364 billion cubic feet, a deficiency of some 26 billion cubic feet annually.

Although the city of Charlevoix is served with natural gas by Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. -- not Consumers -- a shortage of gas supplies eventually will effect us all.

At least one small independent gas supplier in Michigan has run out of natural gas completely.

Gas Production Co., Inc., of Sumner has been authorized by the PSC to substitute propane vapor gas for natural gas service to its 55 customers in Montcalm County.

The utility told the PSC that its natural gas wells in the area are virtually depleted and that it has been unable to obtain any other supply of natural gas.

The PSC also approved the utility's request to increase its rates to cover the additional cost for fuel. The utility's customers will pay about twice as much for propane gas as they paid for natural gas.

In the Upper Peninsula, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. recently won approval from the PSC to lay a three-mile-long pipeline tying in with a Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. line in order to bring additional gas into the U.P. Michigan Consolidated will buy 21,000 cubic feet of gas a day from the Michigan-Wisconsin firm.

The crisis which confronts the state and the nation today relative to natural gas is only the forerunner of a long series of such crises in the future. Coal and oil, regardless of their present abundance, are fast-depleting commodities and the day is rapidly approaching when they will be gone.

Fortunately, research already is well advanced toward the development of electric power by means of atomic energy, which undoubtedly will provide the nation's chief source of electricity in the next century.

But the need remains for an economical, renewable back-up fuel to heat our homes, cook our meals, dry our clothes and propel our automobiles.

We hope someone – somewhere – is working on the problem.

Early School Openings Cost Us Millions

Although most harried mothers are anxious to have their offspring return to the classroom as early as possible after summer vacation, early school openings this year cost northern Michigan millions of tourist dollars, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

James Hall, secretary-manager of the East Michigan Tourist Association headquartered in Bay City, said the early openings resulted in loss of between seven to ten million dollars in eastern Michigan alone.

Although the loss in western Michigan has not been computed, it apparently would run at least as much or more.

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority, also voiced concern in his monthly report of bridge statistics.

"Early school openings in some parts of the state reduced traffic during the last few days of August and the first two or three days of September," Brown noted.

The Michigan Tourist Council has officially objected to the early school openings in a resolution sent to the Michigan Education Association and other school administrators and teacher organizations. The resolution points out that families with school age children and other vacationers must head home early in time for pupil registration, depriving northern Michigan of needed tourist dollars.

"Such school openings and registrations traditionally govern the ending of the summer tourist season," Ron Gamble of Oscoda, chairman of Tourist Council, reported. "If we are to recapture those dollars lost during this 10-day period around Labor Day, school openings must be rescheduled to at least one week after Labor Day."

The Council's resolution noted that because of the spending generated by tourists, valuable tax monies are returned to the state in the form of sales tax, 50 percent of which is used to support schools.

The resolution also points out that teachers suffer because they are forced to pass up opportunities for employment in the tourist industry "since they are unable to work the entire season."

Although we consider the sales tax issue and the teacher employment issue specious arguments at best, we can't help but feel sorry for the northern Michigan resort owner and the restaurateur who suffers because of the early school openings.

It certainly would help all of us in Michigan's resort areas if the schools remained closed one week longer.

Furthermore, the kids would love it.

Adieu, Mon Général

By BOB CLOCK

Although the bitter-sweet days of World War II when Gen. Charles de Gaulle was a household word are still very much fresh and alive for many of us, the general's death last week was a solemn reminder that we are all getting older.

Aside from our own Harry Truman and Free China's Chiang Kai-Shek, all of the major international figures who stalked the stage during the Second World War have now passed from the scene.

And although we disagreed with de Gaulle more often than we agreed with him, the people of France certainly have the sympathy of all Americans at the loss of a man who, for the past quarter century, served as the French conscience and as a symbol of France's present honor and past glory.

Perhaps the most fitting tribute to de Gaulle was uttered by his successor, President Georges Pompidou.

"France is a widow," the president said in announcing the general's death to his people.

Oddly enough, de Gaulle lacked almost all of the qualities that are normally associated with the French people as a whole. A stern, unsmiling father-figure, de Gaulle was bereft of the "joie de vivre" that most foreigners consider the hallmark of the French character.

Once de Gaulle took a stand, he was as impervious to the winds of public opinion as the Arc de Trimphe. When voters last year rejected his plea for government centralization, de Gaulle resigned as president, as he promised he would.

Although de Gaulle's private life remainded just that – private –, it is no secret that it was marked by a family tragedy of the highest order. The general's only child, his daughter Anne, was born mentally retarded. She was 20 years old when she died in 1948.

The general was buried by her side last Thursday in the tiny churchyard at Colombey-les-deux-Eglises, the village 160 miles from Paris where the de Gaulles made their home.

It is idle to speculate whether de Gaulle would have been a less severe governmental task-master if he had been the pater familia of a large, boisterous and happy following of sons and daughters.

Such things the world will never know.

Nor will we ever know why de Gaulle turned his back on the United States, without whose help France would never have driven the Nazi invaders off her soil.

His treatment of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) is also inexplicable. He not only withdrew French military forces from NATO but also evicted the allied military organization from its Paris headquarters.

Great Britain is still puzzled by his obstinate refusal to permit her to participate in the European Common Market.

Perhaps de Gaulle's most devastating action in recent years took place in 1967 during his visit to Canada's "Expo '67" when he openly supported the French separatist movement in Quebec Province.

Judy and I drove through Quebec Province a few weeks before the de Gaulle visit and were alarmed by the number of "Quebec Libre" (Free Quebec) signs scrawled on weathered barns and billboards along the highway.

However, we were assured by every French-Canadian we met that the separatist movement was long dead, that the signs were vestiges of an earlier campaign among French malcontents to establish their independence from Canada.

French Canadian moderates wrote off the general's support of the separatists as the ramblings of an old man. "Liberte, equalite, senilite," they said in explaining de Gaulle's uncalled for interference in the internal affairs of a foreign nation.

But de Gaulle's remarks at Expo '67 have rekindled the separatist movement in Quebec Province, resulting as recently as this fall in the kidnaping and murdering of government officials.

That is why few tears were shed for de Gaulle on this side of the Atlantic.

But as a symbol of French determination during World War II, we are proud to salute the memory of what he was and what he did.

A Different Drummer

By JIM FITZGERALD

When Joe died suddenly, after living only 43 years, my big sister revealed her old fashioned upbringing. "He just never found a good woman," she explained.

Her meaning was plain: If Joe had married well, or even just so-so, he'd still be alive today. If he'd married a real catch, he'd still be alive 40 years from now, sleeping each night with a great grandmother.

The evidence against bachelor Joe, when whispered in sight of his casket, sounded bad. He left his hometown 10 years ago, moving to wicked New York City, and never returned, not even for Christmas. He lived in the same hotel room for six years and it must be assumed that all his worldly possessions were in there with him. No refrigerator that spits ice cubes. No two-car garage. No power lawn mower. No lawn. And, even if he'd had a lawn, he had no one to tell him to mow it.

When Joe's body was sent home in a box, his family was fearful of looking at him. The heart attack that killed him came while he sat in a bar. Had his face been ravaged by 10 years of dissipation? He'd been one of the most handsome guys in town. But now....

He looked fine. Not a bit different than when he was 33. Joe looked better than some of us contemporaries who stood nearby, mourning him. And remember, he was dead.

His family felt a lot better when they saw how good Joe looked. They figured those 10 years maybe hadn't been so bad after all.

I'll bet they weren't. Not for Joe. I remember Joe well. He was something, I'll tell you. He was one of a large group of World War II veterans who used to meet regularly in the Alibi Bar, or Harrington's Taproom, or the Legion euchre room. Those were fun days when we worked as little as possible or went to college and studied as little as possible. And always, we had as much fun as possible.

No one enjoyed himself more than Joe. And no one was more enjoyable. It was always a better party if Joe showed up.

For the rest of us, the party ended sooner. We all found good women. I even own a lawn mower now, and I swore I never would. I don't know what Joe did those last 10 years, but I'd be awfully disappointed to hear he ever put up a storm window.

Joe marched to a different drummer. Certainly he was out of step with a lot of the world. Certainly he could have been more considerate of his relatives back home. But pardon me if I can't tch tch. I mourn Joe's death because he was one of the most delightful guys I knew. But I can't mourn his life.

There are many kinds of happiness. And there are many achievements greater than living long enough to sleep with a great grandmother.

There is not a good woman behind every good man. Behind some good men there are lawns unmowed and Christmas dinners uneaten. And also a lot of people who are glad to have known them.

That's worth some gold stars, too.

'Kohns Gave Us Flag to Rally Round'

To the Editor:

There are at least 3,092 of us who owe a debt of gratitude to the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Kohn for giving us a "flag to rally 'round" and for giving so much of their time, energy and money to a cause that would appear to many poeple to be completely lost. Such is not the case, but even the measure of defeat it has unquestionably suffered must be viewed in the light of something. I have heard Harold Kohn say many times: "God doesn't commission us to be successful; rather, he calls us to be faithful and to struggle for the right."

But let us consider what progress was made toward a goal far more important than the placing of one man in a legislative position. Were the people of the 106th district alerted to the potential dangers inherent in the John Birch Society? 55 percent of the people who voted said, in effect, that they did not want Richard Friske to represent them. Only 33 percent of the voters rejected the Republican candidate two years ago. Thanks to Mr. Kohn, the majority's rejection of the official Republican candidate this time can in some measure be attributed to their becoming aware of the dangers of a kind of "un-Americanism" (a word of many meanings, I'm afraid) that is rivaled in its potential harm only by Communism.

I believe there may be yet another element of success in the efforts of Mr. Kohn and the dozens of other good citizens who worked so hard in this "alert" effort. Mr. Friske stated very definitely in one of his ads that if he was elected he would not be dictated to by the John Birch Society. He now has an obligation to live up to that promise. It will not be easy, in the light of the commitment he made when he joined, must continue to make in order to remain a member, and the kind of monthly instruction he gets in the Bulletin. I hope Mr. Friske, too, has been awakened to the potential dangers in Robert Welch's mental dictatorship.

Thank you, Marian and Harold Kohn, for living so courageously your commitment to God in this situation and for challenging the rest of us to do so.

Mrs. Robert G. Martin

Friske Stand Rankles Him

Editor:

The truth will out! Please remove your blindfold. Do Birchers burn the flag and their draft cards; carry Viet Cong flag, pictures of Mao, Castro; run to Canada to escape the draft; go to Cuba for guerrilla training; sell dope, pornographic literature to youth; sell materials to Communists to be used in killing our men in Vietnam; riot, burn, throw firebombs; want to overthrow our Constitution? Want to legalize abortion? No. Please list your specific objections – or if that is too difficult, one! Bad show against Mr. Friske.

Everyone Has Scheme To Save Leaning Tower

Everybody wants to get into the act of saving the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

An English landscape gardener suggests propping it with a 100-foot marble statue of William of Innsbruck, one of the tower's architects.

Two Russian engineers propose to pump the base full of a substance that turns rock hard when electricity is passed through it.

A man from Missouri wants to line the structure with steel and place giant magnets in an adjacent trellis tower.

From all over the world come letters to Pisa that advise simply, "Pray."

CONTINUES TO TILT

Several years ago, Italy set up a 23-member Government Commission for Vigilance for the Stability of the Bell Tower of Pisa. The group has sifted through more than 4,000 ideas for preserving the landmark, the National Geographic Society says.

The 185-foot tower leans 15 feet out of the vertical and continues to tip about a twentieth of an inch a year. Experts disagree on the marble structure's fate.

Some say it will stand another century. Others claim a very strong wind could blow it over at any time. Everyone agrees that something should be done, and the government commission hopes to begin work in 1971–as soon as it decides what to do.

One plan under consideration calls for running cablea from enormous jacks to a concrete hoop around the tower's base. It then would be raised slightly and a firm new foundation laid.

Some Italian authorities seriously propose to dismantle the tower stone by stone and rebuild it at the same or a nearby location with an immobile concrete base.

No one seriously considers–no matter how far-fetched his idea–straightening the leaning tower. Pisans enjoy a thriving tourist trade and are appalled at the thought of altering their principal lure.

A BORING PROBLEM

In fact, everyone in Italy takes a proprietary interest in Pisa's pride. When test borings were made around the base in 1966, an official complained:

"If we say we drilled down 10 meters, the public gets excited and asks what we expect to find at only 10 meters. If we say we went deeper and hit water, the public screams, 'What are they doing? They're going to knock over the tower!' "

The tower rests on spongy, wet subsoil. Started in A.D. 1174 as a campanile, or bell tower, for the adjacent cathedral, it began to sag after only 40 feet had been completed.

The original architect, Bonanno of Florence, quit in disgust. Three succeeding designers failed to stop the tilt. In 1350 the campanile was adjudged safe enough to complete by adding the bell chamber. Ever since, Pisa has been getting advice.

A few years ago, a party of German tourists took direct action. Early New Year's morning, they ran a steel cable around the tower and tied both ends to the rear bumper of their automobile.

The car roared off. The bumper clanged to the ground. The majestic tower did not even quiver.

Year 'Round Season for Lake Ships?

John McGoff, president of Panax Corp., with headquarters in East Lansing, has been appointed chairman of a special task force of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce with the declared purpose of all year shipping on the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway System, it has been announced by Harry R. Hall, the State Chamber President.

"We are indeed pleased to have a man of John McGoff's demonstrated aggressiveness and leadership capacity accept this important task. All year navigation on the Great Lakes can have a major impact on the economic development of the entire Great Lakes area. Interest shown in this project by numerous governmental agencies, since we initiated action late in July, provides dramatic evidence of what we can expect in the next few years", said Hall.

John McGoff is the chief executive of the Panax Corp., which publishes seven daily and 12 weekly newspapers in Michigan. He is a past president of Northern Michigan University and a present board member, a past chairman of the Ingham County Republican Party, chairman of the board of unlimited development, Inc., a member of the Board of Operation Action and a member of the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges as well as numerous other civic and business groups.

According to Hall, "the Navigation Extension Winter Season (News) Task Force will consist of twenty high level business executives from companies that use the Great Lakes extensively.

Charlevoix Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix recently by District Court Magistrate Richard Smith:

Michael Kruzel, 36, Boyne City, was assessed $100 on a charge of trespassing and assault and battery. A charge that Kruzel was a disorderly person was dismissed.

William Hadix, 22, Boyne City, waived examination on three charges of arson and was bound over to the November term of Circuit Court. Bond in the amount of $5000 was not immediately furnished.

A charge of petty larceny lodged against Edward Jacobs, 50, East Jordan, was dismissed on the request of the complaining witness.

Michael B. Bernadyn, 28, Boyne Falls, was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Clarence P. Heise, 23, Charlevoix, was assessed $25 as a disorderly person.

Richard Lee Wood, 29, Flint, plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery. He will be sentenced later.

Dale Reich, 22, East Jordan, was assessed $75 on a charge of furnishing alcoholic beverages to a minor.

Sophie A. Anderson, 41, East Jordan, was assessed $153 on charges of operating a motor vehicle without a license and driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. She also was sentenced to three days in the county jail.

Lewis B. Bennett, 63, East Jordan, was assessed $103 for allowing an unlicensed person to drive a motor vehicle. His driver's license also was suspended. Bennett also was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Steven R. Kanaday, 20, Flint, plead guilty to a charge of assault and battery. He will be sentenced later.

Bradford C. Houck, 23, Boyne City, was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Disorderly person charges lodged against John Andrew Fortune, Boyne Falls, were withdrawn on the request of the complaining witness.

Richard J. Schwander, 28, Mackinaw City, was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Keith V. Dressel, 65, Boyne City, plead not guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. Bond in the amount of $35 was furnished and trial will be held later.

Barbara Ann Elzinga, 30, Charlevoix, plead not guilty to a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Bond in the amount of $100 was furnished. Trial will be held later.

A charge of assault and battery against Ronald D. Grubaugh, 23, Boyne City, was dismissed on the request of the complaining witness.

CS Society Plans Service Thanksgiving

A special service on Thanksgiving Day has been announced by the Christian Science Society of Charlevoix, 205 W. Clinton-st.

Jordan Hearing Dec. 7

The second hearing on the closing of the Jordan River to power boats has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 7, in the courtroom of the Charlevoix County courthouse.

James Walker of the Marine Safety Division of the state Department of Natural Resources will be in charge of the meeting, according to County Clerk Clarence Rabach.

At the first hearing Sept. 9, residents voiced their objections to the use of motor boats on the river. They cited the hazards of attempting to navigate the shallow, log-choked river in power-driven craft damage to the river and fishlife, and other problems.

Walker is expected to present the DNR's views on closing the river to power boats at the December meeting.

The Jordan River Watershed Commission has worked for the past three years to preserve the river as one of the last wilderness trout streams in the Lower Peninsula.

County Population Could Hit 35,000 in Only 20 Years

Charlevoix County could well have a population of nearly 35,000 by the year 1990, according to a recent report by the Charlevoix County Planning Commission and its consultants, Williams and Works.

In a report submitted to the County Board of Commissioners at its October meeting, the planners pointed out that the county has experienced a growth rate of 20.2 percent in the past decade, compared to a state average of only 12.2 percent.

"If this percentage rate were to continue for the next 20 years, it would indicate a population of 19,360 people in 1980 and 23,250 by 1990," the report said. "However, because of the many factors which make Charlevoix County attractive, development is projected to take place at a higher percentage than experienced between 1960 and 1970. This could indicate a population of nearly 35,000 by 1990."

"This population projection, coupled with the projection for a continued increase in seasonal residences, creates a definite need for control of land use and development with the county," the planners said.

Compared to Charlevoix's growth rate of 20.2 percent, Antrim County grew 18.2 percent, and Emmet County only 10.1 percent. The Emmet figure is under the state average.

Among communities, the city of Charlevoix's growth rate in the past decade was the highest in the area, with an increase of 23.3 percent. By comparison, Boyne City's population increased 3.2 percent, East Jordan 6.4 percent, Petoskey 0.3 percent, Harbor Springs 9.2 percent, Mancelona 5.9 percent, Kalkaska 17.6 percent and Gaylord 15.4 percent. Traverse City's population dropped 4.1 percent.

In a study funded by the Farmers Home Administration, the county planners are attempting to come up with recommendations which will result in the orderly growth of the county.

One of the major steps is the drawing up of a county-wide zoning plan which presently is being prepared by Williams and Works.

It will cover an evaluation of existing zoning ordinances and maps and the completion of a model zoning ordinance.

The planners hope the project will prevent problems relating to school lands, recreational facilities, housing, water pollution, and industrial expansion.

Hospital Guild to Bring Yule Spirit to Patients

The Women's Guild of the Charlevoix Hospital will bring the Christmas spirit to the hospital early next month when guild members begin decorating both the interior and the exterior of the building for the holiday season.

Mrs. Robert A. Barnum will head the committee in charge of the project done annually by guild members.

Plans for this were made at a recent meeting of the guild held at the hospital, Mrs. James W. Gallagher, guild president, reports.

At the same meeting the guild voted to purchase a new croupette for the pediatrics department when told of the need by James Murray, hospital administrator.

The guild will also underwrite the cost of new draperies for the hospital solarium. Bids for the project were opened and are now being tabulated under the direction of project chairman, Mrs. Gordon L. Freedman.

Mr. Murray also asked if guild members would volunteer to direct visitors between the hours of 7 and 8 p.m. daily when there is no one in the front offices.

Mrs. Gallagher reported that Girl Scout Troop 274 whose leaders are Mrs. Jack Feis and Mrs. Harold Gibbs would make Thanksgiving tray favors and that Troop 265 with Mrs. Jack Barrett and Mrs. Russell Lewis as leaders would provide Christmas tray favors. The guild makes or arranges for tray favors for all major holidays during the year.

The purchase of equipment for and service to the hospital are the purposes of the guild.

THE PILEDRIVER owned by the Luedke Engineering Co. of Frankfort will soon be moving to winter quarters at Frankfort now that seawall construction on Pine River Channel is completed. It has been a familiar sight in Charlevoix waters for the past 2½ years.

Kids Planning Turkey Feast

Children from the Conway and Ironton schools are hosting an invitational Thanksgiving dinner Tuesday, Nov. 24, at noon at the Ironton School.

The meal will be prepared by the youngsters themselves, assisted by their teachers and aides.

On the menu are turkey and dressing, candied sweet potatoes, cranberry relish, whole cooked cranberry sauce, green beans, relishes, apple and pumpkin pie, beverages and mints.

City Contract Talks Snagged at Start

Contract negotiations between city employes, represented by the Communications Workers of America, (CWA), and the city of Charlevoix came to a standstill last week after union negotiators refused to discuss separate contracts for uniformed employes and public service employes.

City Superintendent Thomas Hanna reports that Stanley Powell, CWA representative from Kalamazoo, walked out of the first bargaining session at the City Hall Nov. 12 after the city's contract bargainer, Darrel Jocobs, also of Kalamazoo, told him that the city would like policemen and firemen covered by a separate contract.

When Powell failed to return Friday morning to continue the talks, Hanna called a meeting of city employes Friday afternoon at the City Hall at which Jacobs explained the impasse.

As of Nov. 20, the city had received no word from either Powell or his CWA field representative, Walter Fincout, of Cheboygan, who also sat in on the first bargaining session.

Hanna said he believes Powell has gone hunting.

Jacobs said the "substantive" provisions of both contract would be the same, but that policemen and firemen should be covered by a special contract because of the nature of their work.

Under a state law passed about the time of the CWA representation election last October, uniformed employes are subject to compulsory arbitration procedures, whereas other employes are not.

Jacobs said that in communities where all employes are covered by a single contract, notably St. Ignace, the city administration is placed in an untenable position.

Although city employes voted more than 13 months ago in favor of CWA representation, contract bargaining has been delayed over repeated appeals by the city to have uniformed officers treated as a separate bargaining unit, because of the compulsory arbitration provisions covering them.

Honna said the next move is up to the CWA. He said the city could be charged with an unfair labor practice because of its insistence on separate

Skid Paving Bids Opened

The state Highway Commission was to open bids Nov. 18 on the paving of one-fifth of a mile of US 31 between Lewis-ave. and Dixon-ave. with a special skid resistant material.

Estimated cost of the project is $20,000 and completion is set for July, 1971.

Portside Sports To Open

Charlevoix's newest retail business–Portside Sports–will open at 211 Bridge-st. Saturday, Nov. 28.

Owners of the new enterprise are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oestrike, co-managers of the Charlevoix Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Oestrikes hope to continue to operate the chamber office and run their new shop, which will specialize in all kinds of sports equipment and active sportswear.

To initiate the new shop, the Oestrikes have invited Charlevoixans with ski equipment they would like to trade to bring it to the shop on opening day in hopes of working out a barter.

If anyone wants to leave ski equipment at the shop for resale, the Oestrikes will handle the transaction for a modest fee.

For the past 3½ years, Oestrike has been a manufacturers representative selling sportswear. He also has worked for the May Co., opening the firm's ski shops in Denver.

Natives of Flat Rock, Mich., the Oestrikes moved to Charlevoix in July, 1969. Last June they were hired as managers of the Chamber of Commerce office.

Mrs. Oestrike (Sharon) is a graduate of Michigan State University and a former Detroit policewoman. Oestrike is a graduate of Central Michigan University.

Seabee Moves From Jungle To Antarctica

Seabee Delbert Kelly, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kelly of Charlevoix, is serving in the Antarctic at McMurdo Sound.

Kelly was transferred to the frozen sub-continent recently after two tours of duty in the steaming jungles of Vietnam.

He has sent his parents copies of the mimeographer base newspaper, entitled "The McMurdo Sometime", which offers a re-cap of national and international news, including sports.

Although it is mid-summer in the Antarctic, the newspaper reported a temperature range for Nov. 9 of between zero and 10 above.

In letters to parents, Kelly reported that the temperature had dipped to 40-below.

He also said he had seen penguins in their natural habitat, but they were too far away too get a good look at them.

Kelly expects to leave the Antarctic in April when winter arrives. He will complete his three-year enlistment in October, 1971.

JIM WISNER of Lansing and Erwin Houthoofd of Akron, Mich., carry deer from fish tug Manville L to waiting automobile in Charlevoix city parking lot. The deer was shot on South Fox Island.

Await Word on Future Of St. Marys' Services

Administrators of the Charlevoix school system, the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate Board of Education and St. Marys School are awaiting word from the state Department of Education on how passage of the parochiaid amendment will affect services now offered parochial schools.

Technically, the amendment to the Michigan Constitution severely limiting public assistance to non-public schools, takes effect Dec. 18. But there is little agreement in Lansing as to just what the amendment means in terms of school services.

According to state Attorney General Frank Kelley, the amendment terminates:

–A number of auxiliary services rendered by public school children – such things as remedial reading, speech correction and eye and ear testing.

–Shared-time or dual enrollment arrangements in which private-school pupils receive instruction on public school premises.

But at least two members of the state Board of Education, Merilyn Jean Kelly and Charles Morton, are in favor of seeking "additional supplementary legal advice" from university faculty members and private law firms as to just what the amendment means.

The issue has been referred to the state Supreme Court.

Dale Fassett, director of Special Education for the Charlevoix Emmet Intermediate School District, says that about a dozen youngsters at St. Marys School presently are receiving speech correction services from his staff.

Children enrolled in St. Marys also have been eligible for diagnostic services, social worker services, consultant services for the emotionally disturbed, consulting services for children with learning disabilities and teacher-counseling for physically handicapped youngsters.

Sister Ann, principal of St. Marys School, says she has enlisted the aid of various special Education personnel in past years, but that the present enrollment requires only the assistance of a speech correctionist.

In the area of shared-time, fifth and sixth grade students have been taking instruction in art and music this year from public school teachers at the Charlevoix High School.

"Our relations with the public school over the years have been just wonderful," she said.

Some St. Marys students also have been eating lunch at the high school, but it is doubtful the parochiaid amendment could affect this arrangement. The present lunch program at the high school is self-supporting, using the Stewart sandwich plan.

Superintendent Robert Miller has adopted a "wait and see" stand on the matter. He says he has received no directives on curtailing services to St. Marys.

AMERICAN Fence Erectors of Grandville construcled a cyclone fence around the Middle School playground last week. Ken Berends guides automatic post-hole digger as Rick Dekkinga looks on. Operating digger is Bruce Bommer. All are from Grandville. The Elementary School playground also will be fenced.

Carroll Heads Eagle Class

Elver Corroll of Traverse City has been named sponsor of the Boy Scout Eagle class of 1970 by the Scenic Trails Council Scout advancement committee.

The class is made up of Scouts and Explorers who have achieved the highest rank in Scouting during the year.

Charlevoix County boys in the class include Gerald W. Fochtman and Alan D. Avery of Charlevoix, Carl L. Cotanche, Vern D. Goodwin, Steven J. Brochu and Bryce R. Cotanche of Walloon Lake and Robert Jackson of Boyne City.

Carroll and his class were honored at the annual meeting of Scenic Trails Council held Nov. 11 in Traverse City.

Carroll entered Scouting in 1914 at age 12 in Central Lake and has remained in Scouting ever since, holding many posts on the council and district levels. In 1954 he received the Silver Beaver award, the highest citation given by the council.

He retired in 1966 as postmaster at Walloon Lake after 23 years service, but is still active at a Scout Commissioner at Camp Greilick and as a member of the Scenic Trails Council executive board.

HELP WANTED

To cope with labor shortages, the Soviet Union is encouraging pensioners to come out of retirement. In Uzbekistan, a 117-year-old man went to work as a traffic policeman.

THANK YOU

As of November 2, 1970, I am no longer associated with the Charlevoix Commercial Laundry.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the community and all my wonderful customers for their great support and patronage. I hope you will be as kind to the new owner, Robert E. Sooy, as you have always been to me.

Thank-you:

It was voted to send a Charlevoix girl to the annual 'Girls State' to be held in Ann Arbor in 1971 and to donate $20 to the local Community Christmas Project. Two get well and two sympathy cards are to be sent.

Mrs. Robert Wasockl volunteered to serve as Educational Scholarship chairman. Following the business meeting games were played, prizes awarded and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

William Reed and son Mike of Otsego and Bud Clark of Kalamazoo spent last weekend at the Elmer Reed home and hunted in the area.

Mrs. John St. Laurent

Martin-St. Laurent Rites Solemnized

Miss Elaine Martin of Charlevoix became the bride of John St. Laurent of Bay City in ceremonies Saturday, Nov. 21, at St. Mary's Church, Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Martin of Charlevoix. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard St. Laurent of Bay City.

The double-ring ceremony took place before an altar decorated with vases and bowls of red standard chrysanthymums and pompoms, the Rev. Fr. Leonard Tuozzolo of Bay City and the Rev. Elmer Faust of Charlevoix officiating.

Approximately 150 guests were seated in pews decorated with arrangements of red "Forever Yours" roses and greens, tied with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory velvet trimmed with embroidered velvet roses, with a chapel-length veil forming the train. She carried a pinnacle bouquet of red escourt roses.

Mrs. C.D. Geiken of Charlevoix was organist and Mrs. Robert Tollas of Charlevoix was soloist.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Maynard Sherwin of South Charleston, W. Va., a sister of the bride. She wore a forest green velvet gown with bell sleeves. A matching headpiece secured her floor-length veil. She carried a bouquet of red miniature roses and white pompoms.

Identical costumes were worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Charles Bibbee of Midland and Miss Sally Gustafson of Ann Arbor.

Best man was James St. Laurent of Palo Alto, Calif., a brother of the bridegroom. Groomsmen were Franklin VandenBrooks of Bay City and Gerald LaBrock of Saginaw.

Paul Martin of Charlevoix, a brother of the bride, was usher.

Following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the bride's parents in the Fellowship Hall of the Congregational Church. Assisting were Miss Vaughn Bidwell of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Frank Bambach of Midland.

Following a wedding trip to St. Louis, Mo., the St. Laurents will reside at 2800 Fleur-dr., Bldg. 3-312, Des Moines, Iowa.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the University of Notre Dame and the University of Michigan. He presently is in the armed forces.

The bride is a graduate of Kalamazoo College in Kalamazoo. She taught German at John Glenn High School in Bay City before moving to Des Moines where she is employed by the Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Bay City, Detroit, Cheboygan, Lansing, Ann Arbor, Illinois, West Virginia and California.

Two Students Take Exam At Soo College

Della Patrick, a student at Charlevoix High School, and Patti Ruis, a student at Ellsworth Community School, were among 60 northern Michigan young people who took examinations Saturday, Nov. 21, at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., for Lake Superior State College Board of Control scholarships and the new President's Achievement Award.

Dr. Kenneth J. Shouldice, college president, was host at a luncheon for the examinees following the tests. Then the group attended the LSSC-Lakehead basketball game Saturday afternoon.

The President's Achievement Award is $1,000 per year, renewable for four years. It is limited to students in the 11-county LSSC service area, which includes Charlevoix and Antrim counties.

Students placing second and third in the examination will receive full tuition Board of Control scholarships.

Students with either a 3.5 (close to all-A) grade point average, or who are National Merit semi-finalists, were eligible to sit for the examination.

Howard Barraw and his brother Ken of Muskegon and Hugh Hercha and his brother Elroy and two friends of Detroit are hunting in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carpenter and son Mack of Grand Rapids are spending this week with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Carpenter. Bob is deer hunting with his father and uncles, Lynn and Edgar.

The firemen were called out to the Ronald Grulke trailer last Thursday morning. Mrs. Grulke reports the lights on her pole lamp became fiery red, then all the electricity went off and came on again with lights brilliant as lightning and bulbs popping, but fortunately there was no fire. A new outside cable and ground were put on by the Ellsworth Hardware.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jansen recently moved into their new home and have sold their old place to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hallberg of Detroit. The Hallbergs have a son and a daughter.

Abe Van Stedum and his son Phil of Jenison surprised his folks, Mr. and Mrs. H. Van Stedum Monday be stopping before going deer hunting on the old homestead. They returned home Monday.

Mrs. Harm Fielstra is visiting her son Gerald and family in Traverse City while Harm hunts deer in his favorite place, the Jordan Valley.

Mrs. Herbert Peebles left Saturday to visit her children in Peoria, Ill., for 10 days.

Emery Wilson, Herb Peebles and Marv Wynsma are deer hunting around Gaylord.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeVries returned home last week after visiting their children in the Grand Rapids area.

Mrs. Chester Farrell and daughter Sheila and Graydon Watson of Central Lake were in Grand Rapids recently. Mrs. Farrell visited her sister Donna and the young people visited the Baptist College in Grand Rapids.

Visiting at the Jerry Alward home for several days were her mother, Mrs. Fritz Huizelburger, and children Paul and Joan from Walled Lake near Detroit.

Deer hunting in Pleasant Valley for a week are Bill and Jerry Alward and their father, Maynard Alward, Chet Farrell and Leonard Strange.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward (Beth) DeKam and daughter of Grand Rapids were weekend visitors with her father, John Burns and sister Gail.

Mrs. Fanny Koster left Friday by bus for Grand Rapids where she will visit her sister, Miss Jane Petter, and other relatives for a couple weeks.

A telephone has been installed in the new home of Mrs. Blanche Boss Kuhn - 588-7676.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heeres and children left early Saturday for Kentucky, where they will visit their son Vernon and wife for a few days.

Mrs. Hattie Kuiper who spent the past week at her home left Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Bob Swaney, and family until after Thanksgiving.

Carl Potts, president of the Ebenezer Christian School PTA led in devotions at the annual harvest sale held Monday at the Community Hall. The Ways and Means Committee, Mr. and Mrs. George Drenth, Mr. and Mrs. Willard VanderArk, Mr. and Mrs. Jake VandenBerg, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Vail, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit George Drenth and Mr. and Mrs. Pete VanderSlik were in charge. A great variety of goods were sold by auctioneers Paul Doctor and John Kooyer, Melvin Essenberg and John Elzinga, Bill Boss and Art DeVries. The sale began at 7:45 and ended at 10 p.m. Lunch was sold and served by the committee.

Mrs. Harm Sitzema and Mrs. Albert Fielstra have joined their deer hunting husbands on Beaver Island.

Gail Hallead To Manage Desnoyers

Gail Hallead, 50, a funeral director at Cedar Springs, will be resident manager of the Desnoyer Funeral home in Petoskey, Robert Winchester of Charlevoix has announced.

Winchester, who purchased the Desnoyer home two weeks ago, said that Hallead will be moving north to take over management of the funeral home this week.

The name of the establishment will be changed to the Winchester-Hallead Funeral Home in the near future.

Hallead and his wife, Madonna, have four children–two sons in service and two daughters at home.

Winchester bought the Petoskey business from Mrs. Betty Desnoyer, whose husband, Richard, the former operator, died last April. The home is located at 410 Emmet st., Petoskey.

Winchester will continue to operate the funeral home in Charlevoix.

FIRST CHEER

The first football cheer was based on a battle cry. At the Princeton-Rutgers game of 1896, some Princetonians roared out a lusty "Siss, boom, ah." The shout derived from the rocket yell of New York's Seventh Regiment.

WILLIAM GARTEN, designer and builder of shipwreck furniture, has a fresh supply of raw material. The keel of the 200 ft. schooner Sunneyside, which sunk off Fox Island in 1883, was hauled ashore at Bellinger Marine recently. The keel was raised by means of steel drums and towed to Charlevoix. Unlike most shipwreck timbers, the steel pins have worked their way out of the Sunnyside keel. The vessel reportedly was carrying a load of iron ore when she hit a reef and sank. Garten estimates the keel will be worth $3,000 when converted into shipwreck furniture.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix recently by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Janis Gothro, 17, East Jordan, was assessed $35 as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Mary Jane Kraemer, 19, East Jordan, was assessed $35 as a minor in possession of alcoholic beverages.

Earl D. Gilmore, 23, Boyne Falls, was assessed $25 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. In Magistrate Court, he was assessed $10 for driving a motor vehicle with an expired operator's license.

Larry Sanford, 18, Charlevoix, was bound over to the December term of Circuit Court on a charge of possession of narcotics. Bond in the amount of $1,500 was furnished.

ABORIGINES WORK

Nearly 10,000 full-blooded aborigines still live in Western Australia, more than half in the tropic north, where they labor as iron miners, irrigation workers and cowboys.

BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

OCTOBER 15, 1970

The Charlevoix County Commissioners met in regular session on Thursday, October 15, 1970 at 9:30 AM.

Meeting called to order by the Chairman, John Kujawski.

Roll Call by the Clerk and the following members were present: Commissioners Ingalls, Cunningham, Smith, Davis, Richardson, Griffin, Kullik, Kassin, Taylor, Milstein, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, Staley, Moerland, 15. Absent, none.

Moved by Commissioner Kullik and supported by Commissioner Ingalls that the minutes of the previous session be adopted as read.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS

Commissioner Cunningham nominated Donald Graham to serve a 6 year term as Road Commissioner.

Moved by Commissioner Taylor and supported by Commissioner Moerland that the nominations be closed and the Clerk be instructed to cast a unanimous vote for Donald Graham to serve a 6 year term on the Charlevoix County Road Commission to start January 1, 1971 and end December 31, 1976.

RECREATION BOND

Ed Rebman appeared before the Board with an application for Recreation Bond funds for Whiting Park improvements.

Commissioner Ralph Richardson's name was submitted as the contact man.

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Richardson that the application be submitted. Motion carried.

COUNTY PLANNING COMMISSION

The Chairman appointed Ed Rebman as an Ex Officio member of the Charlevoix County Planning Commission.

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Milstein that the appointment be confirmed. Motion carried.

RESOLUTION

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Milstein that the following resolution be adopted:

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS
CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN

GENTLEMEN:

WHEREAS, the Mackinac Transportation Company which owns and operates the Chief Wawatam, transporting railroad cars across the Straits of Mackinac has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for abandonment of that service.

AND WHEREAS, if this request is successful, it would eventually lead to the abandonment of many miles of rail service in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, with an unfavorable economic impact,

THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED, that the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners go on record as being opposed to this move,

FURTHER, that certified copies of this Resolution be sent to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and all other State, Federal, and County Officials; and the Committee for the Retention of Rail and Ferry Service in Mackinaw City.

Respectfully submitted,
John Kujawski, Harry Tompkins, Barney Milstein Committee

Resolution adopted.

The Board recessed until 1:30 P.M. for committee work.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Chairman called the Board to order at 1:30 P.M. Roll was called and a quorum found present.

Area RR Station Now Historic Site

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway station in Petoskey is one of six landmarks to be added recently to the National Register of Historic Places, according to the state Department of Natural Resources.

The station was built in the 1890's on Little Traverse Bay near Bay View and has become a popular landmark over the years, the DNR reports.

The two-story building is one of the oldest in northern Michigan and will be converted into a museum by the Little Traverse Regional Historical Society.

Latest structures to be placed on the select list by the National Park Service are the St. Clair River Tunnel at Port Huron, built in 1889-91; the President's House in Ann Arbor, built in 1840; the Mann House at Concord, built in 1883-84; the Commandant's Quarters at Dearborn, built in 1833-37; and the Central Mine Methodist Church at Central in the Upper Peninsula, built in 1868-69.

The new listings raise to 36 the number of points of interest in Michigan included on National Register of Historic Places.

Still under consideration by the National Park Service are 13 more entries from Michigan which have been recommended for the register by DNR director Ralph A. MacMullan, state liaison officer for the program.

Such places are rated for consideration under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 according to their district niche in architecture, history and archeology. Purpose of the program is to preserve and give special status to buildings, sites, and districts of national, state and local significance.

Terry Stewart Wed in East

Margaret Mackey became the bride of Marine Staff Sgt. Terry Stewart in ceremonies at St. Thomas Aquinas Church in Croyden, Pa., Nov. 7.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mackey of Croyden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Meredith of Charlevoix.

The bride is a WAVE, assigned to the 3rd Naval District in Brooklyn, N.Y., as is her husband.

The full-dress military wedding was attended by the Merediths, who returned home Nov. 14.

Upon their arrival in New York City two weeks ago, the Merediths were guests at the Marine Corps' 195th birthday party, held at Antun's restaurant.

ORDINANCE No. 6 CHARLEVOIX TOWNSHIP STATE OF MICHIGAN

Be it ordained by the Township Board of the Township of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, that:

The "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" enacted on June 14, 1965, be and the same is hereby, amended as follows:

That Section 1.02 (e) is hereby amended to read as follows:

"(c) 'Air Quality control equipment' means any equipment which has as its essential purpose a significant reduction in (1) the emission of air contaminants, or (2) the effect of such emission.

'Air Quality measuring equipment' means any equipment which has as its essential purpose the measurement of the quality and / or the density of the emission of air contaminants."

That Section 4.01 be amended to read as follows:

"This is hereby created and established an Air Pollution Control Board to advise and consult with the Health Officer in effectuating the purposes of this Code including advice relative to legislation and to hear and pass judgment on appeals. The Board shall consist of the Health Officer who shall serve as ex-officio member; the township supervisor; a member of industry actively engaged in air pollution control, and a member of the general public appointed for terms of three years, but any member can be removed for cause by the Township Board at any time. The members of the Board shall select their own chairman who shall serve for one year.

(a) MEETINGS: The Air Pollution Control Board shall meet on the call of the chairman.

(b) QUORUM: Two members, or an alternate of any absent member who shall be appointed by the Township Board, shall constitute a quorum for purposes of conducting its business and exercising its powers under this Code.

(c) GENERAL DUTIES: The Air Pollution Control Board shall hold public hearings, conduct investigations, request witnesses to appear, and administer oaths, take depositions and receive such pertinent and relevant proof as it may deem necessary or proper in order that it may effectively discharge its duties and powers under this Code. It shall also advise and consult with the Health Officer in effectuating the purposes of this Code including advice relative to legislation."

That Section 7.01 be amended to read as follows:

"The Township Board may appoint an air quality control officer with such officer possessing such qualifications as deemed necessary by said township board, taking into account education, skill, and experience.

That the first sentence of Section 7.03 (a) be amended to read as follows:

"Enter at all reasonable times in or upon any private or public property after giving advance notice to the property owner for the purpose of investigating either an actual or suspected source of air pollution or air contamination or to ascertain compliance or non-compliance with this Code or any properly issued order."

That Section 14.03(d) (1), Cement Manufacture, be amended to read as follows:

"Kilns - Gas cleaning equipment designed for full range of operating conditions and which limits emission to 0.20 pounds of particulate per 1,000 pounds of gas must be applied. Future expansion of existing kiln facilities and addition of new kilns will be subject to review and approval of Air Pollution Control Board. Each kiln is to be considered a separate process.

Kilns Equipped with Electrostatic Precipitator - Emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code during the kiln start-up process shall not be deemed to be a violation of this Code provided the complete electrostatic precipitator system is operating no later than such time as temperature and combustibles permit safe precipitator operation and in no event later than eight (8) hours after the kiln start-up process has commenced.

Section 13.01 to the contrary notwithstanding, emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code as a result of either a breakdown or a shutdown for scheduled maintenance of not more than 25 percent of the total gas cleaning equipment capacity shall be deemed a violation of this Code if the emission of particulate matter exceeds the limit established by this Code for more than twenty-four (24) consecutive hours from the time the breakdown or shutdown first occurs. Furthermore, each occurrence after ten (10) occurrences per calendar year, irrespective of duration except as provided herein, shall be deemed a violation of this Code. For the purpose of determining a violation for an occurrence after ten (10) occurrences per calendar year, any emission of particulate matter exceeding the limit established by this Code shall not be deemed a violation if the occurrence does not exceed one (1) hour duration and does not occur more than once per calendar week.

Section 13.01 to the contrary notwithstanding, in the event the emission of particulate matter exceeds the limit established by this Code as a result of the inoperativeness or more than 25 percent of the gas cleaning equipment capacity, it shall be deemed a violation of this Code if the cause of said inoperativeness is not corrected within one (1) hour or if said inoperativeness occurs more than once per calendar week. However, it shall not be a violation of this Code if the kiln operation is suspended or curtailed until such time as either the emission level is within the limit established by the Code or the Health Officer authorizes the complete resumption of the kiln operation based upon a corrective program submitted to the Health Officer by the owner or operator which the Health Officer approves, and said authorization shall not be unreasonably withheld. In the event a violation of this subsection occurs, the Health Officer may seek a restraining order or injunction to suspend or curtail kiln operation until such time as the owner or operator complies with the requirements of this subsection.

Clinker Coolers - Gas cleaning equipment designed for full range of operating conditions and which limits emission to 0.25 pounds of particulate per 1000 pounds of gas must be applied.

Grinding, crushing, screening, conveying, drying, packaging and other material handling operation.

Air cleaning equipment must be applied and have a minimum collection efficiency of 99 percent (on a total weight basis). A maximum emission of 0.13 pounds per thousand pounds of exhaust gas in permitted."

That Section 14.06 be amended to read as follows:

"(a) It shall be the responsibility of the owner or operator of the operation tested to provide, at his expense, reasonable and necessary openings in the system or stack, and safe and easy access thereto, to permit technically valid samples and measurements to be taken.

(b) When any equipment used in a manufacturing process regularly emits 200 pounds or more of particulate matter by weight into the atmosphere per calendar day the owner or operator of said source of emission shall acquire, install and operate at his expense by January 1, 1971 air quality measuring equipment approved by the Health Officer after consultation with the State of Michigan Air Pollution Control Department. Said air quality measuring equipment, together with a device which permanently records the quantity of particulate matter emitted, shall be continuously operated except for shutdowns for maintenance. Permanent records shall be kept by the owner or operator for at least three (3) years and shall be made available to the Health Officer or the Air Pollution Control Board for inspection upon request. Furthermore, said owner or operator may be required by order of the Health Officer or the Air Pollution Control Board to submit written reports not more often than once per week which completely and accurately summarize said permanent records and identify periods of time in which particulate matter is not emitted because the source of emission is inoperative, or to submit copies of said permanent records certified by the owner or operator to be a true and accurate reproduction of said permanent records. Provided said air quality measuring equipment operates in a reliable and substantially accurate manner, the owner or operator shall not be required to acquire, install and operate any new, additional or replacement air quality measuring equipment unless other equipment providing substantially more reliable and accurate data is available at a reasonable cost. In no event shall the cost of any new, additional, or replacement equipment exceed $10,000 nor shall the owner or operator be required to acquire, and install said equipment more than once every three (3) years.

That the "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" is hereby amended by adding thereto and inserting therein following Section 15.06 thereof, the following section to be known as Section 15.07 as follows:

"Section 15.07 SURVEILLANCE FEE

(a) Any person who is required to register the emission of air contaminants under Section 2.02 shall pay annually a fee in advance to the township beginning January 1, 1971. Said fee shall be based on the quantity of air contaminants emitted in accordance with said registration statement and the schedule set forth herein. Any operation which emits air contaminants more than 10 percent of any calendar year shall be presumed to emit said air contaminats 24 hours a day, 365 days a year for the purpose of calculating said fee.

Annual emission of air contaminants disclosed by registration and supported by competent data as required by Health Officer

(In tons - hourly rate of pounds X 24 hours X 365 days 2000 pounds	Annual Fee

less than 100 tons	fee to be paid in accordance with provisions of sub-section (b)

(b) Any person required to register under Section 2.02 but whose operation emits air contaminants 10 percent or less of the calendar year shall pay a fee based on the actual cost of surveillance, investigation, monitoring, and enforcement for the preceding calendar year. Said fee will first become due and payable on January 1, 1972.

(c) The fees payable under sub-sections (a) and (b) shall pay the costs of surveillance, investigation, monitoring, enforcement and all other incidental activities necessary to provide for greater protection of the quality of the air of this township and to abate air pollution.

(d) The township shall establish and maintain a separate account for each person who is required to pay said fee. Monies received and disbursed shall be recorded in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Accurate records will be kept to determine the costs incurred for the surveillance, investigation, monitoring, enforcement and other incidental activities for each person. In the event the fee paid exceeds the actual costs incurred, the person paying said fee shall receive a credit against the next year's fee, or a refund.

That the "Air Quality Control Code for Charlevoix Township" is hereby amended by adding thereto and inserting therein following Section 16.01 thereof, the following section to be known as Section 16.02, as follows:

"Section 16.02 EFFECTIVE DATES

These amendments shall take effect (30) days after the date of first publication thereof in the Charlevoix Courier newspaper. These amendments to the Air Quality Control Code were adopted by the Charlevoix Township Board at its regular meeting on Monday, October 12, 1970.

Dairy Course Starting

A training class for dairy technicians will be offered, beginning Nov. 30, at Andrews University in Berrien Springs.

The program was inaugurated by the Michigan Employment Security Commission under the federal manpower Development and Training Act.

Training is open to interested persons who have an eighth grade education, who are able to read and write well enough to understand technical instructions, and are at least 17½ years of age.

Persons interested in this training should have the physical ability to stoop, bend, and climb; possess normal use of eyes and ears; be able to lift up to 75 pounds; and be able to withstand varying weather conditions.

The course will consist of orientation to the dairy cattle enterprise. It will include introduction, classroom work, milking machines and procedures. DHIA testing and artificial breeding.

Upon completion of the training dairy jobs will be available to applicants in various areas of Michigan, wherever the needs exist. A study has been made of the mob opportunities, and it is estimated that upon completion of the course there will be ample opportunity for trainees to locate a desirable dairy job.

The wage rates will range from $350 to $500 per month, plus house and extras for married couples, and $300 to $400 per month, plus room, board and laundry for singles.

Qualified applicants will be paid while attending this training, and in some cases, subsistence will also be paid. The course will last for 22 weeks.

Interested persons may get further information by contacting their local Michigan Employment Security Commission or Farm Labor and Rural Manpower Services office.

Library Notes

Still commemorating National Book Week, Library Notes lists additional titles in the recent addition of beautiful new volumes for children.

There is "Rosachok" a Russian story translated by Marguerita Rudolph with delightful illustrations by Yaroslave Mills, an illustrator of children's books who has done much research in the folk art of Eastern Europe.

There is "Goggles" by Ezra Jack Keats, the beloved children's writer who won the Caldecott Medal for "The Snowy Day", and has contributed so many marvelous books to our young people. This is a wonderful pre-school book about Peter who found a pair of lenseless motorcycla goggles.

"Princess of the Full Moon" was written and illustrated by Frederic Guirma, a most unusual man who has been secretary of the French Embassy in Ghana and vice consul in Kumasi, Ghana. He is at present a political officer at UN Headquarters and he writes and paints in his spare time, telling and drawing pictures for his six children. This is a beautiful read-aloud fairy tale for children.

"Overhead the Sun" is a delightful new discovery for children. The artist Antonio Frasconi honor Whitman's 150th birthday by illustrating passages from "Leaves of Grass" with magnificent, varicolored woodcuts. He has created several popular books for children including "The House That Jack Built" which was a runner-up for the Caldecott Medal.

"The Judge," an untrue tale by Harve Zemach, is so funny that children won't be able to avoid memorizing it.

A horrible thing is coming this way,
Creeping closer day by day.
It's eyes are scary
Its tail is hairy
I tell you, Judge,
we all better pray!

All the prisoners beg the judge to listen but he throws them all in jail and doesn't believe them until the end when...

"Savez-vous Planter les Choux?" and other French Songs" is a beautiful picture book which tells the stories of the traditional and most beloved French songs. Each little song is illustrated by Anne Rockwell who has won many distinguished awards for her children's books. In the back is a charming section of English translations.

"The Hedgehog and the Hare" was adapted and illustrated by Wendy Watson. This is the Grimm Brothers' version of one of the best-loved of all folk tales. One bright Sunday morning at harvest time, the hedgehog suggested to the hare that they run a race. The hare thought this was very funny, but he accepted, knowing that he could not help but win. The prizes were to be a gold piece and a jug of cider. What the hare did not know was that the hedgehog had a plan.

To the residents of Charlevoix, Michigan

We have now completed our work for the Corps of Engineers at Charlevoix. Piledriving work is by it's very nature noisy, often unsightly and always a nuisance to the neighborhood involved. During the past 2½ years we have done our best to minimize these problems. Nevertheless we have caused noise, an unsightly river bank and property damage.

We wish to thank all our neighbors in Charlevoix for your patience. We can only hope that our finished project will be worth the inconvenience we caused.

Yours truly
Karl E. Luedtke

MEA Has Petoskey Office

Implementation of a greatly improved staffing program by the Michigan Education Association called "UNISERV" has materialized into a reality over the past few months in Michigan and across the nation. Under this program highly trained and experienced professionals will work for the improvement of the teaching profession and education across the nation.

Here in Michigan the Program provides for the employment of 90 such experts over the next several months, with over half of this number already on the job. About 70 area offices will be strategically located across the state serving clusters of local teacher affiliated associations with the Michigan Education and National Education Associations.

One such service area locally is comprised of affiliated MEA locals in Emmet, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford and Antrim Counties. An Area office located at 214 Petoskey Street, in Petoskey, has been in operation since Sept. 1, 1970. The office is staffed by an MEA Executive Director and a secretary. The Executive Director for this "service unit" is Leonard S. Staley, a former classroom teacher who resides in Charlevoix with his wife, Jacqueline, and four daughters.

"The basic responsibility of an Executive Director", Staley stated, "will be that of lending support and expertise to the membership and the teaching profession for the improvement of the profession and education."

"More specifically", Staley stated, "We aim to render assistance and leadership in areas such as curriculum and instruction improvement, as well as assistance in professional negotiations and personnel-management problems."

For further information contact: Leonard S. Staley, Executive Director, 214 Petoskey Street, Petoskey, Michigan; telephone number: 347-6021.

SIGHTSEEING

Trolley cars following route 3-T in Helsinki, Finland, have special charm for American tourists. Three-T makes a figure eight through the city, passing many points of interest such as the cathedral, the parliament house, and several colorful markets. At each stop, a well modulated taped voice coming over the streetcar's sound system tells the traveler exactly what he is seeing—in English.

ANCIENT ART

Sausage making, which goes back as far as recorded history, originated as a means of preserving meat.

Furlong Represents County Association

Robert J. Furlong, Boyne City's newly elected member of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, has been appointed field representation for the Michigan Association of Counties.

The appointment was announced by Barry McGuire, executive director of the association.

"Mr. Furlong's background and years of experience in the field of public relations make him a welcome addition to the Michigan Association of Counties," McGuire said. "We will be able to provide an avenue of communication between out-state county commissioners and official in Lansing."

Furlong joined the Conservation Department (now the Department of Natural Resources) in April, 1929, and served as fire warden at Trout Lake and Newberry until 1931 when he was appointed assistant district supervisor for the Field Administrative Division ot Escanaba.

He wos then made district supervisor and served in Boyne City and Gladwin until 1946 when he became assistant regional supervisor at Roscommon.

In 1947, he became Director of the Michigan Tourist Council in Lansing and left that post April, 1963 when he was appointed administrative assistant and secretary to the Michigan Conservation Commission (Michigan Natural Resources Commission) in Lansing. He retired in 1969.

He is a member of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, National Association of Travel Organizations, Northern Great Lakes Area Council and the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners.

JOYCE MATCHETT IN GROUP

Classroom is Laboratory For New CMU Teachers

The student teachers of the future—what will they be doing that's different in the classroom?

For an answer, ask youngsters who attend Flint and Utica schools.

Since September, students in both communities have been involved in an exciting, new program of teacher education. The program is known as Future, or Flint-Utica Teaching Utilizing Resource Experts, and what it attempts to do is to make student teaching a more practical experience.

A cooperative program undertaken by the schools and Central Michigan University, Future is unlike other student teaching programs in several ways. First it gives local school officials a chance to design the program at their schools and, second, it offers college-level instruction to student teachers while they're working in the classroom.

Joyce M. Matchett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Matchett of R-1, Charlevoix, is one of 60 CMU students enrolled in the program this fall. Miss Matchett is working in the Flint Community School system.

Student teachers involved in the Future program spend a full semester at the cooperating schools. They can earn up to 10 credit hours of required work in directed teaching and study methodology.

Local teachers, as well as consulting teachers from the University, provide the theoretic instruction and supervise the student teachers' classroom experiences.

By design, the classroom work is varied. In Utica, for example, 31 CMU students have been working eight different elementary schools.

"Most of the student teachers have spent at least one week in the school library learning procedures and becoming acquainted in the available resources," explained Jack Greenstein, the program coordinator.

"Mnay of them have worked closely with the principal in order to better understand the problems of administering an elementary school. Some have been involved with kindergarten youngsters in the school-wide testing and orientation program."

Within the first four weeks of the program most of the student teachers have handled classes on at least two grade levels. And before the semester is over, they'll also have the opportunity to work with many school specialists, such as the speech therapist, art, music and physical education teachers.

Students think highly of the experiences Future offers.

Ted Symons, a Southfield senior, says he feels the program has been "extremely rewarding." Other students, such as Sharon Van Hoose, Greenville senior, agree.

"We hope the program will help our students develop their own ideas about teaching," says Dr. Robert Oana, chairman of CMU's Department of Early Childhood and Elementary Education.

"We want them to be able to share experiences back and forth...to take the methods they learn in classes (on the college level) and be able to put them to work on the job."

The goal of CMY's student teaching program of the future, he said, is to provide better teachers for tomorrow's schools.

Boyne Makes Room for Snowmobilers

With the expansion and development of the "West-Boyne" area which opens the entire western slope of the Mountain to winter sports and recreation, Boyne Mountain will feature an exclusive, all-inclusive Snowmobile Week Vocation package plan during the entire 1970-71 winter season. The "Boyne Snowmobile Week Vacation" will operate exactly as the current Ski Week package plan, the main difference being snowmobiling instead of skiing.

For the first time the snowmobiler will be invited to enjoy all the benefits of a nationally famous winter resort with first class accommodations, recreational programs and evening entertainment.

Snowmobiling privileges will be available to registered houseguests only, who may bring their own machines or rent them at the new "West-Boyne" winter recreational center ot Deer Lake.

Registered snowmobile houseguests will enjoy 10,000 acres of marked, well-packed, perfectly groomed, rutless, bumpless trails manicured with Boyne's renowned, up-to-date snow grooming know-how.

It is also expected that skijoring behind a snowmobile over-mile-after-mile of pristine, natural winter beauty will offer a new winter adventure at Boyne Mountain. Boyne snowmobile houseguests will also be able to take advantage of countless thousands of acres of nearby stote lands to add to the excitement. Racing and jumps will also be part of the program.

The Boyne Snowmobile Week Vacations will operate entirely on the Full American Plan which includes accommodations in the renowned Alpine atmosphere at Boyne Mountain Lodge, three-meals daily served in the continental-style, unlimited use of the "West-Boyne" Snowmobile trails and slopes, heated swimming pool, and evening recreation. The five-day snowmobile vacation begins each Sunday with dinner and continues through lunch the following Friday throughout the entire coming season.

As a change-of-pace, snowmobilers may also ski mid-America's most famous ski runs on the other side of the mountain. A new lodge at "West-Boyne" on the shores of Deer Lake will be the winter headquarters for the daily activities of Boyne's snowmobiling houseguests.

The introduction of snowmobiling to Boyne Country is another step in its continuing program of expansion over the past 22 years in making the area Mid-America's year-'round sports, convention, and largest and most complete recreation mecca.

Mark Cross has returned to his home near Grand Rapids after spending several days with his mother, Mrs. Mark Cross sr. and doing some deer hunting locally.

Mrs. Marie White has returned to her home in Paris, Ky., after spending several months in their local home.

Most of the local men are out hunting each day. Several have filled their licenses. The weather hasn't been too good for hunting as we have no snow. It's not much like it was a year ago when we had about 16 inches of snow, which made it impossible to get through the woods. But, of course, the rest of us are really enjoying this nice weather and hope it will continue a while longer.

Mrs. William Harrison entertained the Weekly Club with a Thanksgiving luncheon Wednesday afternoon.

Glen Williams has joined his son Raymond at this hunting camp in the Upper Peninsula.

Gordon Bartlett is busy building another house near the Charles Wagner home.

The cookie sale by the Ladies Fellowship after the morning service was most successful and they wish to thank each one for their cookie contributions. and purchases.

The Pilgrims first Thanksgiving was a celebration of gratefulness for their survival from the many hardships and heartaches they endured during their first year in a new home and country. I wonder what we would do today under similar circumstances? Would we be thankful for our survival from pollution, drugs and all the unrest and crime we are having today? There also may be a Thanksgiving of survival in the future. It is something to think about and work for something better. Happy Thanksgiving to all our friends and neighbors.

Lynette Livingston, Michael Webb Wed

By BETH GENEIT

The First Congregational Church was the scene Saturday, Nov. 14, of the wedding of Lynette Kay Livingston and Michael S. Webb.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Livingston of Charlevoix and Mrs. I.J. Gann of Detroit.

Arrangements of red carnations and white mums graced the altar for the double-ring service performed by the Rev. Lawrence Tenhopen in the presence of their immediate families and close friends. Mrs. Douglas Bloom was soloist and Linda Gill was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an Empire gown of white velvet for her wedding. Fashioned with long lace sleeves and round neck, the gown featured a band of lace from neckline to hemline. The full skirt swept into a chapel length train. She wore a full length mantilla and carried a single long stemmed red rose.

Jill Szudzik, as her only attendant, wore an empire gown of cranberry velvet similar to the bridal gown. She wore a matching velvet bow and nose veil and carried a single long stemmed white rose.

Donald L. Livingston, brother of the bride, assisted the bridegroom as best man. J. David Webb of Detroit, brother of the bridegroom, and Clare Harwood of Saginaw, uncle of the bride, seated the guests.

Mrs. Livingston chose a soft old gold knit gown and olive green accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white, gold and rust mums. Mrs. Gann, mother of the bridegroom, wore an olive green gown and brown accessories. Her corsage was of white mums.

A reception followed at the Charlevoix Rod and Gun Club. Assisting were Mrs. Clare Harwood of Saginaw, Mrs. William Bellinger, Mrs. Jack Rosendahl and Rae Marie Szudzik.

A buffet dinner for the bridal party and their immediate families at the home of the bride's parents was followed by an evening reception at the Rod and Gun Club where Steve Dondero and his band from Harbor Springs played for dancing.

After a wedding trip to southern Michigan the couple will make their home in Charlevoix at North Point.

The bride is a graduate of the Charlevoix High School and is presently employed at the Charlevoix County Equalization Department. The bridegroom, a veteran of four years in the U.S. Coast Guard, is employed at Freedman Artcraft Engineering Corp.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Harwood and two children of Niles, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Clare Harwood and daughter of Saginaw; Mr. and Mrs. David Livingston of Rockford; Mr. and Mrs. J. David Webb and Mr. and Mrs. I.J. Gann and daughter Susan of Detroit; and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Harwood and two children of Flint.

Barnard News

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Cunningham and family of Saginaw spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Murry are the proud parents of twin baby girls born Nov. 19. Mrs. Murry is the former Wanda Warner.

Mr. Junior Potter of Sandusky is visiting his mother, Mrs. Hiram Potter.

Lucky deer hunters in this area are Lloyd Cummings, Archie Potter, Ken Boss, Bev. and John Sladek, Melvin Matchett and Stanley Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Matchett of Cedar Springs spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Matchett and Tim.

Snowmobile, Skiing Events Dominate Winter Calendar

The fabulous winter pastime of having fun in Michigan's snow is accented in the new December-March Michigan Calendar of Travel Events, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Snowmobile and skiing events dominate the listings with family fun events not far behind.

December snowmobile events are scheduled at Mancelona, Bellaire, Morrice, Harrison and Gaylord in the Lower Peninsula and at Houghton and Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula.

January is spotted with snowmobile, skiing and skating events ranging from safaris to treasure hunts.

Winter festivals and similar community observances will be held at Traverse City, Atlanta, Ludington, Sault Ste. Marie, Cadillac, Petoskey and Cheboygan.

A traditional Michigan ice-fishing event – Tip Up-Town U.S.A. – is scheduled for mid-January at Houghton Lake.

February brings more snow events throughout both peninsulas, including the Midwest Championship Sled-Dog Races at Kalkaska, Sports Car Ice Race at Grayling and the Michignn Tech Winter Carnival, Houghton-Hancock.

Sports Car Ice Race at Grayling and the Michigan Tech Winter Carnival, Houghton-Hancock.

The International 500 Mile Snowmobile Classic is scheduled early in February at Sault Ste. Marie and the famed North American Snowmobile Championships will be held at Munising late in the month.

Michigan's earliest golfing event--the Ice Cap Golf Tournament–is listed for mid-February at Grand Haven, during the same period the Pine Mountain Ski Jumping Tournament is going on at Iron Mountain.

The four-month listings also include schedules of all home basketball games of Michigan State University and the University of Michigan as well as home schedules of the Detroit Pistons and Red Wings.

CHARLEVOIX COUNTY PLANNING COMMISSION

Status Report October 1970

The Charlevoix County Planning Commission and its consultants, Williams & Works, are beginning an evaluation of existing water and sewer systems, future growth areas, and the population, economic, natural resources, and land use factors which will be affecting the need for future water and sewer facilities. This Farmers Home Administration funded study is being undertaken as part of the Continuing Comprehensive Planning Program for Charlevoix County. The study, when complete, will be added to the General Development Plan undertaken during 1969-1970. With this data, the county will be in a position to go ahead with implementation of its planning program through a number of different steps.

One of the major steps to be undertaken to implement the Development Plan and decisions made under the Charlevoix County Planning Program is countywide zoning. This is being prepared by the Charlevoix County Planning Commission and Williams & Works. It will cover an evaluation of existing zoning ordinances and maps and the completion of a model zoning ordinance and map. When complete, the model zoning will provide the county with an effective tool to direct and guide development into the most efficient and economic pattern. This will be a tremendous asset to the county, as it will be a tool to prevent problems relating to inadequate school lands, inadequate recreation facilities, inadequate lands for housing, water pollution problems, and industrial location problems. It will also serve as a guide for the development that is sure to take place in Charlevoix County.

From 1960 to 1970, the county has witnessed a definite growth pattern. The following graph illustrates how Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan compared to other cities in the northwest portion of Michigan. It also illustrates how Charlevoix County compares to surrounding counties and to the state. This data was gathered from preliminary census of population reports and indicates that the county, which grew by 2,710 people between 1960 and 1970, had a percentage growth of 20.2 percent. This, compared to the State of Michigan percentage growth of 12.2 percent, serves as an indicator of the growth taking place in Charlevoix County. If this percentage rate were to continue for the next twenty years, it would indicate a population of 19,360 people in 1980 and 23,250 by 1990. However, because of the many factors which make Charlevoix County attractive, development is projected to take place at a higher percentage than experienced between 1960 and 1970. This could indicate a population of nearly 35,000 by 1990. This population projection, coupled with the projection for a continued increase in seasonal residences, creates a definite need for control of land use and development within the county. The planning program will provide much of the data necessary for the considerations necessary to accommodate the expected growth.

Snow Trails Added To Ski Area Map

Something new has been added to the Michigan winter sports scene.

The old familiar ski map, which for more than a decade has been published annually by the Michigan Tourist Council to help skiers find the ski areas of their liking, has taken on a new look.

For the first time, the map–now called the Michigan Winter Sports Guide–utilizes the reverse side to incorporate a guide to Michigan's more than 165 snowmobile trails and areas.

Designed with the snow fan in mind, the all new Winter Sports Guide is colorfully coded for easy identification of Michigan's four major regions. The Guide also has been scale-keyed to the official Michigan highway map for convenience in pinpointing specific locations of winter sports centers and snowmobile areas.

One familiar feature of the old map, of course, is still the same. The Winter Sports Guide includes the locations of 76 winter recreation areas, listing details such as the number of slopes, lifts, tows, accommodations and other special interest features.

The snowmobile listings are similar, including locations, trail names, length of trails in miles or size of the area in acres and the nearest town.

To help plan that week or weekend of winter fun in Michigan, write us now for a free copy of the Michigan winter Sports Guide, available from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing, Michigan, 48926.

COMMON COUNCIL

November 4, 1970

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met in Special Session on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding.

Aldermen present: Boss, Gill, Klooster, Mol, and Sundberg.

Absent: Alderman Westenbroek.

The following preamble and resolution were offered by Councilman Klooster and supported by Councilman Mol.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the qualified electors of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, pursuant to the authorization provided by law and the City Charter, at an election duly called and held in said City on Tuesday, November 3, 1970, did by more than a majority of those voting approve the following proposition:

Shall the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed Seven Hundred Thousand ($700,000.00) Dollars and issue its general obligation bonds therefor for the purpose of paying part of the cost of acquiring and constructing improvements consisting of a new waste water treatment plant, conversion of existing plant and pumping main in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan?

AND WHEREAS, it is the determination of the City Council that bonds in the principal amount of Seven Hundred Thousand ($700,000.00) Dollars should be issued.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

1. Bonds of the City of Charlevoix, County of Charlevoix, Michigan, designated GENERAL OBLIGATION SEWER BONDS, be issued in the aggregate principal sum of Seven Hundred Thousand ($700,000.00) Dollars, for the purpose approved by the qualified electors of the City, said issue to consist of one hundred forty (140) bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards, dated as of December 1, 1970, and maturing serially as follows:

$25,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1971 and 1972;
$35,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1973 and 1974;
$45,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1975 and 1976;
$50,000.00 October 1st of each of the years from 1977 to 1981; inclusive;
$60,000.00 October 1st of each of the years from 1982 to 1985, inclusive.

Said bonds shall be coupon bonds and shall bear interest at a rate or rates to be determined on public sale thereof, but in any event not exceeding seven and one-half percent (7½ percent) per annum, payable on October 1, 1971, and semi-annually thereafter on April 1st and October 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable at a bank or trust company qualified by law to act as paying agent, to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, with the approval of the City Council.

Bonds maturing in the years 1981 to 1985, inclusive, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1980, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus premiums (expressed in a percentage of par) as follows:

3 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed prior to October 1, 1982;
2 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1982, but prior to October 1, 1984;
1 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1984, but prior to maturity.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the City has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

2. The Mayor and City Clerk be, and they are hereby authorized to execute and sign said bonds in conformity with the above specifications, and the Mayor and City Clerk shall execute the interest coupons to be attached to said bonds by causing to be affixed thereto their facsimile signatures, and there shall be affixed to said bonds the seal of the City, and that upon due and legal execution of said bonds, the City Treasurer be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to deliver said bonds to the purchaser thereof upon receipt of the purchase price therefor.

3. The City Treasurer shall be and he is hereby authorized and directed to open a separate depository account with the bank or trust company designated by the City Council, to be designated GENERAL OBLIGATION SEWER BOND DEBT RETIREMENT FUND (hereinafter sometimes referred to, for brevity, as the "Debt Retirement Fund"), the moneys to be deposited into said fund to be specifically ear-marked and used solely for the purpose of paying principal and interest on the bonds herein authorized (hereinafter sometimes referred to as "the bonds"), as they mature. All proceeds from taxes levied for said Debt Retirement Fund shall be deposited as collected into said fund. Commencing with the year 1971, there shall be levied upon the tax rolls of the City for the purposes of the Debt Retirement Fund each year, in the manner required by the provisions of Act 202, Public Acts of Michigan, 1943, as amended, an amount sufficient so that the estimated collection therefrom will be sufficient to promptly pay, when due, the principal and interest on the bonds becoming due on the October 1st next following the levy and the interest becoming due on April 1st next following said October 1st: Provided, However, that if at the time of making any such annual tax levy there shall be surplus moneys on hand in the Debt Retirement Fund for the payment of principal of and interest on the bonds herein authorized, then credit therefor may be taken against such annual levy.

4. The said bonds and coupons shall be in substantially the following form:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF MICHIGAN
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
GENERAL OBLIGATION SEWER BOND

No. ——— $5,000.00

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS that the CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, acknowledges itself to owe, and for value received hereby promises to pay to the bearer hereof, the sum of lawful money of the United States of America, on the first day of October, A.D., 19——, with interest thereon from the date hereof until paid at the rate of ———— percent (percent) per annum, payable on October 1, 1971, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of April and October of each year, upon presentation and surrender of the proper interest coupons hereto attached as they severally become due. Both principal of and interest on this bond are hereby made payable at ————, and for the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, the full faith, credit and resources of the City of Charlevoix are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of one hundred forty (140) bonds of even date and like tenor, except as to denomination and date of maturity ————, aggregating the principal sum of $700,000.00, numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 to 140, inclusive, issued for the purpose of paying part of the cost of constructing improvements to the waste water disposal system of the City, in pursuance of a majority vote of the qualified electors of said City voting thereon at an election duly called and held on November 3, 1970, pursuant to the authorization provided in the City Charter.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1971 to 1980, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1981 to 1985, inclusive, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1980, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

3 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed prior to October 1, 1982;
2 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1982, but prior to October 1, 1984;
1 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1984, but prior to maturity.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption whether presented for redemption or not, provided the City has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

This bond is payable out of the debt retirement fund of the City of Charlevoix, and it is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law to be done, precedent to and in the issuance of this bond and the series of bonds of which this is one, exist and have been done and performed in regular and due form and time as required by law, and that the total indebtedness of said City, including this bond, does not exceed any constitutional, statutory or charter limitation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the CITY OF CHARLEVOIX, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, by its City Council, has caused this bond to be signed in the name of said City by its Mayor and to be countersigned by its City Clerk and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, and has caused the annexed interest coupons to be signed by the facsimile signatures of its Mayor and City Clerk, all as of the first day of December A.D., 1970.

City Clerk

5. The City Clerk shall make application to the Municipal Finance Commission for an order granting permission for the issuance of said bonds.

6. The City Clerk shall attach to said application to the Municipal Finance Commission a certified copy of the complete proceedings of this City Council pursuant to the bond issue.

7. The City Clerk is authorized and hereby ordered to publish notice of sale of the bonds herein authorized in the Michigan Investor, Detroit, Michigan, and in the Charlevoix Courier, a newspaper of general circulation in the City, which notice of sale shall be in substantially the following form:

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE
$700,000.00
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX, MICHIGAN
GENERAL OBLIGATION SEWER BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of the above bonds will be received by the undersigned at the City Hall, 210 State Street, Charlevoix, Michigan, on ————, the ———— day of ————, 1970, until ———— o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated December 1, 1970, will be coupon bonds consisting of one hundred forty (140) bonds of the denomination of $5,000.00 each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from 1 upwards and shall bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding seven and one-half percent (7½ percent) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1 percent, or both. Said interest will be payable on October 1, 1971, and semi-annually thereafter on April 1st and October 1st of each year, both principal and interest to be payable at a bank or trust company qualified by law to act as paying agent, to be designated by the purchaser of the bonds, with the approval of the City Council. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and all bonds maturing in any one year must carry the same interest rate and each coupon period shall be represented by one interest coupon. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery. The difference between the highest and lowest interest rates bid shall not exceed 50 percent.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows:

$25,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1971 and 1972;
$35,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1973 and 1974;
$45,000.00 October 1st of each of the years 1975 and 1976;
$50,000.00 October 1st of each of the years from 1977 to 1981; inclusive;
$60,000.00 October 1st of each of the years from 1982 to 1985, inclusive.

Bonds maturing in the years 1971 to 1980, inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds maturing in the years 1981 to 1985, inclusive, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1980, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus premiums (expressed in a percentage of par) as follows:

3 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed prior to October 1, 1982;
2 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1982, but prior to October 1, 1984;
1 percent of the par value of each bond redeemed on or after October 1, 1984, but prior to maturity.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the City has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from (here insert the first day of the month next following the date of receiving bids or the date of the bonds, whichever is later) to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the City. Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the City, computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than 100 percent of their par value will be considered.

The said bonds are payable from ad valorem taxes to be levied without limitation as to rate or amount.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $14,000.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the City Treasurer of the City of Charlevoix, must accompany each bid as a guaranty of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks, and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, which opinion will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds prior to the delivery thereof, approving the legality of the bonds, the text of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond. The City shall furnished bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at Detroit, Michigan, Chicago, Illinois, or such other place as may be agreed upon. The usual closing documents, including a certificate that no litigation is pending affecting the issuance of said bonds, will be delivered at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Said bonds will be delivered within forty-five (45) days from the date of sale and if said bonds are not delivered by twelve o'clock noon, Eastern Standard Time, on the forty-fifth day from the date of sale, the successful bidder may withdraw his proposal by serving notice of cancellation in writing on the undersigned in which event the good faith check shall be promptly returned.

Additional information concerning said bonds may be obtained from Kenower, MacArthur & Company, 1824 Ford Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Telephone 313-962-3262.

Ellsworth To Improve Library

By Mrs. Aane Osterbaan

The Ellsworth Board of Education heard a report by librarian Mrs. Howard Horton on library needs at the October meeting.

Mrs. Horton said $2,626 worth of new books, materials, shelving and card catalogues are needed to meet standards established for a small school. The board approved the expenditure.

The board also:

–Discussed participation in the free and reduced lunch plan sponsored by the National School Lunch Program.

--Authorized the superintendent to suspend a student if his behavior endangers the safety of other students, the teachers, the administration, the school or community.

–Agreed that students who drive to school should not use their cars during school hours without parental permission.

–Learned that the village council has deeded a lot, measuring 66-feet by 133-feet, to the school. The lot is located on Church-st., west of Park-st. A public hearing has been set for Dec. 14.

–Learned that work has begun on the north addition to the bus garage. The land has been cleared and the footings poured.

WE'RE BOMBARDED

Every year the Earth is dusted by four million pounds of meteorites, mostly sand-sized.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If making tracks across a clean carpet to get to a telephone leaves your wife a little less than happy, then perhaps there's nothing so funny about an extension telephone in the garage or workshop.

Extension telephones make sense. They save time by letting you use a telephone wherever you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can put an extension in any funny old place you'd like.

Davis Offers Advice On Holiday Mailing

Acting Postmaster Rex Davis has listed six tips on how residents of Charlevoix can help meet tight Christmas budgets this year by careful mailing of cards and parcels.

For the most efficient mailing, Davis suggested the following steps:

Larger parcels (up to 30 pounds with the same length and girth limitations) can be sent as "PAL" (Parcel Airlift) mail, provided they are mailed by Nov. 27. The charge is only $1 per parcel, plus the regular domestic parcel post postage - much less than charges that would apply later if straight airmail service must be provided.

For all packaging, invest in good quality, sturdy wrapping materials. This small investment can help insure undamaged delivery of valuable gifts and prevent delays which might result if rewrapping were required in transit.

Insure parcels realistically to cover full value but do not overinsure. A $10 gift, for example, can bring only $10 compensation, if lost, even if "insured" for $100.

Get plenty of stamps on your first trip to the post office to avoid the time and expense of additional trips.

Use ZIP Code as a tool for economy in mailing. When it is used consistently on parcels and cards, ZIP Code helps prevent errors in delivery and expedites handling. If only a few Christmas cards go astray, an investment of several dollars may be lost, for example.

"The key to efficient Christmas mailing," Davis commented, "is to mail early and carefully. Clear addressing, with the ZIP Codes, proper packaging and early depositing can prevent most problems and provide the greatest value for money spent for postage."

Society Plans Yule Party

The St. Marys Rosary Altar Society will hold its Christmas party Dec. 7 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Anthony Kleiber, 831 State-st., according to Mrs. Elmer Gibson, president.

Mrs. Kleiber will be assisted by Mrs. Roland Peltier. All ladies are welcome to attend.

DEEP FREEZE

The ground around Point Barrow, Alaska, is frozen to a depth of 1,330 feet. At Thule, Greenland, the freezing extends for 1,000 feet. The deepest permafrost yet measured--2,850 feet--is in Eastern Siberia.

MORE THAN 50 Charlevoix young people attended a meeting of the Campus Life organization Wednesday evening at the First State Bank community room. Above, impromptu group is called to the fore to discuss what they know about frogs and toads. The meeting was conducted by Jim Laffoon.

Norwood

Miss Blanche Lindsay of Traverse City visited a few days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cutler and daughters.

Allen Sommerville and sons of Mount Pleasant were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Richardson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. David Parsons and Mrs. William Parsons were in Grand Rapids a few days last week. They attended a State Farm Bureau meeting.

FINNISH IMPORTS

Charlevoix COURIER Editorial page

BOTTLE BATTLE

Anti-Throw-Away Forces Pick Up Steam

On Sept. 23, the Courier commentedly editorially on an action the week before by the Lake County Board of Commissioners banning the sale of beverages in throw-away containers.

The Courier praised the Lake County Commission and pointed out that the answers to some of our ecological problems are sometimes deceptively simple.

However, in the ensuing weeks the furor over the Lake County ordinance reached statewide proportions.

Gov. William G. Milliken entered the act, claiming that the Lake County action relative to throw aways was illegal. Even Mrs. Milliken put in her two-cents-worth, commending the Lake County commissioners by letter for their bold and imaginative solution to the problem of highway litter.

Two months later, it appears that the anti-litter forces may have won a major battle in the Lake County ordinance.

An ordinance designed to ban throw-aways in Detroit is being prepared by city attorneys and is expected to be introduced to the Common Council within the next few days.

Even Gov. Milliken apparently has done an about face. It has been learned that he is preparing an anti-throw-away law which, if adopted by the state Legislature, would have statewide force.

Needless to say, the bottlers and retailers are not going to let such laws take effect without a battle.

A supermarket spokesman predicted in Detroit last Tuesday that the price of beer and soft drinks would increase the cost of a six-pack nearly 20 cents if throw-aways are banned, in order to cover the handling of empties.

Manufacturers and bottlers of beer and soft drinks reportedly are considering an increase in security deposits for returnables in an effort to get consumers to return them. Deposits would be returned when bottles are returned.

Vernors, Inc., of Detroit, earlier this month more than doubled the deposits on its returnable bottles still in use, boosting the fee from two cents to five cents for small bottles and from five cents to ten cents for large bottles.

Ed Deeb, director of Associated Food Dealers of Detroit, says his organization is "all for stopping pollution," but he feels that people, being people, are going to litter anyway.

Walter Voss, Vernor's president, says a study financed by the federal government shows that returnable bottles are found almost as frequently as non-returnables on country roadsides.

Clarence Russell, sanitarian, superintendent in Detroit, claims it costs the city $4,000 a day to wrestle with disposable bottles.

While the battle over disposable bottles rages, the Courier would like to once again commend the Lake County Commission for its pioneering stand in facing up to an increasingly bothersome environmental problem.

Naive Optimism Fades With Armistice Day

Armistice Day, for all practical purposes, is over and done with.

Old Glory, which used to appear in front of every shop on Bridge-st. on Nov. 11, was scarcely in evidence this year.

Aside from the fact that the banks and the Post Office were closed, Armistice Day (or Veterans' Day as it has been called in recent years) was just another day so far as most Charlevoix merchants and townspeople were concerned.

Next year, the nation will observe Veterans' Day the fourth Monday in October and the long-cherished November holiday will be a thing of the past.

And perhaps it is just as well.

Armistice Day, which commemorated the cessation of hostilities between the Allies and the Kaiser's forces on Nov. 11, 1918, has had a hollow ring for most Americans for the past 30 years.

"The war to end all wars" didn't end anything at all. The United States has fought three longer and far costiler wars in the 52 years since the first Armistice Day, including World War II which was supposed to "make the world safe for Democracy."

Of course, World War II didn't make the world safe for Democracy or anything else, just as World War I failed to end all wars.

Wars, no matter what you call them, are pure hell and no amount of high-flown language will ever make them anything else.

Yet it is with an element of regret that we mark the passing of Armistice Day, stemming as it did from a time when Americans nurtured a simple faith in the basic goodness of mankind.

History, of course, has proven them wrong. China and Japan. Italy and Ethiopia. The Spanish Civil War. World War II. The Russia takeover of Eastern Europe. China's capitulation to communism. Korea. Vietnam. Isreal and the Arab nations. And brush-fire wars in every quarter of the globe.

Although there is no longer any room on the calendar for Armistice Day, it was pleasant for a time to share the naive optimism of an earlier age.

Clockwise

Where's Winter?

By BOB CLOCK

The older I get, the more convinced I am that there is no such thing as "seasonable" weather in Michigan.

Back in the '40's when our family spent part of every August at Higgins Lake, it was not unusual to find ice on the pump by dawn's early light. It made you feel like a pioneer to slosh ice-cold water on your face when you woke up in the morning.

And we always had a fire in the wood range mornings and evenings "to take the chill off."

This year, the petunias in our window boxes have been nipped only slightly by frost. They are still in full bloom although it's almost the end of November.

Four years ago on Nov. 2, Charlevoix had more than a foot of snow, the temperature dropped to zero and there was a 60-mile gale blowing off Lake Michigan. I remember because that was the year our Jenny bowed into the world at Charlevoix Hospital.

The storm took the city by surprise. It was so early in the season that snow plows hadn't even been hooked up to the city trucks and traffic came to a virtual standstill.

I'll never forget skiing over to the hospital that night, bundled up like Nanook of the North to see Judy and the baby. Crossing the bridge on my way home, there was such a jet-stream roaring down the channel that my woolen stocking cap was whipped off my head from underneath my securely tied parka. It disappeared somewhere in Round Lake and I never went looking for it.

This year, with Thanksgiving upon us, I haven't bothered to take in the porch furniture or put up the storm windows. I can't see any point in storing the furniture when we're still using it. In fact, we're talking about cooking our Thanksgiving turkey outside on the grille and having a lawn party.

It would only be a nuisance to have the storm windows up since we still hoist the sashes from time to time to get a breeze through the house.

Two weeks ago I suggested putting our bicycles in the shed for the winter.

"Not mine," Judy protested. "I'm still using it."

Deer hunters, of course, are chagrined by the mild weather. Usually the ground is white in northern Michigan by the time hunting season arrives, making it easy to track the wily critters.

But not this year.

I remember hunting near Cadillac one November when the ground was covered with two feet of snow and the water in Mitchell Lake was frozen solid enough to support fishing shanties.

But not this year.

I also remember a time when the Pine Knob ski area north of Detroit had its slopes and tows running for four weekends before Thanksgiving.

But not this year.

Fortunately, there are optimists among us who predict that winter is about to descend momentarily. A recent press release from Boyne County reads: "Advance weather forecasts reveal that skiing will be earlier at Boyne Mountain then the traditional Thanksgiving opening."

Lots of luck.

But the balmy weather to date makes me wonder if we aren't in for a repeat of the winter of 1965-66. The weather on New Years Eve was so sunny and bright with the mercury standing at 60 degrees that the Courier was able to talk the Venetian Queen's court—Lou Jean Scott, Chris Seidle, Pam Hiller, Barbara Dohm and Rita Sanford—into donning bathing suits and posing at Depot Beach with a big "Happy New Year" streamer.

Chris even went in wading and reported the water wasn't half bad.

That was also the winter that Josh Barnes received a wet suit for Christmas and tried it out in Lake Michigan on Christmas Day.

Of course that year was an economic catastrophe for the ski areas, so we're hoping that the people at Boyne Mountain know what they're talking about when they predict foul weather.

Hello there. My name is Jim and I'm your columnist. Henry is in charge of the adjectives and Ronald has the nouns. I will be happy to introduce them to you. You'll also want to meet Phyllis who slices the commas and apostrophes. I know she has some you'll like.

You are probably wondering what that first paragraph is all about. Well, Margie is in charge is in charge of paragraph explanations but she is busy right now, still explaining last week's column to a little old lady who forgot to order commas. So I'll substitute for Margie...

It all started last month when I phoned a Howard Johnson motel in Lansing to reserve a room. A sex bomb answered the phone. I could measure her sexiness by the way her voice made the phone sweat in my hand. I told her my name.

"Oh, that's a nice name," she said. "So easy to remember."

I told her my wife and I needed a room Saturday night.

"Surely," she said. "My name is Rita, Jim, and I'll be looking for you Saturday."

That night I took my wife out to a fancy restaurant so she could eat good food while I explained to her why I didn't think she should accompany me to Rita's place Saturday. Just as I was describing the typhoon season in Lansing, a lovely waitress appeared.

"Hello there," she purred. "My name is Dorothy and I'm your waitress for the night."

"Hello Dorothy," I said, standing up like Mother taught me. "My name is Jim. I'll bet you know Rita."

During the ensuing conversation, Dorothy somehow discovered that my wife wanted a drink before dinner. "You must meet Alice," Dorothy said. "She's your cocktail waitress."

So we met Alice whose voice was even throatier than Rita's and Dorothy's. She nodded knowingly when I ordered bourbon and water, a real man's drink. And she hardly blinked when I said it was for my wife, I wanted a Tom Collins with 2 cherries.

"I think I like this place," I told my wife.

"I think Alice has a bad cold," my wife said.

Later we met Harry, who was in charge of slicing the bread, and Ronald, who opened the wine.

"I wish Mother hadn't taught me it's rude to ask for toothpicks in any place that has a white tablecloth," I said. "I'm dying to meet whoever is in charge of toothpicks. Or should that be whomever?"

"I don't know," my wife said.

"Let's ask the girl in charge of grammar."

Anyway, I decided I liked the personal touch offered by Rita and Dorothy and gang. For too many years I have been buying service from nameless faces. From now on, I want the guy who pumps the gas to introduce me to the guy who wipes the windshield. It's too risky reading their names off their shirts. You might say "Hello, Fruit of the Loom" to some guy with no sense of humor.

And that's how this column will be run from now on. If I could just get Trixie and Goldie together for a second, you could meet them and I could end this nonsense in proper fashion.

Trixie is in charge of the Onwards and Goldie has the Upwards.

Look What Dad, Grandpa Have Done!

(The following "charge to graduates" was delivered by Eric A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, on Sept. 11. Gordon Neff of Charlevoix believes it is a timely and pertinent commentary on today's so-called "generation gap." The Courier heartily concurs.)

This ceremony marks the completion of an important phase of your life. It is an occasion in which all who know you can share in your sense of pride and accomplishment. But no one has more pride in your accomplishment than the older generation. But I am not going to tell that older generation how bright you are. Nor am I going to say we have made a mess of things and you—the younger ones--are the hope of mankind. I would like to reverse that process. For if you of the graduating class will look over into the bleachers to your left or right, I will re-introduce you to representatives of some of the most remarkable people ever to walk the earth. People you might want to thank on this graduation day. These are people you already know--your parents and grandparents. And, if you will bear with me for five minutes, I think you will agree, they are remarkable people indeed. Let me tell you about them.

Not long ago an educator from Northwestern University by the name of Bergen Evans, a radio performer known to your parents, got together some facts about these two generations—your parents and grandparents. I'd like to share some of these facts with you.

These—your parents and grandparents—are the people who within just five decades—1919-1969—have by their work increased your life expectancy by approximately 50 percent--who while cutting the working day by a third, have more than doubled per capita output.

These are the people who have given you a healthier world than they found. And because of this you no longer have to fear epidemics of flu, typhus, diphtheria, smallpox, scarlet fever, measles or mumps that they knew in their youth.

Let me remind you that these remarkable people lived through history's greatest depression. Many of these people know what it is to be poor, what it is to be hungry and cold. And because of this, they determined that it would not happen to you, that you would have a better life, you would have good to eat, milk to drink, vitamins to nourish you, a warm home, better schools and greater opportunities to succeed than they had.

And because they were materialistic, you will work fewer hours, learn more, have more leisure time, travel to more distant places, and have more of a chance to follow your life's ambition.

These are also the people who fought man's grisliest war. They are the people who defeated the tyranny of Hitler, and who when it was all over, had the compassion to spend billions of dollars to help their former enemies rebuild their homelands. And these are the people who had the sense to begin the United Nations.

It was representatives of these two generations, who through the highest court of the land, fought racial discrimination at every turn to begin a new era in civil rights.

And they made a start—although a late one—in healing the scars of the earth and in fighting pollution and the destruction of our natural environment. They set into motion new laws giving conservation new meaning, and setting aside land for you and your children to enjoy for generations to come.

While they have done all these things, they have had some failures. They have not yet found an alternative for war, nor for racial hatred. Perhaps you the members of this graduating class, will perfect the social mechanisms by which all men may follow their ambitions without the threat of force—so that the earth will no longer need police to enforce the laws, nor armies to prevent some men from trespassing against others. But they—those generations—made more progress by the sweat of their brows than in any previous era, and don't you forget it. And, if your generation can make as much progress in as many areas as these two generations, you should be able to solve a good many of the world's remaining ills.

It is my hope, and I know the hope of these two generations, that you find the answers to many of these problems that plague mankind.

But it won't be easy. And you won't do it by negative thoughts, nor by tearing down or belittling. You may and can do it by hard work, humility, hope, and faith in mankind. Try it.

Wild Turkeys Making Remarkable Comeback

Wild turkeys, too, get nervous around Thanksgiving.

Unlike their domestic cousins, the wild birds stand a chance to escape the dining table. Frustrated hunters claim the wild turkey has radar vision, sonar hearing and jet-speed.

In one turkey season in Wisconsin, 1,100 hunters beat the woods and bagged a grand total of 18 birds. As an old Indian saying goes, "Any brave can kill a deer; it takes a chief to kill a turkey."

Just a few years ago, the unsuccessful hunter could blame a shortage of birds, but the turkeys have made a remarkable comeback, the National Geographic Society says.

ONCE PLENTIFUL

When the Pilgrims celebrated the first Thanksgiving in 1621, they drew on a "great store of wild Turkies." William Wood, an early Massachusetts colonist wrote, "Sometimes there will be forty, three-score, and a hundred in a flock."

The great store was not destined to continue. Overshooting, clearing of woodlands, and a loss of staple food by chestnut blight drove the wild turkey (Meleagris gallopavo) from its original northeastern range.

Stocking, managed hunting, and habitat improvement have helped bring the bird back. In the West it has become established beyond its former range.

NUMBER GROWING

In 1952 the number of wild turkeys was estimated at 97,000. This year game managers believe that 1,250,000 roam 35 states. The birds are important enough to rate a National Wild Turkey Symposium, a meeting that in 1970 reached a raucous climax as dozens of wildlife biologists demonstrated their favorite turkey calls.

Hunters lure the shy birds by sounding "keow, keow, keow," a flock's assembly summons. Sometimes they imitate the female's mating cry on a call made from the wing bone of a hen turkey.

Veteran turkey hunters fashion their own calls. A Virginian made his from a hollow wing bone attached to 12 inches of rubber tubing that fits into a homemade tin horn. It gobbles magnificently.

MATING RITUAL

The National Geographic Society's book, "Water, Prey, and Game Birds of North America," described the mating ritual of wild turkeys:

"A big male, chest padded with fat to sustain him through the weeks of display, stands in a forest opening and gobbles. Other toms come running, wattles gorged with blood, heads turned bright blue, white, and red with excitement. All gobble, competing furiously for the attention of the hens. The tom that started the uproar may try to drive off the other males, pecking their heads bloody.

"Morning after morning, the prideful promenade continues. Tails fanned, wings dragging the ground, the males strut, flaming cravats quivering. Finally captivated by the big male's performance, a hen throws herself at his feet...In his excitement the cock may trample his harem of three to five hens before mating with them."

Fortunately, this performance takes place in spring, long before Thanksgiving. At the end of the mating season, the wild gobbler is lean and thin, and according to aficionados, his flesh is so rank it isn't fit to eat.

DNR Tightens Rules Governing Commercial Fishing

Commercial fishing regulations for 1971 aimed at promoting the rehabilitation of Michigan's Great Lakes fishery drew final approval from the Natural Resources Commission last week.

The adjustments, adopted for next year under the state's Great Lakes zone management plan, are generally minor but more restrictive than this year's regulations.

They are programmed to tone down the high incidental catch of game fish which commercial fishermen record in this state's waters. The approved changes are also designed to put the Department of Natural Resources' fish management efforts and costs in proper balance.

Under this year's zone management plan, DNR fisheries officials say they have spent a "disproportionate" amount of time and money on problems involving the state's commercial fishery.

They point out that the Department's cost of administering, managing, and enforcing that industry will hit $350,000 for 1970. On the other hand, this year's receipts for commercial fishing licenses total only $26,000.

In a move to correct these and other unsatisfactory developments under this year's zone management regulations, the Natural Resources Commission gave final approval to the following changes for 1971:

1) Strengthen and clarify the wording in existing General License Provisions.

2) Restrict the depths at which small-mesh gill nets may be used.

3; Modify some zone boundaries.

4) Give complete protection to chubs in Lake Huron; and restrict fishing of whitefish in those same waters.

5) Establish procedures for setting quotas on harvestable stocks; and assess quotas on perch in Zone 22 of Lake Huron.

Adoption of the 1971 rules came after DNR fisheries officials, sport-fishing interests, and commercial fishery operators sat down and sounded out their views on the slate of proposed adjustments. Some compromises were made "along the way" and commercial fishing spokesmen commended the Commission and DNR for the spirit of cooperation which keynoted the deliberations around the "peace table."

It was indicated that both sides of the commercial fishing vs. sport fishing controversy resolved most of their differences as an outcome of the special, face-to-face meeting.

Prior to that, the DNR's zone management proposal drew support from State Representative Warren N. Goemaere of Roseville, co-chairman of the House Conservation and Recreation Committee; Paul H. Wendler, past president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs; Donald R. Stewart, executive director of the Michigan Marine and Snowmobile Dealers Association; and local residents of northern Michigan.

Davis Wins Job As Majority Whip

State Senator-elect Robert W. Davis (R-37th District) has achieved an unusual distinction among his Senate colleagues even before being officially sworn into office.

Davis has been elected majority whip by fellow Senators, at the GOP organizational caucus. This makes him the only freshman Senate member elected to the Republican leadership.

Davis will take up his leadership responsibilities when the four-year Senate term begins in January. Republicans will retain Senate control on the strength of Lt. Governor-elect James H. Brickley's tie-breaking vote.

With the Senate split evenly with 19 Republicans and 19 Democrats, the new 37th District Senator could find himself in one of the most important Senate jobs.

"I believe the position of Majority Whip is going to be highly significant", Davis said, "and I'm extremely pleased to have been elected to this high office and feel it is a real honor to be recognized by my colleagues".

Senator-elect Davis is well prepared for his leadership position. He has served two terms in the House, representing the 106th House District. During the past two years, he has been serving as assistant republican whip in the House.

Magistrate's Court

contracts for the two groups, which would mean an even longer delay in reaching accord on a contract.

The city superintendent, who had hoped to have the contracts drawn up and signed by Christmas, termed the new delay "frustrating."

Obituary

Mr. O'Donnell

Funeral for Ronald S. O'Donnell, 37, of Detroit was held at Holy Cross Church on Beaver Island Saturday, Nov. 21, the Rev. Fr. Herbert Graf officiating. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Mr. O'Donnell died unexpectedly in Detroit Nov. 17 after suffering an apparent stroke.

He was born at St. James Aug. 27, 1933, and attended school on the island. He served with the U.S. Army during the Korean War and at the time of his death he was an inspector for the Cadillac Motor Car Co. in Detroit.

He was a member of Christ the King Catholic Church in Detroit.

He is survived by his widow, the former Kathleen Tighe, whom he married in Detroit in 1968; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank O'Donnell of St. James; a twin brother, Richard, of Grand Rapids; and three sisters, Mrs. Robert (Margaret) Bass and Miss Carol Ann O'Donnell of Chicago, and Mrs. Alex (Beverly) Walgus of Lakeview, Mich.

Prior to the time of service, the body lay in state at the family home on the island. Local arrangements were handled by the Winchester Funeral Home.

...and let us GIVE THANKS

This Thanksgiving Day let us remember, as did our Pilgrim fathers before us, to give thanks for the prosperity we enjoyed in the past year. We who share in the blessings of a good life should lift our voices in prayerful thanks for the abundance of our festive board, spiritual freedom and boundless opportunities. We have watched with pride as our friends and family blossomed ... our community prospered in this land we can proudly call our own. Now, when we pause to take stock of our joys ... let us not forget ours is a hard-won heritage, one we have worked for, fought for. Let us pledge to reaffirm our faith in this heritage and determine to preserve and cherish it ...

Alan D. Avery

Alan D. Avery To Visit Japan With Scouts

Alan D. Avery, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Valois A. Avery has been selected as being one of nearly 7,000 United States Boy Scouts who will attend the World Jamboree of Scouting in Japan during August of 1971.

Avery is an Eagle Scout, the highest rank that can be attained in scouting, a Junior at the Charlevoix High School, and a member of Troop 11.

More than 20,000 Scouts will gather in Japan next summer for the 13th World Jamboree, the biggest gathering of Scouts, internationally, since the World Jamboree in Idaho in 1967.

The 20-day trip will include tours of Tokyo, Nikko, Kohigaya, Kyoto, Nara, Shizuoka and Asagiri. Asagiri is the site of the eight-day jamboree.

Plans has been setting aside most of his earnings from Juilleret's Restaurant since last summer for the trip.

Marijuana Users Go To Jail

Seven young people arrested last summer on drug charges received jail sentences and fines when they appeared before Circuit Judge James M. Fitzpatrick Nov. 24.

Five of the youths were arrested in Charlevoix following a raid on a Belvedere-ave. home last August. Two others were arrested near Walloon Lake.

They were charged originally with various drug offenses, but all pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of illegal use of marijuana.

William Robertson, 21, of Atlanta and Alan W. Mack, 18, Charlevoix, were sentenced to 90 days in the Charlevoix County jail and ordered to pay fines of $100 each and costs of $200 each. If the fine and costs are not paid they will serve an additional 60 days.

David C. Betz, 21, of Hemlock; Richard Sikorski, 22, of Charlevoix; and Michael Etienne, 19, of Charlevoix, were sentenced to 90 days in the Grand Traverse County jail and assessed fines totaling $300 each. If the fines and costs are not paid they will spend an additional 60 days in jail.

Bonds ranging from $1,500 to $5,000 were cancelled. They will be given credit for time already served.

Michael T. Scales, 18, and Horatio Sawyer Earle III, 18, both of Bloomfield Hills, were sentenced to 60 days in the Charlevoix County jail for illegal use of marijuana. However since both boys are still in high school, the sentences were suspended until next summer when school lets out. They also were assessed,

CHS Seniors Plan Trip to New York

For the first time in ten years Charlevoix's graduating class will be going on a senior trip.

Permission for the five-day charter trip to New York City was granted at the special meeting of the Charlevoix board of education Monday night. The OK was given by a vote of 5-1 with one member absent.

Nancy Fochtman, president of the class, represented the 106 seniors at the meeting. She outlined the initial plans which call for the class to leave Charlevoix via charter bus the week of spring vacation in April, allowing two days for travel with three full days in New York where the Tour company, Kerney's of Detroit, will take them on guided tours. She said that the company allows one chaperone for each 20 students to accompany the group without costs.

One of the reasons for asking permission at this time, she said, was to allow the class to begin serious fund raising projects. She said the trip would cost an estimated $103 per student and that 72 of the 106 students had already signed up for the trip. The group will be accompanied by a tour coordinator. A delegation of 25 class member and class advisors, Mrs. Sandra Fassett and Nelson Green were present.

In other action, the board heard a report on the school's Vocation-Technical program given by Robert Cook; adopted a policy on free and reduced price lunches for K-4 students as required by federal regulations; authorized the superintendent

Cage Tickets To Cost More

Charlevoix High School Principal Vane Smith reminds cage fans that tickets for Charlevoix's first home game of the season Friday against the Petoskey Northmen will cost $1.25 instead of $1, the new rate throughout the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference.

Student tickets will cost $.75, instead of $.50.

Smith also reminds parents that children up to and including Sixth graders must be accompanied by an adult if they attend games.

COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION equipment was on the job in Charlevoix last week filling in a huge hole near the north abutment of the U.S. 31 drawbridge caused by gigantic waves rolling down the channel from Lake Michigan. The state Highway Department dumped tons of rock and fill dirt into the excavation, using county equipment.

Love Letters to Santa

Word from the North Pole has it that Charlevoix area youngsters already are busy making up their Christmas lists.

Although it is three weeks until Christmas, the old man in the red suit has informed the Courier that he has received letters from Charlevoix youngsters and acting Postmaster Rex Davis says more are on the way.

So far the kids are asking for bicycles, dolls, sports equipment – and a coffee pot.

The following letter, post marked Oct. 22, was received from Brenda Martinchek:

Dear Santa:

Please bring me a two-wheel bike and a doll. I have been a good girl this year. I will leave cookies and milk for you.

Engineers Hope Stone Will Save River Bank

Project To Start Shortly

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers office reported Monday morning that plans are underway to lay a wall of crushed stone along the north bank of Pine River Channel, fronting the Weathervane Inn, in hopes of preventing further deterioration of the bank before a permanent revetment can be built.

Th bank was severely damaged Nov. 20 and again Nov. 22 when winds reaching 80 mph drove gigantic waves down the channel, seriously underminig the exposed bank just west of the U.S. 31 drawbridge.

One excavation 10-feet deep developed adjacent to the bridge abutment.

Col. Myron Snoke, district engineer for the Corps of Engineers' office in Detroit, said he is negotiating with the Luedke Engineering Co. of Frankfort to lay the wall of crushed stone during December.

The company, which still has equipment in Charlevoix, recently completed work on steel revetments the entire length of the channel, except for the 300-foot section just west of the bridge.

Col. Snoke said the Corps has approximately $300,000 to complete the revetment next year. Bids will be asked in February.

He said he hopes the crushed stone will stabilize the bank until the permanent revetment is constructed.

He added that Great Lakes mariners have been notified that there is a possible build up of silt on the channel bottom and that they should use extreme caution in entering Charlevoix Harbor.

George Richardson, co-owner of the Weathervane Inn, said waves Nov. 20 so severely eroded the bank that a concrete patio on the south side of the building broke loose from the main portion of the building.

Col. Snoke drove to Charlevoix to inspect the damage Nov. 24. He was

Hunter, 16, Is Injured

Clayton Sarasin jr., 16, of Charlevoix, was admitted to Charlevoix Hospital Sunday after he was injured in a hunting accident.

Sheriff Philo Sumner said Sarasin was returning from a hunting trip to Bells Bay when he reached for his loaded weapon in the back of the car. It discharged, striking him in the shoulder.

He was rushed to Charlevoix Hospital where his condition is reported satisfactory.

Sarasin's hunting compansion were Alfred Corp, 16, driver of the car; Henry Archery, 16; and Ronald Himebauch, 16, all of Charlevoix.

COL. MYRON SNOKE, district engineer for the U.S. Army's Corps of Engineers' office in Detroit, traveled to Charlevoix Nov. 24 to examine damage to the north bank of Pine River Channel caused by 80 mph winds Nov. 20 and Nov. 22. With him is Michael Danivich (center), chief of construction operations for the district, and Paul Bailey, survey engineer.

GEORGE RICHARDSON, co-owner of the Weathervane Inn on Pine River Channel, points to crack which developed in patio Nov. 20 after wind-whipped waves washed away a portion of the channel bank.

Gift Ideas Galore in Courier

This week's edition of the Charlevoix Courier is loaded with Christmas gift suggestions to help you with your holiday shopping.

And while you are in the shopping mood, turn to page 13 for the Charlevoix Courier's own Christmas special–reduced rates for gift subscriptions.

Out-of-county gift subscriptions are going for only $5.75 during December. In-county subscriptions are $4.25, a savings of 75 cents over the regular cost.

Just fill out the handy subscription form and mail it to the Courier, or drop it off at our Bridge-st. office.

Correction

The Charlevoix High School dress code which appeared in the Nov. 18 issue of the Courier was approved by the Board of Education Nov. 10, 1969, not this year. No action on a dress code revision has been taken by the board so far in 1970.

Library Notes

Library Helps You Prepare for Yule

There's just one thing on everyone's mind these days and that's Christmas. Library Notes offers some suggestions to help with the plans and preparations. For those who are creative there is a delightful new book "How To Make Your Own Greeting Cards" by John Carlis. The instructions for these cards are not necessarily simple, but the results are handsome works of art. A handmade Christmas card is a personal and thoughtful gift in itself.

"Let's Make Presents" by Esther Hautzig offers 100 gift ideas for less than $1 each. All of the simple, easy-to-make items which the children can make for grandparents and friends.

"All-Around the House Art and Craft Book" by Patricia Wirtenberg is divided into five sections and uses materials likely to be found in the kitchen, the laundry, the garage or attic or yard. Each project is described clearly and there are several photographs accompanying each project. Items include mobiles, stenciled plastic boxes, spackle panels, nature prints, glass compositions and many other artistic creations.

"Fruit and Vegetable Arrangements" by Emma Hodkinson Cyphers seems appropriate during the Christmas season. It is the only book devoted exclusively to decorations featuring fruits and vegetables alone or in combinations with flowers and foliage and driftwood. There are step-by-step instructions and 101 photographs to demonstrate the arrangements.

"Favorite Breads From Rose Lane Farm" by Ada Lou Roberts is filled with wonderful recipes for Christmas gift breads, which improve with age in the freezer, and special European breads which would be a special treat for special friends.

"The Big Chocolate Cookbook" by Gertrude Parke has 308 pages of tempting recipes for unusual candies and cookies for holiday gifts, decorations for desserts and how to make unusual pastries. There is a special chapter on sauces and syrups which can be gift-wrapped in small jars.

During the past few weeks we have been listing titles from our new childrens' book collection. Parents might like to come in and look them over before buying Christmas books this year.

We would also like to mention a large variety of Christmas "how-to" magazines. Better Homes & Gardens, McCall's, House Beautiful, and other publish annual issues devoted entirely to Christmas decorations, foods, gifts and wrappings. All these magazines may be circulated.

Schools to Get State Aid

The Charlevoix School District was due to receive a state aid payment of $47,950 on Dec. 1, state Rep. Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) has announced.

State aid payments are made on Oct. 1, Dec. 1, Feb. 1, April 1, June 1 and Aug. 1.

Among schools districts in the area, Bellaire will receive $21,210; Elk Rapids, $41,530; Mancelona, $60,040; Beaver Island Community Schools, $820; Boyne City, $166,740; Boyne Falls, $17,370; Central Lake, $28,070; Ellsworth, $18,080; Mackinaw City, $3,640; Harbor Springs, $30,080; Littlefield (Alanson), $27,370; Pellston, $44,390; and Petoskey, $142,710.

State aid is determined by school enrollment and the amount of property evaluation behind each student.

Don't Force Kids To Clean Plates

"Eat everything on your plate!"

Sound familiar? A specialist at Michigan State University hopes not.

According to Portia Morris, MSU foods specialist with the Cooperative Extension Service, mealtime threats and promises may actually lead your child to poor eating habits and health problems throughout life.

"A child's appetite varies with many situations—such as the amount of family tension at mealtime," says Mrs. Morris. "And adults often overestimate how much food children really can eat or want to eat."

Demanding that your child always eat his usual amount of food may cause an unpleasant association with particular kinds of foods.

Many parents give undue emphasis to food, says Mrs. Morris. Tying your acceptance and approval to a clean plate can lead to overeating and overweight. A child may reason that more emptied plates mean more love.

Don't hold up desserts as prizes or rewards for eating the rest of the meal, suggests Mrs. Morris. Regard desserts as a regular part of the meal, and plan sweets that contribute nutrients to your family menus.

To encourage good eating habits, let your child determine the amount of food he wants to eat at mealtime—but help him avoid spoiling his appetite before meals. Provide a relaxed meal period and let food just be necessary nourishment—not a symbol of approval, reward or punishment, says Mrs. Morris.

SN Mahaney attended school in Dallas.

what's a funny place for a phone?

That depends a lot on your sense of humor. If making tracks across a clean carpet to get to a telephone leaves your wife a little less than happy, then perhaps there's nothing so funny about an extension telephone in the garage or workshop.

Extension telephones make sense. They save time by letting you use a telephone wherever you are.

Call your Michigan Bell Business Office or ask your telephone man. For as little as ninety-five cents a month (plus tax) you can put an extension in any funny old place you'd like.

Kathryn Timmer left Thursday by bus, to spend 10 days with her brother Ben and wife and her sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ter Haar in Grand Rapids.

Paul Krause, principal and teacher at the Ebenezer Christian School, is a patient at Little Traverse Hospital this week. Mrs. Fred Bolhuis is his substitute teacher.

Another large dead elm tree was cut down in the front yard of Mr. and Mrs. Claude White's home this week. Mr. White reports this makes 15 elm trees he has had cut down in his front and back yards in recent years. Other large elms have been cut down in the Grosser, John Klooster, and Patterson properties.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klooster accompanied their children, Mr. and Mrs. Al Taylor, to Saginaw recently. While there Mrs. Klooster became seriously ill and now is a patient at Charlevoix Hospital while Mr. Klooster is back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ewing nee Joy Klein of Grand Ledge are in charge of Dennys Shopping Center for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Ewing have three children. Janet is in the 8th grade, Jim in the 4th grade and Jeff in the 3rd grade. The Dennys' plan to spend the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rubingh went to Grand Rapids Nov. 20 to get their son, Gary, who arrived there Thursday. Gary has finished his tour of duty in Vietnam and will be home on furlough for some time. We are glad with the Rubinghs on the safe return of Gary from Vietnam.

THE STEAMER CHAMPLAIN burned shortly after stopping at Norwood the night of June 16, 1887. All that is left of the Norwood dock is the silver of land extending into Lake Michigan in the center of above photo. Lakers stopped at Norwood long before they could enter Charlevoix Harbor.

Clipping Recalls Night The Champlain Burned

Mrs. Nina Hull of Norwood has come across a faded clipping from an old Charlevoix Courier which she thinks may be interest to area residents.

She found the article, which deals with the burning of the steamer Champlain, in a scrapbook kept by her mother, the late Mrs. Hattie Holecheck, who also lived at Norwood.

The article appeared under the "Wheaton Corners" news and was unsigned and undated. "Wheaton Corner" was a part of Norwood. It apparently was written some time after the Champlain burned in June of 1887.

Mrs. Hull is interested in obtaining more information about the incident, particularly the name of the correspondent.

As indicated in the article, the Champlain burned at a time when Norwood was the major port in the area. Freight was unloaded at the Norwood dock and hauled to Charlevoix by liverymen. However, it seems that there was some provision for allowing passengers to disembark at Charlevoix, probably by dinghy.

"The last trip of the steamer Champlain, a sister ship of the steamer Lawrence that ran from Chicago to Mackinaw, each making one round a week. (SIC) They took in every port, going into Traverse City, Torch Lake, Elk Rapids, then to Norwood and almost always into Norwood around midnight.

"It was William (Billy) Cowan's and my job to meet these boats and see that the freight was put in the store house and checked out all o.k.

"On this night, June 16, 1887, the Champlain came in as usual. Everything was fine and quite a nice night. A Mr. Chase, a shoe salesman, came on the dock. They unloaded his sample trunks, 6 or 8 of them. He was figuring on going on to Charlevoix and coming back in the morning with the liveryman. Billy and I talked him into staying at Norwood. He could have a good rest and in the morning call the liveryman and have him come after him.

"So he went aboard the boat and got his suitcase and walked ashore with us. He was a large, elderly man. He always said that Billy and I saved his life, for that night the Champlain burned before it got to Charlevoix. They ran ashore on Fisherman's Island, at that time Smithson's camp, where a mill was in operation.

"Norwood got the news by telephone the first thing in the morning. Several of us went to the camp on a small sailboat owned by Charley Pearl and William Brown. It was nearly noon when we got there. Thirty-three lives were lost and thirty-three saved. There were several rowboats looking for those drowned. Mr. and Mrs. Nick Shores ran the boarding house. We all went there for dinner, there were several of the survivors still there. The engineer, who was burned real bad, was there several weeks.

"The Champlain was replaced by the steamer Vernon. That fall it was quite a wild night when it landed at Norwood dock about 9 o'clock. There were several of the Norwood people there, as it was quite a sight to see a boat come in when the waves were rolling like they were that night.

"That was her last trip also. Frankfort was the last port she made, and was never heard from after she cleared Frankfort. I don't think there was anyone saved. The Champlain was rebuilt and called the City of Charlevoix. Mrs. Harrison Bedford was one of the passengers on the Champlain who was saved, and she can tell a lot more about that awful night than I can."

Old Ellsworth Has New Look

By Aane Osterbaaa

If we look back a couple years, the face of Ellsworth has changed completely.

Take the remodeling of the Hardware Store. The top story is gone, it has a new front, large shining windows, and has rough sawed cedar, all around the building which has been stained and trimmed with dark brown.

Shooks Store also sports a new front, matching that of the Hardware and of Bob's Sunoco Station across the street.

The Golden Nugget has a new building with a decorated Stone front with a new parking lot next to Shooks' store.

John and Agnes have also made an addition to their place in the last years.

First Buoys Picked Up

The Coast Guard Cutter Sundew picked up its first batch of buoys marking northern Great Lakes shipping lanes on Monday, according to skipper Berl Williams.

The buoys were returned to Charlevoix for refurbishing and storage over the winter.

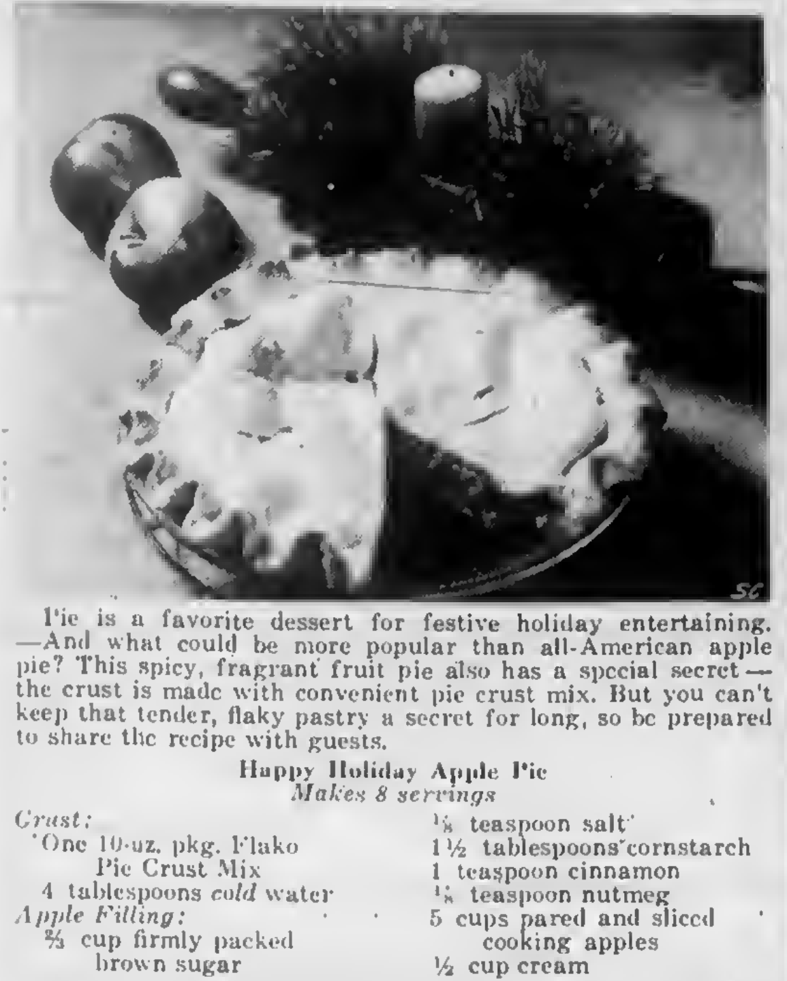
Treasured Tradition: Apple Pie



Pie is a favorite dessert for festive holiday entertaining. —And what could be more popular than all-American apple pie? This spicy, fragrant fruit pie also has a special secret — the crust is made with convenient pie crust mix. But you can't keep that tender, flaky pastry a secret for long, so be prepared to share the recipe with guests.

Happy Holiday Apple Pie
Makes 8 servings

Crust:
One 10-oz. pkg. Flako Pie Crust Mix
4 tablespoons cold water
Apple Filling:
⅔ cup firmly packed brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
5 cups pared and sliced cooking apples
½ cup cream

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For crust, empty contents of package into bowl. Sprinkle water by tablespoonfuls over mix; stir with fork until just dampened. Form into ball. (If too dry, add a little more water.)

Divide into 2 parts, one slightly larger. Roll out large part on lightly floured board or canvas to form a 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into 9-inch pie plate. Trim.

For apple filling, combine sugar, salt, cornstarch and spices; toss with sliced apples, mixing well. Add cream; mix well. Pour apple filling into pie crust. Roll out remaining dough to form 12-inch circle. Place crust over filling. Prick crust with fork for steam to escape. Trim; turn edges under; flute. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 45 to 50 minutes. Cool.

DR. SEUSS CHARACTERS COME ALIVE IN NEW TOYS. The first group of talking toys has recently been introduced. The line of toys includes a talking storybook, "Friends of Dr. Seuss," a "Sam I Am" See 'n Say, a Dr. Seuss Mattel O-Phone and a plush, talking Cat In The Hat. Toys by Mattel, Inc.

Watch It, Kids . .There's a Seuss On the Loose

The fantastic situations and zany characters which have sprang from the fertile imagination of Dr. Seuss to delight millions of parents and children are now available as a line of toys, dolls and games from a giant toy manufacturer.

For more than three decades Theodor Geisel, better known as Dr. Seuss, has authored such modern children's classics as "Horton Hears a Who," "The Cat in the Hat," "Yertle the Turtle" and "How the Grinch Stole Christmas." With the recent signing of an exclusive long-range agreement with Mattel Inc., Geisel works closely with executives of the Southern California-based firm in the planning of each new product.

First items available in the new line are the Dr. Seuss See 'n Say, "Say I Am," the Dr. Seuss Cat in the Hat talking plush doll, the Dr. Seuss Mattel-O-Phone, the Dr. Seuss talking storybook, "Friends of Dr. Seuss," and the Dr. Seuss Fish-A-Ma-Jigger game. All of these items are available locally.

Another new product inspired by the works of Dr. Seuss is the Seuss Hoos, a unique playhouse with a variety of built-in games and play activities. The Seuss Hoos, available this fall, is manufactured by Turco.

From the first, Geisel, whose 35 books have been read by more than 50 million avid fans, has taken an active role in the association. He has made frequent trips from his La Jolla, California home to the toy firm's headquarters facility. And, just as frequently its executives have taken the two-hour drive to discuss with Geisel the smile on a character's face, the sound of his voice or the color of his hat.

"It is important to both the toy company and me," says the affable storyteller, "that all of these new games, dolls and toys be faithful to the original characters in my books."

According to Elliot Handler, Mattel's chairman of the board, "For many years, all of us have been enchanted with the whimsy and charm of the Dr. Seuss stories. It is a great challenge to translate the works of a man from one medium — books — to another — toys."

Mrs. Behm In New Post

Mrs. Grace Behm of Escondido, Calif., a sister of Mrs. Irene Melville of Charlevoix, has been selected to serve as a receptionist for the White House Conference on Aging in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Behm, who has many friends in the Charlevoix area, retired recently as administrative assistant to the chief of education and training for the Veterans Administration.

About three weeks ago, she received a telephone call from Washington asking her to return to work on the conference.

Mrs. Behm recently returned from a tour of Europe.

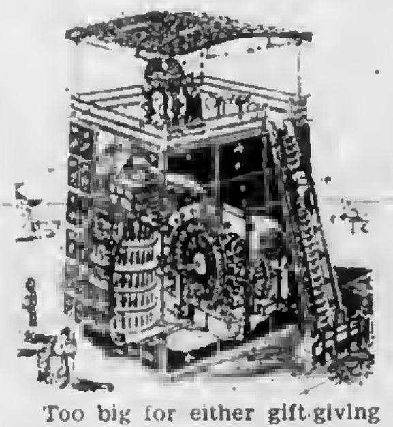
Time For Gift Giving



Did you know that the forerunner of one of today's most popular items for Christmas gift-giving came to us from the inscrutable Chinese?

One of the first mechanical clocks of note was a huge, water-powered astronomical clock constructed in the late 11th century by Su Sung for the Palace of Kai-Feing.

Too big for either gift-giving or keeping in one's pagoda, Su Sung's clock towered some 30 feet high. The five-level facade resembled a Chinese pagoda of that period. And each level had a door, through which, at the appropriate hour, mannikins and jacks appeared, ringing bells and gongs and holding tablets on which the hours were indicated. It was ahead of its time — just as today's new digital clocks are.

The holiday shopper will find today's timepieces more suitably scaled for slipping into Christmas stockings. For example, this modern Time Scan alarm clock by General Electric measures only 3-¾ inches by 6-½ inches. This compact electric alarm indicates time not on stone tablets, but by direct-read white numerals. And no water supply is needed—just connect to the nearest electrical outlet. The wood-grained case complements any decor—be it early Chinese, traditional or contemporary. Inscrutably wonderful for Christmas gift-giving—as Su Sung might have said.

2 gifts in one

Solve all the "problems" on your Christmas list, by presenting each member of the family with a gift certificate for a portrait sitting at your local professional photographer's studio. (Mom included, of course.)

Dad and the children will be proud to have portraits of themselves, but as an added plus you also can create a family portrait gallery by borrowing a simple modern arrangement from art museums.

Attach parallel strips of molding to the wall. Have your professional photographer mount the Christmas gift portraits on matboard sized to fit between the two strips. Then slide the finished portraits into the long "frame," rearranging and adding portraits as your initial collection grows. Why not make new portraits a Christmas tradition each year?

CWA to Ask Assistance From State in Impasse

The Communications Workers of America (CWA), the official contract bargaining agent for Charlevoix city employes, will ask the state Employment Relations Commission for assistance in breaking an impasse that has developed over whether city employes should be covered by one contract, as the union prefers, or two contracts, as proposed by the city.

Word of the appeal to the Employment Relations Commission was received by the Courier last week in a letter from Walter Fineout, president of Local 4106, CWA (AFL-CIO). (See letter on Pg. 15).

The impasse developed at the opening of contract bargaining negotiations Nov. 12 when the city's representative, attorney Darrel Jacobs of Kalamazoo, told the union's international representative, R. Stanley Powell, also of Kalamazoo, that the city would like policemen and firemen covered by separate contract, because they alone, among all city employes, are subject to provisions of state compulsory arbitration laws.

Powell consulted with city employes on the city's demand and then left town.

The city's side of the impasse was explained to the employes the following day by Jacobs.

In his letter to the Courier, Fineout said the CWA will attempt to work through the Employment Relations Commission to break the deadlock before filing any unfair labor practice charge agains the city.

Fineout described the union's task as "most difficult", since it is confronted with "such irresponsible behavior as this."

"Our desire from the outset," he wrote, "was to negotiate a contract that would be complimentary to all parties concerned, both the employes and the city. This will continue to be our uppermost desire in spite of the needless roadblocks which face us."

He accused the city of attempting to gain at the bargaining table what it had failed to win in the courts.

The city has attempted through the courts for the past year to challenge the representation election last October on grounds that it cannot bargain with uniformed and public service employes alike, because of the state laws governing negotiations with uniformed employes.

COUNCIL MINUTES

The Common Council of the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Fochtman presiding.

Aldermen present: Sundberg, Westenbroek, Boss, Gill, and Mol.

Absent: Alderman Klooster.

The Minutes of the November 9, 1970 meeting were approved as presented to the Council in writing and as recorded in the Council Minutes book.

Enter Alderman Klooster.

Moved by Alderman Boss and supported by Alderman Klooster that the City ask for bids on a passenger car to be used by the City Administrator and the Police Department.

Specifications may be obtained at the office of the City Superintendent.

Bids will be received until 8:00 p.m. EST.

The City reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids as is deemed to be in the best interest of the City.

Further, that this Resolution become effective January 1, 1971.

Respectfully submitted: Barney, Milstein, Harry Tompkins, Committee.

Vote: Yeas, Commissioners Ingalls, Smith, Davis, Richardson, Griffin, Kullik, Taylor, Milstein, Kassin, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, Staley, 13. Nays, Commissioner Moerland, 1. Absent, Commissioner Cunningham, 1. Resolution adopted.

The Chairman requested that the Building and Grounds Committee work with Tony Kullik and report back to the Board with a recommendation as to the Village of Boyne Falls's request to purchase Lot 3 Block 2 of Gadgeis Addition to Village of Boyne Falls.

Commissioner Moerland reported on the Meeting of the Municipal Employees Retirement meeting held at Traverse City, Michigan.

DOG LICENSING LAW

Moved by Commissioner Richardson and supported by Commissioner Carson that the following resolution be adopted: The Honorable Board of County Commissioners: Members of the Board:

Your Sheriff's Committee respectfully requests the adoption of the following resolution:

WHEREAS, the committee is desirous of assisting the County Dog Warden and the County Treasurer in the administration of the dog licensing laws;

Now, therefore be it resolved that the Board of County Commissioners accept the provisions of Act 195 of the Public Acts of 1969.

Signed: Richardson, Carson, Committee.

Vote: Yeas, Commissioner Richardson, Griffin, Kassin, Tompkins, Kujawski, Carson, 6. Nays, Commissioner Ingalls, Smith, Kullik, Taylor, Staley, Moerland, 6. Absent, Commissioner Cunningham, 1. Abstaining from voting: Commissioners Davis, Milstein, 2. Resolution declared lost.

RESOLUTION ATOMIC POWER PLANT

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Carson that the following resolution be adopted:

Whereas, the Economic Development of the State of Michigan is dependent on adequate sources of energy, and

Whereas, the expansion of and the retention of existing industries, and attraction of additional industries to the area are the concern of the Counties of Charlevoix and

Whereas, the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix recognize that the construction of the Consumers Power Company Nuclear Plant near Midland will provide an additional energy source essential for the continued growth of industries, as well as additional power to serve the future need of the State of Michigan, and

Whereas, the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix have confidence in the scientific research conducted by Consumer Company as evidence by the operation of the Big Rock Nuclear Plant, as well as other scientists and governmental agencies that indicate the conversion of fossil fuels to nuclear energy will contribute to the improved environmental conditions of the State.

Now, therefore Be It Resolved by the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, that we support the location of development of the Consumers Power Company plant in Midland, and Be It Further Resolved that we ask the atomic Energy Commission to avoid any undue delay in the licensing of this project so that it may move on schedule and preclude any detrimental affect upon the economy of Michigan, and Be It further Resolved that a copy of this resolution be submitted to the Atomic Energy Commission at the hearing to be held in this regard.

Motion carried.

CLARENCE F. RABACH, COUNTY CLERK
JOHN KUJAWSKI, CHAIRMAN

Finance Specialist Joins Insurance Co.

John B. Moultrup, a specialist in financial planning, has joined the Petoskey insurance firm of McCune-Dickinson, Stan Dickinson and Alan McCune, announced recently.

John B. Moultrup

Expressing pleasure at the new association, Dickinson said, "John brings to us and to our customers 23 years of experience in most phases of personal and corporate planning related to insurance.

"He is a registered representative for the sale of securities and mutual funds and can provide expert assistance in such complex areas as key-man insurance, business buy-sell funding, deferred compensation, business continuation insurance, pension-funding and profit-sharing plans.

"Companies and individuals also will find John well-versed in tax-sheltered annuities, estate tax planning, children's educational planning, retirement income, hospitalization and medical protection and accident and health insurance. We at McCune-Dickinson are very pleased to have John join our firm."

Moultrup himself prefers to think in terms of "achievement of goals in life" rather than mere insurance. For the past six years he has specialized as a Life Underwriter planning programs for individuals and companies. He was Regional Manager for the State of Michigan for Cornerstone Financial Services, Inc., (Division of Keystone Custodian Funds), in charge of employing and training sales personnel in the sale of mutual funds and life insurance.

Moultrup, 45, is a veteran of World War II, serving on Air Force B-17's in Europe. He and Therese, his wife, have six children: David is a Senior at the University of Michigan; Gary a freshman at Eastern University; Mark, James, Paul and Mary at home.

Home for the Moultrup family will be 704 E. Lake Street, Petoskey.

Farm Aid Hinges On Completed Work

Robert W. Reidel, chairman of the Charlevoix County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, reminded farmers installing practices under the 1970 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) that work must be substantially completed on or before Dec. 31, in order to be eligible for payment under the program.

"It's in the law," he explained. "If a farmer doesn't finish his ACP work by the end of the year, the County ASCS Office can't make the cost-share payment."

Commenting that winter weather is just around the corner, he said that in past years it has sometimes prevented farmers from completing their conservation cost-sharing practices. "We hope it won't happen this year," he said in urging that farmers concentrate on completing their practices as soon as possible.

Reidel pointed out that when approving a conservation cost-sharing practice the County ASC Committee sets a completion date – and he said that most farmers finish and report their work in good time.

"If circumstances prevent completion by the date set, a time extension can probably be granted," he said. "However, we cannot extend completion time beyond December 31. That's the point I want to make – ACP work must be substantially completed this calendar year."

To Offer Free Hot Lunches

The Charlevoix Board of Education agreed at its Nov. 23 meeting to take advantage of federally-sponsored free or reduced price lunches at the elementary school, the only school in the district still serving Type A hot lunches.

Eligibility for the program will be determined by the size of the family and the family's yearly income.

A letter explaining the program will be sent to the parents of elementary school children this week, along with an application blank, according to Business Manager Harold J. Kaufman.

The income scale ranges from $2,075 for a family of one to $6,300 for a family of eight, including parents and other dependants. For each additional family member, the income limit increased $485.

Under the program, each child receiving a free or reduced price lunch will be given a weekly ticket identical to those used by children who purchase a weekly lunch ticket.

Names of children determined to be eligible for free or reduced price meals will not be published, posted or announced in any manner.

Children receiving the free or reduced price lunches will not be required to (a) work for their meals, (b) use a separate luncheroom, serving line or section of the lunchroom, (c) enter the lunchroom through a different entrance than is used by children who are paying the full price for meals, (d) eat lunch at a different time from paying students, (e) use a different medium of exchange in the lunchroom than is used by paying children, or (f) receive a different meal than is provided for paying children.

Children from families whose income level is comparable to or has already qualified them for public assistance such as Aid to Dependent Children, shall be determined as eligible for the receipt of free or reduced price meals.

The program will go into effect on or before Dec. 31, whenever final approval is received from the state.

The Middle School and the High School are serving Stewart sandwiches this year and are not eligible for participation in the program.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE TO FIND a pair of these "toys" under your Christmas tree? The number of purebred dogs registered with American Kennel Club has been growing at more than 10" a year. Numbered among the top ten is the Pekingese whose puppies look a little like baby owls. For predictable size and temperament "there is nothing like a canine blue blood" says Felicia Ames of the Friskies Nutrition Research Center. For more about dogs read Miss Ames' paperback "The Dog You Care For" Signet 95

buy a blue blood for Christmas

You wouldn't give Grandma a skateboard for Christmas, or your young niece a hand crocheted shawl.

Or would you? The answer probably depends on the temperaments of those two ladies, but at least you would give such purchases a second thought.

One of the most popular Christmas presents — a puppy — is too often bought solely on impulse, according to Felicia Ames, consultant at Friskies Nutrition Research Center. "All puppies are appealing, but the one that beguiles the buyer is not necessarily right for Grandma or Gertie. You should give time and thought to this purchase to make sure that puppy, when he becomes a grown dog, will fit the temperament and habits of the person who is going to live with him.

The best way to match pets to people, suggests Miss Ames, who is also author of "The Dog You Care For", is to join the legions who are investing in purebred dogs. America's pet population has been increasing at nearly 3 annually in recent years, more than the human population growth, but the number of registered dogs has been growing at more than 10'.

The greatest advantage in the purebred when you are selecting a dog as a gift is that it enables you to buy one of predictable size and temperament. A mongrel can make a fine pet, but the mutt-pup's future is uncertain. He may look like his mother, but grow up to have the surly disposition of a distant and disreputable uncle.

In general you will find that the larger working dogs, the sporting breeds and the hounds are quieter and more placid than most terriers and toys. But big dogs need room and exercise, and some of them have appetites that could cripple the food budget. Terriers and toys are spirited, alert, highly entertaining pets that are especially adapted to apartment living. Some of them tend to be noisy and high strung, however. The non-sporting breeds include such rugged individualists as the Poodle, the Dalmatian, and the Bulldog — superb companions, but in some cases expensive ones.

Once you have narrowed your candidates down to several breeds, you can start dog-shopping. Prices range from around $30 to the astronomical, but it is an investment that will pay off in a fine animal for a proud owner.

An executive of a games maker firm predicted that the 70s will usher in games that deal with the physical environment. He sees a growing popularity for games about pollution, land conservation and the beautification of cities.

Another executive expressed an opinion that toys for pre-schoolers that combine a learning value with fun to score over the "gimmick" toys on the pre-school market.

Charlevoix the Beautiful

Independents Off and Running

By SAM SUPERNAW

The Charlevoix Independent Basketball League got their 1970-71 season underway Tuesday night with the usual packed house at the Charlevoix High School gym.

Not disappointing the fans or "Jimmy the Greek," all of the night's favorites came up with victories! Martin's Standard Service, Topside Lounge, and powerful Andy's Tire World proved the tote board at the Arcade Pool Room correct with impressive wins.

In the night's first fray, last year's League Champs, Martin's Standard Service, showed no contest to newcomers Medusa Cement. The first period ended with Martin's in the lead 23 to 10. Ageless Leroy Buchanan got Martins started with 10 points, and Dick Putman put in four for Medusa. Even scoring paced the second quarter for both teams with Martin's maintaining their lead at half time, 29 to 17.

The second half of the game got under way with Martin's increasing their lead to 48 to 29 at the end of the third quarter. Hank Wagner came on with six points for Martin's, but Jumping Joe Battle stole the third period scoring honors with six big points for the Cement Kings. The Gassers put on the pressure in the fourth quarter and they coasted to a 64-35 victory. Even scoring paced both teams in the fourth period. Hank "Tubby" Wagner paced the winners with 19 points, followed by Leaping Leroy Buchanan with 13. Joe Battle put in 8 points for Medusa.

The evening's second game saw the Topside Lounge handle the First State Bank with ease. The Topside moved out to an 18 to 6 first period lead with Leaping Lee Cross accounting for 10 of the Topside's points. Cross then put in eight more in the second quarter to help the Topside increase their margin to a half time score of 35 to 13. Dale Burge had seven points for the Banker's in the second period.

The second half got underway, with Topside picking up where it left off. The Alkies coasted in the third and fourth period to an easy 61 to 41 victory. Cross and Bumbling Bren LaBiance had 10 apiece for the Topside in the second half, while that old Northern Michigan University flash Gary Stutzman pushed in 13 for the Redeker Reds. Leading scorers in the game were Lee Cross with 28, followed by LaBlance with 19, who put the entire crowd in shock by having only two fouls called on him in the entire game. Bren's comment on this after the game was "I'll get 'em next time." Stutzman lead the Bankers with 20 and Dale Burge had 15.

The night's final clash, which the crowd was anxiously awaiting, (the crowd consisting of one person--my dad) saw all Powerful Andy's Tire World pick up where they left off last season by pushing over a new team, Hess Furniture. Those super-star names were popping up again this year: Mikulski, Helms, Carey, Smith and Super Sam. Newcomers to Andy's team such as Novotny, Bragg, Etienne, and Soloman added to their powerful punch. The first period saw Andy's take a 9 to 6 lead with Sam Supernaw getting five for Andy's and Joe Beaudoin, Hess's first round draft choice from San Diego State, putting in four. Even scoring in the second quarter made a half time lead for Andy's of 21 to 18.

The third period saw Andy's pull to a 38 to 25 lead behind Dave Novotny's six points. Beaudoin put in six for Hess's. Norm Helms put the icing on for Andy's with an eight point outbreak in the fourth quarter for a victory total of 54 to 31. Dave Novotny led Andy's with 14 points followed by Supernaw with 13 and Helms with 12. Joe Beaudoin scored over half of Hess's points with 16. It looks as if Andy's is going to be the team to beat.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE......The first meeting of the "See Your Toes" was held after the games and Bill Supernaw was re-elected president, Hank Wagner, vice president; Merrit Clarke, secretary; Sonny Wright, treasurer; and Terry Miller and Stan Johnson, scribes......One person contributed to our new collection box......Bill Lusk, Leroy Buchanan and Don Brown want the League to install a Geritol fountain next to the water fountain......Hal Hill was not at the games to lead cheers as he did last year.

Rayders Face PHS Friday

Alpena CC Takes Opener, 61 to 56

HIGH-FLYING Jerry Pease (13) attempts to get control of the ball in opening game of the season Friday against Alpena Catholic Central. This Friday, the Rayders meet Petoskey's Northmen in the CHS gym.

Charlevoix dropped its opening game of the basketball season to Alpena Catholic Central Friday night by a score of 61 to 56.

The game was close all the way, with the Rayders trailing by one point (13-12) at the end of the first quarter, two points at the half (28-26), four points after three quarters (46-42) and six points at the final whistle.

Charlevoix's second game of the season will be this Friday, Dec. 4, when the Rayders will meet Petoskey at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium. The JV game starts at 6:30 p.m. and the varsity game at 8 p.m.

High scorer for Charlevoix in the opener was Bruce Meggison who rang up 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws. He was followed closely by Jerry Pease who made seven field goals and two free throws.

Other scorers were Tim Carey (eight points on three field goals and two free throws); Bill Carey, (eight points on four field goals); Larry Potter, four points on free throws; and Kevin Swanson, three points on free throws.

High point men for Alpena Catholic Central were Sequin, 18; Dumsch, 16; McKay, 12; Clearwood, 7; Newbert, 4; Witkowski, 2; and Misiak, 2.

In the JV contest, Charlevoix also bowed to Alpena CC, 64 to 39. Rayder scorers were Boss, 12; Crain, 10; Simpson, 8; Doan, 4; Left, 3; and Parsel, 2.

CHARLEVOIX'S Bill Carey tries for a field goal early in the tilt with Alpena Catholic Central Friday night. The Alpena team bested the Rayders by six points.

Stover Creek Named Dealer For Crestliner

Stover Creek Marina, Stover Road, Charlevoix, has been named an authorized dealer of Crestliner boats and products.

Stover Creek Marina, who carries Evinrude engines, will sell 14 to 19 foot aluminum and fiberglass runabouts and 12 to 18 foot aluminum fishing boats. Included in the line are a selection of outboard and inboard-outboard boats, vee hulls, and tri-hulls and solid and open decks.

Crestliner boats have been manufactured for 25 years in Little Falls, Minn. The company is a division of North American Rockwell Corp., a primary contractor for the Apollo space program and manufacturer of Hatteras fiberglass yachts and Whit-Craft fiberglass houseboats.

progressive series of toys helps Baby develop well

Now children's education begins literally in the cradle, as soon as baby is three weeks old. Dr. Burton L. White, director of Harvard's Pre-School Project, after ten years of research with infants in home environments, has created and tested Playtentials, the first progressive series of toys designed to help baby discover himself weeks earlier, and develop the habit of being alert, inquisitive and confident.

In cooperation with Kenner who pioneered baby mobiles, Dr. White has created two groups of Playtentials. The first group of unique toys is designed to help infants between three weeks and three and one-half months reach their full potential. The second group of Playtentials is planned to match exactly the growing sensory abilities of babies between three and one-half months and six months or longer. Each of the Playtentials is planned to entertain the crib occupant, invites him to explore, and has a specific developmental goal.

Based on intensive research by Dr. White, the first series of Playtentials are positioned on a Dura-Stand so that they are precisely in baby's limited area of vision. For the three to ten week infant group, Dr. White recommends Bat and Feel toys and Faces and Forms Mobiles. These toys develop experience in sight, sound and touch and guide Baby's random hand motions into purposeful activity. From nine to fourteen weeks, Animal Grabbie is added to the Dura-Stand. Dr. White finds that infants from nine weeks to six months or older, enjoy looking at themselves in the unbreakable Baby Image Mirror, which he also positions on the Dura-Stand.

When baby is three and one-half months old, Dr. White suggests introducing him to a second series of Playtentials. This includes a color Play Windmill which teaches cause-and-effect action when he pulls the handle. There's a Handi-Pal with six little hands for Baby to discover and grasp. Play Chimes give him the opportunity to make things happen by reaching and lingering; his efforts produce soft, pleasing sounds. An alternate for positioning on the Dura-Stand is Trapeze Teether and Exerciser, which will help him strengthen his muscles by reaching, grasping and pulling. Between five and one-half and six months, Dr. White suggests Pull-Me-Up, a stirrup-like strap which attaches to the crib rail and helps baby learn to sit up. Thumpy, a bouncy jingly rabbit is designed to give gentle kick back action. Find-Me Booties are provided for use with Thumpy to make Baby quickly aware of his feet!

THE FIRST PROGRESSIVE SERIES OF TOYS to aid infant development, Playtentials, was created and tested by Dr. Burton L. White, director of Harvard University Pre-School Project, to help babies between 3 weeks and 6 months attain their full potential. Here Baby investigates a Bat and Feel Toy By Kenner.

GIVE A HOUSE GIFT

A new trend in Christmas gift-giving is gaining popularity with people in the know who welcome a switch from the old gift cliches. More and more shoppers are passing up the personal doo-dad for the tabletop radio or for the table itself, the cardigan sweater for the elegant silver candle snuffer and the proverbial black lace negligee for a dressing table or headboard. The 'in' gift of the 70's is the house gift, one that can be used and enjoyed by all.

It opens up a whole new area of Christmas gift possibilities. For her, there is china, crystal, linens, loveseats, lamps and pictures, to name just a few. And for him, consider gourmet cooking equipment, an easy chair, power tools, electric blanket, desk or desk accessories or the always welcome bar.

The choice is vast, and this year furniture as well as department stores are displaying intriguing house gifts from the country's leading manufacturers to please friends and family. The House Gift concept is such a growing trend, as predicted by House & Garden magazine three years ago, that many decorating authorities in furniture and gift departments are prepared to assist with selections. This year, a wide range of special items, many tagged as House & Garden House Gifts, will be on display.

The variety of selections will be vast, encompassing absolutely everything one can imagine, from mind-expanding works of art to zebra rugs and zithers. Look for House Gift Boutiques and Gift Centers in many stores. Here's where and how to discover hundreds of new, imaginative ways to say Merry Christmas to everyone on your gift list.

You Can't Go Wrong With a Gift Certificate from his favorite store

IF YOU'RE BORED with buying socks and ties for men and blouses and bracelets for ladies, this Christmas think in terms of a House Gift. Look for House & Garden House Gift Boutiques and Centers at your favorite stores, to make this year's Christmas more memorable. They were initiated by House & Garden Magazine.

Toys Shape Child's World; Choose Wisely

Toy buying can be downright frustrating!

Buying the right toy for the right age preschooler is a difficult task for parents and grandparents. But for someone with little experience with children or unfamiliar with toy lines, the myriad of merchandise in toy departments at holiday time can present quite a challenge.

Playskool Research, pioneer in developing educational playtools, cautions about the importance of selecting the right toy for each child on your Christmas list. Children during the preschool years grow faster and learn more than at any other time during their lives. Toys are the textbooks by which they learn, the tools of their work and play. That's why it is important to select the right toy for the right age child — to insure that the toy will be helpful to his growth and development.

To help the novice toy buyer or anyone going toy shopping this season, Playskool suggests making up a special "Toy Gift List" specifically for the youngsters to whom you will be playing Santa. In columns after each name note the child's age, general personality, special interests and achievement levels (such as reading ability, manual dexterity, etc.). Take your list with you when you go shopping and engage the assistance of a clerk to help you select the right toy for the right age child.

As a general guide for toy selection for pre-schoolers, Playskool Research offers these suggestions by age group.

THE INFANT. Baby's first toy should be a hanging object which he can follow with his eyes. Later he can grasp simple objects and respond to bright colors. A rattle, cube or ball is an ideal toy, but they should be large enough to prevent swallowing.

THE CRAWLER. He has enough muscular control to enjoy toys he can take apart and put together again, like stacking blocks and discs. Many a so-called "destructive" child at this age simply hasn't had toys that let him exercise this natural curiosity.

THE TODDLER. Push-pull toys help him exercise his muscles and learn coordination. Pounding sets, wooden trains and trucks are good toys for this age.

THE MIDDLE YEARS. This child especially likes toys that challenge him and give him a sense of accomplishment. He enjoys building. Puzzle plaques, parquetry blocks, drop boxes, wagons and blocks in varied shapes are especially good. He also likes the mobility of transportation toys designed for indoor play.

THE OLDER PRE-SCHOOLER. Developing rapidly physically and mentally, this child has greater self-confidence and needs toys that let him use and master new skills and imagination. Activity tables and play desks with double purpose crayon and magnetic boards provide hours of varied play. Pegboard sets, hammer and nail sets, toys that let him create villages and roadways have many long play values for this age.

More detailed guidelines for proper selection of toys for preschoolers are found in a booklet, "Playtools to Shape a Child's World," free on request from Playskool Research, Box 3431, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

hobby for everybody

Shopping for hobby model kits today is a revelation.

Where emphasis used to be on planes, cars and boats for boys in an age range from 8 to 14, kits are now being made for every age group and for both sexes — even for the pre-schooler whose developing coordination sometimes makes him appear to be all thumbs.

The unique array of colorful hobby kits to be seen in stores this year start with the cementless and pre-painted snap-together cartoon-type models. From there they jump into the class of highly-detailed automotive miniatures and even cater to the space-minded who critically examine every engineering aspect of lunar craft replicas.

Some of the best examples of the revolution in hobby kits are those designed by Monogram Models' designer, Tom Daniel. For instance, his imaginative Dune Rat, the latest in a series, is a fun-to-snap-together kit that will provide relaxation for anyone from 6 to 60.

Why are model hobby kits so appealing? Parents like them because they keep children fruitfully occupied; there is the value of extended play time because assembly work can be left standing for later attention; there is the proof of achievement; and Dad has the opportunity to work closely with his child.

imprisonment for no more than one year on the first offense and allows probation, parole or dismissal of charges at the discretion of the judge.

This law has effect only in federal cases, but final steps are now being taken in the Michigan legislature via House Bill 2153 to make similar revisions in the state law. HB 2153 has undergone several changes. The last changes made were in a recent Conference Committee of the House and Senate, in an attempt to come up with a version acceptable to both chambers.

Michigan may soon act to bring it's drug laws into line with the new Federal Drug Abuse Control Bill signed into law recently by President Nixon.

State Senator-elect Robert W. Davis says the new Drug Abuse Control Bill places more emphasis on apprehending and punishing drug pushers. Under the law, the crime of possessing marijuana is reclassified from a felony to a misdemeanor. The penalty for a misdemeanor is State Senator-elect Davis said that in the last meeting on Nov. 11 the House adopted the Conference Committee report by a nearly unanimous vote. The bill has now gone to the Senate with action on it expected to come during it's Dec. 9 session.

Bill 2153 as it is now written would reclassify marijuana from a narcotic to a dangerous drug and, in accordance with the new federal law, would change the crime of use from a felony to a misdemeanor. Simple possession is defined, according to the bill, as possession of 25 grams or less of marijuana. Anyone convicted of possession of more than 25 grams, or selling or dispensing of marijuana will still be guilty of a felony, and face the stiffer felony penalties.

"This legislation is expected to be more effective in helping law enforcement agencies and the courts control traffic in narcotics and dangerous drugs. The more realistic penalties are expected to increase convictions", said Davis, "and it is also expected to more effectively isolate the hard-core pushers and users from the "experimenters" or "occasional users" of illegal substances. Experience has proved courts and juries reluctant in many cases to impose unrealistically harsh penalties."

Terry Ormsby Takes Part In Maneuvers

Army Spec 5 Terry L. Ormsby, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Ormsby, 209 W. Hurlbut, Charlevoix, recently participated with some 11,000 troops in exercise Reforger II in Germany. He is a member of the 1st Infantry Division's 3rd Brigade, regularly stationed in Germany.

The "Big Red ONE" Division consists of three brigades, the 1st and 2nd Brigades are based at Ft. Riley, Kan., and the 3rd Brigade is permanently stationed in Augsburg, Germany.

In early October, members of the 1st and 2nd Brigades were flown to Germany to participate with the 3rd in the five-day training exercise along the Czechoslovakian border, during this annual operation, they were opposed by aggressor forces from the U.S. 3rd Infantry Division, regularly stationed in Germany, and the West German 35th Panzer Grenadier Brigade.

Despite the fact that only one-third of the division is permanently on-the-scene in Europe, the entire division is assigned to NATO. Exercise Reforger II is a test of the workability of the dual-base concept and the feasibility of partly defending Western Europe from stateside bases.

A similar exercise, Reforger I, was held in Germany in January 1969.

Spec. Ormsby, assigned to headquarters battery of the brigade's 5th Battalion, 32nd Artillery, entered the Army in April 1969, completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky., and was last stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla.

A 1966 graduate of Charlevoix High School, he attended Northwestern Michigan College.

His wife, Ellen, is with him in Germany.

County Reps in Lansing

Seven Charlevoix County commissioners are among 500 delegates from throughout the state attending the 72nd annual meeting of the Michigan Association of Counties at the Olds Plaza Hotel in Lansing Dec. 1 and 2.

The Charlevoix contingent includes Chairman John Kujawski, Barney Milstein, I. Lee Moerland, Kit Carson, Albert Kassin, Ira Davis and William Taylor.

Top experts were expected to be on hand to conduct seminars and answer questions concerning contemporary problems of county government.

Among them are HEW Assistant Secretary John Montgomery, state Sens. Harry A. DeMaso and Robert L. Richardson and Reps. George Montgomery and Donald Holbrook.

The seminars are concerned with welfare, law enforcement, taxation, district courts, county administration and environmental problems.

At the environmental seminar, Department of Natural Resources Director Ralph A. MacMullan and State Chamber of Commerce Counsel William A. Wickham are presenting the state and business views on this area of concern by counties, and what they can do about it.

Also under discussion is a proposed new charter county statute to allow county government to meet present day problems more effectively and efficiently.

The delegates also are electing new officers for 1971.

Women's Club Meets' Dec. 7

The Charlevoix Women's Club will meet in the glow of an old-fashioned Christmas tree Dec. 7 at 1:30 p.m. in the Congregational Church fellowship hall.

The tree will be decorated with ornaments of years past by Mrs. Clair Webster and other members of the Charles Dickens Study Group.

Members of six Charlevoix area Farm Bureaus will be guests.

Mrs. Arthur Wexstaff will give a talk on "Tangible Treasures" and Christmas Carols will be sung.

Current projects of the Women's Club include:

–A collection of trading stamps for Girls Town.

–A sale of homemade baked goods and candies. Headed by public health nurse Jeanne Miles, proceeds from the sale will go to the Community Christmas Project.

–The sale of UNICEF greeting cards, note paper and engagement calendars. Gift items and picture placemats also will be sold.

EUGENE MASON, center, lake trout coordinator for the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, has retired after 40 years with the Department of the Interior. He was presented a "meritorious service award", the department's second highest citation, at a retirement party Nov. 23 at the Weathervane Inn. With him are Harvey Willoughby (left), chief of the Division of Fish Hatcheries in Washington, D.C., and Ray Vaughn, regional supervisor of the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, headquartered at Minneapolis, Minn.

Eugene Mason Retires After 40 Years on Job

Eugene Mason was feted at a retirement party Nov. 23 at the Weathervane Inn after more than 40 years with the Department of the Interior's Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife.

Mason, who has made his home in Charlevoix for the past seven years, was lake trout coordinator, working as a liaison man between the federal government and the state Department of Natural Resources.

He was responsible, in large part, for the planting of more than 30 million lake trout in the Upper Great Lakes over the years.

Highlight of the retirement celebration was the presentation of a "Meritorious Service Award" to Mason by Harvey Willoughby, chief of the Interior Department's Division of Fish Hatcheries in Washington, D.C.

The award, the second highest citation offered by the Department, was signed by Secretary Walter Hickel.

Speakers at the celebration were Bob Scolfeld, assistant executive secretary of the Great Lakes Fisheries Commission; Brad Durling, in charge of hatcheries for the state Department of Natural Resources; John Lanenbach, assistant regional director in charge of operations for the U.S. Bureau for Fish and Wildlife; Ray Vaughn, regional supervisor for the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife; and Charlevoix Mayor William Fochtman.

Mason and his family moved Nov. 30 to Crawford, Nebr., where they will make their home.

Ballfield, Tennis Courts, Beach Gear Are Needed

Charlevoix's most immediate recreational needs are a second lighted softball field, improved beach playground areas (including new equipment) and construction of new tennis courts, Recreation Director Deano Davenport informed the City Council Nov. 23 in his annual report.

The report showed that a total of 86,662 persons took advantage of city recreational facilities during the summer of 1970.

On the active participation list were: swimming program, 320; softball program, 586; swimming races, 75; track and field day, 81; golf instruction, 43; and shuffleboard, 4,957, for a total of 6,062.

On the non-active participation list were: beaches, 55,100; softball spectators, 25,000; and special events, 500, for a total of 80,600.

Following is a breakdown of the various activities offered and the number of participants:

SOFTBALL

Slow Pitch, 8 teams, 120 participants; Fast Pitch, four teams, 60 participants; Junior, four teams 52 participants; Peanut, six teams, 108 participants; Kiwanis Youth, six teams, 122 participants; Womens, four teams, 60 participants; and Junior Miss, six teams, 64 participants.

RED CROSS SWIMMING INSTRUCTION

Non-swimmers, 89; beginners, 65; advanced beginners, 65; intermediate, 36; swimmers, 35; advanced swimmers, 12; and junior and senior life saving, 18.

Seventy-five youngsters took part in swimming races, including 42 boys and 33 girls; 81 participated in the Track and Field Meet, including 46 boys and 35 girls; and 43 enrolled in the golf school, including 28 youngsters and 15 adults.

Beach attendance figures show 22,850 visited the Lake Michigan Beach, 22,000 Depot Beach and 10,250 Ferry Beach.

Other Recreation Department operations include the golf course, weekly band concerts, the Senior Citizens Club, the skating rink, Mt. McSauba Ski Area, the Grant-st. sledding hill and the winter Basketball League.

Recreation expenses for the year came to $33,733.40, for the summer and winter programs, including salaries, utilities, band, heat, supplies, maintenance and equipment.

In 1968-69, the programs cost $28,471.34; in 1967-68, $24,708.97; in 1966-67, $23,814.70 and in 1965-66, $18,112.30.

The estimated recreational budget for 1970-71 is $34,400, including $27,200 for salaries, $1,225 for utilities, $1,800 for the band, $400 for heat, $850 for supplies, $2,025 for maintenance of equipment, buildings, ground and vehicles, $300 for tools and equipment and $600 miscellaneous.

In his report to the board of directors of the Charlevoix Community Chest last June, City Administrator Thomas G. Hanna said the cost of providing a recreational program for the City has increased 84.4 percent in the past five years. In 1969, he said, the cost of the program represented 30.8 percent of property tax revenue.

School Aides To Hear Talk On Retirement

Midnight Blaze Could Have Been Disasterous

The trouble with doing a good job consistently is that folks start to take you for granted.

A case in point is the Charlevoix Fire Department.

A week ago Sunday just before midnight, when all of the good firemen in town were in bed or ready for bed, the fire whistle sounded ominously above the roar of an 80 mile-per-hour wind off Lake Michigan.

Fire had broken out in the apartment above Staley's Hardware Store in downtown Charlevoix.

Now any fire is a serious matter. One downtown is worse. And a downtown fire with 80 mph winds is the worst of all.

Unless our firemen had been johnies-on-the spot, much of the downtown section could have gone up in flames. It has happened in other communities and it could have happened here.

But within minutes, Charlevoix's volunteer firemen were out in force, fighting a stubborn fire between the floor of the apartment and the ceiling of the hardware store.

Fortunately, damage was minimal because the fire was discovered in time and the firemen arrived in time. And they didn't leave until they were certain the blaze had been extinguished.

It is no fun to leave the comforts of home at midnight to grapple with fire hoses with freezing fingers in a blustery winter storm.

We are fortunate in Charlevoix to have a conscientious volunteer Fire Department willing to take on man's oldest enemy, wherever and whenever he appears.

Forests Endangered

Ecology Backfires As Insects Move In

Like so many of the noble ventures of mankind, the ecology movement may be backfiring, at least so far as our forests are concerned.

George C. Chcek, executive vice president of the American Forest Institute, reported last week that insects and disease, unchecked in the name of ecology, are becoming a serious threat to parks and wilderness areas.

Unless corrective measures are taken, the nation's future timber supply could be reduced, Cheek said.

In years past, insects and disease were controlled by means of chemicals such as DDT. But since DDT has become a no-no in ecological circles, hundreds of thousands of acres are imperiled.

Cheek said that some of the nation's largest insect infestations are within the boundaries or recreation areas, including Yellowstone National Park.

Control measures applied on commercial timberlands are banned in park areas, according to Cheek, on grounds that such controls interfere with natural processes and will destroy the character of the forest.

"The result is the destruction of the forest itself," he said. "This is a natural phenomenon, but the natural process of regeneration takes hundreds of years. Minor intervention by professional foresters can preserve the character of a forest indefinitely."

Aside from over 100,000 acres in Yellowstone Park, the endangered areas include 100,000 acres in the Boundary Waters Canoe area in Minnesota and "miles of insect-killed lodgepole pine" in the Chamberlain basin of the Idaho Primitive area.

"Even more serious are reports from foresters that a 15,000-acre insect infestation exists within the proposed Voyageurs National Park in Minnesota," Cheek said.

A spruce budworm infestation on the Kabetogama peninsula will defoliate the white spruce and balsam fir that give the area its heavy forest cover. A similar outbreak in 1958 and 1959 was successfully controlled by a cooperative government-industry spraying program, but as a national park there would be no attempt at control.

Cheek maintains it is inconsistent to permit insects to ravage forests unchecked, when fires are suppressed.

"The disaster is the same whether produced by insects of fire," he said. "Insects just do their work more quietly and more slowly."

He said a forest killed by insects becomes "an impassable tinderbox that explodes into forest that use the diseased area as a springboard to the healthy forest."

Although we only recently have become aware of the potential danger of wildlife, water supplies and the human population from the uncontrolled use of chemical pesticides, it seems that the "minor intervention by professional foresters", as suggested by Cheek, might be in order to save our national park forests.

Courier Welcomes Two New Businesses

If new business is to be regarded as a sign of economic progress, Charlevoix appears to be on the move.

Two new businesses have opened in the downtown section in the past two weeks.

Duane Taylor has opened a new insurance agency, affiliated with Farm Bureau, on Antrim-st. and Dick and Sharon Oestrike have opened their new Portside Sports shop on Bridge-st.

The launching of a new business is an exciting time in the lives of the proprietors, since it is something that usually happens only once in a lifetime—if at all.

Securing a location, redecorating, moving in new furniture and fixtures, ordering and stocking merchandise you hope your customers will like, hanging up a shingle and, finally, announcing that you are open for business.

The Courier wishes Duane Taylor and the Oestrikes well in their new ventures.

It will be fun to watch them grow with Charlevoix.

Quotable Quotes

"A free press stands as one ot the great interpreters between government and the people. To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves." — Justice George Sutherland.

"Given a free press, we may defy open or insidious enemies of liberty. It instructs the public mind and animates the spirit of patriotism. Its loud voice suppresses everything which would raise itselt against the public liberty, and is blasting rebuke causes incipient despotism to perish in the bud." — Daniel Webster.

Clockwise

Papoose Caboose

By BOB CLOCK

If our youngest daughter, Allison, turns out to be a shoplifter, don't blame me. Blame my wife.

Or better still, blame all of those ancient civilizations which came up with the idea that it is somehow easier to carry a youngster on the back than in the arms.

Shortly after Allison arrived, Judy was thumbing through a Sears catalogue and came across an amazing contraption made of aluminum and canvas designed to carry a baby on the back, papoose-style.

It didn't matter that we already had a fine, workable stroller, ready to roll into action at a moment's notice. Or that Allison was the proud owner of a spanking new Canadian-made pram, with wire wheels, collapsible hood and heavy import duties.

No sir. Allison wouldn't be happy until she could ride downtown astride daddy's aching back.

To be honest about it, our jim-dandy baby-carrier didn't work half bad when Allison weighed 10 or 12 pounds. You hardly knew she was there. But the blasted thing proved to be so convenient that we have continued to use it, even though the cargo now weighs 27 pounds and has developed a mind of its own.

When I say it is convenient, mind you, I mean that it is convenient for Judy and the older kids, since once Allison is safely ensconced on my back they can forget about her and go about their business. I'm the one who has to bear the ultimate burden, wondering what in the world she is doing back there.

Getting her in the saddle is no mean trick for either of us. I have never quite gotten over the embarrassment of having to strap myself into the rig in a public parking lot, and then kneel down on the pavement like a camel while Judy deposits the baby into the canvas seat.

Standing up again is equally embarrassing, because my knees, unaccustomed to the added weight, have a tendency to snap and crackle like bowls of rice krispies.

However, once we start walking down the sidewalk I regain some of my composure, although I have to keep a sharp lookout for patches of ice. Allison would never forgive me if I landed on her.

The real problem developes when we enter a store, particularly one with narrow aisles. This is where the shoplifting comes in. From my vantage point, I am unable to see the baby, riding high, wide and handsome behind with both hands free to examine the merchandise as it slides past her.

The other day we were in a department store in Soo Ste. Marie, Ont., when I suddenly remembered that I had forgotten to put money in the parking meter. Judy still had some browsing to do, I told her I would run out to the car, with Allison on my back, to deposit a few coins.

Going down the aisles to the main entrance I felt myself listing strangely from one side to the other. Then I realized that Allison must be up to something. So I doubled back and asked Judy what Allison had latched onto.

In one hand was some sort of brooch from a jewelry display. In the other was a barrette that appeared to have been plucked from someone's hair.

I hurridly returned to the jewelry counter and replaced the brooch, in hopes that no one would see me, and then scoured for store for some disheveled woman who looked as though she had recently been relieved of a barrette. I couldn't find one, so I returned the barrette to the barrette counter.

It is even more frightening to go into a store where there is expensive china and glassware on display. During one shopping trip last Christmas, Allison picked up a Spode china teapot for examination, unbeknownst to me. The clerk caught her with it just as she was getting ready to heave it into a display ot Wedgewood.

I don't know which culture originated the custom of carrying babies on the back, but I do know that it is still practiced in many countries.

When I first arrived in Japan with the U.S. Army, I was alarmed at the number of hunch-backed men and women with two heads I saw every day on the streets. I thought they were Siamese twins.

Of course, it turned out that the "hunch" and the second head belonged to baby-san, riding on mama or daddy's back and covered by mama or daddy's kimono.

On second thought, maybe the kimono is the secret to successful papoosing. If a kid if wrapped up in a half-mile of yard goods, it's little hands aren't free to pick and plunder.

Dummy's a Champ

By Jim Fitzgerald

A bunch of the girls were whining it up at the beauty salon, competing for the honor of being married to the most helpless man.

"I won again," my wife reported later. "I'm so ashamed."

She's really proud. After all, there's some distinction in being married to the champion dummy, rather than to just a mediocre dummy. It's something like bragging about your operation. The nearer to death you come, the louder you can brag.

When there is something in the house that needs fixing, I am nearer to death than any other husband in the world.

Let me tell you about my latest triumph, the one that won the beauty salon contest and sent the losers home grumbling about the unfairness of being married to an ordinary jerk but having your hair done at the same time as the wife of Superjerk.

There was a leak in the humidifier, or the dehumidifier, I'm never sure which is which. I could hear it dripping when the basement door was open. My wife asked me to do something about it.

I shut the basement door.

"How do you know you can't fix it if you won't even go down and look at it," my wife asked.

"I can tell by the sound," I explained. "That's not really a drip; it's a plop. Those are the worst kind. Remember when I tried to fix a plop in the shower and a plop of water got up my nose and I sneezed and hit my head on the shower door and cracked it? I'm not going near that plop in the basement."

Her next move, as usual, was to ask if I would call the repairman. I begged off, as usual, telling her my work schedule was so tight I couldn't make a non-business phone call for at least 18 months.

I was lying, of course. I never call repairmen because I always end up talking to their wives, or their secretaries. And it is embarrassing to have women ask me so many questions I can't answer. For instance, I always say humidifier instead of dehumidifier and the woman asks how come I'm running a humidifier at the wrong time of year? And I always hang up and go snarl at my wife.

Anyway, my wife called the repairman and now we near the most exciting part of this award-winning story. The repairman knocked on the back door Saturday morning. I was the only one home. But I was busy resting so I didn't let him in.

Honest, I thought it was probably one ot my kids' friends, or a neighbor wanting to borrow something I wouldn't be able to find. I knew it was nobody I wanted to see so I let him knock until he got tired and left.

When my wife got home, and heard it was still plopping in the basement, she opened an investigation. She got me to admit about the unanswered door. She phoned everyone in the neighborhood and got them to admit they hadn't come aknocking, aknocking on my door, nevermore.

"It has to be the repairman," she said. "You not only won't fix anything, you not only won't phone a repairman, but you won't even let the repairman inside the house after I phone him."

"What did you say?" I asked. "I can't hear you with all that plop plopping going on."

Anyway, she could hardly wait to get to the beauty parlor and show off.

Onward and Upward, girls.

Fineout Tells CWA Standed on Contract

Dear Editor:

In response to a recently published report outlining the City's position the Communications Workers of America, AFL-CIO, the certified bargaining representative for the employes of the City of Charlevoix, finds it necessary to clarify its position regarding our continued efforts to negotiate a contract for those we are privileged to represent.

Our efforts to accomplish these aims go back to Oct. 17, 1969, at which time we were certified by the State Employment Relations Commission to represent all the employes of the City of Charlevoix but not to include supervisors. This was the result of formal hearings to first establish who would be eligible to be in the union, thus allowing them to participate in the election and the democratic election itself. All these proceedings were conducted by the State Employment Relations Commission.

Following that election, the city, instead of sitting down with our union and negotiating a responsible working agreement, filed a petition before the State Employment Relations Commission requesting that our election be thrown out. Their position for having taken this action was — due to a state law providing for compulsory arbitration for policemen and firemen, such employes should not be permitted to be covered by the same working agreement with other City employees. What is most ironic about that position is that prior to the election, the city agreed that such employes would be covered by the same working agreement and the document covering that matter was signed by the city on Sept. 11, 1969.

After extensive proceedings, the State Employment Relations Commission rendered an opinion which instructed the city that the election would not be thrown out. Their decision was based on the fact that the union conducted itself in good faith.

Not satisfied with that opinion, the city appealed that decision to the State Court of Appeals. Again, following long and expensive proceedings, an opinion came down supporting the union's position.

At long last the union felt it was in a position to negotiate a responsible contract with the city. We contacted them for purpose of establishing a mutual time and place for the start of our negotiations and upon arrival at that meeting, the city instructed us that if we did not agree to give them what they had failed to acquire through the courts, they would refuse to bargain with us. We were both shocked and amazed when confronted with this flagrant attitude towards the employes of the City of Charlevoix and the Courts of this State.

Faced with this harsh and unnecessary ultimatum, our International Representative, R. Stanley Powell, met with the employes of the city to explain the city's position. He expressed his willingness to return to the bargaining table and, if necessary, to alter our position regarding whether or not the policemen and firemen would be covered under the same working agreement but that any change in our position would depend upon knowing approximately what the contract or contracts might contain.

Having taken this position with the concurrence of the city employes, Mr. Powell contacted the city expressing his desire to return to the bargaining table with that understanding. The city responded to this effort of good will in a most negative manner. The city told Mr. Powell that he would have to relinquish that which had been preserved by the courts before they would discuss any other matters before them. The city further advised Mr. Powell that in absence of his giving up this issue, he could feel free to file an unfair labor practice charge.

Confronted with such irresponsible behavior as this, makes the union's task a most difficult one. Our desire from the outset was to negotiate a contract that would be complementary to all parties concerned, both the employes and the city. This will continue to be our upper most desire in spite of the needless roadblocks which face us.

The union has also taken the position that prior to its filing any unfair labor practice charge it will contact the Employment Relations Commission for purposes of conducting a meeting to break this impasse. It will continue to be our hope that efforts such as this will eliminate the need for any further litigation.

Hungry Hyenas Keep Ethiopian Town Clean

In the Ethiopian city of Harar, the garbage collectors have voracious appetites.

They are hyenas, and without them the country's fourth largest city would soon be unlivable and reeking with filth.

Every night the ancient city gates are left open and the hyenas silently slink in with the shadows. They prowl the streets, devouring the garbage left for them outside tightly shut doors.

Mothers are careful to see that their children are safely at home by nightfall. In Harar, only the most foolhardy sleep outside despite the hot African nights, and anyone walking the streets alone hurries and keeps his eyes open.

HYENAS STAR

The hyenas star in one sequence of the National Geographic Society's latest color documentary, "Ethiopia: The Hidden Kingdom," to be shown on the CBS Television Network Dec. 2.

Despite his questionable reputation as a coward, the spotted hyena, Crocuta crocuta, is no one to trifle with either in dark or daylight.

Weighing up to 130 pounds, he can run 40 miles an hour. His heroic digestive system is more than matched by his jaws, reportedly with the greatest crushing power of any animal and capable of crunching the thighbone of a lion.

YEARLY GIFT

Harar has an unusual arrangement with its hyenas, as one city resident relates:

"People here are at ease with the hyenas, and the hyenas with the people. We give the hyenas a large present every year, for instance a dead cow, and if they accept it, they will not harm anyone. But if they should refuse our gift, we know they would give us trouble."

The hyenas are appreciated by the city, if not loved. But one man in Harar is their friend, and every night they hunt him out.

HYENA-MAN

He is the hyena-man of Harar, and he attracts the city's bolder tourists as well. He waits by the walls that have surrounded Harar since the Portuguese and Turkish conquests more than 200 years ago.

The hyena-man sits on the ground and lights a lantern. The darkness before him begins to glow with eyes.

He calls out a name, for he has names for many of them, and a hyena hesitates, then steals forward to snap up an outstretched handout and quickly retreat. Gradually more skulk into view and soon the hyena-man faces a half dozen, their ears cocked in mouth-watering anticipation.

Sometimes he fearlessly holds a piece of meat in his teeth, allowing a hyena to snatch it from him.

Zoologists recently have discovered the hyena is anything but the coward he has been made out to be. Instead, he is an efficient and ruthless nocturnal hunter who sometimes may force even the king of beasts, the lion, to turn tail.

Some say that may account for the hyena's fiendish laughter.

Water Line Extension Denied

The Charlevoix City Council Nov. 24:

–Told City Superintendent Thomas Hanna to notify Frank Boss that the embargo on piping water outside of the city is still in effect. Boss had asked for extension of a water main to his property on U.S. 31 north to permit construction of an overnight camper park on the Lake Michigan shore below the Lake Terrace Mobile Court. City Attorney John Michael said there is some doubt whether construction of such a facility would be permitted under deed restrictions stipulating that the trailer park be operated on a 12-month basis.

–Learned from Michigan that the state Treasury Department has refused to accept the plat of Westwood Subdivision on the South Side because Charlevoix does not have a subdivision control ordinance. Michael called the Treasury Department action "arbitrary and capricious" in light of the fact that all of the provisions of a subdivision control act are incorporated in the city's present zoning ordinance and the state plat act. He said the city would protest the plat denial to state Rep. Robert W. Davis and state Sen. Thomas Schweigert. Hanna pointed out that $23,000 of water main and sewer line already has been laid in the proposed subdivision. The plat is being developed by Richard Way of Charlevoix.

–Accepted a report by the City Recreation Department. Alderman Conrad Klooster wondered why the Municipal Golf Course showed less revenue than the year before, when 2,000 more people teed-off.

–Agreed to advertise for a new car to be used by the city superintendent and police. Bids will be opened Dec. 21.

–Heard a request from young hockey players, relayed by Alderman Jack Mol, that the city not sand Burns-st. in the area of the Heise home this winter so that they will have a place to play hockey. No action was taken.

–Learned from Hanna that the state Finance Commission will not give final approval to the sewage plant project until the total amount of financing from local, state and federal sources is secured. City voters approved $700,000 in general obligation bonds for the $1.5 million project in the Nov. 3 election. The state will pay 45 percent of the total cost and the federal government five percent. However, the state and federal grants were based on a lower estimated cost. Hanna anticipates that the state Water Resources Commission will increase its ante after the bids are in. He said the bond market is holding well, with interest just over five percent.

–Learned that someone from the city will probably have to go to New York City in the near future with information relative to the city's financial status. The city had hoped that someone from Moodys credit rating service could come to Charlevoix to get the needed information. But the firm apparently feels it can establish Charlevoix's credit rating more objectively from a distance, fearing a representative visiting the city would be subject to undue influences.

--Paid bills totaling $85,671.08.

–Agreed not to renew the option on power generating equipment at the Electric Plant formerly held by Hopco Engine Service of Jackson. The option expired Nov. 20.

Engineers Hope to Save Channel Bank accompanied by Michael Danivich, chief of construction operations for the district; Paul Bailey, survey engineer; and Allan Aaron, chief counsel for the district.

The state Highway Department was particularly concerned about the wash-out next to the bridge. Thomas Wiseman of the department's Cadillac office visited the site Nov. 23 and ordered a work crew into town the following day to plug the hole.

The highway employes used county Road Commission equipment to lift tons of rock and fill dirt over the bridge railing to fill the excavation. The work was completed Friday.

City Superintendent Thomas Hanna told the City Council Nov. 23 that he suspects that the new steel revetments along most of the channel have complicated the problem, since they tend to funnel Lake Michigan swells down Pine River Channel without interference.

The council told him to notify Cong. Philip Ruppe of the city's concern.

The Corps of Engineers was relieved of responsibility for maintaining the section of seawall fronting the Weathervane Inn after the former owner, the Argo Milling Co., persisted in using the log seawall as a dock. However, Congress recently appropriated $300,000 to rebuild that section of the channel wall.

MRS. WILLIAM (Angie) Supernaw will retire the end of December after 27 years with the Charlevoix Agency. Here she goes over some last minute details with Dick Martin, agency manager. The agency will hold open house for Mrs. Supernaw at its Bridge-st. office Friday, Dec. 11.

Chamber Prods City to Build More Boat Slips in Harbor

To Meet in January To Pool Information

Although Charlevoix's yacht harbor is battened down for the winter, the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce is still plugging for expanded docking facilities for boats.

A contingent of C of C members attended Monday night's city council meeting to ask what action is planned by the city and what the chamber can do to help.

Several months ago, the chamber suggested that the city relinquish control of the yacht harbor to the chamber, which would then undertake improvements financed by a loan from the city.

The plan called for constructing two floating finger piers into Round Lake, each of which would accommodate dozens of additional pleasure craft.

The loan would be repaid from the rental of docking space.

At that time, Chamber of Commerce Manager, Dick Oestrike pointed out that Charlevoix is losing a great amount of tourist business to other communities because many boats have to be turned away during the summer months simply because there is no place to put them. He pointed out the progress being made by nearby communities to their yacht harbors, namely Petoskey, Northport and Rogers City.

The council tabled the original Chamber proposal and no action was taken.

THE LUEDTKE Engineering Co. piledriver is busy in Pine River Channel again this week, dumping a mountain of crushed stone along the north bank which was severely damaged by wind-whipped waves two weeks ago. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers hopes the stone will save the bank until a permanent revetment is constructed in the spring. The stone was delivered by freighter Friday night and deposited on the south bank of the channel.

Mrs. Supernaw Turns Parttime Job Into Career

Mrs. William I. (Angie) Supernaw will retire the end of December after more than 27 years with the Charlevoix Agency.

Mrs. Supernaw joined the insurance firm as a parttime employe in December of 1943 when the business was called Bridge and Hawley, owned by E.D. (Pat) Hawley and the late Robert Bridge.

The firm had just purchased the Sloan Agency and needed extra parttime help.

Mrs. Supernaw was happy to land a three-day-a-week job, since husband, Bill, had recently entered the service.

However, the business kept growing and Mrs. Supernaw's services were soon required fulltime.

Until this summer, the business was located in the Charlevoix County State Bank, first in a small back room and later upstairs in the directors' room. This year, the office moved across the street to the quaint, English-style building owned by Earl Young.

Since Mrs. Supernaw joined the firm, the Charlevoix Agency has acquired the Bill Carey Agency, the Livingston Agency and the Max Novak Agency.

Mrs. Supernaw plans to start her retirement with a trip to Florida where she and her husband have purchased two lots at Howey-in-the-Hills, near Orlando. Ten other Charlevoix area families also have purchased property in Howey-in-the Hills, which is noted for its five golf courses.

They will return the end of April to their cottage at Ironton. Supernaw retired last year from the Charlevoix Post Office.

The Supernaws have two sons. Scott is manager of marketing for Trans-World Airlines in New York City and Sam is an auditor with Hill and Woodcock of Petoskey. They also have three grandsons to keep them busy in retirement.

The Charlevoix Agency will host an open house for Mrs. Supernaw all day Friday, Dec. 11, at the Bridge-st. office, according to manager Dick Martin.

Christmas Concert Set for Dec. 16

A Christmas Concert sponsored by the Charlevoix Parent-Teachers Organization of Charlevoix will be presented Wednesday, Dec. 16, at the Charlevoix High School gymnasium.

Taking part will be the Charlevoix Concert Band and the Charlevoix Symphony Band, both directed by C.A. Odmark, supervisor of music for Charlevoix Public Schools.

The concert will take the place of the regular December meeting of the Charlevoix PTO, according to Rev. Duane Imig, organization president. There will be no admission charge, and all residents of the Charlevoix area are invited to attend, whether or not they belong to the PTO.

Made up of 9th and 10th graders, the Charlevoix Concert Band will open the program with a group of selections, including "March Onward, Christian Soldiers" by Hayes, "The Little Irish Suite" by Jackson, "Children's Prayer" by Humperdinck, and two Christmas numbers, "The Christmas Party" by Walters and "Jingle Bells Rhapsody" by Pierpont.

After a short intermission, the Symphony Band will continue the program. Featured will be a number new to the repertoire of the Charlevoix Band, "Fantasia on Dixie" arranged by Carmen Dragon.

Also featured will be the Bach Chorale "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring", the Spanish march "Amperite Roca" by Texidor, "Prelude to LaTraviata" by Verdi, arranged by Leonard Falcone, director-emeritus of the Michigan State University Bands, "Christmas Festival" by Leroy Anderson and "White Christmas" by Irving Berlin and the Sousa march "Pride of the Wolverines."

Although the band has had only three weeks of concert rehearsal following the football marching season, the members show great promise for the 1970-71 season, according to Odmark.

After all, what would Christmas be without Pongo under the tree?

Congregational Yule Program This Thursday

The Women's Fellowship of the Charlevoix Congregational Church will sponsor a program of Christmas music by the church choir at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 10.

The program will include "Christmas Day" by Holst, "Bethlehem Night" by Warrell, "The Shepherd's Story" by Dickenson, "Little Drummer Boy", "The Snow Lay on the Ground" and selections from Handel's Messiah, including "And the Glory of the Lord" and the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Following the program, refreshments will be served by the fellowship in the new church hall.

City Officials Meet On Hampton Ruling

Mayor William Fochtman, City Attorney John Michael, City Superintendent Thomas Hanna and Petoskey attorney Martin Breightner were expected to meet in Charlevoix Tuesday, Dec. 10, to implement recommendations by Circuit Judge Stuart Hoffius of Grand Rapids relative to the Hampton Village Special Assessment.

Three Eaton-st. residents who must share the cost of the assessment for improvements to the adjoining subdivision appeared at the city council meeting Monday night to determine what action the city plans to take. They are Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Juilleret and Robert Cook.

The assessment was protested in court by the Juillerets, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vogler, Mr. and Mrs. Carl O. Olson and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wojan, Mr. and Mrs. Lester McElhose, all property owners on Eaton-st.

In his opinion filed last week, Judge Hoffius:

–Upheld the validity of the special assessment;

–Cleared attorney Michael of any alleged "conflict of interest" in dealings between developer James Richie and the city; and –Declared the improvements (roadway) in Hampton Village a benefit to the Eaton-st. property, whether or not the Eatonites use the road at present.

However, Judge Hoffius said the assessments on the Eaton-st. lots are too high for the benefits to be derived and ordered the city to substitute a new assessment "prepared on the basis of the benefits received by each parcel of land within the assessment district in accordance with the principles set forth in this opinion."

Judge Hoffius pointed out that it originally had been anticipated that the Eaton-st. residents would pay only one-seventh of the cost of approvements, which totaled approximately $22,000.

"However, when the assessments were finally made, more that one-fourth of the assessment was to be paid by Eaton's Addition property owners and less than three-fourths to be paid by the Hampton Village property owners...This assessment was substantially out of proportion for the benefits attributed to Eaton's Addition. This inequity requires modification by the assessing authority."

Judge Hoffius also ordered the city to assess itself for improvements to property acquired from Cities Service in the course of the development.

Chest Drive Near Top

John Lachman, president of the Charlevoix Community Chest, reports that the 1970 campaign has reached approximately 95 percent of its goal of $21,014.

Lachman said more money is still coming in and he is confident that the goal will be reached before the end of the year.

"Right now, it looks as though we will be able to meet our commitments and expenses," Lachman said.

He said campaign coffers have been augmented from donations in the Special Gifts Division, including "one substantial donation" from a summer resident.

The money will be used to help support 11 local health, welfare and community service organizations and 36 state and national agencies, via the Michigan United Fund.

Local agencies benefitting are the Mt. McSauba ski area, the city recreation program, the Charlevoix Association for Retarded Children, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Michigan Children's Aid, the Salvation Army, the Charlevoix County chapter of the American Red Cross, Charlevoix Hospital, the Charlevoix Nurses Association and the Charlevoix County Big Brothers Association.

Shops to Stay Open Till 9 As of Dec. 16

To accommodate shoppers, most of Charlevoix's downtown business places will be open until 9 p.m. from Dec. 16 until Dec. 23, according to Dick Oestrike, manager of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber also has designated two special nights for men and women.

Wednesday, Dec. 16, will be "Ladies Night" in Charlevoix. All of the women in the area are cordially invited to come downtown and leave their husbands at home, or at the bowling alley.

Thursday, Dec. 17 is "Stag Night." Shop owners and salespeople will give special assistance to male shoppers in choosing gifts for their better halves.

Oestrike reports that all stores still have an excellent stock of Christmas merchandise on the shelves.

Capt. John Roen, 83, who built a Great Lakes shipping empire that was started in northern Michigan, died Sunday at Sturgeon Bay, Wisc., where he had lived for the past 40 years.

Capt. John Roen

Funeral services were to be held at the Davis Mortuary in Sturgeon Bay at 10:30 a.m. today (Wednesday) with burial in a Sturgeon Bay cemetery.

Born in Tysse, Norway, Oct. 20, 1887, Roen came to the United States on borrowed money in 1906, settling in northern Michigan where he became associated with the late Gus Mielke who owned a sawmill on Beaver Island.

They logged during the winter and hauled fruit and pulpwood to ports on the Great Lakes.

He started his shipping empire in Charlevoix where he built his first boat, the Marquis Roen, a small freighter, in 1920. Later he acquired the freighter, the Fred W. Green, and converted it to a self-unloader, hauling gravel and stones on the Great Lakes.

Charlevoix was the homeport of the Green until 1931 when he moved his operation to Sturgeon Bay where he built the Roen Steamship Co., the Roen Transportation Co. and the Sturgeon Bay Shipyard and Drydock Co. The latter was sold in recent years.

His interests also included the Charlevoix Transit Co. with headquarters in Boston. His tugs, among the most powerful in the Great Lakes, were used to haul barges built from converted car ferries. Four tugs bore his name and another was the Purvis, all of which had visited Charlevoix

Snowmobilers Reminded Of Golf Course Rules

With the snowmobile season under way, City Superintendent Thomas Hanna has issued a reminder on regulations governing the operation of vehicles on the Charlevoix Golf Course for recreational purposes:

1. No snowmobiles of any type, or at any time, are allowed in the vicinity of the 6th green, the area bounded by the Woodshed property, Division-st., Mercer-blvd. and Petoskey-ave.

2. No snowmobiles, or other vehicles, are allowed on any of the nine playing greens or their fringe areas; or on the practice green or its fringe area, at any time. All posted signs are to be obeyed at all times. All man-made obstructions are to be avoided at all times.

3. No vehicles are allowed on the golf course at any time, except snowmobiles, and then only when there is a minimum of four (4) inches of snow on the ground, and between the hours of 8 a.m. and 11 p.m.

4. This action is being taken to enable use of a public facility by citizens of the community, on a trial basis only. Any abuse of the privilege will result in closing of the entire facility for use by snowmobiles.

5. No racing or contests will be allowed on the Golf Course.

6. Snowmobiles are allowed only when the orange pennants fly on the flag pole and on the greenskeeper's building.

Thin Ice Can Kill, Police Warn

State Police Director Lt. Col. Melvin G. Kaufman coupled a warning about early winter thin ice dangers with a report that Michigan's 685 water accidents this year have already claimed 271 lives and injured 285 other persons.

Four of those deaths were attributed to falls through ice earlier this year while another 34 fatalities resulted from various falls into water.

Kaufman said early winter ice too often may look stronger than it really is. To safely bear the weight of humans, ice should be three to four inches thick. He urged parents to be especially vigilant in cautioning children about ice dangers.

Safety precautions also should be observed by those persons who use powered sleds or other vehicles on ice surfaces.

Equally important should be provisions for rescue in event of accident where ice or water activity is involved, Kaufman said.

The state's water accident total for the first 11 months this year is seven more than the 678 in the comparable period in 1969. Deaths are down by 68 compared with 339 in this time last year while the number of injured is up by 18.

Most of the state's 11-month toll of lives involved swimmers and waders, with 136 of these deaths reported. Other drownings involved 36 boat passengers and an equal number of boat operators. Water accident deaths also included five persons who attempted to rescue others.

Odmark Hears Son Play With Army Band

Charlevoix High School music instructor Clarence Odmark attended the annual convention of the American School Band Directors Association (ASBDA) at the Pittsburgh-Hilton Hotel in Pittsburgh Nov. 27 to 30.

Main speaker was Meredith Willson, who wrote the music for "Music Man." Willson discussed his days with the John Philip Sousa band in the early 1920's.

Highlight of the convention was a concert by the 110-member U.S. Army Band from Ft. Myer, Va., of which Odmark's son, Robert, is a member. He played first French horn for the concert.

The ASBDA is an invitational professional organization composed of 44 band directors from all parts of the United States.

PIANIST Charlotte Ross has arranged a program at the First State Bank Sunday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m., featuring the work of her piano students and a motion picture showing how a piano is constructed. Miss Ross plays Friday and Saturday nights at the Weathervane Inn.

New Pesticide To Cut Chance Of Pollution

A new pesticide spraying technique promises to reduce chances of environmental pollution.

And it will help growers do a more effective and economical spraying job.

The technique controls the size of insecticide spray particles, allowing growers to more thoroughly cover plants while keeping drift to a minimum, reports Dr. A.M. Howitt, MSU fruit entomologist.

MSU and Beemer Engineering, Philadelphia, developed the "controlled porosity" system that uses interchangeable drums (sleeves) for spray units. The spray material is put in the drums and squeezed out through pores so that droplet size is controlled.

The machinery will allow growers to spray ultra low volume concentrates flowable (suspension) materials or wettable powders.

"We've had outstanding success with this system for controlling pests that attack small fruits and tree fruits."

200 CLASSES

Western Michigan University's program of Continuing Education each year offers approximately 200 classes in sixteen counties of Southwestern Michigan.

Movie Will Depict Making of a Piano

A piano-movie lecture featuring the film "Hands of the Artist" will be presented Sunday, Dec. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the community room of the First State Bank, State-st. and Clinton-st.

The program has been arranged by Charlotte Ross of Oden who teaches piano in Charlevoix and plays every Friday and Saturday evening in the cocktail lounge of the Weatehervane Inn.

The film, which was produced by the Baldwin Piano Co. and released by Smiley Brothers of Detroit, depicts the careful craftsmanship that goes into the building of pianos and organs.

Following the film, a number of Miss Ross' students will play piano selections. The group includes Kristine and Mark Lignell, Cindy and Holly Richardson, Terry and Shari Mol, Mike Cohrs, Pamela Fochtman, Barbara Swanson, Lisa Redeker and Wendy Wright.

An "afterglow" will follow the musical program, with refreshments served by Mrs. John Lignell, Mrs. Byron Wright and Miss Nancy Fochtman, hostesses.

A native of Detroit, Miss Ross moved to northern Michigan last year, settling in Oden.

While in Detroit she was on the faculty of the Michigan Conservatory of Music and served as the only woman member on the board of directors of the Detroit Federation of Musicians.

She also was the founder and first president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Detroit Federation of Musicians.

As a pianist, Miss Ross has played at most of the major clubs and hotels in Detroit. She also has appeared at the Perry-Davis Hotel in Petoskey, the Colonial Inn in Harbor Springs, the Wabun Lodge at Oscoda and the Kings Gateway in Lake of Lakes, Wisc. She has played at the Weathervane Inn for the past year.

Miss Ross says she decided to move to northern Michigan 18 years ago during her first visit to the Petoskey area.

"I came into town on U.S. 131 and when I reached the top of the hill and caught a glimpse of Little Traverse Bay I said to myself, 'This is it!'," she recalls.

At present Miss Ross has 40 piano students in Charlevoix and is considering making her home here.

The piano to be used in Sunday's program has been loaned by the Hanna Music Co. of Petoskey.

FHA Explains Program To Spur Home Building

The supply of modern housing in Charlevoix County may be expanded through a new cooperative effort with private industry, Ernest C. Schuette, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration, reports.

From now on, builders, developers and realtors in the home building and financing fields can work directly with the prospective borrower "packaged" applications for rural housing loans, Schuette said.

"Participation in the packaging program, he added, will be limited to those who can provide all the necessary information about the home, assure its delivery at a specified price, and can work directly with the applicant family.

"The first step for a prospective packager is to meet with the FHA county supervisor to obtain information about eligibility requirements for a loan and the type and cost of homes the agency can appropriately finance," Schuette said.

He explained that the packager will assemble reliable information on the applicant and the home he wants to buy, build or improve. They will submit the data on forms supplied through the local Farmers Home Administration office at Box 315, 110 Grove-st. in Bellaire. When the information about the building and applicant is complete, the loan can be approved and funds made available by the FHA.

Families residing in communities of 5,500 population or under are eligible to apply for FHA loans. They must be unable to obtain adequate credit from private sources. Approved borrowers receive direct financing through FHA.

The county supervisor said a briefing session for interested builders, developers and realtors will be held at 1 p.m. on December 16 at the First State Bank in Charlevoix.

In general, he explained, the family must lack decent, safe and sanitary housing, must be unable to obtain credit from other sources and must have sufficient income to repay the loan, pay taxes and insurance, maintain the house and meet other living expenses. Family income, however, may not exceed limits established by FHA.

The county supervisor said loans may be made to farmowners, nonfarm tract owners, rural residents or nonrural residents with low to moderate incomes who work in a rural area. The home may be on a farm, in open country or in towns under 5,500 population that are rural in character and not adjacent to an urban area.

"Each packager should understand that final action cannot be taken on applications until all required information has been sub-

Library Notes

This week's column will be devoted to new titles recommended and available in the library for young teenagers who like to read and have a variety of interests.

"When Jays Fly to Barbmo" by Margaret Balderson is the story about the German invasion of Norway in 1940. Fourteen-year-old Ingeborg suddenly finds herself with a heavy weight of responsibility. This is the story of the courageous young girl who, with her survival as a challenger, learns to face a new life with serenity and hope.

"To Make A Wee Moon." This delightful book with the charming title was written by Phyllis Reynolds Naylor and it concerns a mixed-up summer during which some inforgettable characters get completely involved. There is Brother Bean, the preacher with the sinful past, and Murry Price, the carnival owner and Aunt Gwen who ran off with the hired hand to get married. Aunt Gwen's philosophy, that to make a wee moon all you need is a little patience and a lot of hard work, finally forces Jean to accept the same philosophy as she learns to judge people and things at more than their face value.

"Fireweed" by Jill Paton Walsh won the Children's Spring Festival book award for 1970. It is the story of young Bill and Julie, about 15-year-old, who meet during the blitz of 1940 in London. They watch the city transformed by nightly bombings, buildings burning, streets with gaping holes. By sleeping in underground stations they set up a home of sorts, and one morning they find Dickie, a sick and homeless child. Faced with the problem of finding help for him, they are forced to think about the way of life they have chosen, a way that has left them badly-prepared for the nightmare of destruction and separation that follows.

"Thurgood Marshall, Fighter for Justice" is an unusually fine biography for young people. The author, Lewis Fenderson, has written ten books and numerous poems. In 1965 he received a grant from the Washington Evening Star to develop a book-length epic poem on the American Negro, a book now in progress. Dr. Fenderson's story of Justice Thurgood Marshall is more than the Horation Alger record of an American Negro rising from a delivery boy to the highest judicial post in the nation. It is the revelation of two decades of legal maneuvering in American courts to strike down the "separate but equal" theory of racial equality and provide the basis for the powerful civil rights thrust of the past 15 years.

"Shasha, My Friend" concerns young Hallie who lived comfortably and happily in California until her mother was killed in an accident and her father injured so much that the doctor recommended that he go away. And so they end up on a Christmas tree farm in Montana. Hallie has to attend correspondence school and instead of friends her own age she has only crippled Birdie and the old Indian, Black Thunder. Everything becomes worthwhile when Hallie finds Sasha, the wolf pup. The author has made the lonely magic of the Montana wilderness as alive and acceptable to the reader as it became to Hallie. Highly recommended.

BEEF RIB ROAST IS TOP CHOICE for Christmas table. Add gay platter garnish—Meringued Peaches.

No better selection can be made for holiday dinner than tender, juicy ribs of beef. Impressive, delicious and easy to prepare, it's a choice that's backed by both tradition and taste.

Be sure to have your retailer loosen back (chine) bone of rib roast by sawing across ribs and then tie the roast, advises Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This makes carving easier.

To prepare the beef, place a 3 to 4-rib roast, fat side up, on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in the thickest part, making sure bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in slow oven (325°F.) to desired degree of doneness.

The meat thermometer will register 140°F. for rare; 160°F. for medium; 170°F. for well done. Allow 23 to 25 minutes per pound for cooking roast to rare; 27 to 30 minutes for medium and 32 to 35 for well done.

Roasts are more easily carved if they "stand" in warm place 20 minutes after removal from oven and before carving.

Meringued Peaches

Fill centers of drained canned cling peach halves with mincemeat (1 tablespoon in each half). Top with stiff meringue (2 tablespoons sugar per egg white) and bake in 400°F. oven 5 to 7 minutes, until lightly browned.

Yule Tide Trees And Treats

The most joyous season of the year is quickly approaching and while Santa is getting his toys and reindeer ready for Christmas Eve, busy mothers are preparing Christmas decorations to enhance the festivities at home. In addition to the tinseled Christmas tree and the traditional mistletoe, here's a delightful and easy idea for a centerpiece for the holiday table.

Buy a sheet of styrofoam 1½ inch thick, 24 x 12 inches. Pencil an outline of a tree on the styrofoam. Cut styrofoam into Christmas tree shape with a serrated edge knife using a sawing motion. Paint green, if desired, with green spray paint. Dry thoroughly before using. Arrange various shape pretzels in a pretty abstract design on the styrofoam, from small to large.

To delight your family and friends before the holiday feast, use the remaining styrofoam to cut out small rounds for Christmas balls and stars to use as serving plates for tiny hors d'oeuvres. Here are two hors d'oeuvre guaranteed to spread Christmas cheer.

CHEESE BALLS: For speared cheese balls, mix grated sharp cheddar cheese with mashed garlic to taste and enough beer to make a paste. Shape mixture into balls and spear on a pretzel stick just before serving.

HAM ROLL-UPS: For ham roll-ups spread slices of boiled ham with mustard. Roll ham slice around short, fat pretzel rods. Serve at once.

These suggestions will help make this Christmas the merriest of all!

OVEN CONTROLS THAT REALLY WORK add new fascination to young cooks' culinary adventures. Super Easy-Bake Oven bakes double-size cakes as well as regular size, has an extra warming oven. Safely engineered, oven operates on two electric light bulbs. By Kenner.

WEIGHT WATCHERS moved into Charlevoix last Wednesday night and 26 new members signed up, bringing the total Charlevoix membership up to more than 60. Most of the members belonged to chapters organized earlier in Boyne City and Petoskey. Here Charlevoixan Mrs. Dale Boss "weighs in" Mrs. Jerry Sweet of East Jordan who will conduct the Charlevoix classes every Wednesday evening at the Christian Reformed Church.

Weight Watchers Starts Chapter in Charlevoix

"An awful lot of northern Michigan has been disappearing the past few months," Mrs. Jane Downer of Traverse City told Charlevoix's first class of Weight Watchers at their organizational meeting at the Christian Reformed Church last Wednesday night.

Mrs. Downer's reference was to the excess avoirdupois that members of Weight Watchers have lost simply by following a carefully controlled diet that still leaves them plenty to eat while shedding pound after pound.

The Charlevoix meetings will be held every Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Church, under the direction of Mrs. Jerry Sweet of East Jordan, a trim little size 10 who used to weigh 210 pounds.

Mrs. Downer, who helped set up the Charlevoix group, said that in the past four weeks, Alpena residents have lost 2,087½ pounds, via weight watchers.

She said the overweight formerly used to be associated only with middle age.

"But now we have children, teenagers and college students as well as adults who weigh too much," she said, adding that one six-year-old boy has joined the Traverse City chapter of Weight Watchers.

Mrs. Downer blames all the excess weight on the fact that Americans have plenty to eat and live under unusual tensions.

She expressed surprise that so many Charlevoixans would want to join Weight Watchers in December.

"I can't imagine people signing up just before the holidays," she commented.

But 26 new members paid their dues.

Housing

mitted to FHA, the applicant is interviewed by the county supervisor and any required supplementary information has been obtained," Schuette pointed out.

The Farmers Home Administration rural housing program totals $1.5 billion in fiscal 1971, and will finance 125,000 housing units. The total in 1972 is expected to reach 200,000 units. The rural housing program for Michigan during the 1971 fiscal year will total about 45 million dollars, which will finance about 3,200 units. The Bellaire office rural housing program for 1971 will total about $2 million, which will finance about 150 units. The 1972 program is expected to finance about 250 units through the Bellaire office.

The county supervisor noted that Alfred O. LaPorte, state director of Farmers Home Administration, "has expressed confidence that this new program will help smooth the way for applicants and move us more rapidly toward the national goal of adequate housing for every family in rural America."

CREATE MASSIVE CANDLESTICKS!

When you plan the menu for a holiday gathering, take time to plan an original centerpiece and set the mood for a memorable occasion. The Directoire Candlesticks, suggested by the Norcross Design Studio, are created from gift wrap foil and cardboard ribbon spools. A subtle interplay of textured and polished foil is accented with bands and circles of gold Lustre-Cord.

It is easy to make as many candlesticks as needed to achieve the desired effect. Try a group of three or four of varying heights, on a bed of evergreen for a massed effect on a buffet. Or use them singly on individual tables for four.

Norcross offers instructions for making the candlesticks in a booklet titled "Decorate with Gift Wraps." Included in the booklet are over twenty-five decorations and gift ideas for Christmas and all year. To get a copy, send 50¢ to "Decorate with Gift Wraps," 14 Main Street, Park Ridge, Illinois 60068.

At Last! A Radio for Bathroom

According to listener surveys, radio is more popular at wake-up time than any other during the day. And so is the family bathroom.

But while it might seem that radios in the bathroom would be commonplace, limited counter space and the hazard of plug-in electrical appliances near standing water have made bathroom radios impractical. Experiments with small transistor sets have produced less-than-satisfactory results, because of poor sound quality.

A more unusual approach is a cordless, wall-mount radio engineered to provide good sound quality without taking up valuable space. Developed by Sears, Roebuck and Co. specifically for bathroom use, the 10-transistor AM FM radio is treated with special adhesive on the back for solid mounting on a wall, vanity or cabinet. The unit also can be mounted with two small screws.

The battery-powered radio has a 3-inch speaker for sound and tonal quality and a "slide-rule" dial for easy, accurate AM FM tuning.

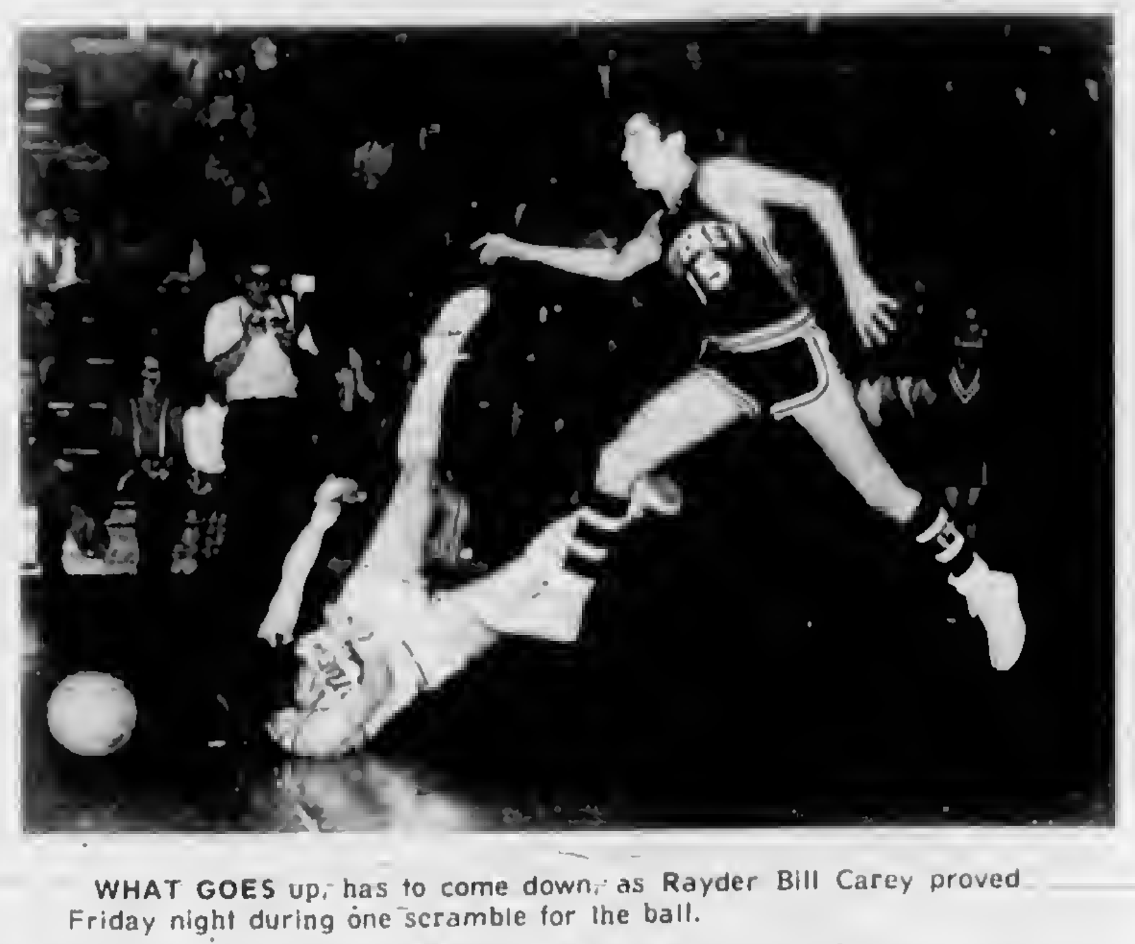
Holiday Dress Up Ideas

It's Christmas Eve, and the guests have arrived bearing gifts, holiday fruits and candy. The children gaze excitedly at the surprises under the tree. The delicious aroma of stuffed turkey, ham and fruitcake fills the air. Everything is lovely — until Uncle Jim spills eggnog on the buffet tablecloth, and it splatters on your new at-home midi.

To prevent a similar disaster from ruining your holiday gala, American Universal, Inc., has come up with a bright red Yuletime vinyl tablecloth that looks and feels like real linen and lace but wipes clean with a damp cloth. These festive tablecloths come in standard sizes in square, oblong, oval and round shapes.

Now that you know how to elegantly protect your holiday table, how about covering yourself just as festively? The 54 inch by 72 inch oblong cloth can easily be made into a charming midi, maxi or mini skirt. Your easy-to make skirt is wrinkle free and can be washed and dried by machine.

Another festive touch can be achieved by using a round Yuletime cloth around your tree. Besides making a gay looking Christmas tree skirt, the vinyl cloth will catch stray pine needles. Merry Christmas!



WHAT GOES up, has to come down, as Rayder Bill Carey proved Friday night during one scramble for the ball.

Yule Trees $20 Million Business

Christmas tree buyers in Michigan have the world's finest und freshest trees available at some of the most attractive prices, according to B. Dale Ball, didrector of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Michigan is the leading producer of plantation grown Christmas trees. More than five million Michigan evergreens will be harvested for sale in the 1970 season. Growing and marketing Michigan Christmas trees adds up to more than a $20 million annual business.

"Millions will be shipped out of the state, some to as far away as California," Ball said. "But there will be plenty for sale at outlets in every city and hamlet in the state. And Michigan residents will generally have fresh cut trees and a wide variety of excellent quality to choose from."

Scotch pine is the most widely produced plantation tree; other Michigan species on the market will be spruces and firs.

"Michigan growers and scientists have worked together to develop finer trees throughout the years," Ball said. "Techniques developed in Michigan have been eagerly copied by producers in other states, as well as Canada."

A booklet, "Buying your Christmas Tree," is available free at the office of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, Lewis Cass Bldg., Lansing, 48913. It has sketches of tree species as well as tips on selecting, caring for, and disposing of your Christmas tree.

Indian Problems Discussed

Victor Kishigo of Petoskey, permanent chairman of the Michigan Indian Confederation, was speaker for the discussion group of the Charlevoix Women's Club at the home of Mrs. Charles Duerr Nov. 30.

The confederation is a consolidation of 23 Indian agencies and four individual members.

Kishigo explained the functions of the confederation, which has been in existence only a few weeks. The organization has three goals:

--The coordination of diverse efforts on the part of the member agencies to better the lives of the Indians of Michigan.

–Improvement of the lines of communication among Indian people, and –Development of a spirit of unity.

One of the member agencies is the Ottawa-Chippewa Arts and Crafts Cooperative, Inc., which operates an Indian crafts shop just north of Petoskey on U.S. 31. The group hopes eventually to development an Indian Cultural Center near the intersection of U.S. 31 and M-131.

Kishigo discussed detailed plans for the cultural center and said he would keep the discussion group imformed as to what members can do to help.

The speaker also outlined some of the needs of Indians throughout the state and in the Charlevoix-Petoskey area in particular.

He said there is a need for legal advice, housing, insurance, health care, health education and schooling.

Kishigo said the school drop-out rate among Indians is four times the national average.

The average Indian income is $36 a week, compared to $64 a week in the Watts ghetto area of Los Angeles.

Of the 40 Indian families living in the area, 36 live in sub-standard housing, he said, adding that only a few of them have insurance of any kind.

Kishigo said there is a great need to breakdown the prevailing stereotype of the Indian as a "lazy drunk." One of the first steps in creating a better and more accurate concept is to produce an "authoritative, demographic picture of the Indian in our state."

Following Kishigo's remarks, there was a question and answer period and a discussion on the various ways the Women's Club can help Indians in their efforts to improve themselves. The discussion will be continued at the next meeting Jan. 24. Interested women in the community are invited to attend.

Cheerleaders Take Part In Workshop

Elaine Carr, Lisa Wasoski, Nita Martin, Kit Lieberman, Peg Carey, Barb Gill, Terri Brown and coach Mrs. Paul Osterberg represented Charlevoix High School cheerleaders at the first annual Northern Michigan Workshop of Cheerleading Stunts and Special Effects at Boyne City High School Nov. 28.

The program included calesthenic-type warm-ups, a demonstration of special skills by the staff of the International Cheerleading Foundation and a rotation between skill areas, allowing the girls to learn and practice skills in tumbling, trampoline, mini-tramp, jumps and partner stunts.

After lunch, the 150 girls attending shared experiences by means of skits and discussed pep meeting ideas.

Cheerleader sponsors met briefly to exchange ideas and discuss mutual problems.

In reviewing the results of the recent election held both in the school and the city, I have a few questions to ask students.

First, I'd like to mention the fact that you did a very good job of predicting the winners in the city and county. However, this brings one question to my mind. Were you really expressing your own views? Or were you merely voicing those of your parents?

If you truly understood the views of the candidates and the issues, then you deserve the right to vote. But if you just happened tu hear your parents or your friends discussing it once and decided "Well, they should know what's going on so I'll agree with them" or "Well, if that's the way they're going to vote, I'm sure not" then you certainly shouldn't be allowed a voice in our government.

I'm sure many adults felt, when they voted down Proposal B, that although many of us are reliable enough to vote, there are still a few, maybe a lot, who are not. Before you say that many 21-year-olds aren't reliable enough to vote, I'll agree with you there. Many 30, 40, 50, and even older, aren't.

Where do we draw the line? It has tu be somewhere. How do we determine who should and who shouldn't vote? Maybe a test should be given to all who register to vote. No, you say, I don't want to take a test. Well, neither does anyone else. Chances are, not many would pass it. Then what would happen? We'd have a few ruling many.

I have no solution to offer for determining who is qualified and who isn't but if you are really sincere in your beliefs, I suggest you get out and prove to the voters of the state of Michigan that you deserve and should be granted the right to vote. This is going to require the efforts of everyone, not just a few.

I feel that if ever the 18 year old vote does pass, there must be an over-all voter education program. I think this should begin now. It might be in the form of active campaigning in school elections. This, if conducted properly, would give the students a taste of what they will face when they come to actually voting for the people who will represent them.

'Breakthrough Beats Sitting at Home'

By PEGGY RADER

"Get a real high, join Breakthrough." Many people have seen signs with this or other similar slogans on them, and have not known what they are all about.

They are publicizing Breakthrough, a new organization for the youth of the area.

Some of Breakthrough's purposes are:

–To aid youth in seeking a meaningful and useful life which can or may be found In Christ.

–To enable youth to make good use of their leisure time, and if possible to have some learning opportunities and useful hobbies to increase their knowledge or how to live purposefully.

It is the general opinion of students of Charlevoix High School that Breakthrough is a good idea, since it gives them something to do besides sitting at home and walking the streets.

Many parents and students have the misconception that Breakthrough is primarily a drug rehabilitation center for hippies. This is not true. Breakthrough is for all of the youth of Charlevoix and the surrounding area.

Breakthrough shall be controlled by the local curfew. There shall be at least one night a week for 12 to 15 years of age and one night a week for college students. Other evenings will be set aside for ages 16 and up.

Breakthrough will be a clean place where coffee, soft drinks and snacks will be served. For entertainment there will be singing groups. There will also be groups for the development of hobbies and work opportunities; and study and discussion groups.

In late October, the youth center had a trial run to see how much interest there is in such an organization with the "Tusco Heath" and "The Steel Blues" providing entertainment. People came from several of the surrounding towns.

On Nov. 20, Breakthrough met at the Middle School Gym for music and roller skating.

Plans for the next meeting will be announced.

Farkas Promoted

Marine Cpl. Eugene E. Farkas, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Farkas, sr., of 102 Green-st., Charlevoix, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Marine Division in Vietnam.

VO-ED TEACHERS

More vocational industrial education teachers in Michigan public schools are graduates of Western Michigan University than of all other institutions combined.

AS IF THEY didn't have enough to do after last Thursday's big snow storm, city employes were out Friday stringing colorful lights on Bridge-st. to mark the opening of the start of the holiday season.

Power Firm Wins Grant For Expansion

The Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce has authorized two independent telephone companies and an electric utility to borrow $2.6 million to expand their facilities.

In each instance, the utilities will borrow the funds from the Rural Electrification Administration.

The PSC authorized Top O'Michigan Rural Electric Co. of Boyne City to borrow $1,950,000 to build additional distribution and service lines that will enable it to serve approximately 2,600 new customers.

The utility now serves nearly 22,000 members in Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Crawford, Emmet, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Montmorency, Oscoda, Otsego and Wexford counties.

The Waldron Telephone Co. of Waldron (Hillsdale County) was authorized to borrow $350,000 to finance construction of a new central office building and to convert its 315 existing customers and 80 new subscribers to one-party service.

Ontonagon Telephone Co. of Ontonagon received approval to borrow $327,000 to finance improvements to its facilities and to enable it to provide exclusive one-party service to customers in its White Pine Exchange.

E.J. in Line For Funds for Sewage Work

State Sen.-elect Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) says the Water Resources Commission is preparing to tender the city of East Jordan an offer of a State grant and advance from the $285 million water pollution control fund established by Act No. 329, of the Public Acts of 1966, as amended.

Sen.-elect Davis stated that the project for which financial assistance if being offered consists of the construction of a lift station, force main, two 11-acre holding ponds and a spray irrigation system to follow the existing primary sewage treatment plant.

The amount of the grant offer is $250,000.00 based on an estimated eligible project cost of $500,000.00

Petoskey-rd. Contract Let For $21,909

Hodgkiss and Douma of Petoskey has been awarded a state Highway Commission contract for application of skid-resistant treatment of Petoskey-rd. between Dixon-ave. and Lewis-st.

The area to be surfaced is on a curve that has been the scene of many accidents when the pavement is icy or wet.

Hodgkiss and Douma, the only bidder, was awarded the contract for $21,909. The work will be financed under the department's safety program. Completion is set for July of next year.

The contract was of nine, totaling more than $20 million, let by the Highway Department on Nov. 18.

The largest contract was for construction of 2.4 miles of Interstate 96 (Jeffries Freeway) in Wayne County. Cost of that project is $13.8 million.

Magistrate's Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Court Magistrate John Connolly:

Richard C. LuHeller, 29, Cross Village, was assessed $20 for speeding.

A charge of driving a vehicle with improper registration plates, lodged against James Stanley, 20, Petoskey, was dismissed.

District Court

The following cases were heard in Charlevoix last week by District Judge W. Richard Smith:

Donald Lee Cooper, 38, Ellsworth, demanded examination on a charge of arson. Trial was continued until an attorney could be appointed to represent him. Bond in the amount of $5,000 was not furnished.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kane of Hayes Township were found guilty of not sending their children to school as required by law. The Kanes, who live on Burgess-rd., objected that their children have to walk a half-mile to meet the school bus. Sentence was deferred until the end of the school year, on condition that the Kanes send their children to school. The two Kane youngsters are enrolled in St. Marys School.

Wayne A. Wilson, 22, Detroit, was assessed $20 and given credit for time served on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Gregory Lee Bowden, 22, Conway, was sentenced to 10 days in jail as a disorderly person.

IN NORTHERN MICHIGAN

700 Miles of Trails Await Snowmobilers

With Michigan's 1970-71 snowmobiling season about to shift into high gear, the Department of Natural Resources reports that powersledders will again find facilities to put them on the "right track" at a number of state forests, parks, and game areas across the state.

Awaiting the season's first surge of snowmobilers at state forests in northern Michigan are 30 permanent trails which wind through about 700 miles of scenic backwoods country.

For state park goers, there are 25 other snowmobile trails which will route powersledders over 130 miles of outdoor splendor. Also, at Porcupine Mountains State Park, Brighton Recreation Area, Dodge 4 State Park, Proud Lake Recreation Area, and Waterloo Recreation Area, good-sized "scramble areas" will be opened to snowmobilers as soon as snow conditions permit.

Snowmobilers will have a wide-open opportunity to scoot across the entire expanse of Porcupine Mountains State Park, except in the locale of the park's ski area. They will find cross-country tracts covering 55 acres at Brighton Recreation Area, 130 acres at Dodge 4 State Park, 320 acres at Proud Lake Recreation Area, and 160 acres at Waterloo Recreation Area.

In the Upper Peninsula, snowmobile trails have been laid out by the DNR at Straits and Tahquamenon Falls state parks. On the northern Lower Michigan scene, snowmobile trails punch through more remote areas of Hartwick Pines, Ludington, North Higgins Lake, Petoskey, and Wilderness state parks, plus the Rifle River Recreation Area.

In southern Michigan, powersledders can hit the trails at Algonac, Hoffmaster, Muskegon, Port Crescent, Sleepy Hollow, Van Buren, and Warren Dunes state parks, and at Bald Mountain, Highland, Holly, Ionia, Island Lake, Ortonville, Pinckney, Pontiac Lake, Rochester-Utica, and Yankee Springs recreation areas.

When snow cover becomes deep enough (4 inches or more), state game areas managed by the DNR will offer 10 scramble sites and their acreages set aside for cross-country snowmobiling are as follows:

Allegan, 13,400; Shiawassee River, 520; Dansville, 580; Gourdneck, 650; Minden City, 4,636; Murphy Lake, 780; and Rogue River, 130.

The DNR has also developed about 50 miles of marked trails for powersledders in these southern state game areas: Barry, Shiawassee River, Flat River, Port Huron, and Rogue River. In addition to that, there will be more than 200 miles of unplowed county roads available for snowmobiling in 17 other state game areas.

Snowmobilers are reminded that is is legally taboo to stray off designated trails and roads in southern state game areas and in state parks throughout Michigan. On the other hand, all state forest lands, except for a very few posted areas such as campgrounds and natural areas, are open to unrestricted powersledding.

The state game areas already mentioned and all state forests are open to free fun. Snowmobilers bound for some state park trails will be required to have motor vehicle entrance permits.

A list of parks calling for these permits is carried in free copies of the "Snowmobile Trails" folder for state parks which is available upon request from the DNR's Publications Room. That office also has free copies of this season's "Snowmobile Trails Directory" for state forests.

Individual maps of state forest and state park trails are offered free from the DNR's Publications Room. Persons seeking individual maps of scramble areas and snowmobile trails at state game areas should contact the DNR's Game Division in Lansing.

Because of limited supplies, the DNR is urging snowmobilers to request maps for only those few particular areas in which they are actively interested. For the same reason, the DNR cannot meet wholesale orders for these maps.

What Next?

A DOWNTOWN Charlevoix businesswoman is wearing a red face as the result of last Thursday's storm.

When she closed up her shop, she discovered that all of her car doors were frozen solid. They wouldn't budge.

Well meaning friends hurried to her rescue with a bucket of hot water to melt the ice. But their efforts were to no avail. The doors wouldn't budge.

Next came a frantic call to Andy's Tire World for an assist. It wasn't until after the garagemen arrived that she learned that she had been trying to unfreeze the wrong car – a snow-covered vehicle of similar make with all the doors securely locked.

Mrs. Businesswoman's car was parked across the street.

ONE OF Charlevoix's inveterate pre-dawn joggers reported an unusual sight one morning last week before the big storm.

He was huffing down Mt. McSauba-rd. when he saw two out-of-season fire flies winking at him from a section of swampy woodland.

He figures they were either six months early, or six months late, because fire flies aren't common in these parts until mid-June.

THE THUNDER and lightning during the height of Thursday's snow storm still has amateur meteorologists in the area scratching their heads. They've never heard of such goings-on.

The fact that the temperature in Chicago, at the other end of Lake Michigan, hit 71 degrees while Charlevoix was battling snowdrifts might have something to do with the unusual weather phenomenon.

Lutherans Launch Yule Seal Campaign

Jeff Vetting, chairman of the Wheat Ridge Christmas seals campaign at Bethany Evangelical Lutheran Church, has announced that the 1970 campaign is under way. The theme is "GOD IS WITH US".

The Wheat Ridge Christmas Seals Campaign is conducted annually among families of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The campaign is sponsored by the young people of the churches. The contributions received support the Wheat Ridge Foundation founded in 1944.

The Wheat Ridge Foundation, with offices in Chicago, carries out numerous medical and social services throughout the world. The Foundation supports and promotes medical and social services in India, Japan, Hong Kong, Taiwan, Nigeria, New Guinea, Brazil, and Ghana, as well as the North American continent.

In addition, Wheat Ridge provides scholarships for social workers and mental health consultants, underwrites a variety of social services, and has carried out a number of pilot projects: education of the deaf, human relatiuns, and family counseling. Prior to 1944 the program supported a TB sanitarium at Wheat Ridge Colorado.

Rayders Win One, Lose One

It won't happen again in a million years, but Charlevoix's cagers played in two consecutive games over the weekend with final scores of 61 to 54.

In the first tilt Friday night, the Rayders defeated the Petoskey Northmen 61 to 54.

Saturday, the team played Rogers City, at Rogers City, and the score was the same, 61 to 54. Only this time, Charlevoix was on the losing end.

In the Petoskey match, Charlevoix led from the beginning, with quarter scores of 20 to 10, 38 to 22, 47 to 35 and the magic 60 to 54.

High point man was lanky Bill Carey, a junior, who racked up 21 points on 8 field goals and 5 free throws.

Other scorers were Larry Potter, 12 points (4 and 4); Kevin Swanson, 11 points (5 and 1); Bruce Meggison, 8 points (2 and 4); Jerry Pease, 7 points (1 and 5) and Tim Carey, 2 points on free throws.

Meggison had an off night, making only 4 of a possible 16 free throws.

The only other player to take the floor was Terry Elzinga, who was scoreless.

High man for Petoskey was Wayne Blomberg, with 17 points on seven field goals and three free throws. Other scorers were Mike Davies, 14 points (7 field goals); Steve Frye, 8 points (3 and 2); Steve Kan, 4 points (1 and 2); Dale Meyer, 3 points (1 and 1); Jim Wynn, Tim Harbaugh and Dave Meyer, 2 points each on field goals; and Rodger Watson and Gary Urman, one point each on free throws.

Saturday's game with Rogers City was the reverse of the Petoskey match, with Charlevoix trailing after each quarter, 20 to 14, 36 to 30, 44 to 43 and 61 to 54.

Again, Bill Carey was high scorer for the Rayders, clocking 18 points on four field goals. The only other two-figure man was Bruce Meggison, with 14 points on six field goals and 2 free throws.

Other scorers were Jerry Pease, 8 points on 4 field goals; Tim Carey and Larry Potter, 4 points each on field goals; and Kevin Swanson and Roger Crain, 3 points each (1 and 1).

This Friday night the Rayders will meet Cheboygan in Charlevoix.

JVs Lose Twice Over Weekend

Charlevoix's junior varsity cage squad lost two games over the weekend, bowing to Petoskey Friday night, 58 to 40, and to Rogers City Saturday, 53 to 42.

Quarter scores in the Petoskey tilt were 8 to 0, 28 to 13, 41 to 23 and 58 to 40, with Petoskey's JVs leading all the way.

High point man for Charlevoix was Vince Left who scored 12 points on 3 field goals and 6 free throws.

Also on the scorecard were Dale Boss and Lee Simpson, 7 points each and 2 field goals and 3 free throws; Dennis Crain, 6 points (2 and 2) and Pat Doan and Berlage, 4 each, Doan on 2 field goals and Berlage on 4 free throws.

Only two-figure man for the Petoskey JVs was Robin Hill who scored 15 points on 6 field goals and 3 free throws.

In the Rogers City game, Charlevoix led up until the final quarter when the Rogers City JVs staged a scoring spree which netted them 20 points in a single stanza.

Charlevoix led at the end of the first period 17 to 8, at the half by 29 to 19 and at the three-quarter mark by 38 to 33. But the slim 4 points they rang up in the final period was dwarfed by the big Rogers City tally.

High point man for Charlevoix was Lee Simpson with 19 points on 9 field goals and 1 free throw, followed by Dale Boss, 9 points (4 and 1); Dennis Crain, 5 points (2 and 1); Pat Doan, 2 points on field goals; Vince Left, 3 points (1 and 1) and Ance, 2 points on a field goal.

Penn-Dixie Income Dips

Penn-Dixie Cement Corp. reports sales and revenues for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1970, totaled $61.6 million, compared with $60.5 million for the same period last year.

Net income amounted to $349,798, or 12 cents per share for the three months compared with $2,202,333, or 78 cents per share in 1969.

For the first nine months, sales and revenues were $156.3 million against $149 million for the nine months of last year.

Net income was $755,749 or 27 cents per share, compared with $3,673,058 or $1.30 for the same period in 1969.

SECOND INDUSTRY

Only one of every 25 Michigan families operates a farm, but these farms contribute an estimated one billion dollars annually to the state's economy – second only to the manufacturing industry, points out Dr. George Dike, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Charlevoixans Rapped For 'Peace' Symbols

The following letter, dated Nov. 13, 1970, and postmarked Traverse City was received by Robert Miller, Charlevoix superintendent of schools:

"Dear Sir:

"Passing through Charlevoix yesterday I noted several youngsters near the school wearing "peace" symbols on their clothing and I also noted to my dismay that the symbols were on sale at some local stores.

"The inverted cross within the circle is totally UnAmerican: Bertrand Russell, self-identified as atheist and Marxist borrowed the symbol design from the ancient Saracens who battled the Christians in the 8th century.

American youths should be made aware of the sinister meaning of this anti-Christian, anti-American communist "peace" symbol.

Yours sincerely,
(Mrs.) T.J. Kirche
(Signed) Dora Kirche

+ + +

The question the Courier would like to ask Mrs. Kirche is: "Why?"

Why should our children be told that there is something "sinister" about mankind's age-old longing for peace and the symbol that expresses that longing?

Regardless of its origin, the so-called peace symbol has a special meaning today, not only for young people but for adults as well.

If there is one outward sign that this nation still clings to its traditional ethical values, it is the fact that more and more Americans are turning to the peace symbol to express their dissatisfaction with endless wars in which the nation has become involved.

Criticize the peace symbol? One might as well criticize the cross, variations of which were used among heathen civilizations during their fertility rituals.

If Charlevoix youngsters are wearing and displaying the peace symbol, more power to them. And may their tribe increase.

Snow Storm Is Boon To Resort Industry

Ski resort proprietors, motel owners and restaurateurs throughout northern Michigan cheered the arrival of winter last Thursday and the Courier is happy to celebrate along with them.

The season's first big snow should mean a healthy transfusion of tourist dollars into the economy, despite the local homeowner's discomfiture at having to remove a two-foot snowdrift from his driveway.

Time was when the people of northern Michigan welcomed an "open winter", but time's have changed. Snowmobilers and skiers require lots of snow, the more the better, and an "open winter" today could spell financial disaster for many local businesses.

So in spite of the hardships, we're keeping our fingers crossed that the weatherman serves up more of same in the weeks ahead. A long hard winter will help get 1971 off to a flying start, so far as the resort industry is concerned.

Peace on earth Goodwill towards men.

CHRISTMAS 1970

The essence of the Christmas spirit is in the words: Peace on Earth, Goodwill Towards Men. Around this simple premise, Christian and non-Christian may join and make this season one of united purpose. Peace and Goodwill summarize our hopes and aspirations for all of the world.

Hopefully, the recent beginnings toward peace in our troubled world will be recorded in history as actions which led to an end of the shooting and the beginning of accord.

As for Goodwill, the devisiveness of the election campaign and the civil disorders of the past months have not brought us together. All rational men must seek workable alternatives which preserve the dignity of man and recognize that the public sense of right and wrong cannot be ignored.

Mutual tolerance and understanding can be Mankind's greatest Christmas gift to itself.

The Song Is Ended

Some day, when I have lots of time, I'm going to sit down and do some serious thinking about why I don't really care for the thump, thump, thump of modern music.

And don't think I haven't tried to enjoy rock 'n' roll because I have. I have been assailed by it from all sides, night and day, for years now but none of it, nary a tune, has struck a responsive chord with me. It's too loud, the beat is foreign, I can't understand the words and the moaning and groaning that so often passes as lyrics is as unintelligible as the babbling of a jungle ape.

I feel badly about my predicament because I used to be quite "hep" (as we used to say) when it came to music. I learned all the words to all the new songs, spent my entire allowance on sheet music and could play every hit song of the day on the piano.

But not any longer. Whenever I turn on the radio I feel as though I have moved to a foreign country, so alien is today's music. It's the same feeling I experienced in Japan when I heard a samisan being played late at night in the corner of some darkened cabaret.

All of this came back to me the other night when I stopped at the Weathervane to get a picture of sing-along pianist Charlotte Ross. At a table nearby sat a group of Beaver Islanders and Miss Ross was serenading them with a medley of Irish melodies, the kind of songs you used to hear quite often before rock moved in. "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," "Mother McCree," "Galway Bay"—you know them all. They are melodious and singable and fun to listen to.

As I prepared by flash unit to take a picture the years started slipping away. All of a sudden it was 1938 and I was back in the living room of our house on Larchment-ave. in Detroit. It was Friday night and a group of friends and relatives were gathered around the old player piano for a sing-along.

Since it was my day-dream, I was pumping the pedals as we went through such favorites as "all of Me," "Jingle Bells," "On the Road to Mandalay" and "Just a Little Home for the Old Folks."

Everyone sang with such gusto that it would have awoken the neighbors, if the neighbors hadn't been there, singing along with us.

Then, quick as a flash, it was another Friday night in the 1940's. I was 21 and old enough to frequent the Dakota Inn on John R.-st., just north of Six Mile-rd. The college crowd was there, seated around big plank-topped tables. There was a line at the door waiting to get it, as there always was on Friday and Saturday nights.

The main attraction at the Dakota Inn was the piano player who was ensconced in the mouth of a huge barrel on a raised platform. The barrel was so big that the piano fit inside.

O, how that an could play and O, how we used to sing. All of the George M. Cowon songs, such as "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Harrigan," "Mary's a Grand Old Name," "It's a Grand Old Flag" and "Give My Regards to Broadway." And there were Al Jolson favorites, such as "April Showers," "Mammy," "California, Here I Come," "Rockabye Your Baby," "How Are You Going to Keep 'Em Down on the Farm" and "Tuck Me to Sleep in My Old 'Tuckey Home."

Next came service songs like "The Caissons Go Rolling Along," "Semper Paratus," "The Army Air Corps," "The Marine's Hymn" and the Navy Fight Song.

The Navy song always gave way to a round of college songs, such as the MSC (remember?) Fight Song, "On, Wisconsin," and "Hail to the Victors."

And on and on and on, through Irish songs, Scotch songs and German songs. German songs were particularly popular since the Dakota Inn had a German motif. And the most popular German song was "O Du Schoene", the words to which were written on the back wall. "O Du Schoene" was always followed immediately by "God Bless

'Wash Your Hands'

By Jim Fitzgerald

All the way from here, I can see that 9-year-old Philip Patterson of Portland, Oregon, has dirty hands.

Philip gained national publicity recently when he was adopted by a bachelor, 34-year-old Toby Patterson. Unmarried men are not supposed to have kids so, in the Grand Old Tradition of the hydrant squirting the dog, the Pattersons became big news.

For centuries, civilized man has known that every child needs a mother. Fathers are nice, too, and every home should have one. But any time there is room in the home for only 1 parent, it should be Mother. "For the good of the kids."

Sometimes there's no choice, of course. Young mothers do occasionally die. But everyone knows how easy the widowers have it. They all star on TV shows and their only problem is beating off the beautiful broads who want to take "those poor motherless children" to the zoo. Have you ever seen the babes who pant around Father on "The Courtship of Eddie's Father"? It makes a cynic wonder exactly what caused the death of his wife.

But bachelors are something else. If those bon vivant bums want kids, they should be required to have wives, too. Any other arrangement is discrimination against us husbands who had to do it the hard way. Bachelor Father (what a great name for a TV show!) is also unfair to Single Girl. Susie can't lure Buster into matrimony by promising him pretty kids if Buster already has 2 brats and 102 cereal boxes at home.

However, these grips are minor. The important thing is the welfare of the child. I know because I read it somewhere. I can't remember where, but the words were embroidered and framed so it must be true.

Can a boy such as Philip Patterson be reared decently by a bachelor?

In search of an answer, I shut my eyes and imagined what my son Eddie would miss if I were a bachelor. What does his mother do most for him; something I never do? The answer: she tells him to wash his hands.

It doesn't matter where he's been or where he's going or how late he is. The other day Eddie was about to feed the cats and his mother said: "Wash your hands first, you've been playing with the cats."

Uh?

Getting Eddie to the dinner table is an incredible task. He's usually behind a locked door, counting his money and baseball cards. He doesn't appear until his door has been pounded on 15 times, he has been yelled at 22 times, and he has said "just a minute" 38 times.

Then the kid finally sits down, reaches for a hunk of bread, and his mother says: "Go wash your hands." I wouldn't mind so much except none of us can eat until grace is said and Eddie must always say it, his mother insists, so he can thank God for soap.

The incredible thing is that my wife can see that Eddie's hands need washing without looking at them. An instant survey revealed that all other mothers of boys have this same talent. My mother could do it. Once I had gloves on and my hands in my pockets but my mother not only told me my hands were dirty, she correctly identified the origin of the dirt (earlier in the day she'd seen me scratching my head).

So, lest his new son miss a woman's care, Toby Patterson is herewith advised to tell Philip to wash his hands.

And he might also kiss his son goodbye every morning as the boy leaves for school, and urge him to "have a good day." My wife always does things like that for our son and it must be a good idea. He loves her so much it makes my eyes blur to think of it.

He wouldn't wash his hands for anyone else.

Consumers Answers A-Plant Critics

(Editor's Note; the following editorial is reprinted from the November issue of "Consumers Power News." It deals with the long delay in the granting of an operating license by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission to Consumers new Palisades power generating plant, 35 miles west of Kalamazoo on the Lake Michigan shore, because of objections that the plant will result in the thermal pollution of the lake and that safety standards are inadequating. The editorial was entitled "It's Time for Plain Talk." The comments are of interest in the Charlevoix area where Consumers' first atomic power plant went into operation eight years ago. The plant has not only proved to be a good neighbor but also is an ideal source of power in a resort area where the atmospheric pollution resulting from a conventional power generating plant could be catastrophic. Furthermore, rainbow trout appear to thrive on what little "thermal pollution" the plant contributes to Lake Michigan.)

A small group of people has been telling the public that Consumers Power will create "massive pollution" in Lake Michigan with heated water and radioactive wastes from its new nuclear power plant. This is a serious charge – and it is completely inaccurate and untrue.

Today, Consumers Power Company has a large new generating plant at Palisades, 35 miles west of Kalamazoo. Its output of electricity is vital to the State of Michigan. Without it, more than four million people who depend on us for electric power are faced with the possibility that their increasing demands for electric energy may not be met.

Yet a small group of intervenors petitioned at the very last moment, after the plant was virtually completed, to prevent the granting of an operating license by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. Hearings before an AEC licensing board have been drogging on since June 23, and there is no end in sight.

An established and reasonable regulatory process is being abused by a minority at the expense of the vast majority. This is taking place through deliberate delaying tactics which are frustrating the lawful hearing procedures. What are the facts?

The intervenors charge thot the Palisades plant will cause "massive pollution" of Lake Michigan.

The facts are that Consumers Power has, as a responsible public utility, complied with every safety requirement of the Atomic Energy Commission. And with existing governmental environmental quality control regulations that are applicable to the Palisades plant. Moreover, we will comply with any further regulations that may be established by appropriate government authority.

The intervenors challenge the procedures of the Atomic Energy Commission. They insist that the AEC must concern itself with thermal effect, although the Commission holds that, by law, it cannot do so. And they argue that AEC safety standards on radiation are inadequate, and should be made much stricter.

In essence, the dispute centers on the role of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in licensing nuclear power plants. Yet Consumers Power Company, and the people who rely on us for electric energy, are being penalized by this dispute, simply by the fact that the Company - and a much needed generating plant - are caught in the middle.

No aspect of our modern technology has been so carefully studied and documented as nuclear power. Presently, in the United States, there are 15 nuclear power plants in operation, producing electric power, including Consumers Power's Big Rock Point plant, in operation since 1962. Since the first of these plants began operating 12 years ago, they have produced more than 60 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity. Yet there has been not one case where any member of the public, or any employee working in such a plant, has been injured by radiation.

The question that confronts Consumers Power Company, and its customers is whether a generating plant that meets the most stringent safety standards of the AEC, and existing governmental water quality standards, should be kept idle while a small group of intervenors engages in a seemingly endless dialogue with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission.

We have the utmost confidence that our plant design will not prove harmful. We recognize the necessity for monitoring the Palisades discharge to make certain that experience bears out our prediction of no damage to the lake.

If any competent regulatory agency, either state or federal, determines that one of our facilities is harming the environment, the Company will take prompt steps to rectify the situation. But to date, no one has been able to demonstrate that operation of the Palisades plant would cause any damage at all to Lake Michigan or the area surrounding it. Or endanger any people living nearby.

We believe the people of Michigan are entitled to continued reliable and adequate electric service – for their homes, their schools, the industrial plants and commercial establishments where they work, and for telephone service, postal service and transportation.

This controversy between the intervenors and the Atomic Energy Commission should not be allowed to damage the State of Michigan. It may well do so if the present state of affairs is allowed to continue indefinitely.

Parents Spend $55 A Year on Kid's Toy

The Christmas toy business is anything but child's play.

This year it will make more money than ever before, and produce more toys the makers say will be more lovable, more imaginative, safer, more educational, prettier, more relevant to today's world, and more fun than anything yet to come out of Santa's workshop.

Traditionally, there'll be something under the Christmas tree for everyone: mom, dad, and even the youngsters.

There will be dexterity games and mind teasers, cuddly toys for tiny tots, old favorites like trains and dolls, toys to play grown-up with for children, and toys for escaping the grown-up world for adults.

In the highly competitive world of playthings, 1970 sales in the United States at the manufacturers' level are expected to reach $2,343,000,000, including one estimate of $40 million worth of Teddy Bears.

Last year's retail sales approximated $3 billion, or about $55 for each of the 58 million American children under age 15, the National Geographic Society says.

Toys quickly show signs of the times. Though even Bronze Age children were delighted by miniature battle-axes, war toys this year are way down in sales. But law-enforcement toys are up.

As one manufacturer puts it: "Guns seem to be all right as long as they come in a cowboy or police holster."

Some games preach the merits of conservation and fighting pollution. The winner of one such relevant contest is the first player able to get rid of his pile of toy trash.

TOO REALISTIC

On the other hand, pollution fighters have picketed stores selling a realistic play dump truck that emits realistic exhaust.

Christmas morning some children may unwrap love bead kits, others child-sized wigs just like mommy's and designed to be washed and set.

Little girls will be imitating their mothers as much as ever in fully equipped junior-sized laundries and kitchens.

Little boys will be whizzing along at 4 to 5 miles an hour behind the wheel of a motorized mini-car, dune buggy, or snowmobile.

Dolls will be more lifelike than ever, including some programmed to respond to voice commands. And it's believed that this year the electric train will chug back into the hearts of fathers and sons.

ASTROLOGICAL TOYS

An astrology fad has conjured up a variety of fortune telling charts, wands, horoscopes, witches' outfits, artificial cobweb-spinning kits, crystal balls, and other trappings of make-believe supernatural.

In another out-of-this-world trend, outer space toys are still a rocketing success. Predicted blast-off favorites at the toystore: space suits complete with life-support systems and air-filled shoes to simulate weightlessness.

Toymakers note o switch in emphasis from toys thot do things to toys that stimulate youngsters to do things. These include junior grade computers, ond—for the most returnoble Christmas present of 1970—a left-handed boomerang.

Thomas Hanna said that he has contacted two additional suppliers of floating docks since the original proposal was made by the chamber. He said he also has talked to engineers and checked on state funds available.

Mayor William Fochtman said the city has amassed quite a bit of information relative to expanded docking facilities and some time ago had preliminary plans drawn up for 13 more slips which would accommodate 26 more boats.

Alderman Robert Gill suggested that the council and the chamber meet sometime in the near future to examine the data gathered by the two bodies.

"We are slighting you by not laying what we have in front of you," he said.

Both parties agreed to meet in early January to discuss the dock situation.

In other business the council:

--Learned that Superintendent Hanna has applied for state recreation bond money for the purchase of approximately 150 feet of Lake Charlevoix frontage adjacent to Depot Beach. The land is owned by the C & O Railroad which no longer has any use for it. The city and adjacent property owners already have bid on the property.

--Adopted the Municipal Employes Reciprocal Retirement Act of 1961 as a benefit to city employes. Under the act, employes with five year's service in one community can take employment in another community covered by provisions of the act without losing accrued retirement benefits. There was some discussion about the advisability of adopting the act, with negotiations pending between the city and the Communications Workers of America, which represents city employes. The council decided to act regardless, since the action involves no expenditure of funds.

–Received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Oren Olson, 412 Burns-st., that snowmobilers in the area of Division-st. and Michigan-ave. are trespassing on private property, destroying shrubbery and disturbing residents in the area. City Attorney John Michael said the Police Department has been instructed to enforce the state Snowmobile Ordinance which prohibits the use of snowmobiles on roadways and sidewalks.

–Heard a report by Michael that he does not advise further study of a parental responsibility ordinance, such as the one that has been in effect in Madison Heights for the past year. The ordinance holds parents responsible for the criminal acts of their minor children who are habitual offenders. Michael said there is some question about the constitutionality of the Madison Heights ordinance. He said the major provisions of the ordinance already are covered by the existing Probate Court juvenile code. "I don't think the parental responsibility ordinance would serve any useful purpose," he added.

–Heard a report by Michael that the house on Belvedere-ave. where the narcotics raid was staged last August will not be torn down until the buyer can obtain a clear title to the property.

with cargoes at various times.

His greatest single marine feat was the salvaging of the 600 foot coal, grain and ore carrier, the George M. Humphrey, from the Straits of Mackinac where it sank in the early 1940's following a collision with another freighter.

After insurance companies had forfeited claims to the ship, bids were taken by the federal government to remove the sunken vessel which was a menace to navigation. Utilizing ideas never before tried in marine salvage, he removed the ship's cargo of ore and coal before raising the vessel in 1944 and towing it to Sturgeon Bay where it was recommissioned as the Capt. John Roen and sailed by his company for two years before being sold.

For many years after leaving Charlevoix, he maintained an interest here as a director of the Charlevoix County State Bank. He was a stockholder at the time of his death.

Until recent years, he visited here every summer aboard his yacht, the Sonia.

Surviving are his widow, Solveig; two daughters, Mrs. Charles (Hilda) Asher and Mrs. Richard (Sonia) Greaves and a son, Marquis Roen, all of Sturgeon Bay. Also surviving are nine grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Anyone wishing to honor his memory may contribute to the Bay View Lutheran Church in Sturgeon Bay.

America" to show that we were still loyal, patriotic Americans despite our musical junkets aboard.

Once or twice during the evening, some one would call for quiet while a wizened little gentleman with a crooked neck sang two solos: "Old Man River" and "Danny Boy." I never found out who he was, or how he came to have such a beautiful voice, but the bartenders stopped drawing beer and the barmaids in their tight little German weskits stood at attention while he sang. It was a very moving experience, particularly when you were three sheets to the wind.

All of which brings us back to the Weathervane and Charlotte Ross. I am glad there are still a few people around who remember the old songs and how much fun it is to sing with a group around a piano.

Unfortunately, the days of sing-along piano are numbered. Charlotte Ross isn't going to live forever; there are no new "singable" songs being written; and kids just aren't learning the words to the old favorites.

If you don't believe me, ask your teenager to sing you the first few bars of "Shine on, Harvest Moon." I'll bet he doesn't even know the melody.

Tennis Fans Want Action on Courts

The outdoor tennis season may be over for the year, but fans are still distressed at Charlevoix's lack of tennis courts.

A contingent of women from the Kappa Sigma sorority attended Monday night's council to see what the city can do, if anything, about erecting tennis courts in the city.

The group was led by Mrs. Walter J. Hufford who reported that the sorority has conducted a poll among Charlevoix social and service groups to gauge interest in building more tennis courts.

She said half of the groups had responded, and that they all favor expanded tennis facilities.

Chamber of Commerce Manager Dick Oestrike, who attended the meeting to discuss another matter, says that the chamber received at least two inquiries a day from summer visitors about the availability of tennis courts, pointing out that there is a transient as well as a local interest in providing such facilities.

Mrs. Julius Gilbert said that the tennis season extends from May through October and that there has been a virtual "tennis explosion" across the United States.

She said 18 indoor courts were recently built in midtown Chicago and that they are kept busy from morning to night. The basic rate is $10 an hour, with a "prime time" rate of $14 charged after 4 p.m. and weekends.

Mrs. Gilbert said lessons cost $20 an hour, $10 of which goes to the club and $10 to the instructor.

She added that the sport is so popular that many Chicagoans have standing appointments at the courts.

Mayor William Fochtman said the city has budgeted money for tennis courts on several occasion, "but every time we have had to cut expenditures and tennis courts are the things that get cut."

To Open Bids Friday at 2

Construction bids for Charlevoix's proposed sewage treatment plant will be opened at the city hall at 2 p.m. Friday, Dec. 11.

City Superintendent Thomas Hanna said 50 sets of prints have been sent out for various phases of the project.

Mayor William Fochtman commented that a special meeting of the council probably will be called next week after engineers tabulate the bids for the purpose of awarding a contract.

City May Seek New Bids On Sewage Treatment Plant

Cost 25 Percent Over Estimate

Mayor William Fochtman said Monday afternoon that the city may have to ask for new bids on the proposed sewage treatment plant because of the high price tags on the original bids, which were opened Friday afternoon at the city hall.

The engineering firm which designed the facility, McNamee, Porter and Seeley of Ann Arbor, estimated the cost of the project at about $1.5 million.

However, a total of the low bids came to $1,965,830, almost 25 percent more than the estimate.

The engineers were busy over the weekend tabulating the bids and looking for areas where money might be saved, but their report hadn't been finalized by press time.

Fochtman said that he doubted if any amount of cutting could bring the project within reach.

In November, the voters approved a $700,000 general obligation bond issue to finance the project, with the balance to be made up by the state and federal governments. The state had pledged $642,500 and the federal government $64,250.

Even at a cost of $1.5 million, the total allocated funds would be insufficient to pay for the facility and the city was preparing to go back to the respective government agencies to have the grants increased.

The high bids, however, have city officials wondering where they will come up with

BIDDERS on Charlevoix's sewage plant construction project jammed the community room at the city hall Friday for the 2 p.m. bid opening. Total of low bids was almost 25 percent over engineers' estimate of $1.5 million.

School Lunch Programs Losing $45 Every Day

Despite such economies as the Stewart sandwich program at the Middle and High Schools, the lunch program is continuing to run in the red, school Business Manager Harold Kaufman told the Board of Education Monday night.

Kaufman said the program is losing $45.58 a day and promises to run up a deficit of $8,204.40 by the end of the year, more than the $7,500 deficit encountered in 1969-70.

Biggest losses are at the Elementary School where the Type A hot lunch program is losing $33.15 a day. Losses at the High School and Middle School are running $15.02 a day and $2.22 a day respectively.

Board members agreed that the price of school lunches probably will have to be increased, but Supt. Robert Miller warned that a price increase will probably mean reduced participation. He also suggested portion control:

"We can't serve a 45 cent lunch for 35 cents," he said.

Board President Jerrald Redeker said the board should act promptly on the problem, in view of the losses.

The board also discussed continuing the Stewart sandwich program. The sandwiches go over well at the Middle School, but sentiment for and against them is about equally divided at the High School.

In other business the board:

--Approved welding and modern math for parents classes, to start sometime in January. Miller said there has been a "groundswell of apathy" toward the adult education program, which he said needs promotion and administrative effort. Glenn Snider, principal at the Elementary School, said that art teacher Miss Marti Mathers is interested in

Santa Claus To Visit City Over Weekend

Santa Claus will make two personal appearances in Charlevoix this week.

Word from the North Pole has it that the old man with the white beard will be at the Charlevoix County State Bank from 6 until 8 p.m. Friday, Dec. 18. A photographer will be on hand to snap pictures of kiddies chatting with Santa, and there will be plenty of balloons and candy.

The bank plans a Christmas open house all day Friday, with hot wassail, coffee and cookies served during banking hours.

Santa will spend the night in the city in order to put in an appearance at the foot of Clinton-st. Saturday, Dec. 19 at 1:30 p.m. There will be candy for Santa's friends. The second visit has been arranged by the Charlevoix Fire Department.

Oestrike Resigns As C of C Manager

Richard Oestrike, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, since last June, has tendered his resignation to the board of directors.

Charles Themm, vice president of the board, said the resignation has been accepted "with reservations and regret."

Richard Oestrike

Themm said the board will meet with Oestrike and his wife, Sharon, at noon Wednesday to discuss the resignation. Mrs. Oestrike also works at the Chamber office.

In his letter to the board, Oestrike said that since he opened the Portside Sports Shop two weeks ago he is unable to give any specific amount of time to the Chamber job.

He also said he doesn't want to over-extend himself. In addition to his Chamber duties and the sports shop, Oestrike is a manufacturers' representative for sports clothing.

Oestrike said his contract with the Chamber terminates Feb. 1, but that he will leave as soon as a replacement can be found. He added that he will be willing to work after Feb. 1 on a month-to-month basis until a successor is named.

Oestrike said there has been "some adverse comment" about the Chamber manager also operating a retail business in town.

Michigan Bell Seeks New Rate Hike

Michigan Bell Telephone Co. has requested a new rate increase and said that rising costs, falling earnings and a recent "inadequate" revenue order had left it "no other alternative."

Michigan Bell serves Charlevoix and other area communities.

In its application to the state Public Service Commission the company outlined its worsening financial condition and asked for a rate of return in the range of 9.5 percent on its intrastate investment. The company did not request a specific amount in its filing, but said that it would do so at a later date.

Lloyd J. Haynes, Michigan Bell vice president, said the company's decision to start a new case resulted from the MPSC's denial of its appeal for a rehearing of the commission's recent order granting the company a $14.8 million rate increase. It was the first telephone rate increase in 10 years.

Haynes said the increase was "inadequate at the time it was granted" and has become "more inadequate with each passing day."

"Our record of holding down prices is hard to match in American industry," Haynes stated. He said that between 1960 and the recent increase, Michigan Bell had made six intrastate rate reductions which, based on today's calling volumes, amount to some $30 million annually in customer savings.

"We've taken advantage of improved technology and closely watched our expenditures to try to cope with rising costs," said Haynes, "but the rapid rate of inflation has finally overtaken us."

In spite of the company's serious financial situation, Haynes pointed out that Michigan Bell plans to spend a record $285 million next year to maintain the quality of its basic services and to meet the continuing demand of growth brought about by new customers and increasing calling volumes.

However, even though the 1971 construction program will be at a record level, Haynes said the company already has slashed $35 million from next year's spending plans by setting aside or delaying a number of service improvement projects because of deteriorating finances. In addition, the company also has been forced to trim $20 million from its planned 1972 construction program.

"We cannot cut any deeper without the risk of affecting the quality of day-to-day customer service. We do not intend to see that happen and we do not believe our customers or the Public Service Commission will stand by and let that occur either," Haynes added.

The 1971 cutbacks, however, have dropped from the program several "important and desirable" service improvement projects that are both "wanted and needed" by customers.

They include the planned start of a major five-year program to give not more than four-party service to some 100,000 customers who now have eight-party rural lines; the replacement of some older telephone central offices with modern Electronic Switching Systems (ESS); and the introduction of Picturephone service in Detroit.

Another casualty is "Dial Tone First" in Detroit. This service makes it possible to place emergency calls from public coin telephones without depositing a dime. It has been requested by the city as a crime deterrent and emergency service and would have cost $5 million.

"Our deteriorating financial position forced us to stretch out the ESS replacement program and postpone the others indefinitely," said Haynes. He said that budget cuts had also been made in proposed major building projects, in the planned purchase of motor vehicles and other work equipment, in programs to modernize long distance calling and in other areas of service improvement.

Michigan Bell's annual construction budget has more than doubled since 1965 when it was $132 million. This year's program is expected to reach $270 million and Haynes said the company expects to have to spend more each ensuing year to keep pace with growing customer service requirements.

As examples of the growth which requires the company to provide more facilities, Haynes pointed out that the number of customers had increased an average of about 60,000 yearly since 1965 to the current 2.5 million. The average daily number of calls has climbed more than 1½ million to over 15 million. To meet this demand for service, Michigan Bell has spent more than $1.1 billion and added nearly 7,000 employes in that same period.

Haynes noted that the company's profitability "has steadily gone downward every year for the past five years." He said that the rate of return on its intrastate investment had fallen to 8.6 percent this year and that the 1970 drop is the largest annual decline in more than two decades.

In its revenue order of Aug. 31 the commission authorized Michigan Bell to earn a 7.95 percent intrastate rate of return. But, Haynes said, "the commission failed to grant the company enough revenue to reach even that entirely insufficient rate of return."

Haynes expressed hope that the company could put all the deferred service improvement projects back into its construction program "just as soon as future financial conditions permit."

"No company can stand the downward trend in earnings and rate of return which we have had and at the same time attract the necessary investment funds needed for current operations and to support the largest construction program in our history," he said.

"We have every confidence," Haynes added, "that the commission--after it considers our case, will come up with the right answer–which in this instance is the urgently needed increase we are seeking."

Rep.-Elect Friske Briefed in Lansing

State Representative-elect Richard Friske (R-106th District) this week completed a two-day orientation at his new place of business, the Capitol Building in Lansing.

The two-day session, which took place Monday, Dec. 7, and Tuesday, Dec. 8, was divided into several smaller sessions to introduce the new legislators to the many levels of activity in the legislative process.

Representative-elect Friske and his fellow members-elect were welcomed to the Capitol by Senate Majority Leader Robert VanderLaan. Following the introduction, State Representative Martin Buth discussed the Legal Basis of the Legislature and the role of Legislators with new members. The function of Legislative agencies was discussed by the Speaker of the House, Representative William Ryan.

The fiscal situation of the State is likely to be a subject of much debate during the next session and the newcomers received a preview from Senator Charles O. Zollar on budget procedure.

Concluding the Monday session Senator Gilbert Bursley and Representative Marvin Stempien discussed Committee Operation and procedures. Tom Greene of Detroit Channel 2 and William Kulsea, Chief of the Booth Newspapers Capitol Bureau, discussed the importance of the news media in the legislative process. Hiram Todd and George M. Van Peursem, legislative agents for two state organizations, explained the function of the lobbyists in the Legislature.

The Tuesday session encompassed discussions on the operation of the House and Senate by the Secretary of the Senate, Beryl I. Kenyon, and the Clerk on the House, T. Thomas Thatcher.

THE CAST of "The Greatest of These" rehearses scene from play which will be presented Dec. 19 and Dec. 20 at the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church.

Assembly of God Youth To Present Yule Play

The youth of the Charlevoix Assembly of God Church will present a three-act, hour-long Christmas play entitled "The Greatest of these" two time during the holiday season.

The theme of the play is taken from I Corinthians, Chapter 13, verse 13: "The greatest of these is love."

The play depicts how young people at a Christian college examine their lives and find love lacking.

"The Greatest of These" will be presented Saturday, Dec. 19, at 7:30 p.m. for the Northwestern C.A. rally and again on Sunday, Dec. 20, at 7 p.m. for the church congregation and friends. The play has been rehearsed since Nov. 11. Rehearsals will continued until the nights of presentation.

The cast includes Della Wolgomatt, who plays a Jewish girl, Rebecca Abramson, a new girl on campus: Susan Way plays a popular Senior, Madge Conner; Sandra Way plays Carol Houston, girl friend of Al Master, a Texan on campus, played by Paul Bradley.

Denny Way plays Bruce Berington, president of the Student Council; Mrs. Jerry Drost is Miss Claudia Castleton, dean of women; and Jerry Drost plays Prof. Johnston R. Jones.

Mike Trowbridge portrays Johnston P. Jones jr., "a chip off the old block."

Prompters are Jenise Arrigo and Wendy Van Loo. Director is Mrs. Elizabeth Rutledge.

All members of the community are invited to attend.

LSi SIEGLER

GAS WALL FURNACE

If your family is in a huddle because that old heater can't do the job or had another breakdown, put the heating power of a Counterflow Siegler gas wall furnace to work for you. It pours floor level heat out the front, back and both sides. Prefabricated duct kits pipe the heat to adjoining rooms at the side and rear for clean, economical, multi-room heating. Ask for a free home heating survey. There's absolutely no obligation.

SIEGLER CUSTOM COUNTERFLOW WALL FURNACE

QUIET, ECONOMICAL MULTI-ROOM HEATING. The Sieglar Counterflow wall furnace has floor level heat outlets at the front, back and both sides. Easy-to-install duct kits pipe the heat through the walls to adjoining rooms. The powerful, yet whisper-quiet, Dyna-Cone blower provides complete circulation. Now available in two sizes: 65,000 and 40,000 btu/hr., each with a 2-stage control.

SIEGLER MARK III MULTI-ROOM HEATING SYSTEMS

Multi-room heating in handsome furniture styling. Fully automatic, wall-mounted thermostat control and heat outlets at front, back and sides. It sends comfortable floor heat to several rooms. Fine furniture style in either Presidential or Georgetown motif. Walnut vinyl finish.

Martin's, Hess, Andy's in Front

Independents Start League Play Here

Andy's Tire World, Hess Furniture and Martin's Standard Service remained on the top rung of the ladder after the first round of play in the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League Thursday, Dec. 10.

Andy's defeated the First State Bank, 54 to 40; Hess beat Medusa 49 to 38; and Martin's Standard trounced the Topside Lounge, 73 to 49.

Tuesday, Dec. 15, the Topside met Medusa, Andy's faced Martin's and the First State Bank took on Hess. However, scores weren't available at press time.

Beginning Dec. 22, the league will play two games a night instead of three. Hess will meet Andy's at 7:45 p.m. and the First State Bank will play the Topside at 9 p.m.

The league will take a break for the holidays, coming back on Thursday, Jan. 7, with games between Martin's and Medusa and Hess and the Topside.

ANDY'S - BANK

In last Thursday's action, Norm Helms was high man for Andy's, scoring 14 points. He was followed by Sam Supernaw, 13; Dean Mikulski, 12; Bruce Bragg, 9; A. Carey, 3; S. Smith, 2; and G. Solomon, 1, for a total of 54.

High scorer on the State Bank team was Norm Probert, 12; followed by Al Shindorf and Pete Spelios, 7 each; Gary Stutzman, 6; and Bruce Morgan and G. Taylor, 4 each for a total of 40.

The score was tied at the half, 16-up, but Andy's moved ahead in the final periods, scoring 20 points in the third quarter and 18 in the fourth quarter.

MEDUSA-HESS

High man for the winning Hess team was Joe Beaudoin, with a whopping 21 points, followed by D. Smith, 10; Vic Kantola, 8; B. Balch, 4; and Gregg Kirgis and Dick Oestrike, 3 each, for a total of 49.

D. Puttman set the pace for Medusa with 10 points, followed by R. Puttman, 7; B. Holtzman, 5; B. Gengle, 3; Joe Battle, P. Kerr and D. Mitchell, 2; and Floyd Genla, 1, for a total of 38.

MARTINS-TOPSIDE

N. Ostrum rang up 30 points, for Martins, more than twice as many as his closest teammate. Other scorers were Leroy Buchanan, 14; Henry Wagner, 13; Dwight Boss and S. Blanchard, 4 each; George Lusk, 2; and Dave McKenzie, 1, for a total of 73.

L. Cross led the scoring for the Topside with 24 points, followed by Brendan LaBlance, 10; D. Taylor, 7; G. Balch, 5 ; Steve LaBlance, 2; and S. Washburn, 1, for a total of 49.

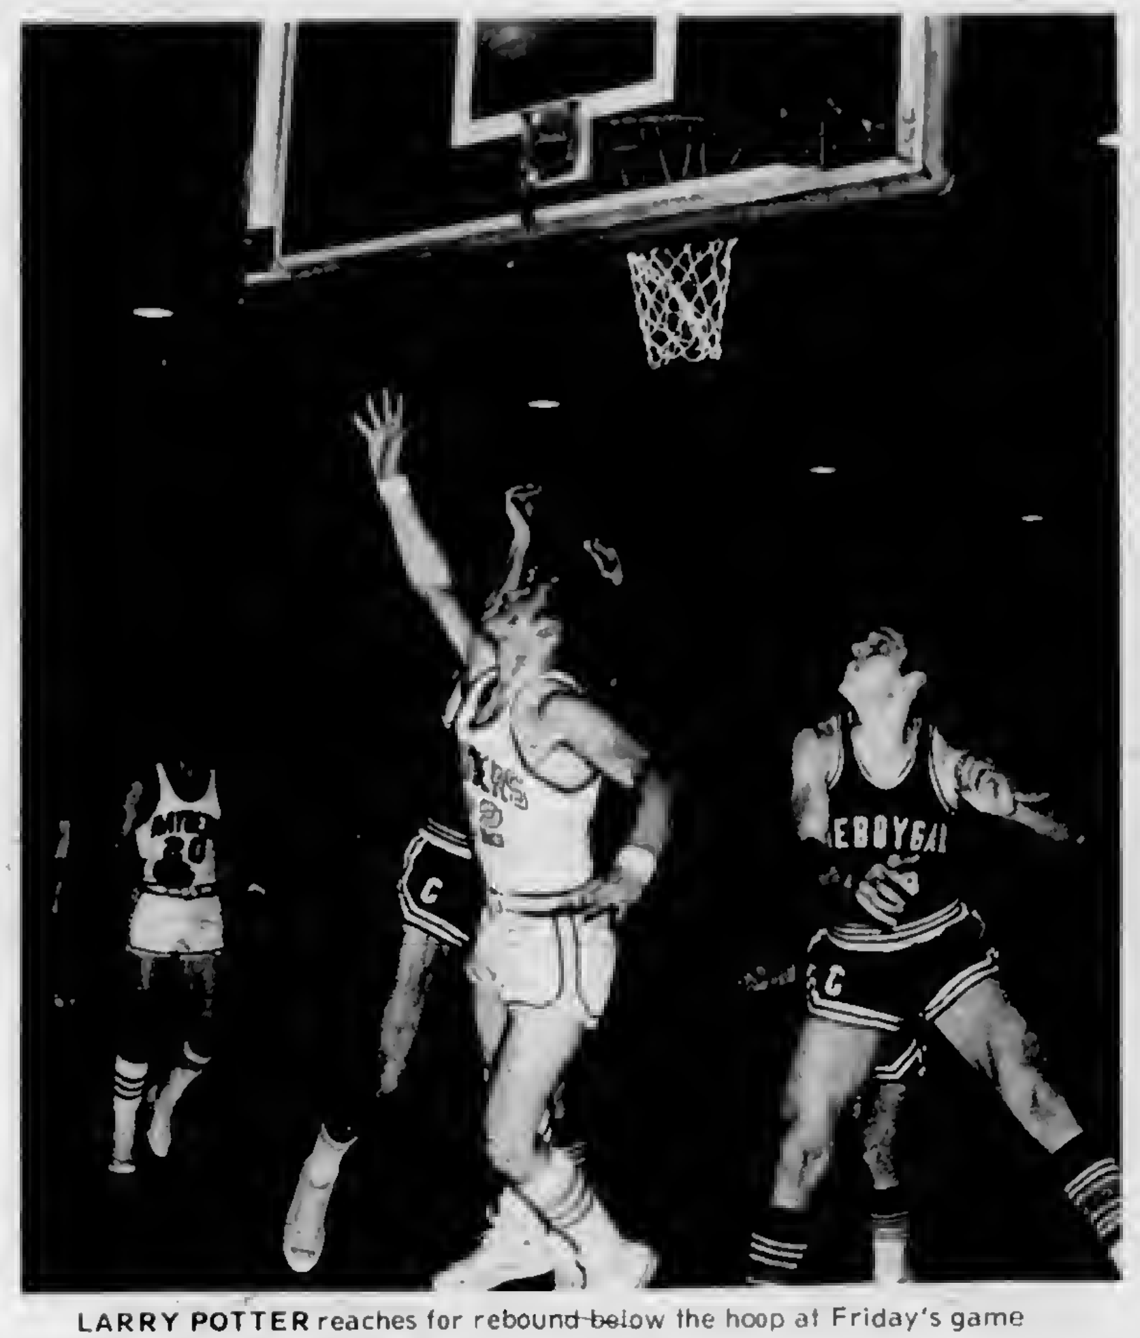
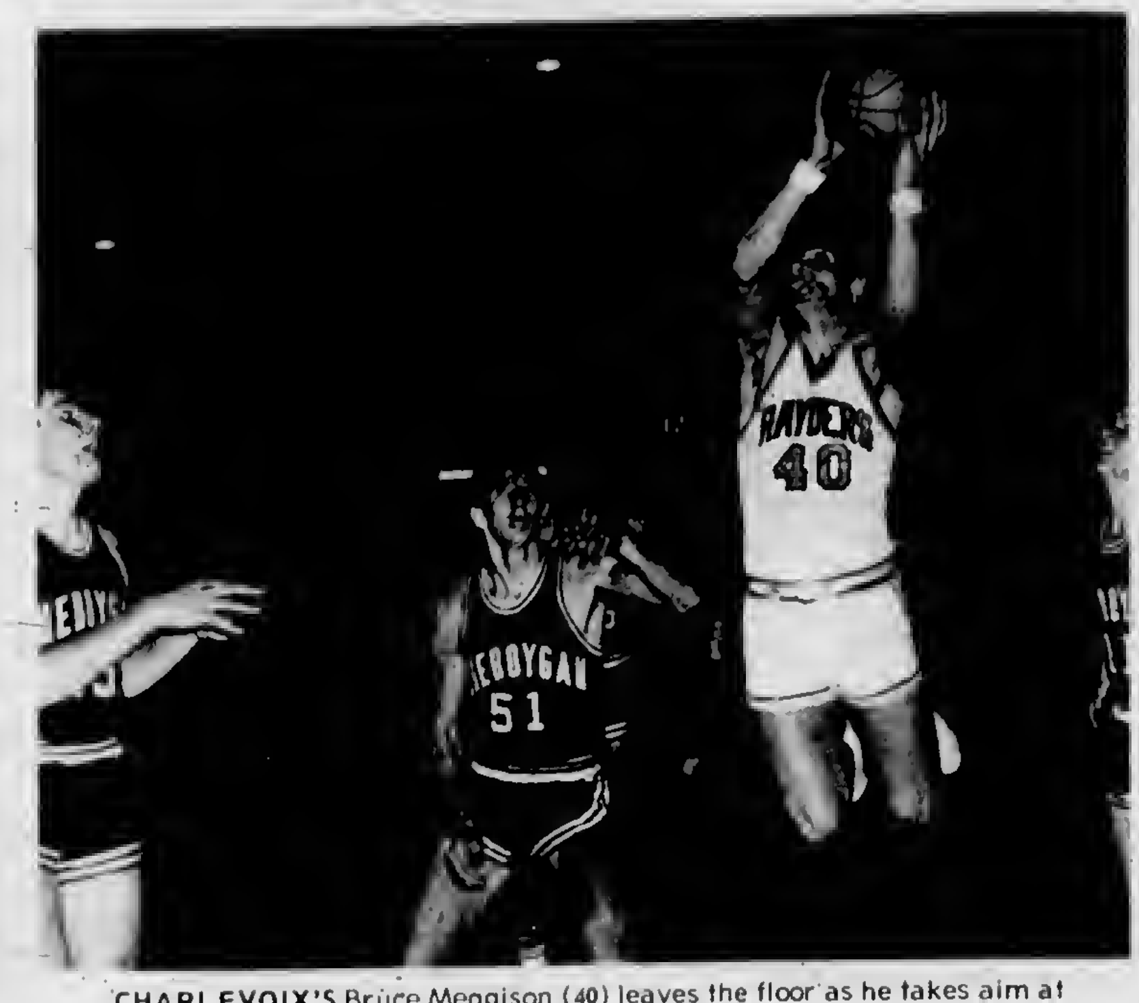
Camera Captures Action at Cheboygan Game

IT'S A toss-up who'll get the ball, Larry Potter or Cheboygan's Mark Herzog.



LARRY POTTER reaches for rebound below the hoop at Friday's game with the Cheboygan Chiefs. Charlevoix won 48 to 44.



CHARLEVOIX'S Bruce Meggison (40) leaves the floor as he takes aim at the basket. Meggison scored 16 points in the game, on seven field goals and two free throws.

PEP BAND Director Gary Stutzman arranged a snappy half-time program for the Charlevoix-Cheboygan game Friday.

JV Squad Loses to Cheboygan

Despite a scoring spree in the final quarter, Charlevoix's JV cagers bowed to their Cheboygan counterparts Friday night, 50 to 42.

Cheboygan led at the end of each quarter: 1st, 13 to 6; 2nd, 35 to 13; 3rd, 43 to 23; and 50 to 42.

The JV's came alive in the final period, but their 19-point boost wasn't enough to overcome Cheboygan's healthy lead.

High scorer for Charlevoix was Lee Simpson, who netted 18 points on six field goals and as many free throws, missing only two.

He was followed by Dennis Crain, 10 points on five field goals; Dale Boss, five points on two and one; Ance, four points on field goals; Pat Doan and Woods, two points each on field goals; and Vince Left, one point on a free throw.

High scorer for Cheboygan was Jim Watkins, 24; followed by Greg Hyatt, eight; Mike LaFriniere, seven; Craig Clark, five; Greg Jewell, four and Eric Nordman and Gary Evans, one point each.

BIG BUSINESS

All of Michigan's farmers could be seated in Michigan State University's Spartan Stadium (capacity 76,000), yet one of every four Michigan citizens derives some part of his income from agriculture, notes Dr. George Dike, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

Course Loses Keith Carey

Keith Carey, manager of the Charlevoix Golf Course for the past 17 summers, has submitted his resignation to the Charlevoix City Council.

Carey recently was appointed assistant to the principal of Midland High School, an 11-month-a-year job.

He says his new position will leave him no time to run the golf course.

Rayders Scalp Chiefs, 48-44

Charlevoix's cage squad won a neck-and-neck battle with the Cheboygan Chiefs Friday night, 48 to 44. It was the Rayders second victory of the season, against two losses.

This Friday, the Rayders will meet the Gaylord Blue Devils, at Gaylord.

Quarter scores in the Cheboygan match were close right across the board, although the Rayders always had the edge: 1st, 13 to 8; 2nd, 25 to 21; 3rd, 38 to 33; and 48 to 44.

High point man for the Rayders was Bill Carey, who tallied 22 points on 11 field goals.

Only other two-figure man was Bruce Meggison who rang up 16 points on seven field goals and two free throws out of seven attempts.

Also on the scorecard were Kevin Swanson, eight points on field goals and Jerry Pease, two points on a field goal.

High man for Cheboygan was Mark Anderson, 18 points on five field goals and eight free throws.

The remainder of Cheboygan's scoring was on field goals: Mark Fralick, 10 points; and Mark Herzog, Joe King and Darrell Lindman, two points each.

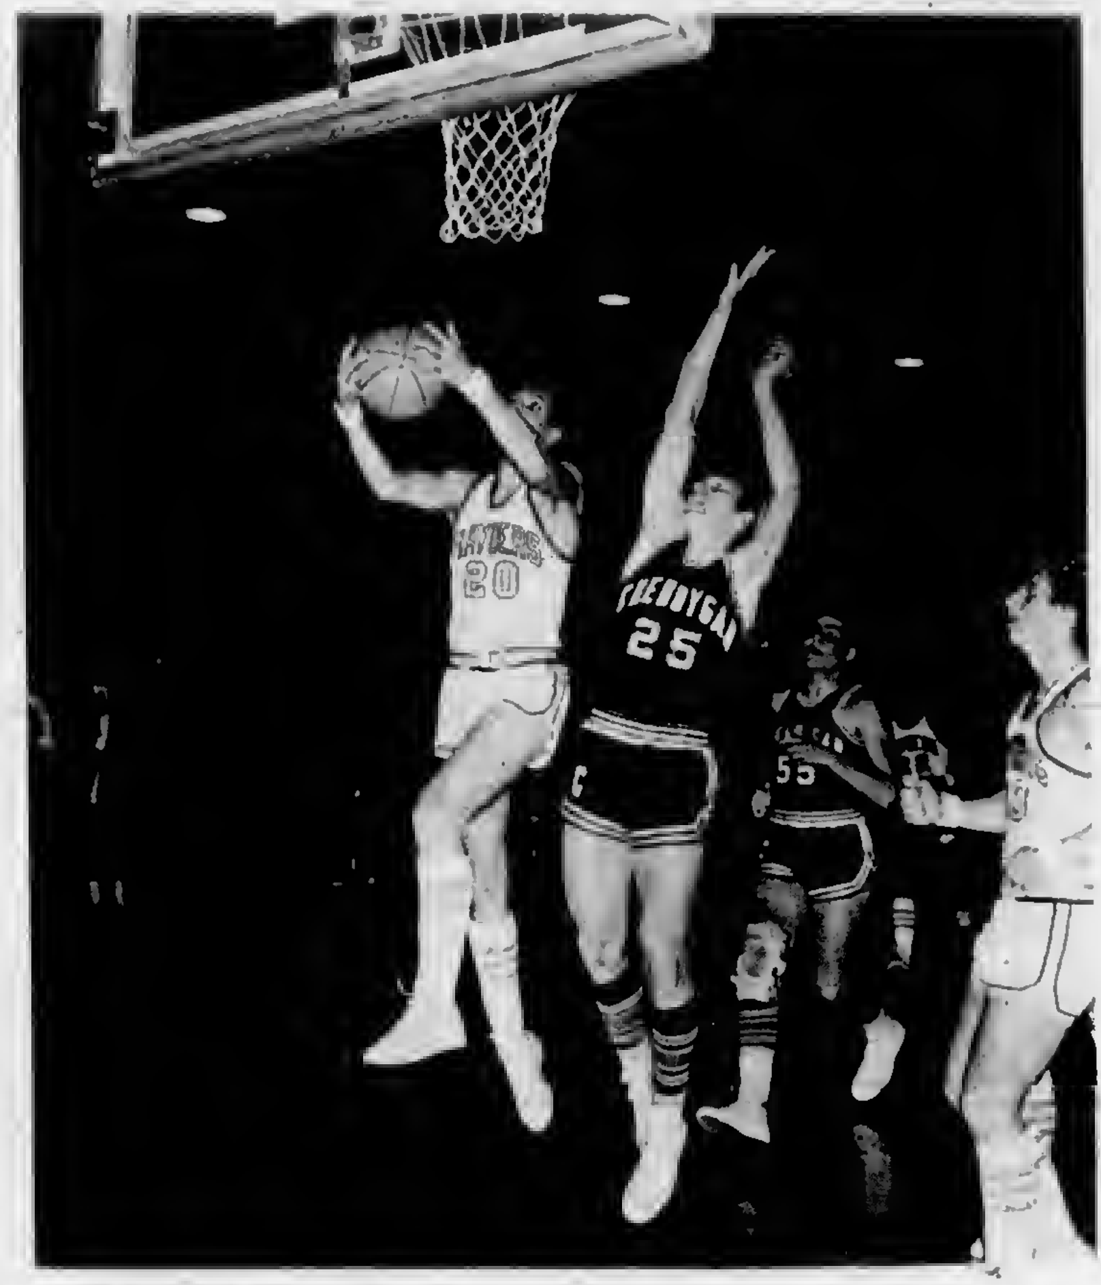
E.J. GI Gets Field Training

Army Private Leonard B. Thompson, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Thompson, 824 Water-st., East Jordan, recently completed nine weeks of advanced individual infantry training at Ft. Polk, La.

During the course, he received guerrilla training and lived under simulated Vietnam conditions for five days, fighting off night attacks and conducting raids on enemy villages. He was taught methods of removing booby traps, setting ambushes and avoiding enemy ambushes.

Other specialized training included small unit tactics, map reading, land mine warfare, communications, and firing the M-18 rifle, M-60 machine gun and the 3.5-inch rocket launcher.

Pvt. Thompson, whose wife, Merle, lives at 3612 Seneca-st., Flint, entered the army in July 1970 and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky.



RAYDER BILL CAREY (20) tries for bucket, with Cheboygan's Mark Fralick (25) close behind. At right is Bruce Megglson.

Sense of Obligation Spurs Yule Giving, Survey Indicates

DETROIT–Christmas is taking on a new tone this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Henry, of suburban Redford Township. But it is not because of a term paper the 38-year old Mrs. Henry wrote last spring at Wayne State University.

Mrs. Henry's paper, based on a survey she conducted in a suburban Dearborn church, says Santa Claus can be upsetting to many young children as they grow old enough to realize he is a myth.

The survey also disclosed that many parents ignore the religious aspect of gift giving, and actually are giving gifts they had hoped to receive as children.

Her homemade survey indicated that many parents talk of Santa Claus to relive their own childhoods, often creating a sense of uneasiness and confusion in the child.

Survey answers attributed gift giving to personal desires to express affection, or to a sense of obligation.

She expressed surprise by the answers to a pair of questions in the survey. "Remembering that this was a church group," she noted, "only 10 of 93 answers responded with religious reasons, such as demonstrating Christianity, for giving gifts."

She also found that only seven of 45 respondents expressed dissatisfaction that Santa plays a more prominent role in Christmas than religious aspects.

After presenting her paper at the 1970 meeting of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts, and Letters, Mrs. Henry said, "Next Christmas I am going to put a lot more thought into what I give my two girls and why. It should not be a superficial exercise. Unhappily, like so many other things in our culture, we just do them."

Now that the Christmas season is here, Santa Claus is not as much at home at the Henry's as he once was. But it is not the fault of the term paper.

"Carol is 11 and Susan is nine this year," Mrs. Henry explained, "and they both know the truth about Santa Claus. But we are going to play Santa Claus one more year by tacit agreement."

She said the girls have outgrown the toys and "give me" attitude of past years. "They haven't even mentioned presents they would like to have or toys they have seen on television. They are more involved with Christmas preparations this year," she said.

Santa Claus is not the only myth Mrs. Henry has researched. She spent the summer working on her master's degree thesis, which is based on Halloween.

"I interviewed neighborhood children, and discussed witches and goblins and other Halloween myths with them. But it didn't throw them at all," Mrs. Henry laughed. "They were completely immune to the facts."

Mrs. Henry plans to continue her studies at Wayne after receiving her degree. "I became interested in folklore because of its great potential for research," she said. "There are so many things we do today which are based on our traditions."

U.P. to Get More Phones

Drummond Island Telephone Co. has received approval to provide telephone service in portions of two sparsely-populated townships in Mackinac County.

The utility told the Public Service Commission of the Michigan Department of Commerce, which approved its application, that it will serve 17 customers when it starts service next summer in portions of Newton and Garfield Townships 40 miles northwest of St. Ignace.

Although it is named after Drummond Island, the utility's headquarters are in the Menominee County community of Carney.

B.I. Research School Wins $54,594 Grant

Central Michigan University has been awarded a $54,594 National Science Foundation grant to conduct a 1971 summer science institute on Beaver Island, Dr. James E. Hayes, university vice provost for research, has announced.

The institute, to be held from June 21 to Aug. 13, will enroll approximately 36 secondary school teachers, who will study aquatic biology, limnology, fresh-water algae and aquatic zoology during their stay at the CMU Biological Station.

Dr. Matthew H. Hohn, CMU professor of biology, will direct the institute.

The purpose of the program, according to Dr. Hohn, is to acquaint secondary school biology teachers with proper resource management procedures.

During the institute, participants will learn how to sample lakes, rivers, and streams and how to study water pollution, algae population, and environmental inter-relationships.

"A lot of the work will be field work, but students also will do considerable work in the lab during the program," Dr. Hohn said.

Eight semester hours of graduate credit may be earned during the eight-week session. The credits can be applied toward the Master of Science degree in biology or the Specialist Degree at CMU or transferred to other universities.

Participants will be chosen by institute staff members. Applicants should hold a bachelor's degree and be currently teaching biology on the secondary school level. Selection preference will be given to those who have been in teaching for three or more years, have not attended an institute recently, show definite need for the courses and studies proposed, and who work in areas near lakes, ponds, or streams which they can use in their own teaching situation.

Stipends, dependent and travel allowances will be available to participants.

All institute lectures and field studies will be located at the University's Biological Station, a 40-acre tract on the east shore of Beaver Island in northern Lake Michigan.

Interested teachers may obtain an application to participate by writing: Dr. Matthew Hohn, Brooks Science Hall, Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Mich. 48858.

All applications must be returned by March 1, 1971, to be considered. Selected participants will be notified by March 15, 1971, and those selected have until April 5 to accept or decline an institute study grant.

R.A. Borak Named Forest Supervisor

Robert A. Borak, district forest supervisor at Cadillac, has been named to succeed Roger M. Rasmussen of Roscommon as the Department of Natural Resources regional forest supervisor for the northern Lower Peninsula.

Warren W. Shapton, DNR field deputy director, said the two men would assume their new positions as soon as Gov. William Milliken lifts a freeze on filling state vacancies which he recently imposed as an austerity measure.

Borak is a 1952 forest management graduate of Michigan Technological University and an 18-year veteran with the department.

He launched his career with the DNR in 1952 on the Lake States timber survey crew which covered the White Cloud, Gladwin, West Branch and Atlanta areas. In 1953, he moved to Gwinn as assistant district forester, remaining there until being named district forester with headquarters in Alpena in 1956. He transferred to Galdwin in 1964 as district forest supervisor, moving to Cadillac in 1966.

Borak is a veteran of World War II, with service in the Philippines.

Rasmussen, who has been with the DNR 19 years, will succeed Merrill L. (Pete) Petoskey as assistant regional manager for southern Michigan. Petoskey was appointed chief of the department's game division in early November.

CHS News & Views

CHS Students Keeping Busy With Club Work

By Debbie Smith

The Pep Club, one of the traditional clubs of Charlevoix High School, is back in 1970 with 118 members including boys for the first time. Mrs. Dale Fassett and Bruce Morgan are faculty advisors and the officers are Sherry Austin president; Teri Wood, vice president; Sandy Cellner, secretary, and Jim Wilson, treasurer.

The club plans pep meetings and has given several skits to show its enthusiasm for the Rayders.

Instead of a Sadie Hawkins dance this year, the Pep Club is sponsoring a MORP (Prom spelled backwards). The girl must ask the boy to go and pay his way for the evening at a rate of 1 cent per pound of the boy's weight.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club consists of 36 members with Mrs. Seaman as advisor. The officers are Fred Davison, president; Teri Wood, vice president; Peggy Carey, secretary; and Janet Begrow, treasurer.

The club combines learning the Spanish language with studying the Spanish-speaking countries of the world. On Oct. 22 the club traveled to Petoskey to see a travelogue on Mexico. The tickets were provided by the Kiwanis Club. A presentation of slides taken in Spain was given by Charles Berg on Dec. 2.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club in its third year at Charlevoix High School has a membership of 30 students. Mrs. Max Novak is the faculty sponsor and the officers are Debby Smith, president; Diane Boss, vice president; Susan Pettis, secretary; Cindy Funk, treasurer; and Bill Wilson, historain.

A skit based on Roman gods and goddesses was performed at the pep meeting on Dec. 11, and a party combining the customs of Christmas and the Roman festival Saturnalia was held Dec. 15.

JOURNALISM

The Journalism I and II classes attended the seventh annual West Michigan High School Journalism Conference at Ferris State College on Oct. 31. Individual sessions were given on such topics as yearbook layout and design, covering sports with camera and pencil, creative newspaper layout, finding and reporting news stories, and suggestions to editors of both yearbooks and newspapers.

YEARBOOK

A representative from the company publishing the Rayder yearbook met with the annual staff on November 23 to discuss this year's book. Co-editors of the 1970-71 annual are Donna Staley and Sandy Gigg. Orders for the yearbook have begun, and the advertising staff has been canvassing local businesses.

CRIMSON FLASH

The Crimson Flash has been issued five times already this year with Sherry Austin as editor and Mrs. Lawrence Ford as advisor. A recently purchased machine makes it possible for photographs to be printed in the paper, and a new project has been started in writing school news for the "COURIER."

SLAAM

SLAAM stands for "Student Librarian Assistants Association of Michigan" and works to promote interest in the library and provide a service to the school. The officers are Elizabeth Currie, president; Sue Kayner, vice-president) Marian May, secretary; Marlene Dixon, treasurer; and Ted Schantz, historian. On Nov. 5 the members attended a regional meeting at Mancelona. Another regional meeting is scheduled for April 19 in Alpena, and a state meeting will be held in May at Ann Arbor.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America have elected the following officers: Faye Whitley, president; Dori Peters, vice president; Debbie White, Secretary, Carol Russell, treasurer; Terri Jackson, historian; Marian Staley, reporter; Vicki Potter, parliamentarion, and Jane Wimmer, song leader.

With Mrs. Clarence Odmark as advisor, the club has decorated the halls of the school with figures of Charlie Brown and his friends and stenciled designs on the windows with artificial snow.

GAA

One of the newest clubs in the Girls' Athletic Association. Its purpose is to promote participation, physical fitness, and student leadership in a wide variety of activities. The sports include bowling, volleyball, gymnastics, track and field, skiing, snowmobiling and ice skating. The officers are Annette Hansen, president; Denice Wager, vice president; Ann Carey, secretary; and Bobbie Sladek, treasurer.

MARCHING BAND

The Charlevoix High School Marching Band, under the direction of Mr. Gary Stutzman accompanied the football team to Boyne City Nov. 6. In a pre-game show both the Charlevoix Band and the Boyne City Band played their school songs, and joined in playing the National Anthem.

At halftime the band combined dance steps and popular music in "Te Teaberry Shuffle" and featured a brass ensemble in "Bill Bailey's Combo."

The band's moneymaking projects have included the Fall Band Dinner and a sale of Community Calendars.

On Nov. 22, five band members participated in the Honors Band Concert at Mancelona. After competing against many students from other area schools Kay Fiedorek, Jeanne Belfy, Sara Sweet, Jim Wilson, and Eric Hedrick were chosen to represent the Charlevoix Band.

On Dec. 16, the Symphony and Concert Bands will perform in a Christmas concert at the PTO meeting. This year's Senior Band officers are Beth Inman, president; Jim Wilson, student director; Sandy Way, secretary; and Diane Klooster, treasurer.

ER Y CHRISTMAS

CHARLEVOIX'S Christmas lights are up and burning brightly, welcoming visitors to the city during the holiday season.

Linda Gill, Larry Anders Win Notice

By Laurel Ance

Too many times after a student completes his high school education, his accomplishments go unnoticed. It has recently been brought to our attention the accomplishments of two of the alumni of C.H.S. which we feel should not be ignored.

LINDA GILL

Linda Gill, a 1970 graduate of Charlevoix High School, has been chosen by her classmates at Davenport College of Business to serve a one-year term on the Association of Women Students Council.

The council serves as a clearing house for all women activities on the campus, as well as a judicial board hearing all grievances, of women students.

Linda entered Davenport College in the fall term of 1970 in the executive secretarial program.

LARRY ANDERS

Larry Anders, a 1989 graduate, has been re-elected president of the Student Body at North Central Michigan College. Larry enrolled in the fall of 1969 to enter the field of education. He's majoring in sociology, and minoring in political science.

Biology Students Do Own Research

By Peggy Berg

A new course offered at Charlevoix High School this year is Advanced Biology.

The class is taught in a somewhat different manner in that students are allowed to choose various projects to work on during the year according to their own interests.

Bruce Morgan, instructor for the class, hopes that because the student is allowed to work on an individual basis, he will learn more about experimental design and will be able to pursue a field which he is most interested in.

All students in the class have taken Biology I and therefore know the basics and can apply them to their experiments.

The following are three examples of the varying nature of these projects.

Mike Mol has taken samples of water from Lake Charlevoix, Lake Michigan and Round Lake and observed how much plankton and other micro-organisms are contained in the samples.

Mike found that Round Lake had the most organisms. He stated that this could be attributed to the presence of more nutrients and phosphates in the lake. Lake Charlevoix had more than Lake Michigan mainly because Lake Charlevoix is a smaller lake and therefore is affected more.

Sue Kayner and Eric Hedrick conducted a study of a rat's nocturnal habits and its relationship to activity. They used a maze with food to urge the rat on, and recorded how long it took the rat to learn the maze in the dark and in the light. They found that increasing the activity by taking advantage of the nocturnal cycle apparently does not increase the learning capabilities.

Jeanne Belfy is testing the ability of gold fish to learn to perform a task by conditioning them to an electric shock and light sequence. In the absence of the electric shock, the fish still respond to the light.

Several other projects are underway but they are not yet conclusive.

Judge Makel To Be Honored At Banquet

A banquet honoring Charlevoix County Probate Judge John Makel will be held at the Argonne Supper Club at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 17, according to County Clerk Clarence Rabach.

Judge Makel will retire Dec. 31 after serving the county as probate judge for the past ten years.

He will be succeeded by incumbent Emmet County Probate Judge John Murphy, who was elected in November to serve the newly-created Charlevoix-Emmet Probate District.

Reservations for the banquet may be made by calling the clerk's office, 7-9272.

New Social Worker Joins County Office

Robert Allyn, 27, has joined the staff of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services as a social worker, Director Richard Tillen has announced.

Allyn received his B.A. in sociology from Otterbein College in Westerville, Ohio, Nov. 27.

A native of Delaware, Ohio, Allyn graduated from Delaware High School and spent four years in the Marine Corps, including 15 months in Vietnam. He was discharged in December of 1968.

Allyn and his wife, the former Paige Sears of Parkersburg, W. Va., arrived in Charlevoix last weekend on their honeymoon. They were married Dec. 5 in Parkersburg and left immediately for northern Michigan.

The Allyns are living at 101 Carson-ave.

Luncheon Held For Kujawski

John Kujawski of Boyne City, who steps down Dec. 31, as chairman of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners, was honored at a luncheon at the Weathervane Inn at noon Tuesday, Dec. 15.

Kujawski, who has chaired the county group for the past two years, did not run for reelection as commissioner from Boyne City. Last summer he was one of 11 candidates who ran for the House of Representatives in the 106th district.

Four Planets Made Up 'Star of Bethlehem'

The Three Wise men would never recognize the Star of Bethlehem this Christmas.

But it's there, in plain sight–though now fragmented into the planets Jupiter, Saturn, Mars, and Venus. A popular astronomical theory is that two or more of these planets appeared to come together in the heavens so that they looked like a single star to the Three Kings, the National Geographic Society says.

Astronomers offer this explanation--among others--in the assumption that the Star of Bethlehem was in fact a genuine celestial object.

Some Biblical scholars, however, argue that when the Three Wise Men talked about a star, they were actually using the word in an allegorical description of a spiritual experience.

STAR IN THE EAST

St. Matthew described in the Gospel how a star guided the Magi to the Christ child in Bethlehem:

"And behold tho star which they had seen in the east, went before them until it came and stood over when the child was. And seeing the star they rejoiced with exceeding great joy."

Astronomers say the star was really a conjunction or apparent coming-together of several planets. They point out that, due to changes in the calendar since then, the birth of Christ was really about 7 or 6 B.C.

In 7 B.C., skywatchers looking toward the east saw Jupiter pass Saturn on May 29, then appear to reverse and pass it again on September 29, and finally go forward again to overtake it a third time on December 4. This triple conjunction happens only once every 125 years.

These rare groupings of planets probably were considered with extra seriousness because Saturn supposedly ruled over the destiny of the Jews. It was also considered significant that the phenomena happened in the Constellation Pisces, or House of the Hebrews, where celestial events traditionally foretold occurrences of great importance to Jews.

PLANETS GAVE SIGN

Early the next year, in 6 B.C., there was a conjunction that occurs only every 805 years: Mars, Jupiter, and Saturn appeared to come together. Some scholars theorize that this event was the sign–the first sighting of the star in the east–that started the Three Kings on their journey.

If so, while they were on their way another grouping took place between Jupiter, Saturn, and the third brightest object in the entire heavens, Venus.

But these were times of other sky sightings sometimes identified–with generous allowance for calendar error–as the Star of Bethlehem. Halley's comet shoud have been visible about 11 B.C. and another comet about 4 B.C.

Other explanations–that the Star of Bethlehem might have been a supernova or exploding star, or that it was an exceptionally bright metero--are discounted because none of the many professional stargazing astrologers of the time mentioned any such observances.

This December all four of the "Star of Bethlehem planets" will be visible.

DECEMBER SIGHTINGS

Mercury: Evening star visible low in west at sunset.

Venus, Mars, Jupiter: Morning stars rising about four hours before sun in constellation Virgo-Libra.

Saturn: Early evening object visible in Constellation Pisces.

Moon: December 5–Perigee (closest to Earth, 230,100 miles) and first quarter; December 12–Full moon; December 19–Apogee (farthest from Earth, 251,300 miles); December 20–Last quarter; December 28–New moon.

Debaters Tackle Pollution

By Sandy Gigg

This year's high school debate question is Resolved: That the Federal government should establish, finance and administer pollution control programs for air and water in the United States.

Those students debating the negative side of the question, that the present system is adequate, are: Cathi Baldwin, Rindi Luedke, Jerry Dohm, Bill Moore, Barb Herzog, Trudi Goldstick, Shelly King, Rod Sloan, Sue Luedke, and Lisa Wasoski. The students debating the affirmative side of the question, that the Federal government is the only governmental agency that can control pollution, are: Pam Alspaugh, Nancy Fochtman, Laurel Ance, Sandy Gigg, Sue Kayner, Nikki Ballard, Jim Wilson, Ron Bindi, Sue Haertter, and Marti Anders.

The Charlevoix Debate Team has done quite well considering this is the first year in debate for most of the students.

The debate teams first debate was an invitational meet at Big Rapids, Oct. 31. All the schools that attended were allowed to enter one negative and one affirmative team. Each team debated in three rounds, this is where an affirmative team debates against a negative team from a different school, usually lasting about 1½ hours, giving the school a total of six rounds. Charlevoix debated against such schools as Standish-Sterling High School, Big Rapids High School, Adlai Stevenson High School, Mt. Pleasant Scared Heart High School and several other large schools with good debate programs. Charlevoix took third place trophy tieing with Adlai Stevenson High School in Utica on a win loss basis of 5 to 1 making the judges to go the total speaker points to determine the placement for first, second, and third place trophies.

The first league meet was held in Petoskey on Nov. 21. Schools in league are allowed to enter only one negative team and one affirmative team. Each school debates two rounds. Charlevoix's affirmative team met Traverse City and Petoskey, the negative team met Onaway and Traverse City.

The second league meet was at Charlevoix with Petoskey and Johannesberg.

Mrs. Fiedler Answers Peace Symbol Editorial

Charlevoix, Michigan
R.F.D. 3, 49720
December 11, 1970

Charlevoix Courier,
Charlevoix, Michigan.

Dear editor, Mr. Clock:

Here comes another rap,
The "Peace Symbol" to discuss.
It seems such an innocent thing,
Why stir up a great-big fuss?

A peace symbol is more worthy
Than fighting tools any day.
But why is it made thus,
To attract attention, I pray?

Your clock wasn't running,
During the World War One,
When Marxism brought destruction,
But Allies the victory won.

This symbol is a subtle renewal,
Of Marxism, (Communism, now)
Any hurried deductions prove
This an Anti-American vow.

Who handles this misleading sign?
Not those of whom we are proud.
But those for whom we apologize,
That stand out 'strange' in any crowd.

This symbol is misleading--'tis true.
Let not truth be perverted--
Following error comes confusion,
Let our minds be converted.

Let's bring it out in the open,
To cherish this thought no more.

Kids ride most any popular goat,
We must guide to the safer shore.

A lot of kids don't know this,
They just follow along,
But they'll find sooner or later,
It strums a hopeless song.

History and religion are much on,
The shelf, for you, I guess.
You are a product of our modern American culture. Confess?

You are rightfully consumed with Important and immediate tasks,
With good-will for all through your paper.
How much more should we really ask?

But this "Symbol" is Anti-American
And "Sinister" in the truest sense.
Let us stand out against "IT",
From this day forth, and hence.

A peace symbol is welcome and precious,
Worthy and needed at all times.
Let's revive the "Dove" Bird,
And purify our minds.

Please don't misunderstand me.
Criticism is not my intention.
But that "the truth makes free, free indeed,"
Are not words of my invention.

For the best for the youth of our land,
Your fellow citizen,
(Mrs.) Jane Fiedler

Clockwise An Answer to Bircher

Dear Mr. Cox:

Apparently a misunderstanding exists and hope it can be cleared up.

"Friske Stand Rankles Him" headlined my recent letter to you, published Nov. 18, 1970. Where my question's intent was to learn a specific objection, you – Mr. Cox, as formulator of editorial policy (which sounds sanely levelheaded, except for your Birch blindspot) have to the John Birch Society! Specifics, from A to Z or just A.

The Birchers are against evil and so it is difficult to figure why you seem to be against them. Can you answer.

Sincerely,
J.C. Mathias
915 E. Sandusky
Findlay, Ohio 45840

(Editor's note: Can I answer? Yep.

A. I am against any group, such as the John Birch Society, which must use sneaky "front" organizations to achieve its ends. In the 16th printing of the John Birch Society "Blue Book" founder Robert Welch writes on Pg. 77:

"We would organize fronts–little fronts, big fronts, temporary fronts, permanent fronts, all kinds of fronts. One of the greatest weaknesses and mistakes on the conservative side has been that almost all of the organizations, real ones or just letterhead outfits, have been put together for general purposes. The Communists have been far smarter. They would never think of setting up publicly, for instance, a Committee to Promote Communism."

B. I am against any group, such as the John Birch Society, that badmouths democracy, and I have heard it done time and again at John Birch Society meetings by John Birch Society members. Democracy is what has made the United States the country it is today and it annoys me to have Birchers constantly whittling away at the very foundation of our government.

C. I am against any group, such as the Birch Society, which feels it must resort to sleuthing and smear campaigns achieve its goals. In describing the smear technique in the same edition of the "Blue Book" Robert Welch writes on Pg. 86:

"...we would run in the magazine an article consisting entirely of questions to this man, which would be devastating in their implications. The question tachnique, when skillfully used in this way, is mean and dirty. But the Communists we are after are meaner and dirtier, and too slippery for you to put your fingers on them in the ordinary way–no matter how much they look and act like propserous members of the local Rotary Club...The softening process of wonder and doubt at work on the resistant minds of these liberals, and on the supply uninformed minds of some of the general public, would be getting those minds in condition for the next shock and then the next one to penetrate further."

Talk about brainwashing! The Birchers have made a science of it!

D. I do not believe that President Richard Nixon is one of the "slipperiest politicians that ever showed up on the American scene (Pg. 166 of the "Blue Book.") Nor do I believe that the late President John F. Kennedy was "Reuther's stooge" (Pg. 119 of the "Blue Book.") Nor do I believe that the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower was ever manipulated by the Communists, as Robert Welch insinuates in his book "The Politician."

E. I cannot agree with a man, or an organization, which believes "that neither the form of government nor its quality is an important as its quantity. A thoroughly foul government, like that of Nero, which still did not reach its tentacles too far into the daily lives and doings of its subjects was far better for the Roman Empire in the long run that the intentionally benevolent government of Diocletian or of Constantine, whose bureaucratic agents were everywhere...Yet I had rather have for America a government of three hundred thousand officials and agents, every single one of them a thief, than a government of three million agents with every single one of them an honest, honorable public servant." ("Blue Book, Pgs. 130 and 131.)

What kind of nonsense is that?

F. I object when anyone, even a member of the John Birch Society, calls me Mr. Cox when my name is Mr. Clock. Let's get our facts straight, Mr. Mathias.)

Quotable Quotes

The first amendment "...presupposes that right conclusions are more likely to be gathered out of a multitude of tongues, than through any kind of authoritative selection. To many this is, and always will be, folly; but we have staked upon it our all." – Justice John Marshall Harlan.

"The organization of our press has truly been a success. Our law concerning the press is such that divergencies of opinion between members of the government are no longer an occasion for public exhibitions, which are not the newspapers' busineess. We've eliminated that conception of political freedom which holds that everybody has the right to say whatever comes into his head." – Adolf Hitler.

Navy Post Office

By Jim Fitgerald

Just as I was trying to figure how many 6-packs I could buy with $98.5 million, I received this thrilling communication from the U.S. Navy. It said:

"Manned Spacecraft Recovery Forces of the U.S. Navy will provide commemorative cachet and cancellation services for the upcoming Apollo 14 manned flight to the moon. Philatelic coordinators designated for the Atlantic and Pacific Fleet Recovery Forces (Task Force 140 and 130) will receive all such covers and make distribution to assigned recovery ships."

Huh?

This was obviously classified information. Otherwise, why would it have been sent in code? Fortunately, I know a bartender who used to be an admiral. He decoded the message for me.

I was most interested in learning what a "philatelic coordinator" is. It sounds almost erotic. But no, worse luck. According to the ex-admiral, a philatelic coordinator is the officer who orders the enlisted men to lick the stamps.

What the Navy was trying to tell me is that we're going to the moon again in January, whoopee!, and the Navy will cancel my 8-cent stamp in memory of the billion-dollar event. News like that certainly makes me feel a lot better about paying taxes. It is comforting to realize that out there somewhere there is a philatelic coordinator ready to serve me.

Briefly, it works like this: After leaving the moon, astronauts always land in the water. This is to give the Navy something to do. You can't row a boat to Mars, you know. What the Navy does is fish the astronauts out of the water and loan them a razor. An admiral also answers the phone and says "Hey astronaut, it's for you" when President Nixon calls.

It goes without saying that every True American wants his stamp cancelled by the post office located in the ship that picks up the astronauts.

All of which is just darling. But how about that Orbiting Astronomical Observatory which carried the world's largest space telescope into the atmosphere the other day? It was the most expensive scientific payload ever built. The telescope was supposed to provide the clearest picture yet of the little stars twinkling. But something went wrong, the nose cone didn't jettison, and the whole schmeer turned into a $98.5 million fizzle.

That grand telescope is now in pieces, possibly at the bottom of the Indian Ocean. If the Navy ever recovers the remains, I trust a philatelic coordinator will be present to cancel our stamps for us.

In the meantime, I'll be darned if I'm smart enough to figure how many 6-packs $98.5 million would buy. In fact, I'm so dumb I can't even understand how my country can afford to shoot billions of bucks into the air but can't afford to feed every hungry mouth and plug every polluting smokestack.

Ah, there'll be a day when I'll want my stamp cancelled but I'm not going to live that long. I hope there's a philatelic coordinator somewhere over the rainbow, in the great Military Post Office in the sky.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER
111 Bridge Street
Charlevoix,
Michigan 49720

Dear Editor:

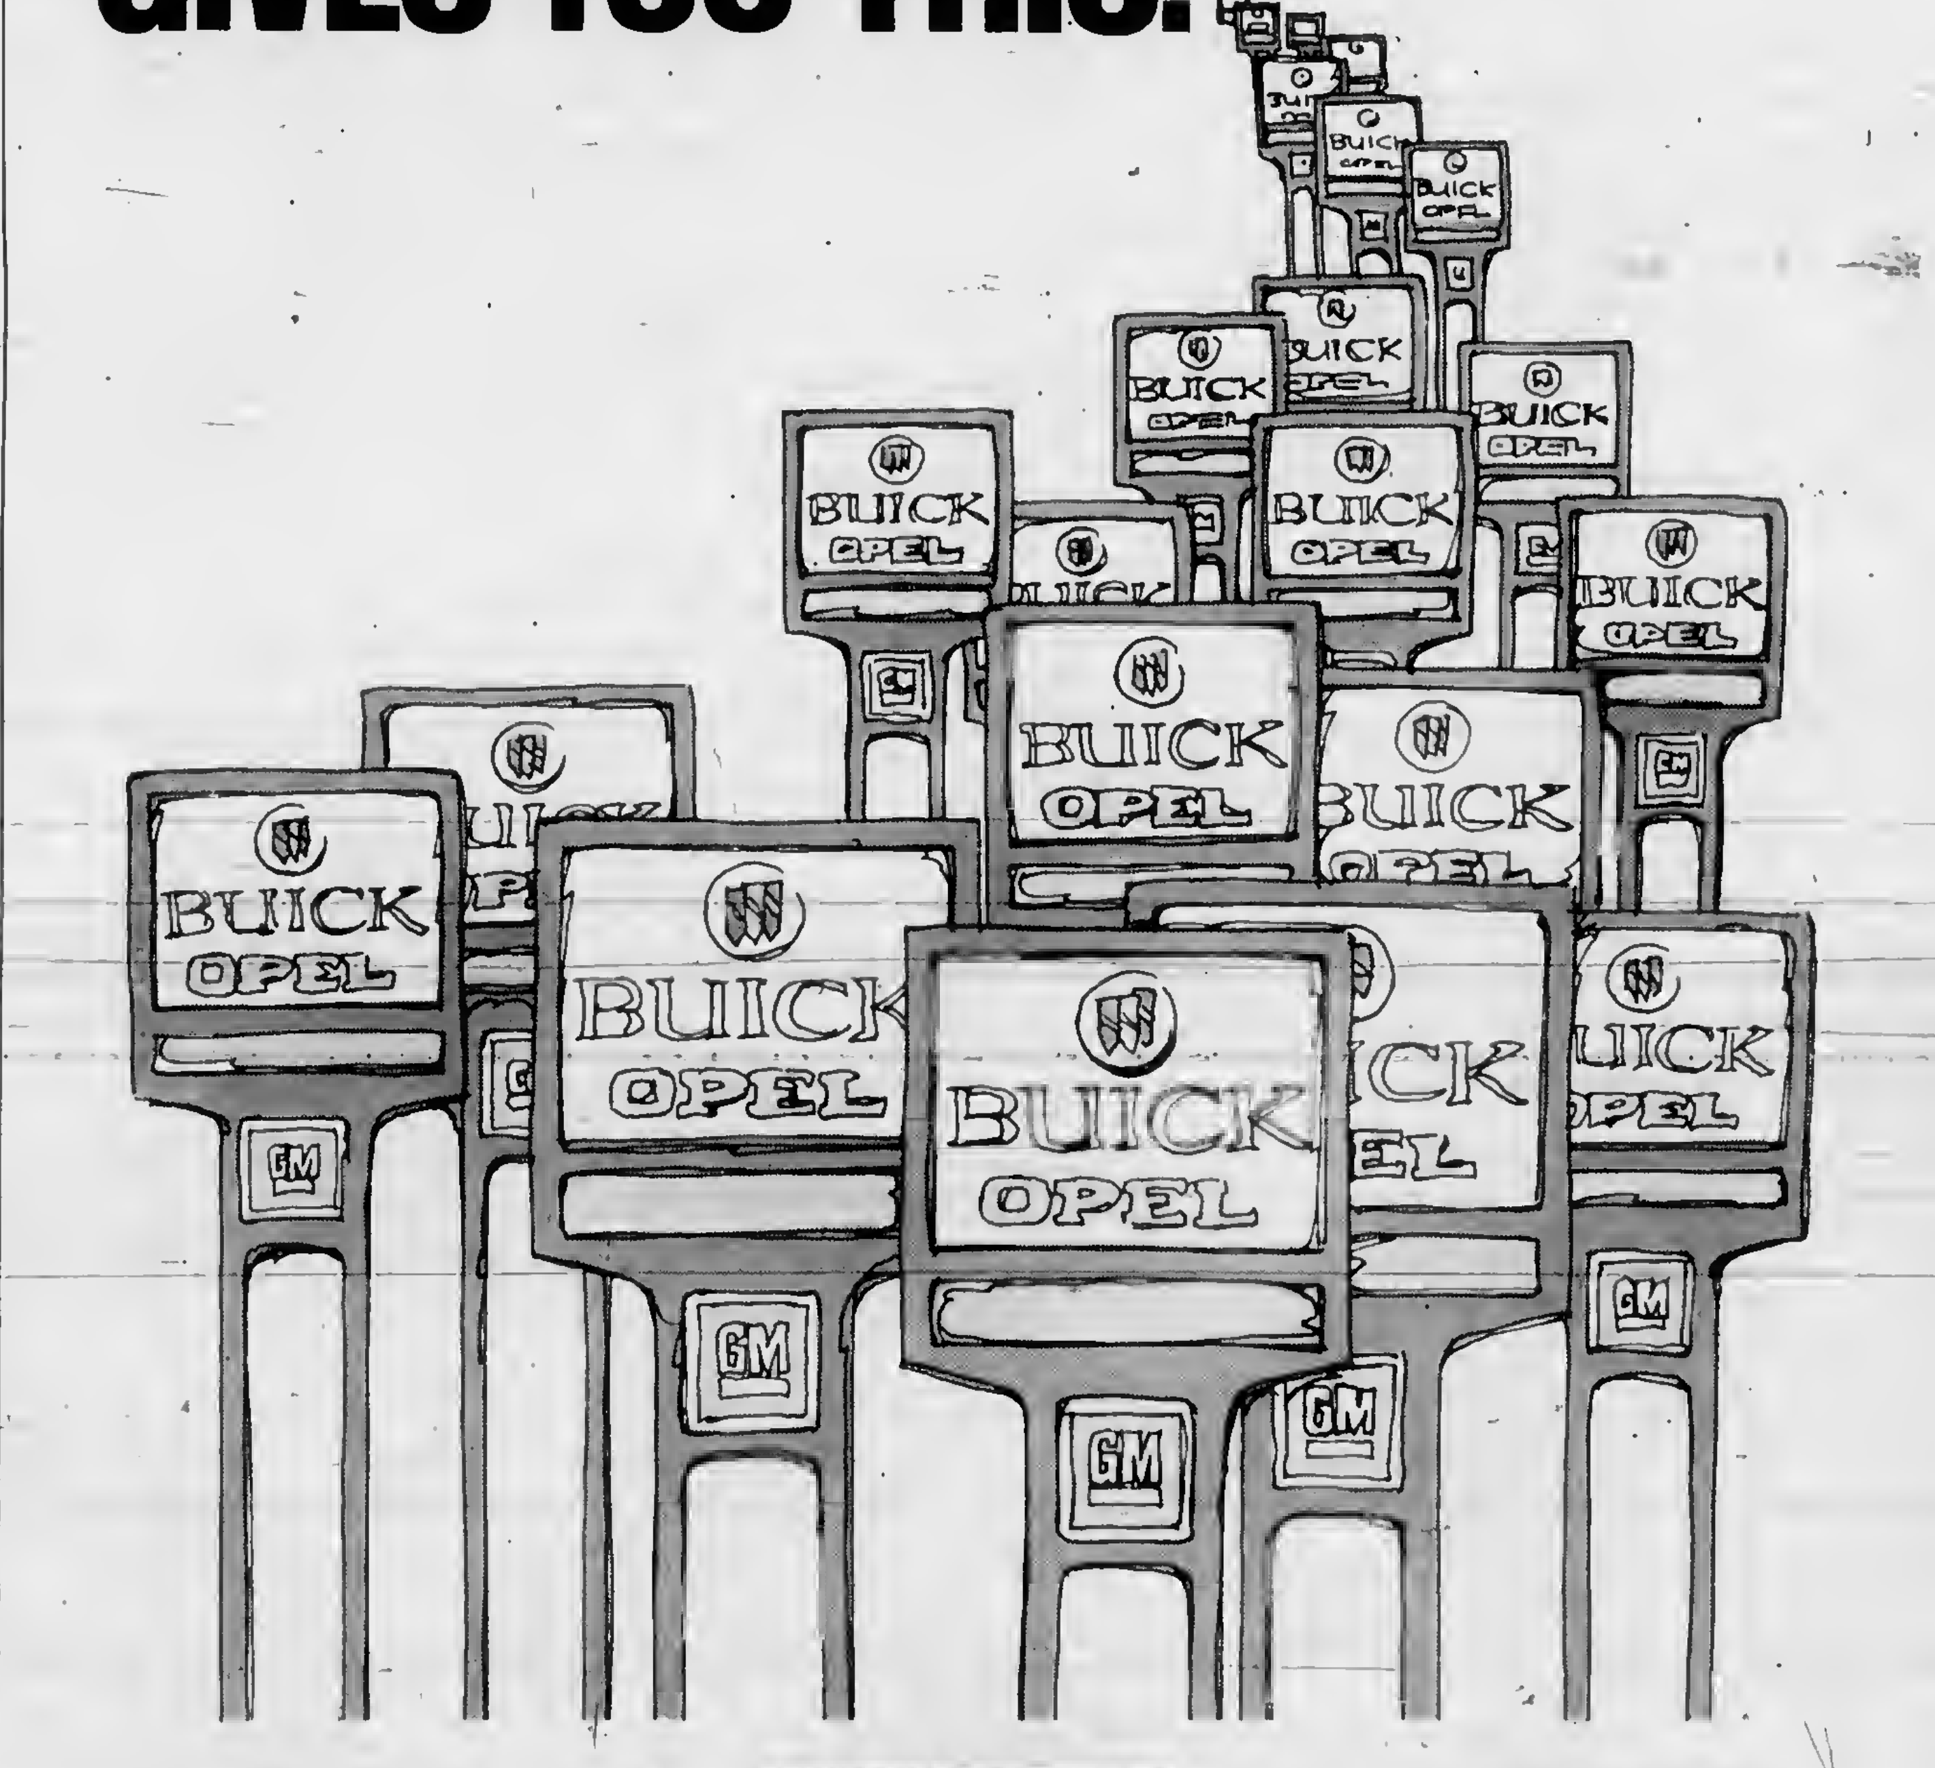
Thank you for the lead editorial in the December 9th issue. You were right on with what really matters, as would be said by those who Mrs. Kirche would warn.

As a lifelong (well, maybe only eight years, but I'm only 25) student of the work of Mr. Russell, one who is familiar with not only "Principea Mathematica" but works like "Authority and the Individual" and "The Analysis of Mind" as well, I can say that Russell described himself as neither atheist nor Marxist. He rather called himself (when he had to) a skeptic, holding that both atheism and orthodoxy were unprovable and uncertain. Further, he was anti-Marxist (in "Freedom and Organization") and anti-communist ("Why I Opposed Communism").

You did a double service by publishing Mrs. Kirche's letter: you snowed that irrationality only helps to widen the credibility gap and gave the youth of Charlevoix a reason to continue to believe in this system. Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Dean Gengle

NO OTHER ECONOMY CAR (FOREIGN OR DOMESTIC) GIVES YOU THIS.



Now Opel brings you more than just a good economy car. It brings you a good local dealer too.

You may know Bill Fochtman already. He's been selling and servicing Buicks for some time.

We think you'll not only enjoy Opel's economy and fine European craftsmanship, but you'll also appreciate Bill Fochtman's service and service facilities as well.

In fact, there's excellent service near wherever you go. Opel is sold and serviced at over 2,000 Buick-Opel dealers from coast to coast.

Like anything else, a little car is known by the company it keeps.

And around here, we think Opel is in pretty good company.

If you know Bill Fochtman we know you'll agree.

And now Buick Motor Division proudly introduces another new Opel dealer.

German Opels On Sale at Charlevoix Oil

General Motors Corp.'s German-built Opel automobiles are now on sale at the Charlevoix Oil Co., according to co-owner William Fochtman.

Fochtman says the Opel competes in the small car field, with prices ranging from $1,823 to $3,334.

In addition to continental styling and superb craftsmanship, the Opel offers excellent fuel economy, according to Fochtman.

Charlevoix Oil Co. will handle all 10 models of the vehicle.

The firm also is the authorized GM dealer for Chevrolets and Buicks.

the additional funds to pay the city's share.

Fochtman said possible alternatives include going back to the voters for higher funding, scraping together cash-on-hand or raising taxes for a few years.

"We thought this (the sewer project) was going to cost us six mills," he said. "But now it looks as though it might be more like ten."

Low bidder on the general construction contract was Shaw-Henderson Co. of Cheboygan, who came up with a figure of $1,383.865 – the only one that the city fathers feel is truly out-of-line.

Low bidder for the electrical work was Drake Construction of Minneapolis, Minn., which came in for $247,600.

Luedtke Engineering Co. of Frankfort was low on the outfall sewer, which would extend from the plant on Lakeshore-dr. out into Lake Michigan. Luedtke's price was $180,400, only $600 lower than the next highest bidder, Martin Construction Co.

W. A. Porter of East Jordan was low bidder on construction of a forced pumping main which would connect the present city system to the new plant. Porter's bid was $153,970.

Following is a complete list of bidders:

GENERAL CONSTRUCTION

Barnes Construction, Grand Rapids, $1,456,289; Gridor Construction, Minneapolis, $1,623,310; Clark Construction Co., Lansing, $1,447,000; Shaw-Henderson Inc., Cheboygan, $1,383,865; F. H. Martin, St. Clair Shores, $1,645,000; and Drake Construction, Minneapolis, $1,474,000.

ELECTRICAL

Gridor Construction, $320,000; Clark Construction, $283,000; Webb Electric, Petoskey, $268,144; Norm Smith Electric, Cheboygan, $290,750; Lancaster Electric, Gaylord, $248,339; and Drake Construction, $247,600.

OUTFALL SEWER

Durocher Dock and Dredge, Cheboygan, $331,740; Luedtke Engineering Co., Frankfort, $180,400; Bultema Dock and Dredge Co., Muskegon, $336,701; Mehghea Investment Inc., Bay City, $305,000; and Martin Construction Co., Mackinaw City, $181,000.

PUMPING MAIN

Towns Construction Co. Ludington, $194,491.65; Hodgkiss and Douma, Petoskey, $224,835.25; W. A. Porter, $153,970; and F. J. Siller, Ann Arbor, $253,939.50.

City Offers Prizes for Decorations

The City of Charlevoix will award prizes to the occupants of best decorated homes in the city and environs this Christmas, according to City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna.

Hanna said awards of $15, $10 and $5 will be made in each ward, plus a $10 prize to the occupants of the best-decorated home outside the city served by city power.

Hanna said homes will be judged the evening of Dec. 21. Judges will be Mrs. Conrad Klooster, Mrs. Nathan Boss and Mrs. Roger Westenbroek, wives of city council members.

In addition to the regular prizes, an anonymous donor is offering a $50 savings certificate to the occupants of the home that the judges consider the best of all.

Obituary

Mr. Cronberger

Funeral for David S. Cronberger, 83, a former resident of Charlevoix, was held from the Ted C. Sullivan Funeral Home in Detroit, Friday, Dec. 11, followed by services at the Gesu Catholic Church. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery in Southfield.

Mr. Cronberger died Dec. 7 while visiting at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Mary) Steensen of Newark, Ohio.

He was born in Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 31, 1886, and moved to Detroit as a young man. During World War I he served with the Polar Bear American Expeditionary Force in North Russia.

After a brief career as an opera singer, he joined the Detroit Police Department as a civilian employe, remaining with the department until his retirement.

In 1963, Mr. Cronberger and his wife, Madeline, purchased a home on Petoskey-rd., just north of the Charlevoix Oil Co. and operated it as a nursing home until Mrs. Cronberger's death in 1968.

For the past two years he has made his home in Highland Park, spending the winter in Florida and returning to Charlevoix for extended visits during the summer.

In addition to his daughter, Mr. Cronberger is survived by two sons; David J. and William A., and 10 grandchildren.

Mrs. Gray

Funeral for Mrs. Mary A. Gray, 70, was held at the Winchester Funeral Home Dec. 9, the Rev. Cecil Drost officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Gray died Dec. 6 at Grandvue Medical Care Facility where she had been a patient for two years.

The former Mary Adeleine Clark was born in Norwood Township May 1, 1900. She married John Gray in 1965. He died in February, 1970.

Mrs. Gray was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. George (Clara) Knowles of Petoskey, Mrs. Gerald (Betty) Fielstra of Traverse City and Mrs. Marvin (Lucille) Postmus of Hudsonville; one sister, Mrs. Charles Reinhart of Charlevoix; nine grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Sevcik

A memorial mass for Albine "Chevy" Sevcik, 82, will be held at St. Marys Church at 10 a.m. Wednesday, the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating.

Miss Sevcik died Saturday at Little Traverse Hospital.

She was born in Czechoslovakia Feb. 20, 1888, and served with the medical corps in her homeland during World War I. She came to the United States in the 1930's, settling in Eveline township.

The Winchester Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

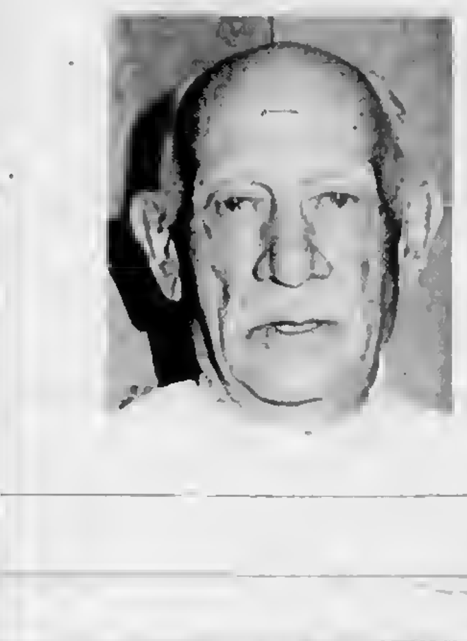
SINCE SANTA CLAUS usually arrives long after they have gone to bed, Lawrence K. Montgomery of Pine Point thinks Charlevoix youngsters might like seeing this picture of honest-to-gosh reindeer taken near archangel, Russia, during the winter of 1918-19. The reindeer were used to pull sleighs used by American "Polar Bear" troops who fought the Bolsheviks during the Russian Revolution.

Can Reindeer Do Job? 'Monty' Says They Can

Although skeptics on both sides of the generation gap doubt the reindeer's ability to pull Santa's sleigh from the North Pole to the far corners of the earth, all in a single night, Lawrence K. "Monty" Montgomery, 81, of Oyster Bay, knows otherwise.



L. K. Mootgomery

Montgomery was a member of American Expenditionary Forces (AEF) who fought in North Russia following World War I and he recalls the doughty little animals were used extensively to pull sleighs carrying wounded soldiers and supplies over the frozen tundra.

Montgomery tried repeatedly to enlist in the Army during the war but was turned down because of flat feet and poor eyesight.

Finally he gave up and married the former Ruth Rowe of Detroit. While they were on their honeymoon in Chicago he received word that he was up for enlistment.

"They were taking cripples by that time," Montgomery says wryly today.

He was inducted in June, 1918, and the following fall found him in the frozen wastes of northern Russia as a member of the Polar Bear Expendition protecting British supplies from Bolshevik revolutionaries who already had seized control of the Russian government.

Although World War I ended Nov. 11, the North Russian campaign, in which many Michiganders took part, lasted all winter.

It was during that winter that Montgomery became acquainted with the reindeer as a means of transportation.

Born April 6, 1889, in Hope, Ark. Montgomery moved to Detroit when he was 25 years old. He was in the automobile business all of his life, working for Willis-Overland, Chrysler and Pontiac dealers in Detroit and New York.

He retired in 1955 from Packer-Pontiac in Detroit.

The Montgomerys have made their home at Oyster Bay for the past 14 years.

Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wood, own the Woodshed on U.S. 31 north.

Judge Makel Puts Down Gavel

Charlevoix County Probate Judge John Makel, 70, retires Jan. 31 after 10 years in office.

He will be succeeded Jan. 1 by present Emmet County Probate Judge John Murphy who was elected in November to serve the newly-combined Charlevoix - Emmet Probate Court District.

Eighty-eight friends and colleagues of the retiring judge gathered at the Argonne Supper Club Thursday night to wish him well in retirement.

District Judge W. Richard Smith M.C.'d the program, and speaker was Judge Murphy.

Judge Makel was presented with an engraved gavel as a remembrance of his years in office.

FIVE JUDGES serving Charlevoix neighboring counties convened at the Argonne Supper Club Thursday night for banquet honoring retiring Charlevoix County Probate Judge John Makel, center. From left are Emmet Probate Judge John Murphy, Circuit Judge Charles Brown, Judge Makel, District Judge W. Richard Smith, Circuit Judge James Fitzpatrick and Grand Traverse Probate Judge Kenneth MacNess. Judge Murphy was speaker and Judge Smith was M.C.' Eighty-eight well wishers attended.

Born in Gensungen, Germany, Aug. 25, 1900, and immigrated to the United States as a child. He didn't know until he was ten years old, living with foster parents, that he was foreign-born.

He attended school in Toledo, Ohio, receiving his B.S. degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1928 and his M.A. from the University of Michigan in 1942. He did graduate work at Ferris State College and Columbia University.

Judge Makel was a schoolteacher and school administrator most of his life. During World War II, he not only was superintendent of Springfield Place Area School near Battle Creek but also served as director of the War Manpower Commission for the Battle Creek area.

Judge Makel was severely injured in an on-stage accident during rehearsal for an amateur theatrical production in Gaylord in 1949 and spent several years recovering his health. In 1958 he moved to Charlevoix as a salesman for Brown Motors and two years later was elected probate judge.

He and his wife, Marguerite, a retired Charlevoix school teacher, plan to spend the winter in Florida.

Tax Office Will Assess Co. in '71

The state Tax Commission will review property evaluations in Charlevoix County during 1971, according to Mrs. Joan Blanchard, director of the county Equalization Department.

The review could mean a healthy assessment boost for some Charlevoix County property owners, depending on how good a job local assessors have done in the past decade in keeping assessments abreast of true cash value.

Mrs. Blanchard said the survey will take almost a year to complete and the revised evaluations will be reflected on the 1972 assessment rolls.

The review will be similar to the 1968 review in Emmet County, which saw the assessments on some property increased more than 100 percent.

Mrs. Blanchard said the state Tax Commission makes periodic checks of all counties "and Charlevoix County is next in line."

The review will be conducted by William Renis, Traverse City district supervisor for the commission, who will head a team of four assessment experts.

The Traverse City district includes 10 counties--Charlevoix, Antrim, Leelanau, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Roscommon, Missaukee, Wexford and Manistee.

Mrs. Blanchard said the state men will sample property assessments over a three year period--1969, 1970 and 1971--weighing them against market values for similar property in real estate transactions.

Berlage Appointed Asst. Prosecutor

The County Board of Commissioners has approved the appointment of Charlevoix attorney Donald Berlage, 42, as assistant prosecuting attorney, effective Jan. 1.

Prosecutor Harvey Varnum of Boyne City said he asked the board for an assistant, because of the increased workload of his office during the past five or six years.

"I'm finding it increasingly difficult to meet the demands of the Probate Court, the District Court and the Circuit Court," Varnum said. "Sometimes they even meet on the same days."

He pointed out that Emmet County Prosecutor Donald Noggle has had the services of an assistant for the past two years.

Berlage, who will continue to maintain his private low practice in the Pine River Building with attorney John Michael, will share Varnum's quarters in the County Building when acting as prosectuor.

In addition to handling some of the new workload, Berlage will serve as Varnum's deputy in Charlevoix, saving him a 40-mile round trip from Boyne City to handle routine and emergency matters.

Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 28, 1928, Berlage received his B.A. degree from Miami University, Oxford Ohio, in 1950. He received his law degree from the University of Cincinnati in 1953.

He served as a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) in San Francisco and New York City for two years before establishing his own law practice in Toledo, Ohio, in 1955.

While in Toledo, he served as corporation counsel for the Kaiser Jeep Corp. and was special attorney for the Department of Justice, handling conscientious objector appeals.

Berlage and his wife, Barbara, moved to Charlevoix three years ago, although they have been summer residents of the city since 1962.

Mrs. Berlage teaches second grade at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Hugh Mayne Steps Down

Hugh Mayne, Charlevoix city clerk for the past 22 years, has decided it is time to step down.

Mayne's resignation, effective immediately, was accepted reluctantly by the city council Monday night.

Then Mayor Fochtman appointed Deputy City Clerk Ida Heise as his successor until the next election.

Mayne was first elected to office in 1948 and has served under mayors Ray Hamilton, Johnnie Knight, Dean Davenport, Jim Hiller, E.D. (Pat) Hawley and Fochtman.

Mayne said he has seen a tremendous increase in city business since he first became clerk.

"There used to be times when I wouldn't have a thing to do at council meetings except sign checks and go home," he said. "During deer season, we never ever had a quorum."

The Maynes plan to spend the winter at Englewood, Fla., where they have purchased a house trailer.

City Gambles on New Bids To Cut Sewage Plt. Costs

Will Seek Quotations On Two Contracts

The City Council Monday night decided to ask for new bids on general construction and electrical work at the proposed sewage treatment plant in hopes of bringing the cost of the project within reach.

The decision climaxed a full day of sewer plant discussions for Mayor William Fochtman and City Superintendent Thomas G. Hanna, who spent most of the day in Lansing discussing the bids with engineers and representatives of the Water Resources Commission and the state Health Department.

Fochtman said a tabulation of the bids opened Dec. 14 indicates the project would cost roughly $2,220,000, when technical services, legal and fiscal fees and contingencies are taken into consideration.

Charlevoix's share of the total would be about $1 million, which is $300,000 more than the bond issue approved by city voters in November.

Two bids, one for a foreed main to the proposed plant and the other for an outfall sewer into Lake Michigan, were below engineers' estimates and will stand. Bidders were William Porter of East Jordan and Luedtke Engineering of Frankfort, respectively.

However, the low general construction bid, submitted by Shaw Henderson, Inc., of Cheboygan was $1,383,000, compared to an engineers' estimate of $800,000, and the low bid on electrical work and equipment, submitted by Drake Electric Co., was $247,000, compared to an estimate of $150,000.

At the Lansing meeting, John Holland and Dick Force of the engineering firm McNamee, Porter and Seeley, which designed the facility, suggested elimination of several components not needed immediately, including tertiary treatment equipment, sludge drying beds and one primary settling tank.

But the council felt it would be defeating the purpose of the entire project to settle for anything less then tertiary treatment, a process that will return water pure enough to drink to Lake Michigan.

Councilman feel that the pressure has eased now that most communities working on sewage facilities have opened their bids and that a new go-around will bring in lower bids.

They are gambling that the state will give cities a 90-day extension in the awarding of contracts and that state and federal funds will still be available.

The council also:

–Opened bids from Parsel's Garage, Charlevoix Oil Co. and Erber Auto on a new police car. Erber was low bidder, offering a Ford Custom police package for $2,325, with trade-in.

–Heard a report by Clayton Healey of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District that municipalities are now eligible for soil conservation services.

--Heard a request from Charlevoix Township Supervisor Oscar Stroud that the township be permitted to

Thieves Take Christmas Decorations

Acting Police Chief Glenn Pemberton warns Charlevoixans that Christmas thieves are on the loose.

He said his office has received many complaints in the past two weeks that outdoor Christmas tree lights, Christmas trees, wreaths and other decorations have been stolen.

Some of the Christmas trees were taken from the lot of a Charlevoix tree dealer.

A woman reported to the police department that a pair of black fur-lined gloves and a pair of black fur-lined boots were stolen from the front seat of her car parked in a downtown lot.

Pemberton said residents should keep their cars locked at all times, whether they are parked downtown or in their own driveways.

"We just don't have enough men to police the whole town 24 hours a day," he explained.

Library Welcomes Students

During Christmas vacation, the Michigan Room in the Charlevoix Public Library will serve as a reception center for our returning students and their guests.

Plan to meet your friends, enjoy coffee and leave, or pick up messages.

All students are urged to stop by and register so that other students will know you're in town and where to reach you.

New Scare: Dieting May Shorten Life

Dieting may shorten your life, warns nutrition expert. Llewellyn Lounderback in "Pageant " Magazine.

"On many diets," Miss Louderback writes in the current issue of the magazine, "the overweight person is undergoing an insidiously accelerated dying process." She explains that the dieter who is shedding precious muscle and organ tissue is literally wearing away at the cellular level in a slow, inexorable manner.

"As fat as some dieters may seem, they are suffering from true hunger while reducing," the author of "Fat Power" continues. "It is now understood that such symptoms as dizziness, depression, fatigue, shortness of breath, palpitation, increased irritability and sleeplessness are physiological reactions to protein loss and are evidence of starvation."

The inevitable gains that follow weight losses are another source of danger, Miss Louderback points out, because it is during the weight-gaining process that the most damage is done to the blood vessels, particularly to the vessels of the heart.

It's the gaining of weight that is dangerous, in other words, not the already accomplished state of obesity. Recent experiments have shown that if an animal has once been obese and then has been repeatedly reduced, it will have a shorter life expectancy than the obese animal that has never been reduced. "It is possible that a patient whose weight has fluctuated up and down a number of times has been subjected to more atherogenic stress than a patient with stable though excessive weight," Miss Loudderback says.

And, unfortunately, most dieters regain their weight loss. The 1966 Harris Poll revealed that just ten percent of those who diet lose successfully.

"If you are presently thin," Miss Louderback advises, "do not get fat. If you are fat, try not to get fatter. But if you are not absolutely certain that you can sustain a lower weight for the rest of your life," she concludes "do not attempt to lose weight."

Mrs. Ross Alexander

Debra Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wagner, has returned home after having bone surgery at Fairview Hospital Scoliosis Clinic in Minneapolis and she is again attending school in Charlevoix. She has the best wishes and admiration of all the local friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. William Peck are spending the winter in their home in Stuart, Fla.

Local friends were saddened this Saturday hearing of the death of Chevy Sevicik. She was born in Czechoslovakis in 1888 and was a member of the Medical Corps during World War I. She came to the United States in 1930 and was a nurse and companion for Mrs. Albert H. Leeb several years. She will be remembered by her many friends by her beautiful garden of roses and other flowers and for her generosity of sharing her flowers and fruits with everyone. There were no survivors to join us in our loss.

Mrs. Effie Arthur is spending the holidays with her children in Detroit.

Dan Wiseman has returned to his home in Newberry after being a guest of his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William La Valley.

Mrs. Ruth Roberts is spending the winter in Clearwater, Fla.

The lake is frozen over from East Jordan down to the Ferry but it is not safe to use with snowmobiles or ice skating but with these cold nights we have been having it shouldn't take long.

Locals

Miss Phyllis Roberts of Seoul, Korea, arrived home Tuesday to spend several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Bertha Roberts and other relatives and friends.

Richard Hulls Heading South

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Hull have left for Morgan City, La., where they will visit her daughter and son-in-law, the Norman Ketchmans.

They plan to stop in Chicago to visit his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth P. McKay.

RAYDER Dave Swanson (33) tries for basket in face of towering Gaylord opposition. In background is Bruce Meggison (41), high scorer in both Friday's and Saturday's games.

Varsity Cage Team Wins One, Loses One

Charlevoix's Red Rayders lost to Gaylord Friday night, 66 to 58, but came back on Saturday to defeat Traverse City - St. Francis, 65 to 43.

The weekend scores give the Rayders a record of three wins and three losses for the season.

The Rayders next game will be Jan. 15 at Boyne City.

In spite of a 24-point scoring spree in the final quarter, the Rayders were unable to get the edge on the Gaylord Blue Devils.

Quarter scores for Charlevoix were 13, 25, 34 and 58, compared to Gaylord's 14, 34, 47 and 66.

Charlevoix's high scorer was Bruce Meggison who chalked up 14 points on three field goals and eight free throws out of 14 attempts.

Following were Jerry Pease, 12 points of five FG and 2 FT; Larry Potter, 11 points on three FG and 5 FT; Bill Carey, 11 points on four FG and 3 FT; Tim Carey, six points on field goals; and Kevin Swanson, four points on fieldgoals.

Scorers for Gaylord were Grein, 21; Mongeau and Fullmer, 12 each; Andrews;

Johnson, six; Harmon, four; and Harned, 2.

In the Traverse City - St. Francis game, Charlevoix led from the start, with quarter scores of 17, 33, 54 and 65, compared to TCSF's 7, 17, 32 and 43.

Coach Barry Anderson fielded a record number of 10 players during the game.

High scorer for Charlevoix was Bruce Meggison who rang up 21 points in three quarters of play on six fieldgoals and nine freethrows, out of 18 attempts.

Following were Bill Carey, 16 points on three FG and 10 FT of 14 tries; Larry Potter, six points on fieldgoals; Tim Carey, five points on two FG and one FT of three attempts; Jerry Pease, four points on FTs; Roger Crain, four points on fieldgoals; Donaldson, three points on one and one; and Kevin Swanson, Rick Donaldson and DeYoung, two points each on fieldgoals.

JV Squad Loses To Gaylord, TCSF

Charlevoix's JV cage squad lost to Gaylord and Traverse City-St. Francis over the weekend.

Score in the Gaylord match was 56 to 28. Against TCSF, the JV team lost 60 to 39.

Quarter scores in the Gaylord game were 6, 11, 15 and 28 for Charlevoix, compared to 22, 31, 40 and 56 for the Blue Devil JV's.

High scorer for Charlevoix was Lee Simpson who was credited with eight points on two field goals and four free throws out of eight attempts.

Other scorers were Dennis Crain, six points; Woods, four points; and Pat Doan, Dale Boss, Tim Parsel, Ance, Carl Klooster and Tim Parsel, two points each.

Quarter scores in the TCSF game were 10, 13, 23 and 39 for Charlevoix and 12, 27, 43 and 60 for the Gladiators.

High scorers for Charlevoix were Simpson and Boss, both of whom made nine points. Following were Ance, eight; Crain, six; Doan and Vince Left, three each; and Woods, one.

Correction

The Courier stated incorrectly last week that the Middle School is losing $2.24 a day on the Steward sandwich program.

Principal Max Novak said that instead of losing money, the program is actually making money. The High School and the Elementary School lunch programs are losing money.

Davis Picks Rod Brown As Assistant

State Sen.-elect Robert W. Davis (R-St. Ignace) today announced the appointment of 39-year-old Roland "Rod" Brown of Gaylord as his Administrative Assistant for the coming session.

Brown, a Gaylord businessman served as Campaign Manager for Davis' recent campaign for the Senate seat vacated by Thomas F. Schweigert of Petoskey.

"I am extremely pleased that Tod Brown has agreed to serve the people of the 37th District in the capacity of my administrative assistant. He brings a great deal of experience in politics with him, but probably more importantly he has a great gift of knowing and communicating with people," Davis said.

"This will serve him well in his new position because he will be the liaison between the constituents of the District and me. It will prove extremely valuable to have a man from the District helping me solve the problems of the District. A man who knows the District, its needs and its people.

Davis said Brown of 222 Hazel Street will work in Lansing, but would often be traveling in the District. Brown served as Otsego County Republican Chairman for many years, accompanying Davis to Charlevoix on many occasions during the 1970 election Campaign.

Rick, Vicki Sawtelle Are 'Doing Well'

Rick and Vicki Sawtelle, former Charlevoix residents, are reported "doing well" following an automobile accident Oct. 30 in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., which claimed the life of their sister, Patti, 17.

The young people are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Sawtelle who built and sold shipwreck furniture in Charlevoix during the late 1960's. The Sawtelles are now residents of the Caicos Islands in the British Bahamas.

Mrs. Sawtelle wrote on Dec. 10 that Vicki was home from the hospital although she was still using a wheelchair. Mrs. Sawtelle hoped she would be up on crutches in a few days.

Vicki suffered four broken ribs, a ruptured disc and a crushed pelvis in the head-on collision on a St. Lauderdale freeway. She spent 29 days in traction.

Rick suffered a broken jaw, a broken arm and severe internal injuries. After 20 days in a Ft. Lauderdale hospital he was transferred to the Bethesda Naval Hospital in Bethesda, Md.

Rick is in the U.S. Navy, and served as a crewman on the Presidential yacht Julie before it was sold. He recently received a presidential appointment to the Annapolis Naval Academy.

"We have hopes that Rick may be out of the hopsital by Christmas," Mrs. Sawtelle wrote. "We are planning on going back to the island about the 15th of January. Vicki and Mike (another son who was not involved in the accident) are going with us and hopefully Rick will be on his recuperative leave and will go also."

Love Letters to Santa

Dear Santa,
I have been a good girl this year and I would like the following things for Christmas: Don't Spill the Beans, The Green Ghost, Beautiful Chrissy, Dance-a-Ring and some surprises. Don forget my brother, John.
Love, Holly

I love you Santa.
Love, Holly

Dear Santa Claus,
I have been kind of good. This is what I want for Christmas. I would like the game Witch-Witch and a play guytar and Don't Cook Your Goose and Flintstone cut-outs.
Sincerely yours,
Terry Klama

(Letter accompanied by picture of Santa saying: "Ho, Ho, Ho.")

Dear Santa Claus:
This is what I want for Christmas. I would like the Johnny Lightening 500 track and some more cars. I would like some Sizzlers and the plug-in charger. I would like a dot-to-dot book. I would like a battleship.
Sincerely yours,
Mike Klama

Dear Santa Claus:
This Christmas I would like the game Mystery Date and a beautiful Barbie doll Francie with hair that grows and I would like some clothes for Francie and there's only one more thing and that is a pair of lounging pajamas. Thank you for your cooperation and these wonderful gifts that I asked for. You're the only one who can do these wonderful things on the night Jesus was born, Christmas. And Twister.
Your daughter,
Tina

Dear Santa:
Xmas list. Operation game, piano, colored paper, books.
Love,
Laura

(Picture of space-age Santa with red suit, green hands and feet and antenna included.)

Dear Santa Claus,
I would like cars and trucks for Christmas. Heath would like some too. We will say thank you now. We love Rudolph.
Love from
Eric

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus:
How are you Santa? How is Mrs. Santa? How are the elves?
I have been very good. If you can bring it, may I please have a velvet doll and a blender and a jewelry box.
I will leave you Christmas cookies and a cold drink for the reindeer.
I hope you will keep warm on Christmas Eve.
Hugs and Kisses
Shelly

Dear Santa:
I would like fighting knights, Brave Eric.
Love,
Jeff

P.S. I will be leaving you cookies and milk.

THE CHARLEVOIX Concert Band led off the Christmas Band Concert at the High School Dec. 16 with such favorites as "Onward Christian Soldiers," "The Christmas Party," and "Jingle Bells Rhapsody."

Dear Santa:
Since I'm only 4½ and my sister Wendy is 3, mommy will write this for us.
My name is Tammy. For Christmas I would like a record player, new Barbie clothes, a Spirograph, and anything else a 4½ year-old little girl could use.
My sister Wendy would like Francie, clothes, Barbie Doll House. Also, Santa, she could use some socks since she wears holes in hers all the time.
I have a baby sister, her name is Heidi Jo. This will be her first Christmas at home since she broke her leg last year and spent it in the hospital. So please bring her something real nice.
Please be careful Christmas Eve and fasten your seat belt.
Love,
Tammy Olinger

Dear Santa:
I would like Velvet, O, nuts, Marble Head, Cross over the brige, Dating Game. That is all now. Thank you.
Sincerely,
Cindy Klama

Joe Wrench May Have Priced Self Out of Job

It is beginning to appear that Detroit's auto workers may be pricing themselves out of business--at least so far as the rest of the nation is concerned.

The major auto companies already have settled with the UAW on a new three-year contract that will put Joe Wrench on the assembly line in the $15,000-a-year wage bracket by 1973, including fringe benefits.

This is fine for Joe Wrench and we're happy that he'll be able to buy a new color TV for the rumpus room and take his family on a Caribbean cruise.

But for Joe Boondocks in northern Michigan the UAW wage increase simply means that the cost of buying good, reliable, American-made transportation will soon be prohibitive, if it isn't already.

The same situation exists in other rural and semi-rural areas throughout the country which have yet to feel the economic impact wage contract hammered out by organized labor.

Auto industry executives, of course, are keenly aware of the problem. They admit the recent contracts with the UAW are inflationary to the enth degree, but they signed them anyway, willing to let the chips fall where they may.

In the meantime, the new emphasis in the auto industry is on operations in foreign countries where automobiles can still be manufactured at healthy profit.

For example, a good many of the Chevrolets being sold in the United States today are built in Canada.

Last week, in announcing the elevation of Lee Iacocca to the Ford Motor Company presidency, Board Chairman Henry Ford II said he hoped the move "will give me more time for the foreign part of our operations, which is going to be the really big growth area of our business."

Of Ford's total capital spending next year, $280 million, or 40 percent, will be invested in foreign facilities.

The movement abroad, of course, could have a devastating effect on the economy of the nation as a whole and Michigan in particular. But apparently the auto makers feel they have no other choice if they are to remain in business.

By 1973, the only people in the country able to afford a Detroit-built automobile could well be the auto workers themselves, providing they haven't been laid off.

Why Not Try Soap, SOAP for Short

If it isn't the heat, it's the humidity.

Or something.

Not long ago, the nation's detergent manufacturers saw the handwriting on the wall and began removing phosphates from their products at the behest of conservationists and others interested in preserving the quality of the environment.

Phosphorous compounds, as you know, have been fingered as one of the worst enemies of pure water. Phosphates act as a fertilizer, spurring the overgrowth of algae and hastening the death of lakes and streams.

So the detergent makers came up with a new ingredient for their laundry products---nitriolotriacetric acid, or NTA for short.

But now federal pollution watchers have announced that NTA has been linked to birth defects in rats and mice. Detergents employing NTA are gradually being phased out.

All of which makes us wonder what is so all-fired wrong with plain old soap---SOAP for short.

We're talking about the product grandma used to whip up in a big cast-iron kettle in the backyard, using animal fat and wood ashes from the kitchen range.

It got her clothes clean, it didn't befoul our lakes and streams and it certainly wasn't harmful to rats and mice.

The only people hurt by grandma's soap were little boys who had their mouths washed out with it for using language they picked up from grandpa.

The current detergent snafu makes us wonder how much scientific nonsense the American people will be willing to come up with before they come to their senses. Too many so-called "advancements" in the modern world are passed off as progress, when they really are nothing of the sort.

Family Doctor May Hit Comeback Trail

The "family doctor" of yesteryear may be on the comeback trail.

Congressman Philip E. Ruppe last week praised the passage of bill designed to encourage the training of general practitioners.

The bill sets aside $50 million for fiscal 1971 to create and finance departments of family medicine in those medical schools across the country which choose to participate in the program. The vote in the House of Representatives was an astounding 346 to 2.

Ruppe said the nation faces a shortage of 50,000 doctors in the near future unless prompt action is taken.

"This problem is compounded by the fact that only one doctor in five is engaged in the general practice of medicine," he said. "The majority are specialists of one type or another."

Ruppe said he did not imply criticism of medical specialists in any sense, pointing out that medical science is growing so complex with every passing day that only specialists are able to keep up with all of the advancements.

However, he said it has been estimated that 85 percent of day-to-day health problems can be handled by general practitioners.

"The need for general practitioners is especially great in rural America," Ruppe said. "For example, I have received numerous requests from smaller commmunities who are seeking doctors. In many cases, without these doctors, the community is unable to maintain vital medical services or to staff area hospitals."

"I believe the bill passed by the House of Representatives will help provide more family doctors to ease the growing crisis in medical care," he added.

Sit Down, Louella

As a Christmas gift to himself, Clockwise is taking the liberty of reprinting a column which appeared in the Courier Nov. 24, 1965. And a Merry Christmas to you, Louella, wherever you are.

By BOB CLOCK

Louella was one of the most unusual little girls it was ever my pleasure – and my agony – to have in the Sixth Grade. The trouble with writing about her is that I don't know how much I can say without offending delicate sensibilities or conventional ideas of Christian morality.

At 12, Louella was a slender, well-tanned little creature with spindly legs, ordinary features and a hank of straight brown hair that hung loosely about her shoulders in the careless manner that is high fashion among hipsters today. All in all there was nothing on the surface to set Louella apart from other little Sixth Grade girls. She skinned her knees about once a week, she adored bubble gum and she hated boys.

Yet day after day in Current Events class Louella made contributions which lifted the hem of her innocence to expose sordid vistas of sin and raging passion that few of her compeers in the Sixth Grade even dreamed existed.

Current Events, which we had first thing in the morning, was, indeed, Louella's strong suit academically. Her knowledge of arithmetic was sketchy; reading bored her; penmanship and social studies left her cold. But when it came to Current Events, Louella was in her element.

Unfortunately, Louella's enthusiasm for Current Events was not equaled by her ability to determine what was suitable fare for class discussion. I had suggested the students listen to TV newscasts and read the daily newspapers for items of interest. Louella apparently did all of her news-gathering over the back fence.

The first indication I had that I was in for trouble came one morning early in the school year when Louella's hand shot up during Current Events and starting fluttering like an aspen leaf.

"Yes, Louella."

"Well," she said, standing up and smoothing her dress, "the girl next door finally had her baby."

"That's fine, Louella," I said grandly. "A spanking new citizen for Michigan."

"You may think it's all right," Louella snapped, her dark eyes flashing, "but her Ma don't. In the first place she's not married and in the second place they don't even know the fath......"

"Sit down, Louella."

".....father. Let's see. She has been going with Ted Smith and Joe Brown and Billie Fergus......"

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA!"

Another time the class was bubbling excitedly over a breathtaking escape attempt the day before from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson. To my horror I saw Louella was itching to get into the conversation.

"Yes, Louella."

Louella stood up, almost shyly, and looked down at her hands. The class, which was learning to respect Louella's vast store of unusual information, turned their heads in her direction.

"I have an uncle in Jackson Prison," she said, almost under her breath, but with a trace of pride in her voice. The class breathed a collective sigh of respect and admiration.

"I'm sorry to hear it, Louella," I said stiffly.

"Well, he ain't actually my uncle," she answered, warming up to her subject. "It's just that he's been living with my aunt."

"Sit down, Louella."

"That's why he's in prison. They had a big fight and he tried to kill her an:....."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA!"

I never had a chance to meet this aunt personally, but her exploits were enough to curdle the blood, particularly at 8:30 in the morning.

One day Louella burst into the class a few minutes late, wide eyed and flushed with excitement. Current Events was in progress and her hand was up all the way from the door to her desk. I had no choice but to call on her.

"It's my aunt again," she said breathlessly. "They found her this morning with her head in the oven and the gas turn....."

"Sit down, Louella."

".....turned on. My mother says she was trying to kill herself because she misses her boyfriend in jail and....."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA!"

One day we had a shooting in town, one of those messy love-triangle affairs you read about. The victim was a young housewife who was hospitalized with a deep-seated bullet wound. Unfortunately, all of the principals lived in Louella's neighborhood, and I had the devil's own time for a week keeping her from telling the sordid details to the class, although I am sure she filled them in during recess.

One morning about a week later I noticed that Louella was particularly agitated during our Current Events class. Out of curiosity more than anything else I called on her. Louella sighed happily and rose to her feet.

"Well, the doctors have finally found the bullet," she said brightly and all eyes in the room were riveted on her. "It was lodged in the female or....."

"Sit down, Louella."

".....organs and my mother says she'll probably have to have a hysterectomy. It's a good thing, too, because she already has five kids and....."

"SIT DOWN, LOUELLA!"

Humbug Under Lights

My Bah, Humbug image has been severely damaged this year by a hippie-haired 14-year-old girl who thinks Christmas is something held every year for the benefit of Detroit Edison stockholders.

The outside of our house is lit up like Double Gold Stamp Night in Bethlehem. This girl Chrissie who somehow is my daughter has hung bulbs all over the house and on every bush and tree. The mailman paused to ponder on our porch and she clipped a star to his nose.

"To Each His Own." That's what I always say. Olivia DeHaviland starred in the movie and the Ink Spots had the hit record. If you are old enough to remember that, you may remember when it was sufficient onto Christmas to nail a wreath on your door and paste Santa in your window.

Those were the Good Old Days when one bulb out meant all bulbs out. No sane man would string lights all over the outside of his home because he didn't want to spend the holiday season freezing his hands, screwing and unscrewing bulbs, trying to find the bad one. But then some clown invented individual lights. And suddenly, every Christmas, neighbors began wishing each other Peace on Earth by waging a war of wattage.

There are flapping Santas strapped to TV aerials and plaster shepherds staked to the ground. There are millions of bare little Jesuses, shivering Wise Men and grimacing angels to remind us how much more comfortable they'd all be if there were room for them in the Holiday Inn. Electricity must be held answerable for this general assault on the eyeballs. Those frozen holy pictures wouldn't be out there if it weren't for extension cords and double sockets. There's not much sense in displaying your Christmas spirit if you can't plug it in for the neighbors to see. Thanks a lot, Spencer Tracy.

But, like I always say, To Each His Own. If the rest of the world wants its front yard to look like the grand opening of St. Joseph's Mobil Station, it's no tinsel off my tree. God bless them one and all, Tiny Tim and Miss Vicy. As for me, I always got a perverse pleasure out of owning the one home that really stood out at Christmas time. It stood out like a missing front tooth in the mouth of Mary Tyler Moore. In my neighborhood, everyone knew where Scrooge lived.

The trouble started when daughter Chrissie took me seriously on that To Each His Own philosophy. For her own, she decided she wanted lights on her house and landscaping. Her mother agreed and her brother said OK as long as she forgot the idea of wedging an angel in his basketball hoop. The majority prevailed, all hail democracy and let's deck them there halls. So now, before going to bed every night, I must run out into the cold and pull the master plug. I must also flip several switches. Otherwise, darkness will never fall on our block and the tomcats will have no secrets.

"Doesn't it look wonderful?" Chrissie asked the first evening I shouldered my way through the door without breaking a light.

I had to admit it didn't look bad. But I think I was more influenced by the lights in her eyes than by the lights in the bushes.

Whatever turns you on, Honey. Which sure pulls the plug on this old Scrooge.

Merry Bah and Happy Humbug.

Thought-Provoking Ideas on Education

(Glen Sheppard, editor of the Northwood's Call, believes the following "minority report" written by a member of a Lansing school study committee contains some thought-provoking opinions relative to schools, curriculum, teaching methods, students and teachers. The Courier concurs.)

THE NATURE OF KIDS AND LEARNING

We believe the following about kids and learning:

1. Kids are curious and want to learn.
2. They learn prodigiously as infants and children before coming to school.
3. Evaluation is an integral part of the learning process.
4. Kids' learning is evaluated, primarily by themselves, before coming to school.
5. They are not given grades until they come to school.
6. Kids are eager to start school.
7. Learning is not a competitive process. There are no losers, and winners.
8. Learning is an active, not passive, process.

THE PURPOSE OF SCHOOLS

We believe the following about the purpose of schools.

1. They should meet kids' needs.
2. They should be places where kids want to be and enjoy being.
3. They should encourage learning.
4. They should not impose on kids but, rather, should meet individual needs.
5. Coersion has no place in the school.
6. Their purpose is not to impart a finite body of knowledge.

THE PRACTICE IN SCHOOLS

We believe the following to be true in the Lansing schools:

1. The needs of a significant portion of the children in the system are not being met.
2. Kids are not sufficiently involved in determining the nature and direction of their learning.
3. Kids have too few options about what they will learn, and when, and with whom they will learn.
4. Evaluation in school is significantly different from evaluation prior to entering school.
5. Many children are not happy in school.
6. The schools have pre-conceived expectations of what kids should learn and when.
7. Schools evaluate kids. There is little self-evaluation.
8. Schools, in administering the grading (evaluation) system, compare children with their peers and with arbitrary standards.
9. There is a failure orientation in our schools. The focus inexorably is on kids' failures, not their successes.
10. There is an artificial separation between school and society.
11. Education is essentially an authoritarian undertaking. (Sec No. 2 above)

OUR RECOMMENDATIONS

We believe the following would benefit kids in the Lansing schools:

1. Individuality and freedom of choice must be practiced as well as advocated.

2. Pre-conceived expectations of kids must be abandoned. Children must not be penalized (failed) for not being interested in learning what the teacher might wish to determine that the kids are to learn. Stated another way, kids must not be penalized for not being interested in a certain thing at a certain time.

3. Emphasis must be shifted to "learning" from "teaching". Kids are not receptacles to be filled from the teachers store of knowledge.

4. Kids must be fully involved in determining what they will learn in school.

5. Kids must be given options.

a. Each child is an individual, unlike any other person. We cannot, therefore, find it regrettable, or consider him to have failed, if he is not interested and does not learn what others learn. He must be given the opportunity to develop his individuality.

b. Testing for subject matter is inconsistent with the concept that each student is a individual and has his own interests. Testing implies that knowledge is finite and that certain facts should be learned to the exclusion of others. If teachers deem tests necessary, kids should have the option of not taking them, not being marked on them or taking them for their own informational purposes.

c. Report cards and grades make little contribution to the learning process. We are not favorably impressed with "pass-fail", considering the implications of saying that the child has failed to learn. In cases of "failure" it appears to be as reasonable to say that it is the school that has failed. Kids ought to have the option of being graded and being subject to report cards.

TEACHER EVALUATION

Kids should have a major role in evaluation of teachers. There are two possible ways:

(A) Kids could be asked to rate teachers somewhat as teachers now rate kids. We are afraid this method, while possibly a step in the right direction, would be artificial and as unrealistic as the method by which kids are now evaluated.

(B) It seems reasonable that no one type of teacher will appeal to all kids. A teacher whose methods, techniques and approach to learning appeal to one child may well not be successful with another. Students at all levels should be free to gravitate freely to the teacher or teachers who appeal to them.

It is pointless to require a child to spend time with a teacher whose approach does not meet his needs. Pupil assignments to teachers must be easily changed at the child's option. A teacher is an individual, too. He should not be required to remain with a child whose personality is constantly in conflict with his.

The evaluation of teachers will be rather automatic. A teacher would be judged as competent if he is able to attract and hold a clientele, albeit ever shifting. A teacher who does not find himself in demand with students could hardly be judged a good teacher.

We prefer the second method of evaluation of teachers. However, we would recommend the immediate implementation of the first method, as developed by students, pending the earliest implementation of the second, presumably no later than the next school year.

National Geographic Feature

When Mrs. Eisenhower was First Lady she conducted a White House tour in 1959 for descendants of former Presidents–with surprising results.

As the group pasued before a copy of the desk on which President Monroe had signed his famous Doctrine in 1823, Monroe's great-great-grandson, Laurence Gouverneur Hoes, pressed a spring to reveal a secret compartment even Mrs. Eisenhower hadn't known about.

The newest edition of "The Living White House," published by the White House Historical Association, tells how the compartment in the original desk was brought to light by Hoes 53 years earlier.

As a child in 1906 Hoes "had damaged this treasured family possession, and its repair had disclosed the hidden space," relates author Lonnelle Aikman. "Within it lay priceless letters written by Jefferson, Madison, John Marshall, and Lafayette."

Through this and other anecdotes Mrs. Aikman, a member of the National Geographic's senior editorial staff, points up the continual blending of past and present in the Executive Mansion.

The present First Lady contributed a foreword to the book in which she describes her feelings as the wife of a freshman Congressman in 1947, upon receiving an invitation to a White House reception.

"My husband felt that the work load of his new job was too pressing to permit us to go. But I persuaded him to change his mind by saying, 'We may never have another chance.' " Mrs. Nixon explains.

One of the book's 160 illustrations has historical value despite its inaccuracy. Taken from a 1906 newspaper, it depicts the wedding of President Theodore Roosevelt's daughter Alice to Congressman Nicholas Longworth.

The artist showed the wedding party impressively descending the grand stairway of the White House, the bride on her father's arm.

Mrs. Longworth, now 86, recalls in the book: "It wasn't like that at all. We came down in the elevator in the back and walked down the hall to the East Room."

Crash Kills Mrs. Cantu

Funeral for Mrs. Jesse V. (Glenda F.) Cantu, 27, mother of seven, was held at St. Marys Church Dec. 21, the Rev. E. Francis Denay officiating. Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mrs. Cantu was killed in an auto accident on State-st., 165 feet south of Carpenter-st., on Dec. 17. A car driven by her husband, Jesse V. Cantu, had left U.S. 31 and was proceeding north on State-st. when it struck the rear of a parked truck owned by Bob Mousseau, according to acting Police Chief Glenn Pemberton.

Cantu is still a patient at Charlevoix Hospital, suffering from fractures, lacerations and shock.

Mrs. Cantu was born in Charlevoix Aug. 23, 1943 and was married to Mr. Cantu at Hart in 1962.

Besides her husband, she is survived by seven children, three sons, Daniel, 8, Jesse jr., 3 and Richard, 2; four daughters, Wanda, 7, Mary Catherine, 6, Juanita, 4, and Caroline, six weeks.

Also surviving are her mother, Mrs. Mary Wasageshic of Charlevoix.

Ponder Gets 5 to 15 Years

Charles Dale Ponder, 47, of rural East Jordan, was sentenced to from five to 15 years in Southern Michigan Prison on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the death of his wife, Marjorie, also 47, last June 13 in Eveline Township.

Ponder was sentenced by Circuit Judge Charles L. Brown during a special term of Circuit Court Friday.

Harbor Wins Yule Contest

Harbor Hardware was declared winner in Charlevoix's first Christmas window decorating contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Honorable mention went to Grey Gables, The Little Shop Around the Corner, Portside Sports, Hess Furniture and the First State Bank.

Judging was completed Monday night by the C of C board of directors.

property be assessed at 50 percent of its true cash value.

Mrs. Blanchard expects the review will result in some fat increases in assessments, particularly in view fof the big demand for property in Charlevoix County in the past few years.

The Tax Commission ran its last check in Charlevoix ten years ago. After that survey, assessments jumped from $40,962,100 to $47,195,986.

The equalization director reports that the state equalized evaluation in increased $83,308,025 in the past 20 years.

In 1950, the county carried an evaluation of $11,983,295, compared to $95,291,320 in 1970. As recently as 1960, the SEV was only $39,605,000.

Fall Injures Jail Worker

Merlin Lihou, 42, a Traverse City man working on construction of the Charlevoix County Jail, suffered severe head injuries Dec. 15 when he fell through an access opening in the roof.

Acting Police Chief Glenn Pemberton said Lihou apparently caught his feet on a window sill on his 16-foot fall and landed on his head.

After examination at Charlevoix Hospital he was rushed to Munson Hospital in Traverse City for treatment.

Library Notes

The week before Christmas is a family time. With the tree decorated and the gifts wrapped and the children milling around waiting impatiently for the Big Day, books find an important place during the peaceful holiday hours.

We suggest "Stories to Read at Christmas" by Elsie Singmaster. The stories in this volume are all appropriate for reading at Christmas either at home or in public gatherings, such as Sunday Schools or adult or young people's clubs. They have been cut for this purpose and are arranged in order according to the time required for reading aloud—the first and shortest consuming approximately 11 minutes, the last and longest requiring approximately 25 minutes.

"The Story of the Other Wise Man" by Henry Van Dyke is published by Harper & Harper as a special edition of his most famous work. Translated into German, French, Armenian, Turkish and other foreign languages, this story of the fourth Wise Man who did not get to Bethlehem in time and never saw the Savior, has carried a message of courage and renewed faith to the far corners of the earth. This edition is illustrated with eight four-color plates and fifty-one line drawings by the eminent Australian artist, J.R. Flanagan.

"Joy to the World" by Ruth Sawyer contains six Christmas stories which appear for the first time in book form. Between the stories are carols, lovely in themselves, appropriated to each legend. The author, Ruth Sawyer, won the coveted Newberry Medal for her book "Roller Skates." She is also the author of "Storyteller" which is required reading for anyone who wishes to be a storyteller.

Lillian Smith has painted an enchanting portrait of Christmas as she knew it in childhood in her lovely book "Memory of a Large Christmas." There were nine Smith children, plus grandmothers and cousins, and there was a big house that never quite ended, and there were the smokehouse and hog-killing and the shaking of the pecan trees, and all the other delicious doings that went on in a 19th century kitchen. But above all, there was a father who, as impressario and ritual maker, polished family events so that, as the author says: "Even today they blind the eyes with their shine."

"The Christmas Whale" is a pre-school book with delightful illustrations, and, like Dicken's Christmas Carol, it is a book which the family can enjoy reading aloud, because there is no one too young or too old who won't receive pleasure from this book.

As a final suggestion for family inspirational reading during the holidays, we suggest "Tiny Tim" by William Ratigan, the very sad story of the smallest pine tree in the forest—so small that even Santa Claus didn't see him at all!

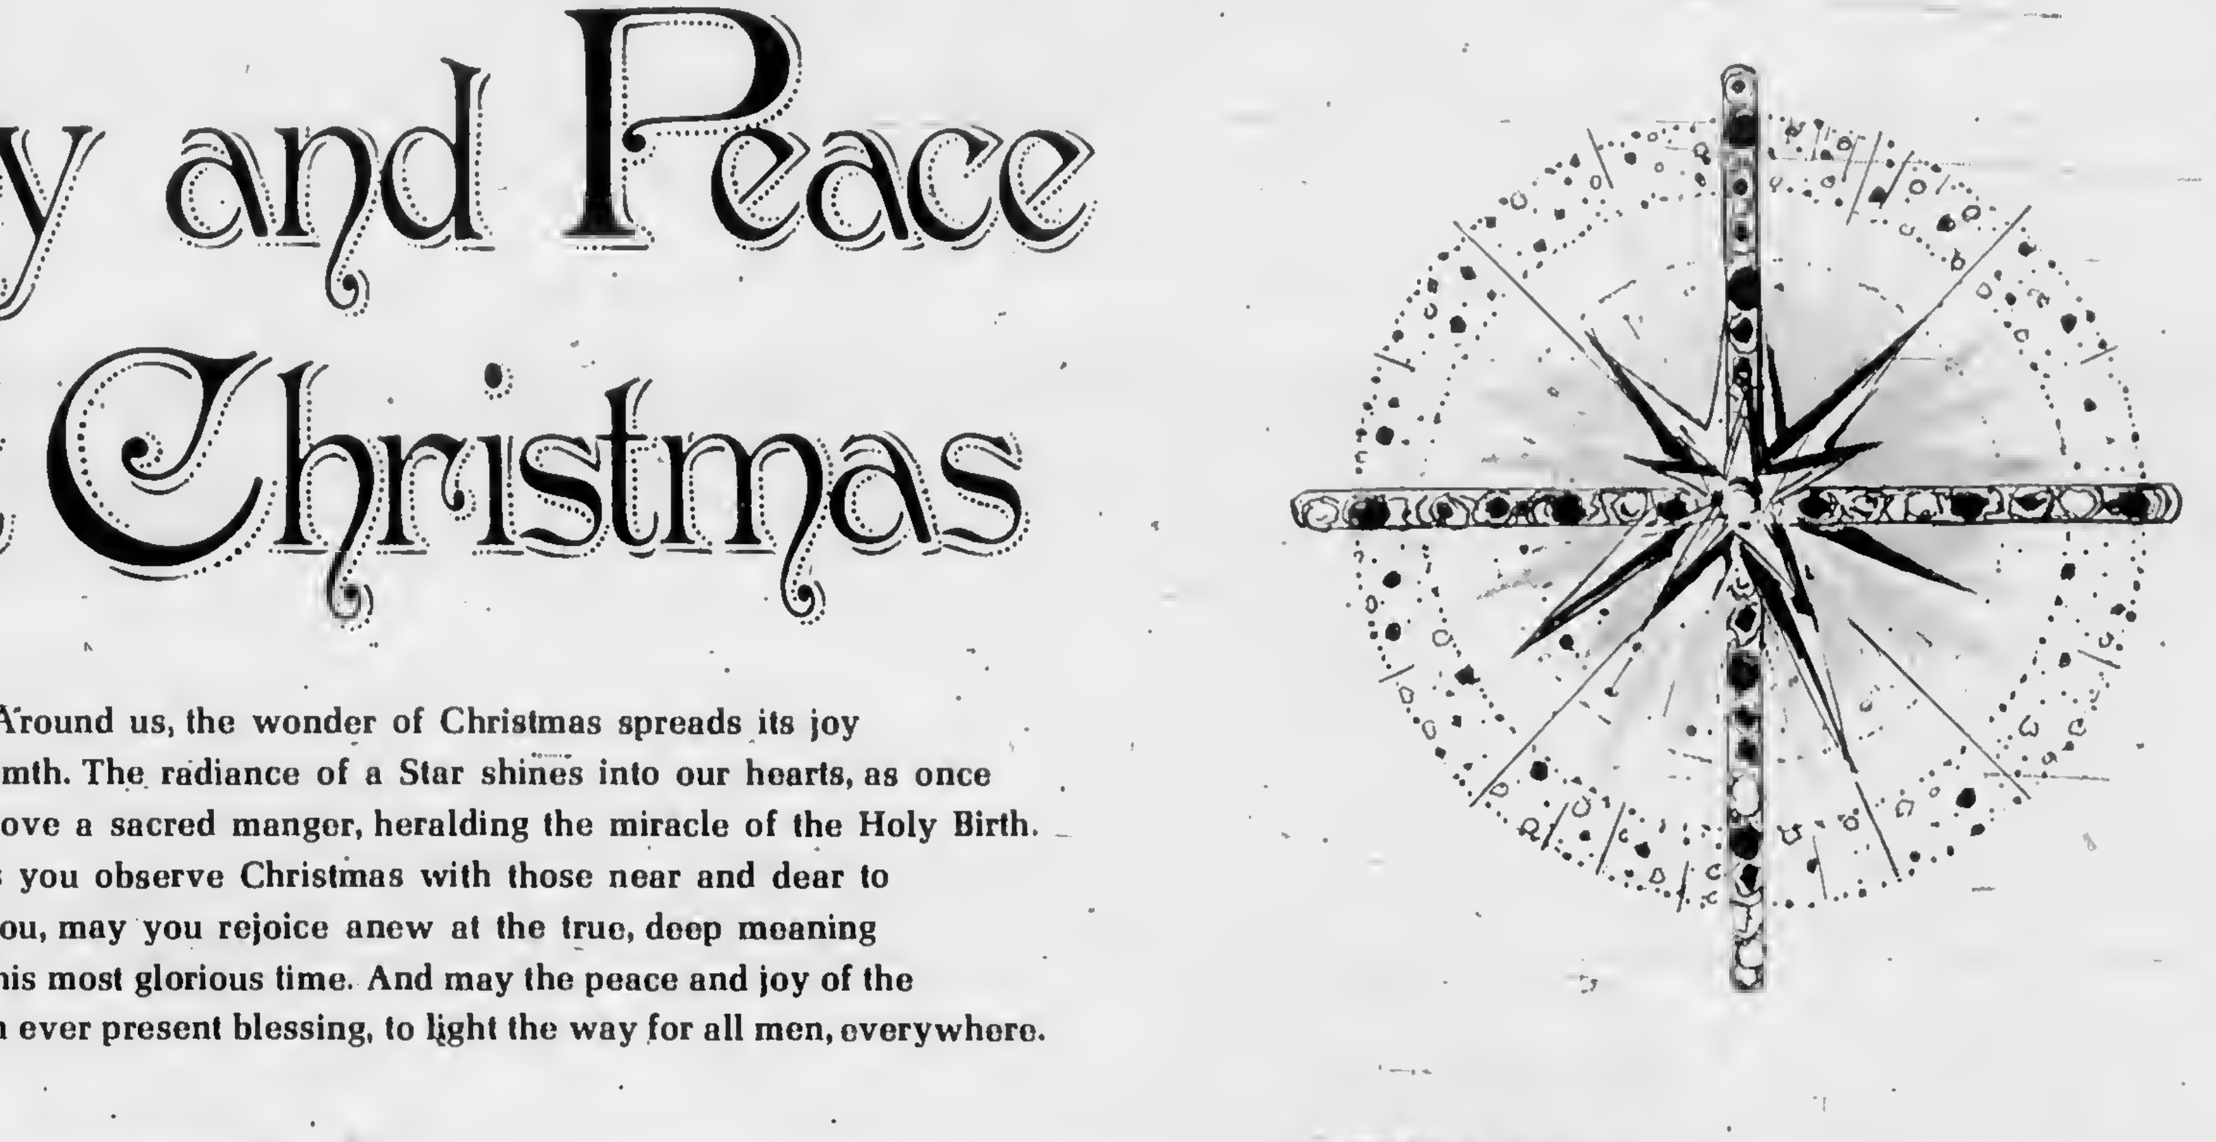
Joy and Peace at Christmas



Around us, the wonder of Christmas spreads its joy and warmth. The radiance of a Star shines into our hearts, as once it shone above a sacred manger, heralding the miracle of the Holy Birth.
As you observe Christmas with those near and dear to you, may you rejoice anew at the true, deep meaning of this most glorious time. And may the peace and joy of the season be an ever present blessing, to light the way for all men, everywhere.

CHILD'S PLAY

BY BARBARA ALLEN

CHOOSING THE RIGHT TOY

"How do I choose the right toy?"

As Christmas draws closer, I'm asked that question more and more by confused parents, grandparents, uncles and aunts. While there is no pat answer, there are several basic rules to apply to any prospective purchase.

The toy must get the child involved immediately. Our spaceage children want to participate, not watch. Now that man has walked on the moon, youngsters want to simulate astronaut activity—not read about it. That's one reason for the tremendous popularity this year of Ideal Toy's S.T.A.R. TEAM space equipment.

Be certain the toy you buy is appropriate for the child's mental age. Be objective about this. Never mind an item the boy or girl can "grow into." If they can't enjoy it now, they probably won't come back to it later. Many toy makers indicate an appropriate age range for each product. It's not a rule — just a helpful hint. You know the abilities and interests of your child better than anyone.

The most popular items this year are those which reflect what is happening in the adult world. They include computerized products such as Computer Car which can be programmed to follow a variety of courses, and Mr. Rembrandt which can draw an infinite variety of artistic designs according to an inserted cam, with your child's creativity determining colors and precise patterns.

Dolls that do more than look pretty — such as Crissy and Velvet, the "hair - growing dolls" — remain most popular among girls. And three dimensional games that are learned easily and played quickly are favorites among boys and girls.

Toy prices vary from store to store. So shop early, take your time and — because quality is most important — buy brand names.

a pair of space marvels . . .

Wives are sometimes hard to surprise at Christmas, so it isn't always easy to dream up even one different gift idea.

But, here's a pair of ideas if your wife hasn't had her own laundry appliances because installation or space is a problem.

The Porta-Washer and Porta-Dryer fit anywhere. Each appliance measures only 24 inches wide by 15 inches deep by about 30 inches high.

Both units operate on 115-volt household current and don't require special installation. The spinner type washer hooks up to any sink for doing the laundry and no special venting is required for the dryer.

Though small in size, each appliance handles about half a standard size washer load, making the pair ideal for small families, newly marrieds, retired couples or single persons.

An accessory stack rack, which holds the dryer just high enough above the floor so that the washer can be rolled in under it, converts a narrow space into a handy laundry nook. All that is needed is an adequately wired 115-volt outlet for the dryer, but the closer the nook to the kitchen or bathroom sink, the more convenient it would be for the user.

Fashion with a Future

ACCESSORIES FOR HOLIDAY are soft and elegant . . . the handbags, jewelry, gloves, belts and scarves all get in the Longuette mood and stay close to the body.

The Handbags are either clutches or short shoulder straps in cut velvets, brocades, silks, satins. They are flat and not oversized.

The Jewelry includes the dog collar in smooth velvets and satins decorated with embroidery and stones or soft chains at the throat. Bracelets adorn the wrist and ear rings have their place in slender drops.

The belts are wide in painted leathers, embroideries, brocades, silks, with interest in the buckle.

The gauntlet is still the important glove for the longuette in suedes or kid combinations. Gloves have cuff detail but are more tailored with few frills and bows.

BEAUTY will follow some of the leading trends in wigs (longer hair and more color) . . . makeup (translucency with color for lips and eyes) . . . plus treatment (hypo-allergenic etc.) into Holiday.

Appliances Make Welcome Gift

Clever Santas know that nothing pleases milady more than a gift that's handsome, enduring and useful every day of the year. Home appliances, like today's revolutionary types of vacuum cleaners, fill that description perfectly.

Of all household appliances considered for holiday gift selection, homemakers rated vacuums as the most important in helping them maintain a beautiful home the year around according to a national survey by the Home Care Institute.

If she is fortunate enough to find this number one helpmate under the tree she can put it to use immediately picking up stray bits of tissue, ribbon and other debris left over after the last gift has been opened. In minutes . . . and with little effort . . . the room will be neat and sparkling again and she'll be a relaxed hostess ready to receive holiday callers.

No matter which type of vacuum is selected, you can be certain it will protect precious furnishings and carpets, keeping them fresh and clean all year long.

One of the most popular gift selections is an adjustable light weight cleaner. Perfect for kitchens, baths and fast effective in between cleanups, these slim vacuums weigh less than 8 pounds and store simply.

Powerful little hand-vacs go anywhere and solve a variety of cleaning chores. They tidy up cars, carpeted stairs, clothing, upholstery and the Eureka Whisk even has a pet grooming attachment that air cleans and combs the fur on the family cat or dog.

For homes with carpeted stairs or large areas of hard surface flooring, experts recommend a powerful suction canister cleaner. The attachments that accompany canisters take care of all above the floor cleaning tasks. Many models conveniently carry their attachments in a special tray under the lid or, like the Empress, in a lid-top Tool-Pak.

Upright vacuums with a Rugulator pile adjustment that allows positioning of the vacuum for the proper cleaning height on any surface are best for homes with a variety of carpet piles and textures or wall-to-wall carpeting.

wrapping gifts, addressing cards take toll of eyes; guard them

Rest your eyes frequently. Because you use your eyes every moment you're awake, they deserve a little rest now and then. When doing close work over a long period of time, rest them by glancing into the distance for a moment at least once every half hour.

The busy whirl of holiday activities and tasks makes big demands on eyesight. Your eyes are working overtime as you:

a. address greeting cards

b. shop for gifts

c. clean and decorate the house

d. prepare for special parties, dinners, entertainment, etc.

Increased tempo of activities plus long hours puts added strain on the eyes. This can produce unwanted fatigue, nervous tension and headaches.

Here are a few suggestions to help you avoid these dampers on holiday fun:

a. Have proper lighting for the job at hand. When addressing cards, sit near a window with daylight coming over your left shoulder. At night, you need at least the amount of light projected by a 100 watt bulb 15 inches above your work. Supplement with overall background lighting — and avoid contrasted patches of glaring light.

b. Proper posture is important. When you sit erect, work will be the right distance from your eyes — usually 14 to 18 inches. Bending over or slumping puts the work too close, punishing your eyes.

c. A room lit only by a Christmas tree is beautiful — but hard on the eyes. Turn on the lights when you're working.

d. Stop for periodic rest breaks. Lift your eyes and focus on distant objects for a few seconds — close and open the eyes a few times — it's relaxing.

e. A short change of scene also helps. Have a cup of coffee or a cool drink.

f. Many homes in the winter become overheated, producing drowsiness. When you feel sluggish, let a little fresh air into the room.

g. Use of eye drops from a handy plastic squeeze bottle will soothe and relieve eye fatigue caused by extended periods of concentration on close work.

h. By proper planning, you can minimize eye strain — one of the main sources of holiday season fatigue.

GIFTS FOR THE HOME - A BUSINESS TREND

The age old custom of giving gifts as expressions of appreciation and goodwill toward business associates is taking a new turn.

Today, the trend is toward choosing business gifts the entire family can enjoy, says the Specialty Advertising Information Bureau. It's all part of a general movement to be more selective and personal in the choice of gifts.

More than two-thirds of companies giving business gifts now deliver at least some of these directly to the home. More than half of the companies distribute gifts in person by a company representative. Half try to choose different items for different people, largely to be more personal or to match customer interests.

Eureka! Their Own Scissors

How many times have you heard Mother exclaim "what has become of my good pair of sewing scissors!"

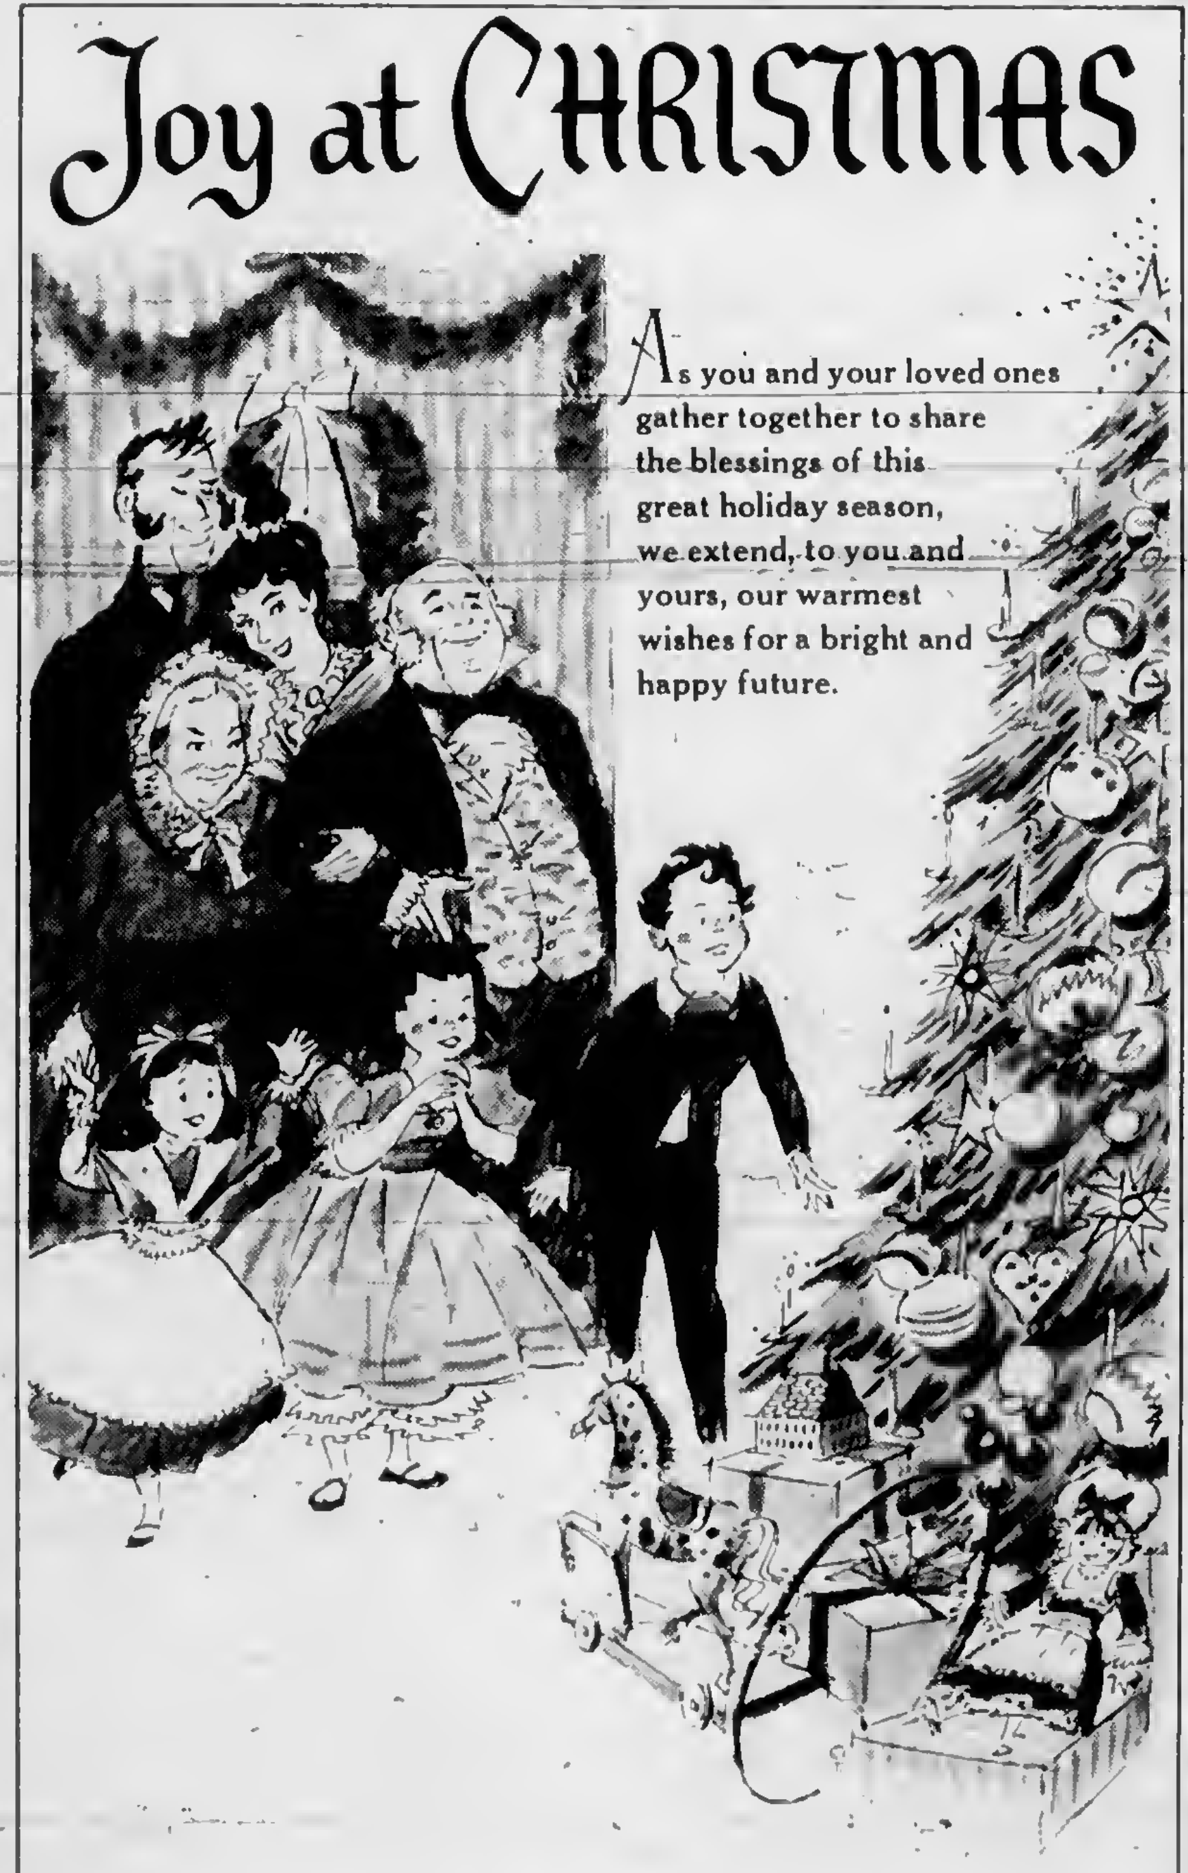
Hardly a day goes by that someone in the house doesn't handle a pair of scissors or shears, of one type or another. And the chances are that Mother's favorite pair for sewing usually gets mislaid in the borrowing process, or just plain worn out by performing tasks for which they were not intended.

The J. Wiss & Sons Co. solves the problem with a beautiful array of sewing sets that will provide years of sewing pleasure. Representing Wiss craftsmanship at its best is the set called Heritage which should be high on your Christmas gift list because here are all the scissors and shears she needs the most: 9" pinking shears, 8" dressmakers' shears, 6" sewing scissors and 4" embroidery scissors.

SPIRITED DATES

Do guests who drop in unexpectedly send you frantically rummaging to bare cupboards in search of snack treats to serve? The Bordo Products Company, packagers and processors of imported pitted and diced dates suggests that with a little advance planning . . . and a pound of dates — you can always have elegant, yet simple-to-prepare hors d'oeuvres as close as your refrigerator.

Simply pour one cup of your favorite sherry over a 16-oz. package of Bordo imported pitted dates. Let the mixture stand in the refrigerator for a day, or until most of the sherry has been absorbed. Remove sherried dates from the refrigerator and stuff each date with a pecan half. Store the stuffed dates in a covered container in the refrigerator . . . they'll keep up to one month.



As you and your loved ones gather together to share the blessings of this great holiday season, we extend, to you and yours, our warmest wishes for a bright and happy future.

Bake Dessert While Coffee Perks

A dessert that bakes in just about the same time as it takes to brew a pot of coffee? Coconut Meringue Tapioca is just that. Ideally suited for the busiest woman's schedule, preparation of this appetizing dessert starts with easy-to-make Jell-O Vanilla or Chocolate Tapioca Pudding enhanced with flaked coconut. A billowy meringue piled lightly on the cooked pudding and browned to perfection is the only baking required. Serve warm with freshly brewed hot coffee!

Coconut Meringue Tapioca

- 1 package vanilla or chocolate tapioca pudding
- 2 cups milk
- 2 egg yolks
- ½ cup flaked coconut
- 2 egg whites
- ¼ cup sugar

Combine pudding mix, milk, and egg yolks in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil. Remove from heat; stir in coconut. Pour into 1-quart baking dish. Beat egg whites until foamy throughout. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating thoroughly after each addition. Continue beating until mixture forms stiff shiny peaks; pile lightly on pudding. Bake at 425° for 5 to 10 minutes or until meringue is delicately browned. Garnish with pecans, if desired. Serve warm. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

CHRISTMAS MOTHER-TO-BE? PAMPER YOURSELF AND YOUR SPECIAL GIFT . . .

During the excitement of buying gifts, planning decorations and preparing the holiday meals, an expectant mother is likely to overlook one very important detail: herself.

If Christmas comes during that period of waiting, give yourself a special gift this year. Treat yourself to a little extra time for taking care of yourself.

Your feelings of weariness and fatigue are quite normal and some extra rest may be necessary during pregnancy, according to "Your First Pregnancy," a new booklet for expectant mothers.

The feeling of more fatigue than usual probably stems from all of the physiological changes during pregnancy and from the extra weight you carry during the later months. Don't plan to stay up late at night wrapping Christmas packages this year. Go to bed a little earlier. And space out your Christmas shopping so that you can have rest periods during the day, advises Miss Mary Louise Lennon, Director of Kimberly-Clark's Life Cycle Center, publisher of the booklet.

Holiday parties will be fun, but keep in mind your usual common-sense good health rules. You'll be tempted with many seasonal treats. Be sure to follow your physician's advice concerning diet and weight gain, advises the Life Cycle Center.

The extra weight can put a strain on your legs, too, and you may notice occasional leg cramps. Be kind to your legs during this holiday season. When you sit down, prop them up. Your holiday hostesses will be understanding and will be glad to provide a footstool or pillow for this purpose. Try not to stand for prolonged periods of time. Your husband will be happy to find a chair for you at parties. When you shop, plan your schedule so that you don't have to stand in line for long periods.

If your legs ache when you go to bed, sleeping with the lower end of the mattress raised can help, suggests the Life Cycle Center.

Normal activities are fine as far as possible. Don't worry about the exertion of trimming the tree, shopping and wrapping holiday packages. In most cases physical exertion won't harm the baby. In a normal pregnancy, the growing fetus lives in a very secure world. Leave the decision up to your doctor about participating in sports or taking trips by auto or plane.

These and other helpful hints to make this Christmas a little happier for the expectant mother are included in "Your First Pregnancy," available at ten cents per copy from:

Box 551-SC

After New Year's Day, you'll appreciate the extra care you took during the holidays. And remember during the holidays next year you'll have another member in your family!

State Yule Customs Traced 269 Years By WSU Historian

DETROIT—Michigan residents have been celebrating Christmas for 269 years, and in that time span have observed the occasion both in solemn and in boisterous fashion, according to a study by a Wayne State University history professor.

Dr. Philip P. Mason, director of archives at WSU, found that the first Detroit Christmas was observed with a mass sung in the little Church of St. Anne for the French residents of Fort Pontchartrain in 1701.

Early Detroit settlers from France did not include feasts and merriment in their Christmas. It remained for English settlers of the mid-18th Century to bring feasting, gift exchanges and celebration to the Michigan Christmas.

"These new Detroiters did not appear to be teetotalers," said Dr. Mason. "One client of a Detroit tavern had a bar bill showing that he consumed one to four bowls of punch per day for 21 straight days. He also bought several quarts of rum during this period."

The English brought the tradition of the Yule log, mistletoe, holly and the use of evergreens in the house. Wild turkey, cooked over the blazing Yule log, was a favorite for Christmas dinner.

Indians around Detroit quickly fell in with the idea of receiving presents at Christmas and hundreds of them would come to town on Christmas to receive gifts from the settlers.

The arrival of the Americans in Detroit apparently added little to the first Christmas celebrations. Christmas of 1796 was the first of these holidays on which an American flag flew over Detroit, and the American commander scheduled a court martial for Dec. 25. The WSU historian also noted the stores were open that day, a Sunday.

The arrival of large numbers of settlers from New England brought the custom of hanging stockings on Christmas Eve. They brought another interesting practice. They fired guns, blew horns and generally raised Cain from midnight until dawn on Christmas Day, something more common for New Year's celebrations of today.

The Detroit population of the early 19th Century was liable to be gathered on the banks of the Detroit River, watching the horse races held on the frozen river Christmas Day. One of the participants in these early races was a young Army man, Ulysses S. Grant.

CHRISTMAS CAROL 69

The earth has grown old with its burden of care,
But at Christmas it always is young
The heart of the jewel burns lustrous and fair
And its soul full of music breaks forth on the air.
When the song of the angels is sung

It is coming, Old Earth, it is coming tonight!
On the snow-flakes which cover thy sod
The feet of the Christ-Child fall gentle and white.
And the voice of the Christ-Child tells out with delight
That mankind are the children of God

CREATIVE CRAFT IDEAS

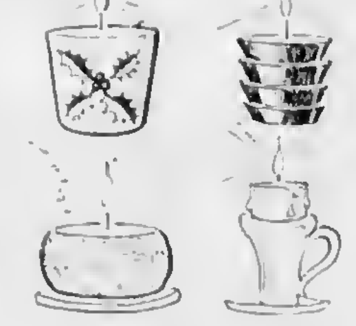
Candles for the Holiday

Candles give off a pretty light for the home and are a happy thought for holiday gifts.

You can make your own personal candles; they are easy, inexpensive and can be trimmed or decorated in many ways to suit a mood or holiday decoration. The basic supplies to gather together on a working surface are paraffin, powder all purpose dye, wicking from a hobby shop or heavy string, and containers for molds. In addition, you'll need a double boiler, spoons or stirrers, pencils or lollipop sticks, and adhesive tape.

The mold will determine the candle shape. Choose a cardboard milk or cottage cheese carton, juice or soup cans, metal gelatin molds, paper cups or muffin tins. The molds should be clean and dry before beginning. For large candles in cardboard cartons, insert wick before pouring wax. Punch a hole in center of the mold bottom just large enough for string or wicking. Pull wick through hole and secure to top by tying end to a pencil or stick placed across top of mold. Pull cord taut from bottom and secure by knotting and covering with tape. Wicks may be added to hardened candles by piercing center with a heated ice pick or metal knitting needle. Thread wick into hole and pour in wax to fill hole and hold wick in place. For small candles, dip cord cut one inch longer than depth of mold into melted wax and set aside to harden. Push wicks into center of molds when wax begins to harden.

Melt paraffin in a double boiler or in a pan over boiling water. Never use direct heat as wax is inflammable. Add Rit dye powder to color wax, using about 2 teaspoons for each pound of wax. Choose light dye colors for brighter and more effective candles. Remove wax from heat and stir thoroughly for 2 to 3 minutes. Let stand a few minutes, then pour carefully into molds from a height of not more than 1 or 2 inches to avoid air bubbles. Since dye is not made to be soluble in wax, some residue will remain in the pan after pouring. Simply discard residue.



Use 1 pound of melted paraffin for 3 (6-ounce) juice can candles or 5 gelatin mold candles and 1½ pounds for a 1 quart milk carton. When wax is thoroughly hardened, unmold. Remove tape and knots securing wicks and peel cartons from candle. Dip metal molds quickly into hot water to loosen candle.

Personalize candles for gifts or holiday decorations. Add a wax holly trim cut with a knife from a small amount of light green colored wax poured onto a wax paper lined pan. Secure to candle after warming over a flame. Stack candles made in gelatin molds for interesting shapes or pour melted wax into a mold filled with ice cubes for a cut-work candle.

Wet Weather Reduces State Forest Fire Loss

Michigan's 1970 forest fire season shows another low toll for the second straight year with only 6,433 acres burned by 1,386 fires, reports the Department of Natural Resources.

This year's losses are down about 110 acres from 1969. They leave the state with its best showing in forest fire control since 1987 when damage was held to a record low of 2,884 acres.

Robert J. Compeau, chief of the DNR's Forest Fire Division, gives much of the credit for this year's low toll to "exceptionally wet weather" in the fall which figured prominently in holding forest fire damage to only about 35 acres since the first week of September.

Compeau notes that several DNR field stations registered record rain-fall readings during September. The Department's field station at Kalkaska, for example, gauged more than 10 inches of rainfall during that month.

As in most seasons, this year's forest fires hit the state hardest during the spring, destroying nearly 5,100 acres by the first week of May. From mid-April through early May, forest fire damage ran about 1,000 acres a week, with most of that toll triggered by careless spring debris burning.

As the smoke cleared on this season, forest fire losses stood at 994 acres in the Upper Peninsula as against 392 acres in 1969. The number of reported fires in that part of the state rose from 245 last year to 412 this season.

In the northern Lower Peninsula, 756 fires swept across 2,951 acres this year. Last year, 450 fires blackened 1,491 acres in that part of the state.

This season's higher toll in northern Michigan was offset by sharply reduced losses in the southern third of the state.

In that region, forest fire damage was trimmed to 2,488 acres in 1970, compared with 4,662 acres last year.

Southern Michigan also shows a marked improvement in forest fire prevention this season, with only 218 fires breaking loose in that part of the state. In 1969, that region was hit by 321 fires.

Statewide, 370 more fires were reported this season than last year. The increase largely reflects a change under which the DNR now counts all fires which threaten natural resources.

The new system, being followed in other states to develop national uniformity in fire record-keeping, now also covers cabin fires and breakaway blazes on agricultural lands which endanger notural resources.

Previously, these fires were termed "non-statistical" fires, and were not included in the DNR's record totals.

Both love and the diamond are forever. As the years pass, love grows and matures. It shares the happiness, the sorrow and the successes that the years have brought. Another, larger diamond, the luminous expression of a love that has grown and deepened, is the measure of his or her appreciation. Perhaps this is the Christmas you want to make memorable again. With a second diamond ring, let the magnificence of its superb stone say all the things your heart feels.

Barbecued Spareribs Are Sure Success At Holiday Parties

Tasty ribs will do a disappearing act when served as finger food on the appetizer tray at holiday open house gatherings. They're not only popular but easy to prepare as well, points out Reba Staggs, home economist of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

Spareribs can be cut into individual ribs and barbecued together in a spicy sauce. When removed from the oven, they are ready to serve. Or the ribs can be prepared ahead and reheated if desired.

Tasty Sparerib Appetizers

4 to 6 pounds spareribs*
1 cup catsup
⅔ cup tomato juice
1 tablespoon vinegar
3 tablespoons brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic, minced

Cut spareribs into individual ribs, place on rack in roasting pan and cover pan with foil. Cook in a moderate oven (350°F.) 1 hour. Combine catsup, tomato juice, vinegar, brown sugar, salt and Worcestershire sauce and garlic and bring to a boil. Cook over low heat 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Uncover ribs, baste with sauce and continue cooking, uncovered, for 1 hour 15 minutes or until done, turning and basting frequently. Yield: 8 to 12 servings, 3 to 5 ribs per serving.

*Ask meat retailer to split the larger end of the slab of ribs, if smaller individual servings are desired.

IS SANTA'S BEARD REAL? MAYBE— BUT NOT AS LONG AS KILLINGWORTH'S

Christmas without Santa Claus? Never. Santa without his flowing white beard? Ridiculous.

Well, don't tell the kids but Saint Nick hasn't always had all those whiskers. There's a statue of St. Nicholas in Bari, Italy, showing him with a neat, pointed Vandyke.

St. Nick's great white mane was a German and Dutch addition to the original legend which dates back to 300 A.D. It was immortalized by the American poet Clement Moore in his classic "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" in 1822.

Beards have always been a mark of very special importance and legendary figures such as King Arthur are almost always shown with beards in paintings even though no one knows for sure that they even existed.

Santa's beard may be the most beloved beard of all time but it doesn't hold the record for length. That distinction may belong to George Killingworth who was Queen Elizabeth's agent in the Court of Ivan the Terrible of Russia. Killingworth's beard was five feet long. The story has it that Ivan, who also wore a beard, would stroke the Englishman's whiskers while they talked.

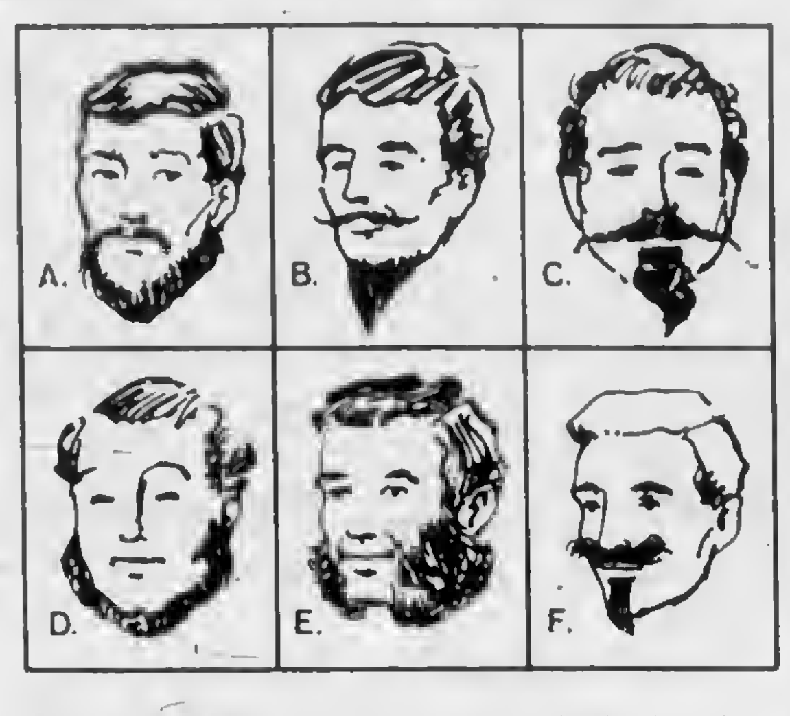
Not all Russian rulers liked beards. Clean-shaven Peter the Great went so far as to levy a tax on beards. There is no record of a taxpayers' revolt. But there was one in France in 1907 when waiters walked off their jobs to protest a rule prohibiting moustaches.

The care and removal of facial hair has become a big business complete with high powered research programs. Remington, for example, had a team of metallurgists develop the special steels which are used in the extra sharp cutters in their new Lektro Blade shaver line, and many makers of false moustaches, sideburns and beards consult with doctors in an effort to avoid allergy aggravating whiskers. Recently, luxury barber shops which charge as much as $20 for a shave and haircut have come into vogue. There have even been actors who have insured their beards.

Beards have had their ups and downs throughout the years and from country to country. For example, most European monarchs wore beards until the end of the last century. But in 1909 only one, Leopold of Belgium, had a full set of whiskers. In England, beards have gone in and out of style several times.

No one seems quite sure why beards have become so popular among today's young men. A psychologist recently attempted an explanation by noting that beards have always been associated with wisdom. Young men, he said, are trying to tell us that they really are very wise despite their youth.

If beards are a sign of wisdom, the merry gentleman who is due down our chimneys the night before Christmas must have all the answers.



HOW'S YOUR BEARD I.Q.? Six popular beard styles are shown here. Can you identify them? Answers are upside down.

YEN FOR YOUTH?

CALENDARS GIVE YOU 26 SECONDS PER YEAR

Relax, ladies! If you've been looking for a blessing to count, you just got one. Whether or not you've noticed, you are now 26 seconds younger than you thought you'd be a year ago. You'll beat the old calendar by another 26 seconds during 1970 — which puts you almost a minute ahead in only two years!

Since pre-history, civilizations have kept tabs on time. And most apparently have managed to keep us as young as possible in the process.

Sources are obscure as to the actual moment the seed of our time bonus was planted, but reducing the calendar error to just 26 seconds per year was not a bad feat really, when you're dealing with a solar year exactly 365 days, five hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds long. Calendars, it can be said, are hardly more than expanded clocks — recording days rather than hours and their particles!

Calendars, today, are so vital as to be an almost mandatory furnishing in any home or office. The Specialty Advertising Information Brueau cites results of a survey which reveals that 98 per cent of a 1,000-home sample had advertising calendars conveniently posted. And in the homes checked, an average of 2.5 calendars were being used. One out of five householders said they could use more. Most of the calendars displayed were given away free by advertisers.

going on a Christmas holiday? take beauty along

From a potpourri of statistics two enchanting facts about American women have just emerged they are more beautiful than ever — and many more of them will be spending Christmas away from home. If this conjures up visions of roaming bands of itinerant lovelies, our feeling is — why not? There's no rule that the joyous season has to be spent at home. Many families find the Christmas spirit prevails just as well in Acapulco and Gstaad.

How, though, does one combine travel and beauty for winning results? The holidays are a time when you want to look your very best, but hectic travelling may undermine your fervent efforts toward that end. A formula for the trip is what you need and you'd best begin with your makeup case. Has it too long been a catch-all for the gritty samples you've collected? For an eye shadow that's the "wrong" blue or blusher that irritates your skin?

One travelling companion you'll treasure is the Carmen Enlightened Mirror International. A fast switch-flip shifts this remarkable mirror from domestic 120-volt current to the 220-volt power used in many other countries. Broad spectrum lamps — the truest light ever achieved in a makeup mirror — plus four separate light settings for home, office, day and evening make it a delight to use anywhere.

Personal Cards

Sign your Christmas cards yourself to bring warm personalized greetings into your friends' homes — and hearts. Sign the man's name first — Jim and Marge Smith — and never, never use Mr. and Mrs. on your cards. If children are included on your greetings their names follow your husband's and yours. Toy Series Keyed to Love and Comfort

THE GRAMMA DOLL [illegible]

Parents are progressive if they teach their children to read at age three, enlightened if they prod the baby's artistic talents as soon as he can stick a fist in the finger paint.

Children are precocious if they can tie their shoes six months before their next-door playmates, and they're "little men and women" if they don't cry when it hurts.

Now somebody wants to loosen the lid a little.

"I'm averse to the intellectual approaches to children's toys," says Joyce Miller, designer of the new "Gramma" doll. "Children have been overstimulated by TV, parents and toys. They need security. Everything Gramma does is either comforting or loving."

Miss Miller, a free-lance advertising woman, is a former interior decorator and prize-winning furniture designer who created Gramma almost by accident, while she was sketching furniture. She happened to draw a rocking chair.

"One thing led to another," she explained, until she had Gramma's Lap, a child-sized wooden rocker with cheerful face and calico dress painted on.

But Gramma isn't just another cheerful face. She teaches children to enjoy doing, as well as the end result," Miss Miller says. "The theme is 'Are you having fun?' Just do your best.' It isn't 'Be careful, you must do this right.'"

The Gramma collection features three rag dolls. All come with a color booklet about the "funny happy things" Gramma likes to do, and one calls out affectionate coaxings like "Come here and snuggle up with Granny."

In addition to the dolls and Gramma's Lap, the Sears Christmas catalog and many Sears stores will offer Gramma's Nap (a cradle), Gramma's tea set, Gramma's house, Gramma's sewing kit and Joe Dog, Gramma's pet.

You can pay as much for a pedigreed cat as for a purebred dog and that ain't kibble (Carnation Friskies) that is. People are doing just that. Last year they put out more than $12 million for the prestige of owning fancy felines.

It's Fancy Pants For Christmas '70

Jogging to the foreground, new pant styles will set the pace for Christmas and holiday events, and is expected to be one of the biggest fashion looks for the coming year.

Pant ensembles in feminine, soft styles are providing the alternative to the longuette issue, according to Mrs. Mabel Westerberg, Senior Vice President and Fashion Director of Queen's-Way to Fashion, Inc., leading direct selling fashion firm. Predictions are that pants will be walking circles around the longuette, and used for choicest occasions, such as the upcoming holidays.

"This season," notes Mrs. Westerberg, "women will opt for the newest pant styles, for comfort as well as style. Jumpsuits, pant suits, gaucho pants, knickers, culotte hostess loungewear and separates under mini and midi dresses will provide women with an alternative to hemlines as the battle of the varying lengths persists."

Jumpsuits will be one of the most popular pant styles, the Fashion Director observes, offering an elegant yet casual look.

Designed in wools, silks, acetates and wet look materials, the jumpsuit becomes a big style, complemented by vests from the smallest bolero top to ankle length tunic styles. It goes anywhere in many different textured fabrics and pant widths; worn as a hostess gown for at-home Christmas parties, evening outfit for New Year's Eve, or as an office ensemble on those cold, wintry days to come.

For those who lean towards a sporty, long-hemline look, gaucho pants with high boots or matched opaque hose will simulate the best of both worlds: skirt and pant.

"The pant suit is finding its way into the most fashionable events of the season," Mrs. Westerberg adds, "and answers the lifestyle needs of the '71 woman."

Xmas wraps kids can make

A rainy December day is the perfect time for youngsters to try their hands at unusual Christmas wraps. Although the wraps are unusual, they are all made with materials easily found around the house. A llama, for instance, can be made with a cereal box covered with construction paper. His decorative saddle is made with a lighter color of paper and festooned with "Q-Tips" cotton swabs. The cotton swabs, incidentally, make excellent paint brushes, too.

A turtle is made with two paper plates and bits of construction paper as legs. His markings were made with a cotton swab dipped in paintbox colors.

A lion can be made with a cereal box too. The top of the box is used for his face. The lion's mane is made by dipping cotton swabs in paint and inserting around the edge. Features are painted on with paintbox colors.

If the holidays come this year in the middle of pregnancy, give yourself a special gift. Treat yourself to a little extra time for rest and relaxation. Although you'll be able to shop, wrap packages, trim the tree and prepare holiday feasts, you may feel a little more tired than usual. Relax!

Ellsworth's Holiday News

Mrs. Dessie Farrell returned from Florida Saturday and is staying at the home of her son Donald in Norwood, whose wife Betty is seriously ill.

The Womens' Missionary Society of the Wesleyan Church met at the home of Clara McElroy Wednesday for Christmas dinner and a gift exchange.

The Christmas Sunday School program of the Wesleyan Church will be given at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 at the church. Visitors welcome.

A baby shower was given for Chadwick Blane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Taylor sr., Friends and relatives enjoyed the evening playing games and the baby received many useful and pretty gifts. Hostesses were Mrs. Jerry Holly, Mrs. Peter VanderArk and Mrs. Larry Whiteford of Traverse City, who served a delicious lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit John Drenth were in Grand Rapids the last of the week and got held up a bit by the snow there.

Ralph DeGroot is again spending the winter with his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kort of Grand Rapids.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit George Drenth went to Houston, Texas, last week as delegates to the National Farm Bureau Convention. They toured many places of interest as the Osterdome, Nassan Center, the Port of Houston and some oil fields.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Kaley, Tuesday, Dec. 8, 1970, a second child and first son. The newcomer weighed 8½ pounds and has been named Christopher Dean. Ellsworth grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kaley.

The Christmas program of the Christian Reformed Church Sunday School classes will be given Wednesday, Dec. 23 at 7:30 p.m. in the Church. Everyone welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Harm Fielstra, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fielstra and Mettie VanderArk attended the open house for their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Drogt of Eastport on Sunday in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Klooster and Mrs. Fanny Koster, attended the wedding of Althea VandenBerg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake VandenBerg and Richard Olds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette H. Olds of Kingsley, Saturday, Dec. 12 in the St. Marys Hannah Catholic Church in Kingsley.

Christmas decorations were put up in the village last week including a nice tree and the stable manger scene on the corner of Main and Center. With other local residences trimmings the town looks bright and shiny and friendly.

Ebenezer P.T.O.

John Kooyer, vicar, was chairman of the Ebenezer School P.T.O. Monday evening in the absence of President Carl Potts of Atwood.

Group singing was enjoyed after which Mr. Kooyer led in scripture reading and prayer.

Marla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Versile Veldkamp and Trudi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Vail, played a duet of Christmas hymns on the piano. Then Pat, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Drenth, and Joy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Drenth, also played a Christmas song on the piano.

The main speaker was Robert Hill, vice president.

The next musical number was Mrs. Versile Veldkamp on the piano accompanied by John Kooyer, with his guitar and harmonica. Group singing followed. On the program committee were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Essenberg and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Drenth.

Business meeting was then conducted, Mrs. Allen Yanniman giving the secretary's report and Mrs. Jake Veenstra the treasurer's report.

Marlon Sitzema, president of the school board, thanked Mrs. Fred Bolhuis for substituting for Mr. Krause when he was ill.

A social hour followed and refreshments were served by Mrs. George Drenth and Mrs. Fred VanStedum.

EXPECTANT PARENTS

Exciting, if not somewhat anxious are the thoughts of the new mother-to-be. Suddenly the expectant mother and the doting father-to-be find themselves besieged with unanswered questions and needed decisions. Helpful suggestions for the expecting "parents" are included in a new booklet, "Your First Pregnancy," available for ten cents from the Life Cycle Center, Kimberly-Clark Corporation, P.O. Box 551 FP, Neenah, Wisconsin 54956.

Wine Study

A wine study course is now offered free to anyone over 21 by the Wine Advisory Board.

The course includes a comprehensive 40-page booklet telling the history, production and types of wine. Students also receive an examination sheet to be mailed back to WAB and are offered a diploma for a nominal charge.

STATE FIRSTS

Michigan ranks first among states in production of dry edible beans, red tart cherries, blueberries, Eastern White winter wheat, cucumbers for pickles and hothouse rhubarb, according to Dr. George Dike, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

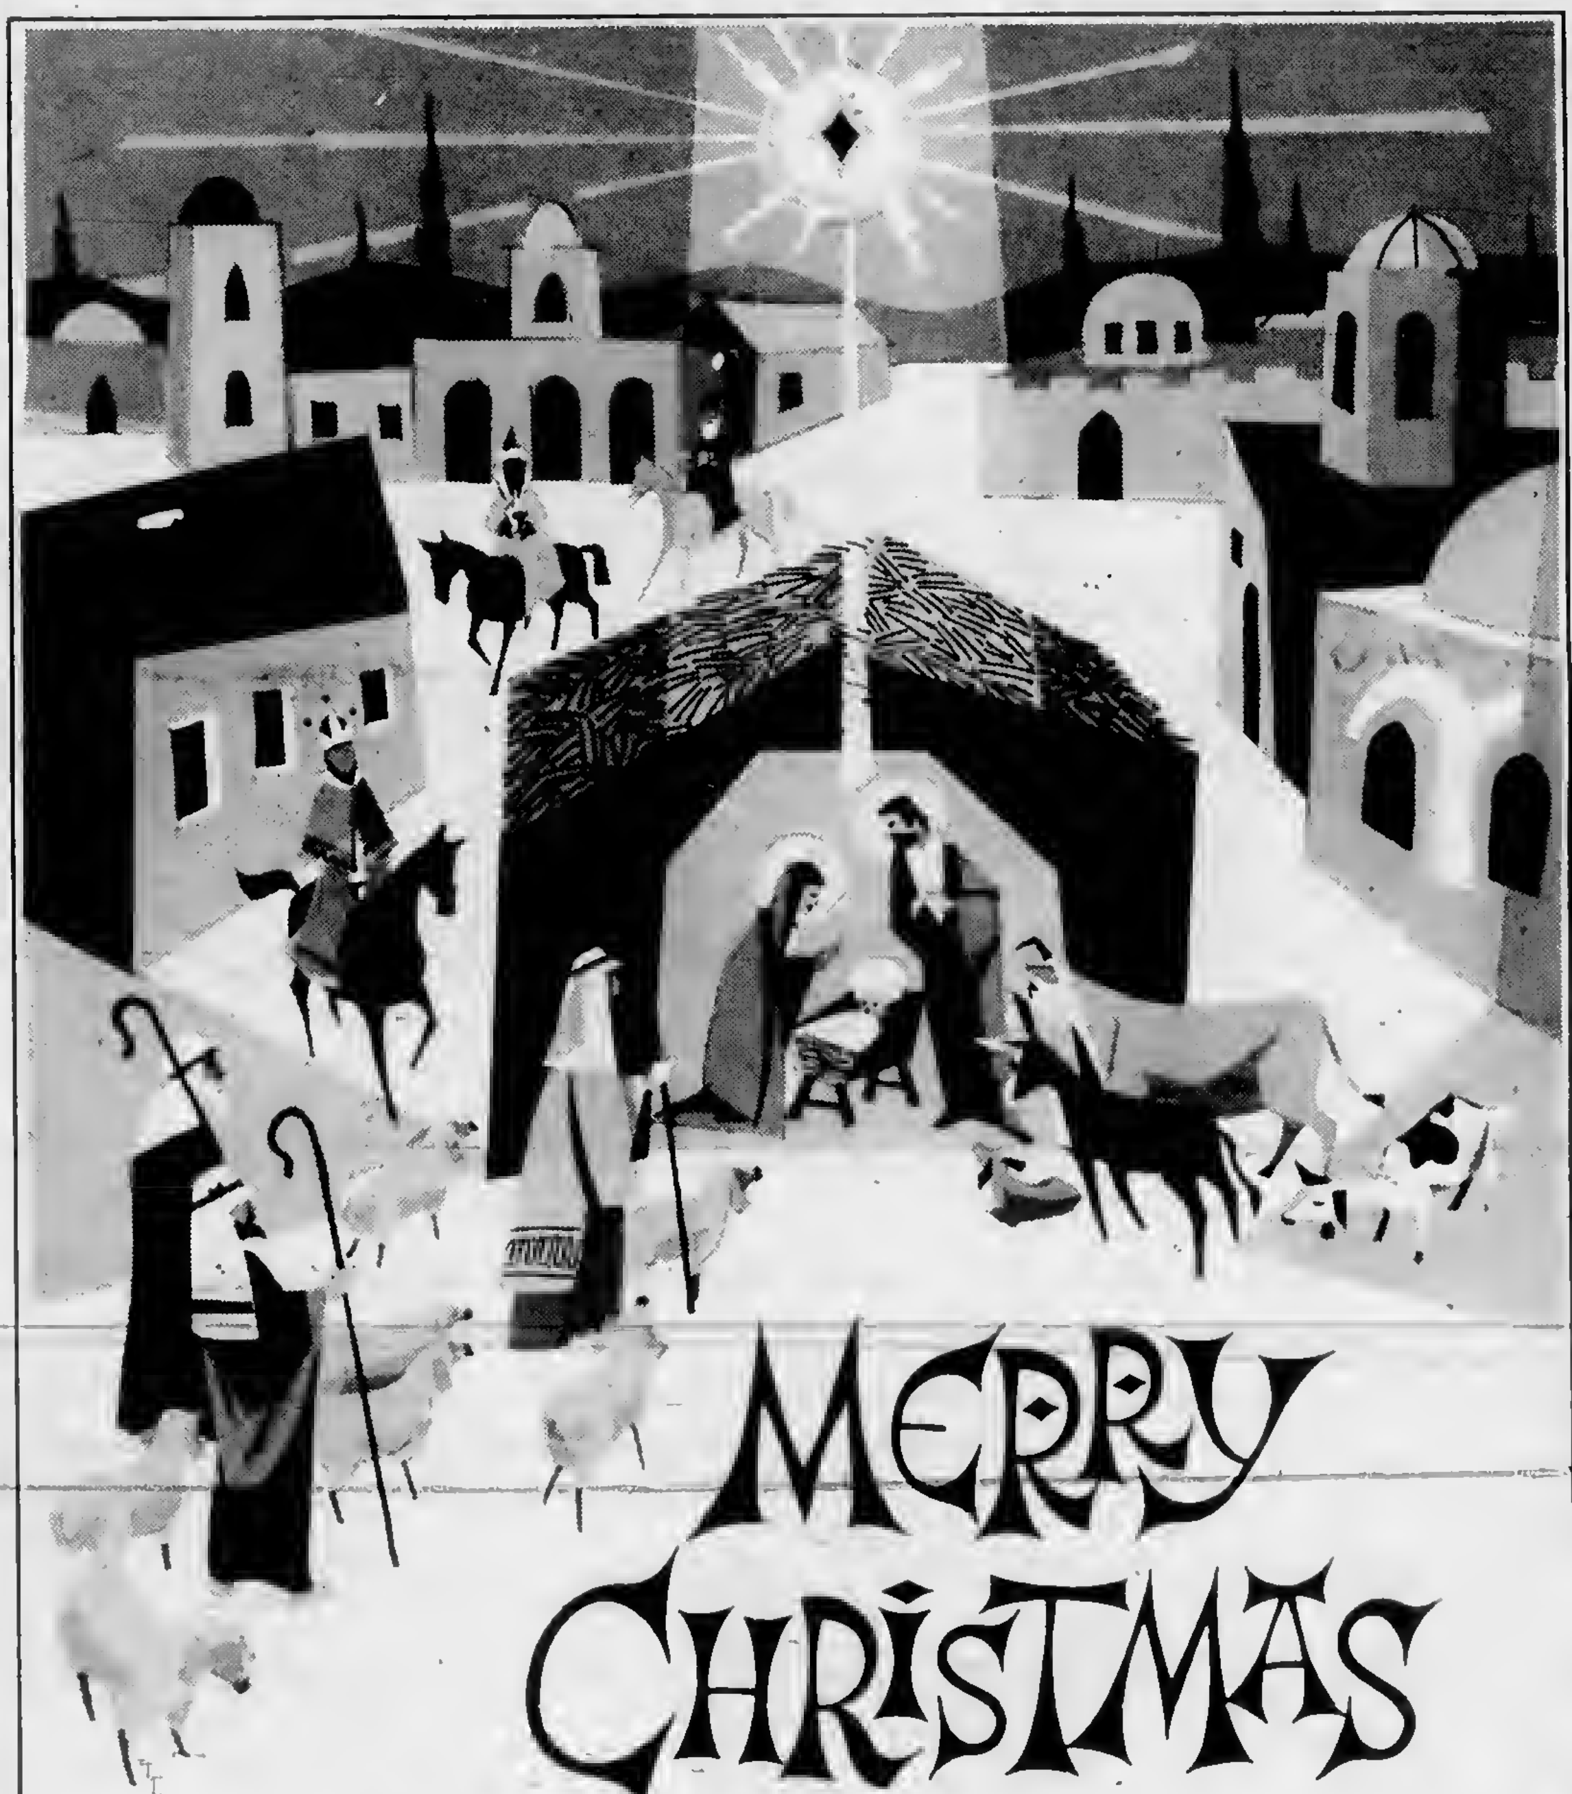
As we celebrate the Christmas season, may the symbols of peace and freedom enkindle a fraternal spirit in all.

THE BARTLETTS



Throughout the years, the Miracle of Christmas has enriched our lives with an ever-present warmth, radiating the hope and promise of peace and good will for all mankind. As we count our blessings this Christmas season, let us not forget that Silent Night, long ago, when the Christ Child was born. His message of life eternal is the true gift of the season. Let us pray that the spirit of the Nativity live with us, now and always.

Here's What Made News in 1970

Courier Recaps Highlights

The New Year traditionally is a time for looking into the future with a resolute optimism that the 12 months that lie ahead will somehow be better, brighter, happier and more prosperous than the 12 that just ended.

But it is also a time for looking backward at the old year, to see that the milestones are in their proper perspective.

By and large, 1970 was a good year for Charlevoix. Although the national economy was in the doldrums, Charlevoixans didn't fare too badly.

There were probably more tourists in town last summer than ever before, but they didn't leave as much money behind as our businessmen hoped they would, probably as a result of the big move toward campers and trailers.

Lake trout fishing made a big splash during 1970 and it now appears that supplying and accommodating fishermen could well become one of the mainstays of our economy in the future.

Some new businesses opened up in town during 1970, while others quietly shut down for good.

The year 1970 saw the beginning of a new ultra-conservative movement in area politics, with the election of Richard Friske to the House of Representatives.

The past year also acquainted Charlevoixans with the problems of drug abuse and the so-called "new morality." As a community, Charlevoix was shocked, but the scope and intensity of the problem so far has escaped assessment.

But for most Charlevoixans, 1970 will be remembered for family milestones: the marriages, the anniversaries, the promotions, the graduations, and other individual accomplishments which made 1970 unique.

On an even more personal level, 1970 will be remembered as the year grandma, Uncle Harry or Aunt Jane died.

So here is the Courier's recapitulation of the year, week by week. Of course there's some mighty important news left out, space limitations being what they are, but the editor has tried to give a sampling of what happened when in 1970.

ORDER TO ANSWER
STATE OF MICHIGAN
IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF CHARLEVOIX.

BETTY JANICE DE VERSE Plaintiff vs.
PAUL H. DE VERSE
Defendant

On the 9th day of December, 1970, an action was filed by Betty Janice DeVerse, plaintiff, against Paul H. DeVerse, defendant, in this court to obtain an absolute divorce from said defendant.

It is hereby ordered that the defendant, Paul H. DeVerse whose present whereabouts is not known, shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before the FIRST day of FEBRUARY, 1971. Failure to comply with this order will result in a judgement by default against such defendant for the relief demanded in the complaint filed in this court.

Residents Win Prizes for Decorations

Winners in the city's holiday home decorating contest have been announced by City Superintendent Thomas Hanna. Prizes of $15 go to the first place winners, $10 to second place winners and $5 to third place winners.

First Ward: Max Hosmer, 205 Elm-st., first; Ken Empey, 402 E. Dixon-ave., second; and Harold Dutcher, 104 Ainslie-st., third.

Second Ward: Ted Lass, 219 Park-ave., first; A.M. Allor, 217 Park-ave., second; and George Lusk, 203 W. Hurlbut-st., third.

Third Ward: Eugene Towsley, 502 May-st., first; Robert Trost, 201 E. Lincoln, second; and Norbert Scharenbroch, 905 May-st., third.

Hal Forbrig, who lives on Old M-66 won a $10 prize for the best decorated home outside city limits.

A special award of $50, offered by an anonymous donor for the best decorated went to Eugene Towsley.

A. Essenburg Files Petition For Mayor

Charlevoix Grocer Andy Essenburg has filed a nomination for mayor in the Feb. 15 primary election, according to the city clerk's office. The post is presently held by William Fochtman.

Essenburg was the only candidate to have filed by noon, Dec. 23. Deadline for filing petitions is 4 p.m. Dec. 28.

A House Bill awaiting the governor's signature would extend the terms of city officials until Jan. 1, 1972, with a primary in August, 1971, and the general election in November, 1971.

City Attorney John Michael says that petitions filed before Dec. 28 will still be valid in August, in the event the measure passes and the city elects not to "opt out."

'Watch Night' Rites Planned

The Antrim-Charlevoix County Holiness Association will sponsor a "Watch Night" service on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31, at the East Jordan Missionary Church, East Jordan.

Speaker at the worship service, scheduled from 9 until 10 p.m. will be the Rev. Elmer Faust, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Charlevoix. Special music will be furnished by musicians of the churches.

From 10 p.m. until 11 p.m. a social hour will be held at the Masonic Temple. Participants are asked to bring "finger foods" such as sandwiches, cookies and snack chips for the potluck refreshments.

The program will close with a religious film from 11 p.m. until midnight at the church.

RESOLUTION ATOMIC POWER PLANT

Moved by Commissioner Tompkins and supported by Commissioner Carson that the following resolution be adopted:

Whereas, the Economic Development of the State of Michigan is dependent on adequate sources of energy, and industries to the area are the concern of the Counties of Charlevoix and

Whereas, the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix recognize that the construction of the Consumers Power Company Nuclear Plant near Midland will provide an additional energy source essential for the continued growth of industries, as well as additional power to serve the future need of the State of Michigan, and

Whereas, the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix have confidence in the scientific research conducted by Consumer Company as evidence by the operation of the Big Rock Nuclear Plant, as well as other scientists and governmental agencies that indicate the conversion of fossil fuels to nuclear energy will contribute to the improved invironmental conditions of the State.

Now therefore Be It Resolved by the Commissioners of the County of Charlevoix, that we support the location of development of the Consumers Power Company plant in Midland, and be it Further Resolved that we ask the atomic Energy Commission to avoid any undue delay in the licensing of this project so that it may move on schedule and preclude any detrimental affect upon the economy of Michigan, and be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be submitted to the Atomic Energy Commission at the hearing to be held in this regard. Motion carried.
